SWAN REACHES PEACOCK GAP—FINALLY

Peacock Gap residents (left photo) lug the community's new male mute swan to the community lagoon after the bird completed its troubled journey today from England. The bird was delayed, diverted and quarantined by customs officials to the dismay of residents looking for a companion for the female on the lagoon. John Shiner, president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, leads the party (center, left) and desposits the swan in the lagoon (center) with Charles Dechent, another Peacock Gap resident. Jetliner Crashes In Shark Water

CARACAS (UPI) — Rescue boats operating among swarms of sharks off the coast of Venezuela radioed today there were no survivors in the crash of a Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 jet which hit the sea in a ball of flames last night with 51 persons aboard.

The plane had left Kennedy International Airport in New York at 5:10 p.m. (EST) yesterday and plunged into the sea as it was approaching Caracas' Maiquetia International Airport on a nonstop flight. The last word came from the pilot who radioed at 9:05 p.m. he would need no maintenance in Caracas.

The plane was reported to have exploded in flight and Venezuelan Navy rescue officials said "there are no signs of life" at the scene, 16 miles off the coast. They found emtpy rubber rafts and fragments of wreckage floating on the sea.

Crews of the rescue boats said they had found 13 bodies—seven women, five men and two children—and that some of the bodies had been molested by sharks.

They reported "swarms" of sharks at the scene of the crash.

In Washington the National Transportation Safety Board said first information indicated the crash was within Venezuelan jurisdiction and would be investigated by Venezuelan authorities. Otherwise a team of safety board investigators would take charge. Investigator Pat Grimes flew to Caracas today.

He will be assisted by advisers from the Federal Aviation Administration, Pan American, Boeing, Pratt and Whitney and the Air Line Pilots Association.

The control tower at Maiquetia said it lost contact with the Pan Am jet at 8:59 p.m. EST, minutes before it was due to land.

The jet was approaching at 1,000 feet when tragedy struck.

Pan American spokesmen in New York sad the plane, Flight 217, sent no message that it was in trouble.

Among the passengers, mostly Venezuelans, were Mrs. Antonetti, Luis Beltran Gonzalez, president of a Venezuelan advertising agency, and two Cuban citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toscano of Fairlawn, N.J.

When news of the crash spread to the waiting room at Maiquetia, panic gripped those waiting for the flight to arrive. A doctor treated several persons who fainted at the report.

It was the first crash of a plane making an approach to Maiquetia airport and the first of a Pan American plane in Venezuela.

Both the airport and the port of La Guaira are on the coast some 20 miles from Caracas which is inland.

Span Board Elects New Officers

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors today elected William Moskovitz of San Francisco as board president for 1969, despite objections that several new directors will be on the board next month.

Director Stephan C. Leonoudakis, noting new legislation will add four directors at the end of this month, said, "We'll have a far more representative body in January. The whole complexion of our board will change, as will some of our basic policies, and we'd be making a big mistake not to put this off until January."

Leonoudakis' motion to postpone the election, however, lost in a 9-4 vote. One of Marin's two directors, George H. Ludy of Inverness, among those to be replaced at the end of the month, voted against his motion. Marin's other director, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, was absent.

Lowell Edington of Napa County moved up from second vice president to first vice president, the position held during the past year by Moskovitz, and Daniel F. DelCarlo of San Francisco was elected second vice president.

The vote on the three came after a five-member nominating committee met briefly to recommend new officers.

The nominating committee, which included Ludy, at first decided to meet behind closed doors but opened the meeting after an Independent-Journal reporter broke into the meeting and objected that they were violating the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Leonoudakis asked if he could make other nominations, was told he could, but did not.

Leonoudakis voted against Moskovitz and Edington's election but for DelCarlo.

Moskovitz will replace John E. Nelson of Mendocino County.

Alert San Rafael Citizen Trips San Francisco Gang

Four San Francisco teen-agers were arrested yesterday allegedly burgling a San Rafael home and later told police they had committed a dozen burglaries in Marin the past month and stolen over 20 cars in San Francisco.

The youths, one of them a 15-year-old girl, were caught because a citizen heeded the public appeal made last week by Chief Charles J. Chiesa to report any suspicious persons seen loitering in residential areas, police said.

The four San Francisco youths who also included 15, 16 and 17-year-old boys, named six other youths from there as burglary and auto theft companions at one time or another.

The four, now being held in Marin County Juvenile Hall on burglary and auto theft charges, were caught while taking a gold pocket watch, a woman's ring, a man's Elk ring, and some change from the residence of John M. Brusati at 28 Tampa Drive, police said.

They also confessed to last Friday's burglary of the San Rafael residence of William A. Welch at 66 Coleman Drive, police said. Two rifles, a television set and a stereo phonograph were taken.

Police said a woman called them about 11:48 a.m. yesterday saying that a neighbor had told her the three youths were loiter-

Strife-Torn San Francisco State Closes Week Early For Holidays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Strike - troubled San Francisco State College will close for the Christmas holidays after today's classes, one week ahead of schedule, Acting President S.I. Hayakawa announced.

Dr. Hayakawa, who reopened the college Dec. 2, said the early shutdown for the holidays was due in part to the fact city schools were letting out after today. He said, "The safety and welfare of the young people who might be attracted to the campus is a grave concern to the administration and faculty of the college."

He said there also would be more time to implement the Black Studies Department for start in the spring semester in February, and that the spring class schedules were destroyed in a fire last night, so they must be redone.

To make up for the extra week, he said the present semester will end Jan. 31 instead of Jan. 24, and the spring semester will end June 11 instead of June 4.

The announcement followed a relatively quiet morning during which there was fighting on a picket line and police made four arrests.

Meanwhile, student strike leaders flatly denied today charges "outside agitators" were involved in the campus uproar at San Francisco State College.

The denial came in a news conference called by the Student Strike Support Committee to deplore police tactics on the campus — scene of sporadic violence in the past six weeks. The college's president has contended off-campus agitators participated in the strike. (See picture page 14 and Sonoma State College and College of Marin stories, page 25.)

"We say the real outside agitators are the police forces," said Alex Forman of the Students for a Democratic Society. Forman was joined by Charles Rasmussen, another SDS leader, and Howie Cohen of the Young Socialist Alliance.

"Our struggle has encouraged students at other state colleges, such as Long Beach State, San Diego State and Sonoma State, to fight the racist, reactionary policy of the board of trustees," Rasmussen said.

About 70 students from Sonoma State joined picket lines yesterday. Both Long Beach and San Diego State have had forums to discuss the San Francisco State crisis.

"We are calling for people from throughout the Bay Area, and students, to come to the campus Monday in a solidarity move," Forman said. "We expect large numbers from the high schools which will be closed for Christmas vacations."

The strike leaders also reaffirmed their support for "non-negotiable" demands issued by the Black Students Union. They said "the strike will go until" all demands are met.

Efforts by civic and labor leaders to mediate the crisis have been rejected by Gov. Ronald Reagan and state college trustees.

"I don't think there is any mediation needed," the governor said in Sacramento yesterday. "This is not just the hijinks of over-enthusiastic students. This is insurrection."

Classes resumed quietly this morning as officials found that a small overnight fire had destroyed schedules and room assignments for next semester.

The fire in the Administration Building, a main target of striking students, was of undetermined cause and did little damage.

Reagan endorsed the stand of Theodore Meriam, of Chico, chairman of the trustees, who said problems on the 18,000-student campus must be solved by the board without intrusion by outsiders.

A short time later, a spokesman for the trustees and Chancellor Glenn Dumke confirmed that Meriam's stand clearly indicated their position — and that of acting president S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State.

However the Academic Senate, which represents the school's 1,100 faculty members, formally asked Hayakawa to

LBJ Lauds Relations With Mexico

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)— President Johnson today cited U.S.-Mexican relations as an example of how nations should settle their differences as he triggered a dynamite-explosion finale to a century-old border dispute.

Johnson, in remarks prepared for delivery at the dedication of the Chamizal bridge connecting El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, credited former President John F. Kennedy and former Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos with the vision to settle the border problem peacefully.

Also participating in the ceremony was President Gustavo Ordaz of Mexico.

Four Teeners Accused In Thefts Spree

A band of suspected burglars from Redwood High School, including the 16-year-old son of Tiburon Mayor William R. Bremer, was uncovered yesterday because of a teacher's suspicion that one of her students was high on marijuana.

She sent the boy to the principal's office. Stolen money was found in his pocket and he admitted burgling one school and implicated three boys in burglaries at four other schools, according to Inspector Charles Prandi of the sheriff's juvenile division.

Prandi said the first boy, Steve C. Negoesco, 17, of 18 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, had $150 in his pockets and some of it was identified as loot from a safe burglary at San Clemente School in Corte Madera Wednesday night. He was high yesterday on synthetic marijuana, Prandi said.

Prandi said Negoesco broke into the school and pried open the safe, getting away with approximately $300.

The discovery of Negoesco's crime led officers to the solution of four other school burglaries in Belvedere, Strawberry and Corte Madera, Prandi said.

The suspects in those crimes, according to Prandi, are Mark R. Bremer, son of the Tiburon Mayor; William J. Bailey, 16, of 14 Mariner Court, and David E. Watson, 16, of 129 Mariner Court, both Corte Madera.

The boys allegedly admitted

Transport Official, Zucker Argue Over Freeways Need

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The director of a $5 million study of all forms of transportation in the Bay Area yesterday told a legislative committee that freeways are going to remain the principal solution to transportation problems.

Richard Zettel, director of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, said population growth cannot be stopped, "and those people are going to demand transportation services, and private cars and freeways are going to provide most of those services."

Zettel's testimony before the Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee rebutted Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who had just told the committee that state gas tax funds should start going to improve public transportation.

Both Marin and San Francisco have agreed the "overriding goal" is to preserve their environment, said Zucker. "Longer commuting times, higher commuting costs, or use of other less convenient travel modes than the automobile can be tolerated if there is something left worth coming home to," he told the committee, which met here

Children Gaining Parents' Ear?

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Yale University chaplain, says middle class suburban Americans may at last be listening to their children.

That's because they are threatened with losing them, he said in a speech yesterday at Brown University.

The younger generation is divorcing itself from adults "who refuse to live up to their religious ideals or even take them seriously," Coffin said.

IF THEY 'REPENT'

Cong's Paris Spokesman Offers Pardons To Saigon Leadership

By ARTHUR L. GAVSON

NGUYEN THI BINH
Tells her view

PARIS (AP) — Taking a page from her Saigon adversaries, the Viet Cong's chief peace delegate says it will embrace even President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky if they repent.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh said in an interview the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is prepared to work with officials of the Saigon regime if they make amends for their "crimes against the South Vietnamese people."

Said the 41-year-old woman revolutionary:

"Those in the puppet army and puppet administration at any level who have committed crimes against the people but are now sincerely repentant will be pardoned. Those who redeem their crimes by meritorious deeds will be rewarded accordingly."

Asked if this applied to such leaders as Thieu, Ky and Premier Tran Van Huong, she added: "Anyone, regardless of his past, if he realizes the new situation and participates in the common struggle for national liberation will be received and welcomed."

Thieu, Ky and their associates have said repeatedly that any and all members of the Viet Cong and the NLF are welcome in their fold if they renounce the Communist cause and swear allegiance to the Saigon government.

In answer to another question, Mme. Binh asserted there can be no real peace in Vietnam until the Americans stop bombing and fighting in the South and show willingness to withdraw from the country.

"The essential thing is that the American government shows it is willing to stop its aggression and to withdraw its troops," she said. "The other issues will depend on that main question."

Asked to clarify whether agreement on the political future of South Vietnam must precede any cease-fire, she avoided a direct answer. But again she stressed that peace will be restored "as soon as the American government is willing to stop its aggression and withdraw its troops."

She also sidestepped most other questions relating to the posture the NLF will take when the expanded peace parley begins to roll.

The interview took place in the drawing room of the NLF delegation's rented villa in the suburb of Verrieres. A large gold-starred, blue-and-red NLF flag hung from the balcony outside, and French security police were on guard inside and outside the house.

Mme. Binh spoke softly but without hesitation in Vietnamese. A pretty Vietnamese girl acted as her interpreter, but was clear Mme. Binh knew enough English to follow the questioning. At times she used her hands to emphasize a point. Occasionally she chuckled when something amused her.

She was emphatic in rejecting the attempt by the United States and South Vietnam to give the conference a two-sided appearance, with the NLF sitting as part of Hanoi's delegation.

It is "essential for the Front" to sit with the "status of an independent and fully equal participant," she said, because the NLF is negotiating not as a supplicant but "in a victorious position."

She also appeared to rule out talks outside the conference between members of her delegation and Saigon's men.

"If the representative of the Saigon administration wants to give any viewpoint," she said in answer to a question, "let him do it in the four-party conference."

Mme. Binh declined to estimate how long it might take to achieve the reunion of North and South Vietnam.

"Reunification will be realized step by step through peaceful means," she said, adding that it will be reunion "on the principle of negotiation between the two zones without either side using pressure against the other and without foreign interference."

How about the future relationship between Vietnam and the United States?

"You're thinking about the beautiful future," she replied, her face lighting up. "We want friendly relations with all countries on the basis of equality and mutual respect. And we accept aid without any political conditions, and when we say that we include the United States."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Tree Lighted

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller Center Christmas tree was lit last night continuing a tradition begun 36 years ago by a crew of construction workers at the midtown Manhattan unit.

Elephant Ride

BANGKOK (AP) — President Johnson's daughter and her Marine major husband took a lurching ride atop a Thai elephant yesterday and judging from broad smiles liked the experience just fine.

Lynda Bird and Charles were flanked by ground-bound secret service men, a couple of whom showed a bit of apprehension as the wooden chair platform on the elephant's back swayed heavily from side to side. Robb at one time looked a bit dubious about the ride, but joined Lynda Bird in large smiles most of the way.

Mao's Thoughts

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — What are the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung for Christmas?

"Self-reliance and arduous struggle," according to the inscriptions on two Christmas toy cars police picked up yesterday in a raid on a local shop.

Other thoughts of Mao have been found printed on Christmas wrapping paper collected by the police this week.

"On the surface these toys and other imported articles look harmless," said Asst. Home Minister Hamzah Bin Abu Samah. "On closer scrutiny, one could see they were sent with a purpose — a subversive purpose."

Applauds Post

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace congratulated industrialist Winton M. Blount yesterday on his appointment as postmaster general in President-elect Richard M. Nixon's administration.

Wallace, a third-party candidate for president, telegraphed Blount: "Alabama is very proud of you and I am certain that you will be a credit to President Nixon's administration."

Blount, a Montgomery resident who heads one of the nation's largest construction firms, is a Republican who frequently has disagreed with the former governor on politics.

Transplant Issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, who performed two of the earliest heart transplant operations, says that any organs remaining in good shape after death should be saved for possible transplants.

"It is not right," Kantrowitz said yesterday, "to bury other good organs when a man dies. They should be considered part of the nation's natural resources and used for the living."

Kantrowitz, director of surgery at Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn, testified before the temporary Comission on Vital Organ Transplants.

State Supreme Court Justice J. Irwin Shapiro, commission chairman, said a chief aim is to establish safeguards so "the desire for a heart does not hasten a finding of death, when death has not occurred."

Protection Call

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says more police protection and harsher penalties for lawbreakers are needed in Harlem.

Vincent Baker, chairman of the NAACP's anticrime committee, said yesterday: "With people here being beaten, robbed and murdered, something should be done about crime right now."

"The attitude toward crime and criminals must change" in Harlem, Baker said, adding: "There are people known to cheer when some offender rushes from a store" with stolen merchandise.

Finally Listening?

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Yale University chaplain, says middle class suburban Americans may at last be listening to their children.

That's because they are threatened with losing them, he said in a speech yesterday at Brown University.

The younger generation is divorcing itself from adults "who refuse to live up to their religious ideals or even take them seriously," Coffin said.

Dual Professorship Offer To Humphrey

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota and Macalester College are expected to offer Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey a dual professorship and he is expected to accept.

There are strong indications the offer will be made at a meeting of the university Board of Regents today. Humphrey, a Minnesota graduate and former teacher at Macalester, will visit Minneapolis-St. Paul during the weekend.

The Minneapolis Tribune, in a copyright story from Washington, said that Humphrey also has signed a contract with Doubleday and Co., New York, to write one or more books on his career and political philosophy. The contract was said to call for a fee of more than $100,000.

Humphrey graduated from the university here in 1939 with a bachelor of arts degree and magna cum laude honors. Later he earned a pharmacy degree from the Denver College of Pharmacy and a masters degree from the University of Louisiana.

In 1943 and 1944 he taught political science at Macalester College in St. Paul before launching a political career as mayor of Minneapolis in 1945.

Officials of the university and Macalester declined to confirm the reports about the faculty post in advance of today's meeting.

Teaching at the two institutions will offer sharp contrast in size for Humphrey, who is expected to live on or near one of the campuses. The University of Minnesota, with more than 45,000 full-time students at Minneapolis-St. Paul and other branches, is one of the nation's largest. Macalester, with about 2,000 students, is a liberal arts college founded by a Minnesota pioneer Presbyterian minister and educator.

Humphrey, who has a home at Waverly, Minn., 40 miles west of Minneapolis, has not renounced his own political ambitions nor his leadership of the Democratic Party.

Many political observers expect him to remain in close touch with politics in his own state and work a healing touch in the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party here. The DFL has had two hectic internal struggles in as many years, the latest coming this year when Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy challenged the Johnson-Humphrey administration.

HIS OWN OLD FAITHFUL

Warren C. File, a Greenville, Ill., farmer has a problem—a salt water geyser on his farm that erupts every 15 minutes. The geyser was born as a result of a midwestern earthquake on Nov. 9. Under state law he cannot permit the salt water to flow into a nearby creek. He dug a basin to collect the water, but it is almost full. His next course is to have the well plugged at his own cost. Brazil's Congress Rebuffs Demand For Deputy's Trial

RIO DE JANEIROO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil's armed forces were put on alert today amid reports of widespread disagreement within the government and military about how to react to a defeat at the hands of the usually meek congress.

President Arthur da Costa e Silva conferred with civilian and military aides late into the night after the Chamber of Deputies rejected military demands that a dupty be put on trial for criticizing the military.

There were reports that the deputy, Marcio Moreira Alves, might be stripped of his political rights by the government.

The government, with more than a 2-1 majority in the Congress, had not anticipated serious opposition when, under pressure from the military, it asked that the deputy's immunity from prosecution be lifted.

The congress rejected the motion, 216 to 141.

Mary Hemingway Loses Round On Hotchner Book

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The widow of author Ernest Hemingway has failed in her attempt to block the sale of A. E. Hotchner's book, "Papa Hemingway," a biography based on conversations with the famed writer.

Mary Hemingway's suit to stop the sale on the grounds that publication of the book violated her copyright ownership was dismissed yesterday by the state court of appeals.

The state's highest tribunal said conversations can be reported—within limits—unless the speaker designates otherwise.

The book—described by Hotchner as a "factual and truthful story based on tape recordings and notes that were taken with the knowledge of Mr. Hemingway"—was published in 1966 by Random House.

Hotchner was a close friend of the author until Hemingway died in 1961 of a self-inflicted shotgun blast.

Mrs. Hemingway said the book invaded the privacy and violated the confidential relationship that existed between her husband and Hotchner.

The court, in an opinion written by Chief Judge Stanley Fuld, said that "Hemingway's words and conduct left no doubt of his willingness to permit Hotchner to draw freely on their conversation in writing about him and publishing such material."

But he added:

"The indispensable right of the press to report what people have done, or what has happened to them or on what they have said in public does not necessarily imply an unbounded freedom to publish whatever they may have said in private conversation, anymore than it implies a freedom to copy and publish what people may have put down in private writings."

44 Arrested In Vice Raids

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police swept through San Francisco's Tenderloin yesterday, arresting 44 persons. Six were listed as male prostitutes.

"This is the first time we have specifically included male prostitutes," said inspector Edward J. Nevin of the vice squad after the roundup.

There were 32 females arrested and six other men in addition to the male prostitutes, police said.

All were charged with loitering or soliciting in public places.

Civilian 'GI Bill' Proposal Hit By National Student Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal that the federal government provide direct financial aid to students has drawn opposition from an organization representing many of the nation's state universities and colleges.

In a report issued in New York yesterday, the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education proposed that the federal government increase its spending for education from its present annual level of $3.5 billion to $13 billion by 1976, partly to provide direct aid to students through a loan bank.

Officials of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges said the report was disappointing. Any increased federal spending for education should go directly to the schools, who could then pass the benefits on to the students, they said.

Russell I. Thackery, executive director of the association, which represents 100 public colleges and universities, said his group is sympathetic to the report's hope for providing aid to disadvantaged students.

But he said the Carnegie plan ignores the institutions themselves for the purpose of widening educational opportunities for all qualified students.

He said that increasing federal aid to the schools themselves would enable them to cut the costs for students.

"That would mean that a vast majority of qualified students could go to college without the bureaucracy which will be essential to administer any program of direct financial assistance to students," Thackery declared.

"If funds are channelled through individuals, there is a chance that many institutions which already are operating at substantial losses will be inclined to raise costs and charges more rapidly," Thackery said.

The reaction to the direct federal aid proposal, from other educators was uncertain.

Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California, a private school, said "I think there's merit in the idea . . . But whether or not this (financial) burden should be placed on the federal government, or state and local government, I don't know."

The president of another private school, Paul R. Anderson of Temple University, indicated he thought increased federal spending should be allocated between the colleges and the students, but with the students getting the larger share.

The opposition to the loan plan was supported by Wisconsin University President Fred Harvey Harring. "It's a good report," he said, "but a great many of us (university presidents) feel it should have included institutional grants."

Petaluma Gets New Cub Pack

The Cherry Valley School Parent-Teachers Association, Petaluma, has organized the newest Cub Scout pack in the Miwok district, according to David Rice, district scout executive.

Pack 106 will serve 20 boys in the Cherry Valley School area and will hold its first meeting on Dec. 27. Cubmaster William Gonigle will be assisted by Richard Condon and Dale Cheney. Den mothers are Mrs. Jerry Fowler, Mrs. Betty Oleson, Mrs. Patrick Flynn and Mrs. Marie Waldner. Mrs. Robert Roumas is assistant den mother.

Committeemen include Dr. David Amundsen, chairman; Edward Gary, Roy Tingley and Robert Merrill.

A ROBOT WITH VICES?

Sabor V, a robot capable of smoking, drinking, dancing the samba, firing weapons, playing cards, and answering questions in several languages, weighs 587 pounds and stands 7 feet, 5 inches tall. The mechanical monster was the sensational main attraction at a German technical show last year. Sabor V is predicted as a commonplace item for A.D. 2000—But it still requires a human operator to feed it instructions.

State's Angel Island Plan Held Too Costly

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state plan for development of Angel Island is too expensive and would wreck the natural beauty of the island, representatives of conservation groups told the state Park and Recreation Commission today.

Among the speakers at a hearing on the plan was Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, who said he represented five other conservation groups such as the Marin Audubon Society and the Sierra Club.

Gregg charged that commercial enterprises such as restaurants, motels and auditoriums mean overdevelopment. He said that 10,000 people on the island at one time and overnight camping facilities planned by the state was definitely an overuse.

He asked for preservation of natural beauties on the 820-acre island.

He was backed by Howard Allen, president of the Marin Audubon Society, who said that a marina on the island would be unnecessary.

Irwin Luckman, representing Save the San Francisco Bay Association, said having up to 10,000 people per day on the island would be "horrendous."

Pierre W. Joske, director of Marin parks and recreation, asked the state park commission to set a public hearing in Marin sometime early next year. He said the county commission had not taken an official stand on the development.

William Penn Mott Jr., state parks director, said many of the comments were valid and that he will take them into consideration. One decision already made is that Mount Livermore, the highest peak on the island, will not be used for a restaurant facility as originally planned but would be retained as an "inspirational overlook" with the only access being foot trails.

He said the marina project may have been misunderstood. He explained that a marina would be only for docking of visiting boats, not for weekly or monthly rentals.

The commission took the testimony under submission.

490 Passenger Airplane An Economic Miracle?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Behind the huge doors of an assembly plant built in a fir tree forest sits a hoped-for economic miracle—the 490-passenger Boeing 747.

The biggest and fastest commercial airliner ever built, the jumbo jet's backers claim it will start an aviation revolution that will range from fare cuts for the passengers to a profit bonanza for its builders.

The plane was rolled out of a hangar in Everett, Wash., Sept. 30, amid the crash of champagne bottles. But the toughest phase of the multi-million project lies just ahead. The 700,000-pound giant and its 4,500,000 parts must be screened in flight for the slightest flaw.

LINES OPTIMISTIC

From what they know about the plane now, the airlines are betting heavily on its success.

So far, Boeing has orders from 27 airlines for a total of 160 planes, each carrying a $20 million price tag. Boeing plans a production run of nearly 350 of the planes through 1975. If the plane lives up to its designer's hopes, that sales curve is expected to go up to 400, the plane's backers claim.

Along with the rise in sales goes a substantial benefit to the U.S. balance of payments problem. Commerce Secretary C. R. Smith was quick to point out that foreign airlines already have contracted to buy $1.5 billion worth of 747's.

What do the Airlines expect from the 625-mile-an-hour plane? Simply put, they want it to transport large masses of passengers at low operating cost.

COSTS LOWER

Boeing claims the plane will do just that. The direct operating cost per seat-mile—the cost of flying the 747 one mile divided by the number of seats available—will be about 30 to 35 per cent lower than the present Boeing 707 jetliner, a mainstay of many airlines. Boeing has promised this type of operation even though most airlines plan to carry about 365 passengers on the super jet, not the full 490 possible under an economy seating arrangement.

SOME CRITICS

Despite its predicted rosy future, the plane has its critics. They say the huge investment needed to buy the planes will prevent airlines from cutting fares in the near future.

They also claim that nation's airports are not ready for the 747. They predict mammoth congestion problems at terminals. Nor do they accept the idea that the plane's huge passenger carrying capacity will cut down the number of planes crowding the airways. They claim that at best the jumbo jets will be able only to hold the airway congestion at its present level because of the great rise in passenger travel predicted for the 1970's.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Keeping Cool Proves Costly

Harry was a real cat. He just could not stand the warm summer weather. And so he bought the biggest air-conditioner he could find for his new home.

His neighbor, Sam, liked Harry's house, but not after hearing the air conditioner going on and off all night long. During the day, the unit's noise just blended in with neighborhood background noise. But at night it bothered Sam's sleeping.

Sam asked Harry to get a small unit or turn the big one off after ten at night. Harry refused. Poor Sam and His wife had baggy eyes and frayed nerves. Their health suffered.

Sam sued, and won a judgment from Harry for $3,500 for damages to his health, and got the court to order Harry to turn off his unit from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. Or else.

Sam's sound engineers showed that Harry could have cut the noise of his unit without warming his house much. In fact, Harry had made unreasonable use of his home area and annoyed his neighbors. An owner has quite a lot of freedom to use and enjoy his land, but in doing so, he cannot unreasonably interfere with his neighbors' enjoyment of his.

In short, Harry created a "nuisance" which a court injunction can stop.

Such nuisances are public nuisances when they violate the zoning laws, health codes, or building restrictions. A person with more animals around than the health codes permit is causing a public nuisance. Under the state law, a fence needlessly higher than ten feet, built to annoy neighbors, in called a "spite fence." It is illegal.

A noisy or smoky plant might be all right in a commercial district but not in a residential. To be a nuisance, an act must be unreasonable for its own vicinity.

Bat Clout Victim Is Reported Fair

William G. Dinsmore, 35, of 135 Central Avenue, Corte Madera, was in fair condition in Marin General Hospital today with head injuries suffered when he was clouted early yesterday with a baseball bat.

Dinsmore, who suffered a cut scalp, told sheriff's deputies his wife beat him over the head with the club during an argument, according to the sheriff's report.

New Group To Check Rioting

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A new team of social scientists at the University of California has been set up to move as fast as policemen and newsmen to investigate riots as they happen.

The crisis research team is directed by Rodney Stark, a research sociologist, and funded by a grant from the Ford Foundation.

"Although many research efforts are being directed to the endemic crises over authority which afflict the nation, there has been a critical lack of close-up observation and study of such events as they occur," Stark says.

Construction Site Materials Stolen

The Cummings Construction Co. of Rohnert Park reported $270 in materials was taken from a construction site at G and Seventh streets, Petaluma, sometime Tuesday night.

Police said the haul included 300 two by fours. The wood was painted green on one end and stamped "Hollow Tree."

$175,000 Raised

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A candlelight dinner last night honoring Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco raised an estimated $175,000 for the Archbishop McGucken Community Center near Occidental, Sonoma County.

ing on her Coleman Drive property.

Responding to the call, Inspector Richard A. Douglas spotted two cars by the Brusati home and when he passed by, the girl, stationed in one car as a lookout, honked the horn three times. Douglas, advised that the car was stolen, then moved in.

Assistant Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori, who came on the scene, caught one boy on a hill by the Brusati home. Officer Henry W. Ingwersen arrested the other two on Robert Dollar Drive. The girl was apprehended in the car.

Police declined to identify the suspects because other youths were sought.

One of the burglars today was showing Marin County sheriff's deputies the homes they claimed to have burgled elsewhere in Marin.

in the State Building.

Zettel, however, argued that a growing population "is going to spread itself around, Whether Marin County likes it or not," and the lack of high density population areas will mean that freeways will serve this population better than public transit.

Zettel is a former member of the staff of Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, known as "the father of California freeways."

stealing approximately $4,000 in audio-visual equipment from the schools in a burglary glut Monday night. They used a glass cutter and pry bar, tools of the professional burglar, to break into the schools, Prandi said.

The loot, found in the bedrooms of the boys, included movie projectors, tape recorders, slide projectors, and phonographs, the inspector said.

The inspector said the boys, who have never been in trouble in the past, told him Bailey cased the four schools Sunday night, noting the routines of the night watchmen.

On Monday night they committed the burglaries, cutting through windows with the glass cutter, then reaching in to trip the latch. They had to stop after two schools and go back for a second car, they told Prandi. The first car was too noisy.

The schools they allegedly burgled were Granada and Marin Country Day Schools in Corte Madera, Belvedere School and Strawberry Point School.

The boys, all from Redwood High School, were to come to the sheriff's office for talks with Prandi today. The inspector said they would be cited to juvenile probation authorities.

OBITUARIES

Augustus Reyes Dies At 52

Augustus Reyes, 52, of 428 South McDowell Road, Petaluma, owner of the Roseland barbershop, Santa Rosa, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a short illness.

Born in El Modeno, Orange County, he moved to Escondido where he was graduated from the city schools. A veteran of World War II, Reyes served in the Coast Guard. After his discharge, he played professional baseball in the Arizona-Texas League for many years.

Reyes had lived in Petaluma for seven years and was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

He is survived by his wife, Ann; a son, Bruce Reyes with the Navy; a daughter; Barbara Reyes of Oceanside; his father, Leo Reyes Sr. of Escondido; six brothers, Alphonso Duron of Phoenix, Ariz., Leo Reyes Jr. of Sebastopol; Williams Reyes of Carrollton, Tex., Gilbert and Joseph Reyes of Escondido, and Gustavo Reyes of Redondo Beach, also three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Andrews, San Diego; Mrs. Sally Granados, Costa Mesa, and Mrs. Alice Wilson of Escondido.

Funeral will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Recitation of the rosary will be at 8 p.m. Sunday at the McCleod Mortuary, Escondido. Burial will be at Oak Hill Cemetery, Escondido.

appear before it today to explain precisely what that position is.

Hayakawa, a member of the English department since 1954, has not attended meetings of the Academic Senate since he was appointed acting president Nov. 26 and reopened the embattled campus under a "get-tough" policy with police support.

His policy continued yesterday as 14 persons were taken into custody, bringing to nearly 100 the number of arrests since the school reopened Dec. 2. But there was little of the violence which marked the first week of his regime, when members of a 600-man police force clashed repeatedly with militant demonstrators.

The rejections by Reagan and the trustees came on an offer by the San Francisco Labor Council to join with a committee of civic leaders in an effort to seek a solution to the problems on campus.

They stemmed from a strike called by the Black Students Union to support a series of demands, including the reinstatement of Black Panther English instructor George Murray, who was suspended for urging that guns be carried on campus.

Additional demands were made later by another minority group, the Third World Liberation Front.

Several leaders of the BSU and the TWLF were taken into custody Wednesday on warrants issued for their activities last week.

Among those arrested Thursday were Gene Marchi and John Levin of Students for a Democratic Society, engineering professor Art Heers, and George Gorner, the strikers' guitar-playing troubadour.

The arrests were made as striking students and about 80 members of the American Federation of Teachers picketed the campus. The AFT, which represents about 250 faculty members, has threatened to strike Monday unless school officials enter into the off-campus mediation efforts.

JOHN DENNIS

Private funeral was held Wednesday for John Harry Dennis, 92, of Daly City, father of George C. Dennis of Novato and one-time sports figure in the Bay Area.

Dennis, a resident of the San Francisco Peninsula since 1898, died Monday at a convalescent home in Daly City after a long illness.

Dennis was lightweight boxing champion at the Olympic Club in San Francisco at the turn of the century and later was superintendent of the old Coursing Park in Colma. He was superintendent of Tanforan race track in the 1930s.

Surviving are three other sons, Edward J. and John H. Jr. of Daly City and Robert M. Dennis of Valley Ford, Sonoma County.

Funeral was at Crosby-N. Grey and Co. in Burlingame, and entombment at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

MARGARET LAVIN

Margaret Lavin, 98, of 19 Howard Street, Petaluma, died early today at a Petaluma convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Born in San Francisco, she had lived in Petaluma for more than 60 years. Miss Lavin had been employed as a housekeeper for many area families. She was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Petaluma.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

OLIVER DeWITTY

Funeral for Oliver Benjamin DeWitty, 57, of Marin City, will be at 10 a.m. Monday at Russell and Gooch funeral chapel, Mill Valley.

DeWitty, of 419 Drake Avenue, died Tuesday at a Temple, Tex., hospital after a long illness. He was an employee at the Navy net depot until forced to retire by illness. He was an Army veteran of World War II.

A native of Austin, Tex., DeWitty had lived in California 25 years and in Marin City 22 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mary E. DeWitty of Marin City; three sisters and two brothers in Austin, Julia Russell, Eliza Ake, Bettie Woods, Mose A. DeWitty and Booker T. DeWitty, and a third brother, Elijah H. DeWitty of Los Angeles.

Friends may call at Russell and Gooch after noon Sunday. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. The family prefers contributions to the tuberculosis association or the heart fund.

NOW THREE MILES LONG

The underway trans-bay tube of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District has reached a length of three miles with the lowering yesterday of the tube's 47th section onto the floor of the San Francisco Bay. Only 10 more sections remain to be submerged and connected before the east-west bay segments (dotted line) of the tube are linked together sometime next April. Already the longest underwater transit tunnel in the world, the tube will be the key link in BART's 75-mile rail rapid transit network. (UPI Telephoto)

Liberty City Rocked Again By Violence

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A brief but violent outburst of missile-throwing erupted in Miami's Liberty City area late last night ending a period of relative calm in a community racked by three nights of racial rioting during the National Republican Convention last August.

Dade County officers rushed to the predominantly Negro area after receiving reports that a car driven by two white men was being stoned, and were met by thrown rocks, bottles and other missiles, authorities reported.

MINOR INJURIES

Two officers received minor injuries and six youths were arrested before the disturbance was calmed.

Area residents, complaining that officers used excessive force and unnecessary measures to halt the outbreak, met through the early morning hours with top-ranking members of the county police force.

A group that included Robert Simms of the City-County Community Relations Board had demanded to see Sheriff E. Wilson Purdy and County Manager Porter Homer. A spokesman for the city said Purdy and Homer probably would not talk to the delegation until later today.

Neighborhood residents accused the deputies of entering homes without warrants, threatening innocent bystanders and unnecessarily breaking property while dispersing a crowd gathered near Northwest 26th Avenue and 65th Street.

NO COMMENTS

There were no immediate comments from the sheriff's office on the accusations.

The sheriff's office said the trouble began after a car occupied by David Anderson, 18, and Robert Williams, 19, both of Hialeah, was struck by two rocks and part of a brick.

Two deputies, Edward Lausche and Henry Weatherspoon, were the first officers sent into the area. Both reported they were struck by boards, bottles and a hammer while attempting to arrest one youngster allegedly involved in the rock-throwing.

Committee Studies Hub Sixth Grade

San Anselmo School District's citizens advisory committee is considering study toward converting the district's two intermediate schools to accommodate sixth graders.

The schools, Red Hill and Hidden Valley, now serve seventh and eighth graders.

At its organizational meeting Wednesday, the committee felt it should look into the philosophy of having schools for sixth through eighth grade students before making building financing recommendations, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The idea will be presented to the school district board Tuesday, and the board will decide whether committee study should proceed in that direction, Parodi noted.

If not, the committee will study building needs under the present system, which has K-6 in primary schools and seven to eight in intermediate schools.

About 30 persons attended the committee session, Parodi reported. There was no chairman elected, and no date set for the next meeting, but it will probably be in "two or three weeks," he said.

The committee study follows June 4 defeat of the district's $510,000 bond issue, which would have provided funds for a six-classroom unit at Red Hill School, a multiuse room at Hidden Valley and site work at Sleepy Hollow School.

To be studied are the possibility of calling for another bond proposal or obtaining a bank loan which could be financed by a tax rate increase, Parodi said.

Lights Contest In Mariner Cove

The Mariner Cove Improvement Association will have its ninth annual Christmas lighting contest the evening of Dec. 22, reported William J. Ridyard, president.

There will be three prizes of $25 each, he said, one for best religious, one for most effective use of lights and one for originality.

Lt. Leo Larson of the Corte Madera Fire Department discussed the future of fire protection in Corte Madera at an association meeting Wednesday night, Ridyard said.

Raymond Naan and John W. Nichols were named co-chairmen of the association's annual April dinner meeting.

SANTA'S SUPERGIFTS

Tired Of The Usual $4 Christmas Tie?

CHICAGO (AP) — As most Christmas shoppers agonize over $4 ties and $5.98 blouses, a few are considering $3,000 miniature silver pagodas and $500 tablecloths.

Those two items might show up on a well-heeled super-Santa's shopping list this year.

The foot-high silver pagoda, suggested for use as a centerpiece, has greenery in the center.

The rabbit fur tablecloth is round and reaches to the floor.

A stroll through some chic shops and a look at catalogues also uncovered the following:

A jewel-of-the-month plan which, for $273,950 gets the recipient a piece of jewelry "every month like clockwork" for one year.

A $25,000 aquarium containing, instead of pebbles, cultured pearls. A few fish also are thrown in. — A sterling silver shovel, man-sized and capable of lifting a load of dirt costs $1,200.

Zebra skin luggage goes for $2,300. The catalogue calms any conservation-minded buyer with the note: "The American government commissions hunters to thin out over-populated herds of zebras, for preservation of species."

A $1,000 mink throw to toss over one's legs while watching television or snuggle toes in at a football game.

Livlier gifts: A $3,000 Bengal tiger cub, $2,500 baby whale or a $4,400 baby elephant.

A pair of porcelain thrushes priced at $3,500. Should that be too dear, there's a crested fly catcher for $1,650.

A $900 chess set which prompted a sales clerk to remark: "It doesn't even come with a table; just a board."

A $600 beer stein bearing the German motto: "It takes a real man to drink this." For a lesser sum, a $125 martini pitcher.

A $500 Danish pipe.

For junior, the usual bicycle arrangement of handlebars and front wheel pulls a bronze, leather-covered, cinderella-sized carriage which seats three passengers. Price: $795.

$10,000 To Aid Windmill Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The federal government is putting up $10,000 to back a plan by a group of schoolboys for restoring windmills in Golden Gate Park.

Ed McDevitt, Recreation and Park Department acting general manager, said yesterday the government was putting up the money for a study.

Restoration of the windmills which once watered the park is expected to cost $150,000 and has been turned down repeatedly by the Board of Supervisors.

A plea for restoration was made last month by students at the Stuart Hall School for Boys.

Women Shake Up Commons

LONDON (AP) — Young women in nurses' uniforms shattered the serenity of the House of Commons today by shouting protests about working conditions in British hospitals.

The House was debating a bill to curb exports of British ponies when one woman jumped to her feet at the back of the public gallery and shouted: "I want to talk on behalf of the nurses. The nurses want some support."

Surprised legislators watched from their green leather benches as guards forcibly removed a half-doezn women from the chambers. Some women linked arms in their seats and had to be dragged out.

Mother, Infant Doing Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy and her newborn daughter remain in good condition, Georgetown Medical Center reported today.

A spokesman said Mrs. Kennedy, widow of the slain senator from New York, spent a restful night after giving birth by Caesarean section yesterday morning.

The baby, still to be named, has been moved to the regular nursery from an incubator, the hospital said.

Machine Gun Pair Arrested

WATSONVILLE (AP) — Two men from nearby Aptos have been arrested on a charge of possessing a machine gun — a converted French weapon of World War I vintage.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang, in announcing their arrests yesterday, said they had negotiated with state undercover agents for the sale of the gun.

Held in the Santz Cruz County jail in lieu of $6,500 bonds were Jerald W. Franks, 40, a welder, and his son-in-law, David H. Thorne, 34, a salesman.

Chang said that in the house where they were arrested agents found 15 rifles, 19 hand guns, 500 rounds of ammunition and 14 large knives.

Five Arrested In Drug Raid

UKIAH (AP) — An undercover investigation at Ukiah High School led to the arrest of five persons on narcotics charges, Police Chief Donn Saulsbury said yesterday.

Charges of sale and conspiracy to sell marijuana were filed against Ernest R. Cassells and Donald R. Moore, both 19 and from Ukiah, Miss Tony Long, 19, of Redwood Valley, and a 17-year-old juvenile whose name was not disclosed.

Charged with suspicion of possessing marijuana was Dennis King, 18, of Ukiah.

Ross Set To Rescind Home Occupation Law

A majority of the Ross Town Council last night indicated it will rescind a controversial ordinance which allows home offices for doctors, dentists and musicians.

The ordinance, passed in 1962, was questioned last month by council members and town residents when the council reluctantly approved the first use permit under the measure, despite heated protests by neighbors.

The use permit went to Dr. Robert H. Herrick to open an office at his home at 37 Southwood Avenue. It is to be reviewed after one year.

"I've never been sympathetic to home occupations," said Councilman Roy Farrington Jones last night. Another councilman, Dr. W. James Dawson, agreed, adding, "We're a residential town, and home occupations should be eliminated."

Councilman Natalie G. Lewis said she had received many telephone calls from citizens since the November meeting, "and none of them like the ordinance."

Mayor Frederick S. Allen also agreed most home occupations probably should be eliminated, and appointed Mrs. Lewis and Jones to study ordinances of other cities to see how a stricter ordinance could be drawn for Ross.

Amendment of the zoning ordinance, however, would not eliminate any existing home occupations, Allen said. Some home occupations still would be permitted, he added.

Public hearings probably will be held in February on the amendments, the mayor said.

Only Councilman Jack Carney questioned the need for changing the ordinance. "Most of us do some business at home, and I just don't see where it has become a problem," he said.

The Ross Town Council Also:

BURNING HOURS — Declined to change trash burning hours from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. to 7 a.m. to noon to conform with a proposed uniform countywide regulation. Councilmen objected the change would restrict homeowners who burn leaves that otherwise would have to be cleared from street gutters at city expense.

FIREMEN — Adopted a resolution setting 65 as the retirement age for volunteer firemen.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Appointed Carney and Allen as the town's representatives on the City-County Planning Council, and Jones as an alternate representative.

REAPPOINT — Conformed Allen's reappointment of F. William Mosden to a two-year term on the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board.

VARIANCE — Granted a variance to Grace G. Barry to reconstruct a garage, which was destroyed by fire, on a foundation only 18 inches from a property sideline on Shady Lane.

Hub's Chamber Nominates Slate

Jeremiah V. Sullivan, manager of the Wells Fargo Bank in San Anselmo, was nominated yesterday for president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce. He lives at 7 Lodge Lane, San Rafael.

Outgoing president is William Franchini. The nominating committee also named Ralph Manella for vice president and DeWitt Mason for treasurer.

The election will be at 12:15 p.m. Jan. 2, at a location to be announced. The next chamber meeting is at 12:15 p.m. Thursday at the Pepperwood restaurant, Red Hill Shopping Center.

No Leashes On 'Civilized' Dogs Of Ross

Dogs in the Town of Ross don't need a leash law because they are more civilized than dogs in the rest of Marin, the Town Council agreed last night.

"I don't see any reason at all for change," said Councilman Roy Farrington Jones as the council dropped consideration of a countywide animal control ordinance. The ordinance, to be effective July 1, 1969, in Marin cities which adopt it, also increases license fees and fines.

The tone of the council's response was set by a man in the audience who said, "We have more civilized dogs than Novato."

Councilman Natalie G. Lewis conceded that "there are quite a few people who are complaining, and I can sympathize with them," but she also agreed there was no need for a leash law, "though I know we (the Lewis family) have the worst darn offender in the county."

The council voted unanimously to table the matter.

Clinic Removal Spurs Protest In Marin City

Marin City Council members were miffed last night after hearing reports that a family planning clinic was pulled out of the community without notice to residents.

The council agreed to request the Marin County Public Health Department to restore the service which was offered Tuesday nights at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Don Shilling, pastor, said the equipment was removed about two or three weeks ago without notice to him.

Council member Collie Gaines said she heard a report that the clinic was moved because there had been incidents of crime, adding "they asked for protection from the sheriff's office and were refused."

Public health officials could not be reached for comment today.

Council members agreed to ask the Marin City Community Services District, to investigate the reported lack of protection by the sheriff's office.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., council chairman, said it was up to the community to demand respect for persons and property and not tolerate criminal acts. "We can't have a policeman on every corner," he said.

The council also heard complaints from residents about speeding cars and youths loitering and gambling at the commercial area, and suggested the complaints also be presented to the CSD.

Probation Set In Bat Stabbing

Neils Hyrum Hansen, 46, of Petaluma, who stabbed two men during a San Anselmo tavern scuffle March 10, was sentenced to state prison in Marin Superior Court yesterday, but the sentence was suspended.

Judge Harold J. Haley instead placed the ex-convict on five years of probation and ordered him to serve a year in jail and quit drinking as conditions of that probation.

Hansen pleaded guilty to two charges of assault with a deadly weapon for stabbing John Capley, 30, and Eugene Paine, 43, both of San Anselmo, after an argument over a $1.75 taxi bill.

The windiest spot on earth is Adelie Land at the South Pole, where the average wind velocity is 50 miles per hour.

Newspapers Ask Approval For Joint Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court approval of joint operations between newspapers to preserve their editorial competition has been urged by newspaper publishers in 16 cities.

"A joint operating plant is the only feasible way," the publishers said in a brief filed yesterday, "to preserve competition in cities which cannot support two completely separate newspapers."

The court has agreed to hear next year an appeal from the Arizona Star and Tucson Daily Citizen over a federal court ruling that some aspects of their joint operation violate antitrust laws.

Antitrust laws are aimed against creation of monopolies but the publishers argued their application to joint newspaper operations ironically would bring new newspaper monopolies.

Kenyatta Warning

NAIROBI (UPI)—President Jomo Kenyatta issued a new warning yesterday against what he called "foreign meddlers and subversives" and against drunkenness which he said was the "No. 1 enemy" spoiling the nation.

Local Housing Study Urged In Marin City

The Marin City Council agreed last night that the newly formed local group, Development Corop. of Marin City, should consider assuming ownership of a proposed housing development.

The idea of local ownership came before the council after Richard M. Adams, representing the private California Development Corp., told of plans to develop a low to moderate cost apartment project on the south side of Donahue Street in the Buckelew Street area.

California Development Corp. is under contract to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency to develop the housing, Adams explained.

Present plans are for a 77 to 84-unit apartment project similar to the existing Oak Knolls apartments in Marin City. However, they would require higher rent than Oak Knolls, Adams said.

Adams asked if the council or any organization in Marin City would be interested in owning and operating the project.

Councilman Ronald Foster said the Development Corp. of Marin City would be the appropriate group to consider taking ownership. Council members agreed that corporation directors should take it under study.

Adams conceded that federal funding for the project might not be available, but there might be federal funds for other housing projects in the area.

Ulysses J. Montgomery of San Francisco, planning consultant to the local development corporation, was asked what benefit local ownership would bring to the community.

"The main benefit is that the community will have done something," he replied. "It's yours, you created it and there's a sense of satisfaction in helping the community to grow."

The first step is to study the idea in depth, "find out the best way and whether it should be done now or at all," Montgomery said.

Daniel Hayden Sr., a council member and corporation director, reviewed the corporation's proposal for development of a commercial building or buildings on between Highway 101 and Donahue Street, to the rear of the existing gasoline service station.

Initial plans are for a building to house the present businesses in Marin City and possibly some other service businesses and ultimately have a two to two-and-a-half acre shopping area, he said.

He estimated that the initial project would cost from $200,000 to $250,000, including utilities, paving, landscaping and land costs, and said the corporation is hoping for funds from the Small Business Administration.

He emphasized that the corporation will be locally owned and controlled and said directors are studying a way to have every Marin City resident have a share of ownership in the commercial center.

The council lacked a quorum so no official action was taken. The Dec. 26 session was canceled and the next session set for Jan. 9 at 8 p.m. at Manzanita Center.

Absent were Barbara Douglas, Susie Edwards, Horace K. White, Helen Washington, Ephorn Freeman Jr. and Perison Knighten. Margaret Beauchamp had to leave early because she was ill.

Hooded Gunman Takes $20,000 In Jewels, Furs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gunmen made off with an estimated $20,000 in jewelry and furs list night after invading the St. Francis Wood home of Harold Dobbs, former supervisor who owns a chain of drive-in restaurants.

While Dobbs and his wife, Annette, were at a friend's house playing gin rummy, the pair of hooded men forced their way past their son, Rusty, 16, into the Dobbs' 16-room mansion.

They tied Rusty and his sister, Cathy, 14, with wire and then ransacked the home, taking jewelry from Mrs. Dobb's cabinet, a mink stole and a mink jacket.

Mrs. Dobbs, who returned home before her husband, was also tied up by the gunmen, one of whom wore a loose black scraf into which eye holes had been cut and the other a red scarf.

After ripping out all five telephones in the Dobbs house, the pair fled. The captives freed themselves, drove to a neighbor's and called police.

TIRES? AT CHRISTMAS?

I know what most people think! But have you ever thought of this? Tires are something you have to buy anyway — so perhaps as a joint family gift you could buy a little better tire than you normally would consider. This would give you much better tire wear and much safer service while you are getting the extra wear. Cain's handles several sensational quality lines and I'll put them in bold print:

MICHELIN X • PERELLI • DUNLOP • GOODYEAR • JETZON

Within these lines are some of the best rated tires ever. I'm not going to waste a lot of space listing prices, but it is a well known fact that Cain's always quotes the lowest prices possible. AND I will really deal now, because we aren't all that busy. Because people always say TIRES? AT CHRISTMAS?

Sausalitan's Car Found Miles Away

A 1964 Volkswagen stolen Wednesday in Sausalito was recovered by the California Highway Patrol in San Luis Obispo yesterday, Sausalito police said.

The car is owned by Samuel H. Holt of Gate Five Road, who reported it stolen between 8 p.m. Tuesday and 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Police Go To Campus

Ten Marin County peace officers were sent today to bolster San Francisco police forces on the campus of San Francisco State College. They included two officers each from the sheriff's office, San Rafael Novato and Fairfax, and one officer each from San Anselmo and Mill Valley.

U.S., Hanoi In Dialogue Over Seating

PARIS (UPI)—American and North Vietnamese negotiators met today in secret to discuss a new allied compromise proposal for getting the expanded Vietnam conference under way.

Cyrus Vance, deputy chief of the American delegation, met with his Hanoi counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, shortly after 3 p.m., 7 a.m. (PST). Site of the conference was not disclosed.

Procedural disputes over the seating of the four delegations have delayed start of the talks.

Hanoi was reported demanding a square table with a side each for the North Vietnamese, the Viet Cong, the United States and Saigon.

The new plan was reported to include two semicircular tables to avoid giving recognition of the Viet Cong as would be implied by putting its delegation at a square table.

Both the United States and the South Vietnamese government refuse to recognize the Viet Cong as a separate body.

As the meeting got under way, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the sharp-tongued representation of the National Liberation Front, the political branch of the Viet Cong, accused Washington and Saigon of "deliberately sabotaging the conference" by intensifying their "war of aggression."

"They do not want to end their aggression in South Vietnam," Mme. Binh told a luncheon of diplomatic correspondents. "The do not wish to bring peace to Vietnam."

Her statement coincided with reports in Saigon the Communists were massing for possible new attacks on Saigon and other cities.

Lau attended the luncheon but hurried away for his meeting with Vance, Hanoi sources said. The Americans do not confirm such meetings until after they are over.

The North Vietnam delegation said it had been invited by American diplomats to study the U.S.-South Vietnamese plan later today.

The tree monkey is a tree-pruning machine that climbs and prunes standing trees automatically.

U.S. Bombers Pound Enemy Around Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers made their heaviest attacks in two months during the past 48 hours, striking at enemy troops north of Saigon amid strong indications today that the Communist command is preparing a new offensive there.

More than 100 of the big high-altitude bombers dropped 3,000 tons of explosives from noon Wednesday to noon today. A U.S. spokesman said it was the heaviest B52 effort since mid-October.

Reports from field commanders said there are strong indications that the North Vietnamese are preparing thrusts into key areas leading toward Saigon. But no significant ground fight was reported anywhere today.

In the latest B52 missions last night and today waves of the eight-jet Stratofortresses blasted base camps, bunkers, supply depots and infiltration corridors, and maneuvering troops.

Aerial observers reported one strike set off 11 secondary explosions, indicating direct hits on ammunition stores.

The raids were in an umbrella pattern stretching from jungle infiltration routes 75 miles northwest of Saigon to within 27 miles northeast of the capital.

U.S. intelligence sources say 15,000 to 25,000 North Vietnamese troops, and perhaps even 30,000 are deployed along a 100-mile stretch of the Cambodian border in the arc.

U.S. analysts in Washington reported yesterday that there are strong indications Red troops, north of Saigon, are preparing for a new winter offensive. Also another 20,000 to 25,000 North Vietnamese have been moving in from Laos with Hue, the old imperial capital at the northern end of Souht Vietnam as their goal.

Meanwhile, Vietnamese police and military staffs in Saigon remained on 100 per cent alert after intelligence reports indicated the enemy may step up terrorism and attempt suicide squad attacks on allied installations to commemorate an anniversary.

The Communists celebrate Dec. 19, the anniversary of the first Viet Minh attack in 1946 on the French in Hanoi.

Six Vietnamese civilians were reported wounded today when a grenade exploded in front of a house under construction in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon. Authorities said it had not been determined whether the blast was the work of Viet Cong terrorists. They said the house was being built in an alleyway and there reportedly had been a neighborhood dispute about locating it there.

Military spokesmen reported nine enemy shellings overnight, the most serious at Sa Dee, a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta 67 miles southwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters said enemy gunners fired eight rounds into Sa Dee, killing seven soldiers and wounding 14 soldiers and eight civilians.

Semester Fee Of $2.50 Urged For Damage Costs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A student newspaper at San Francisco State College today proposed a new fee of $2.50 a semester to pay for damages caused by student demonstrators.

The Phoenix, a weekly published by journalism students, called for creation of a "student self-help" fund in an effort to improve the image of the college among the state's voters.

The editorial said any unspent money would be turned over at the end of the year to financially troubled programs like black studies and special admissions. A $2.50 fee would bring in about $90,000 a year.

Firemen Elect New Officers

The Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association last night elected Albert Badour president for 1969.

Edward W. Allison was chosen as vice president; Edward S. Lewis, secretary; Guy Rockey III, treasurer, and Donald L. Lenhurr, sergeant-at-arms.

Directors chosen were Lewis Robert S. Harder, Harlan Carpenter, Fred Roemer and Henry Pierroz.

The association also scheduled its Christmas party for volunteers, their children and grandchildren at 7 p.m. Thursday at the fire station.

56th Transplant Case Dies; Texas Eyes Law

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One heart recipient died sterday, another suffered a roke and a Texas state presentative announced the ate legislature would consider e nation's first law setting les for organ transplants.

Milton Wackstein, 54, of lushing, N.Y., the most recent ansplant recipient of Dr. enton A. Cooley, died yesterday at St. Luke's Episcopal Iospital in Houston when his ody rejected the borrowed eart, doctors said.

A hospital spokesman said Wackstein, an industrial engineer, began to show signs of rejection Wednesday and desperate measures to reverse the rejection with greater dosages of antirejection drugs failed.

In Stanford, retired airline pilot Darrell Hammarly, 56, the world's only surviving double transplant patient, suffered a stroke. However, a spokesman at Stanford medical center said he was doing "satisfactory" late yesterday.

Hammarley, of San Jose, received a second transplant Nov. 21 about six hours after the first operation. Dr. Norman E. Shumway performed the surgery.

Wackstein's death left 41 heart transplant survivors in the world. Fifty-six recipients have died.

The announcement the Texas legislature would consider the landmark bill setting organ transplant rules came in Dallas.

"Other states are looking to Texas before they introduce similar legislation," said Rep. Fred Orr, a Dallas Democrat who wrote the bill.

Orr said he believed Cooley and Dr. Michael DeBakey, transplant surgeon at Methodist Hospital in Houston and pioneer in development of heart assist devices, would favor the bill's introduction.

Reagan Will Name Finch Successor Before Jan. 6

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he will name the man who will succeed Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch before the Legislature convenes Jan. 6.

But the Governor declined to discuss the names on the list of persons he is pondering.

Finch was appointed by President-elect Richard Nixon as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the new Republican administration.

Reagan said he had "purposely held off narrowing the list down" until Nixon made official his appointment of Finch, which had been an open secret.

Finch said he will not resign until after Jan. 6 and intends to preside at the opening of the 1969 state Senate. But Reagan said he would designate a successor before the Legislature opens to insure a smooth transition in the office.

The governor's announcement that he would appoint a successor before Jan. 6 was the first indication of a timetable to select the person.

Science Museum Part Of Proposal For Empty Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —A museum of science and technology and a musical workshop were suggested yesterday to the city's recreation and park commission for the Palace of Fine Arts, a $7 million structure without a purpose.

Commissioners referred to committee the proposals for a museum by Dr. Frank Oppenheimer and for a workshop by Charles Cooper.

Dr. Oppenheimer, a University of Colorado professor on leave, is backed by a group of San Francisco, including Walter S. Johnson, retired businessman who donated $2.3 million to help rebuild the palace. The rest of the $7 million came from the city and the state.

The palace was built of wood and lathe for the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition and its rebuilding in concrete was completed in 1967.

Drake Foundation Sets Reno Outing

Reservations are being taken for the Sir Francis Drake High School Scholarship Foundation's second annual Reno tour in March, according to Mike Convis, president.

The trip is planned for March 8 and 9, with proceeds to be used to help finance scholarships awarded by the foundation.

This June, Convis said, a graduating senior from Drake will be awarded a new scholarship, which will be given by the parents of Marilyn Meyers, a Drake student who died in Paris last summer.

TALK OR ELSE

A South Vietnamese interrogator, apparently in an angry mood, grabs a Viet Cong guerrilla's hair and threatens to hit him with a rifle following the enemy's capture this week. The guerrilla was flushed from an underwater hiding place in the Mocay district of the Kien Hoa province, 60 miles southwest of Saigon. He had been with a small band of guerrillas that fired at American helicopters bringing in Vietnamese troops. (AP Wirephoto)

Unruh To Bypass Speaker's Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh said yesterday he will not seek re-election to that post in view of the 41-39 majority the Republicans now hold in the Assembly.

Unruh discredited rumors that he had enough votes to deny speakership to the majority leader, Robert Monagan, R-San Joaquin.

"I have no plans to run for speaker," Unruh said following a caucus of 24 Democratic assemblymen in Los Angeles to plan strategy for the next session of the Legislature.

Assemblymen who took part in the session declined to discuss its nature. Another caucus will be held in Sacramento Jan. 5.

Assemblyman John Quinby, D-San Bernardino, said he wants Assemblyman Robert Badham, R-Orange, to challenge Charles Conrad, R-Los Angeles, for the post of speaker pro tem. Conrad was the choice of the recent GOP caucus. Quimby said he is soliciting support for Badham among Democrats and is "encouraged with the results."

Greenbrae Sets Contest For Yule

The Greenbrae Property Owners Association's annual Christmas home decoration contest will be held Thursday, reported Richard R. Dresel, president.

There will be eight cash prizes awarded with a top prize of $50.

At an association board meeting Wednesday, undergrounding of utilities in Greenbrae was discussed, Dresel reported. It was decided to request the utility companies to make a sample study of a block to determine approximate undergrounding costs to individual home owners, he reported.

Must Answer Charge

Edwin Michael Richmond, 20, and Steven Riall Moore, 21, both of Lagunitas, were held to answer in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of selling marijuana to a state narcotics agent. They were ordered to appear Dec. 23 in Superior Court to answer the charge.

Education Division Revamping Advances

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A plan to drastically revamp the state Department of Education has been unanimously accepted by the state Board of Education.

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, called the plan a "long-needed move" which would give the state "the most thoroughly modernized, streamlined state department of education in the world."

Although he voted for the plan, board member Dorman Commons warned the board that the new blueprint for reorganization does only "part of the job" of making the department more efficient.

He said the proposed plan achieves only partly what was envisioned seven years ago when reorganization was first considered.

The plan must still be approved by the Legislature.

The reorganization plan, approved yesterday, would create new divisions within the department and authorizes an assistant superintendent for Southern California and a new deputy superintendent and departmental controller.

The board's action ended months of bickering among members, who have met in Los Angeles and San Francisco on the reorganization plan.

Earlier this year, the board was prepared to accept a $250,000 private survey report submitted by Arthur D. Little, Inc., as a blueprint for reorganization.

New board appointees, placed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, sent the Little report and other plans to a board committee for recommendations. The committee made its recommendations yesterday.

Santa Venetia Crash Injures Teen Driver

David L. Wagoner, 16, of 10 La Brea Way, Apt. 27, San Rafael, was treated for a broken left arm yesterday afternoon after his car spun and overturned on North San Pedro Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Wagoner pulled out of the Santa Venetia School parking lot under high acceleration, lost control, and the car spun into the ditch in front of the Rodef Sholom synagogue.

Nixon, Business Chiefs Confer On Efforts To Help Urban Poor

NEW YORK (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon met with a top-level group of urban affairs experts today to discuss efforts by private businesses to help the urban poor.

The president-elect met for an hour and a half with the steering committee of the Urban Coalition, including David Rockefeller, who is chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank; Whitney Young Jr., Urban League; Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City; John W. Gardner, former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary and chairman of the Urban Coalition; Andrew Heiskell chairman of the board of Time, Inc., and co-chairmen of the coalition; I.W. Abel, steelworkers union president; Arthur Flemming, president of Macalester College; Arthur Naftalin, mayor of Minneapolis, and Bayard Rustin, civil rights advocate.

The group met briefly with newsmen following their session and said they found Nixon keenly interested in their organization and objectives.

The Urban Coalition, born out of the 1967 riots, seeks to funnel private business activities into ghetto areas, to help solve social and economic problems. It also is very active in pushing legislation to relieve the plight of the city poor.

Nixon met with the group shortly before a luncheon session with his personal envoy, former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who returned Wednesday from a six-nation tour in the troubled Middle East. Also sitting in on the meeting was Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser, William P. Rogers, who will be Secretary of State, and columnist Walter Lippman.

Gardner said his group discussed with Nixon areas in which effective action to eliminate troubles in the ghetto could be pursued. He said they talked specifically about housing, and that Nixon showed a great interest in the coalition which "has a very live grassroots network" of 39 separate coalitions.

He shied away from giving an opinion on whether Nixon would move quickly enough and put enough emphasis on city problems. He said the president-elect's "black capitalism" plan for spurring economic growth in Negro areas had not yet been discussed by the coalition, and he had no opinion on it.

Nixon was slated to meet in the afternoon with Sen. Henry M. Jackson a powerful Democrat who was reportedly his first choice for Defense Secretary. A Nixon spokesman said they would discuss defense matters.

Laird Pays Call On Ike To Discuss Defense Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin Laird visited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and arranged his first business meeting today with Clark Clifford, the man he will succeed at the Pentagon.

Two other members of the Nixon cabinet also started work on the transition of government by conferring with the present officers.

Herbert G. Klein, director of communications for the incoming Nixon administration, said Laird wanted to "confer on (Eisenhower's) views on coordinating the Defense Department."

Robert Finch, named to be new welfare secretary, had a luncheon session set with Secretary Wilbur G. Cohen at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, while George P. Schultz also planned lunch with the man he will succeed, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz at the Labor Department.

Klein said the other nine Nixon cabinet appointees had left Washinrton to attend to private affairs before starting transition discussions with the present cabinet officers and other Johnson administration officials.

Klein made public an exchange of letters between Clifford and Congressman Laird which he described as typical of those taking place during the transition period.

Clifford has set up an office in his own suite for Laird's use and offered to supply Laird, "in whatever detail you wish, reports on the current situation and on future prospects as we see them."

Similar offices have been set up at HEW for Finch, Klein said.

He said the Nixon cabinet designees would be commuting between Washington and New York City where they would consult with Nixon's staff on filling various posts in the new government.

Asked about his role as overall communications director for the new administration, Klein said he would assist the new secretaries in selecting information personnel but "the final decision will be made by the secretary."

Suspect Accused Of Fatal Arson

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—An 18-year-old youth was arrested today and charged with arson and six counts of homicide in a hotel fire which claimed six lives earlier this week, police said.

He was David Allen Raush, who was held without bail pending a preliminary hearing Dec. 26.

Police said four other persons were being sought for allegedly setting the general alarm blaze which caused an estimated $200,000 damage to the Midtown Hotel.

Sonoma State Slates Dance, Jazz Workshop

The Sonoma State College dance workshop will present a program in conjunction with the college jazz workshop at 8:30 p.m. Dec. 19, 20 and 21 at Ives Hall.

Both part of the Center for Performing Arts, the groups will perform individually and together.

Under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Dunwoody, the dance group will perform "Seven Studies on Themes by Paul Klee," with music by Gunther Schuller. Paintings will be projected on stage as a dance backdrop.

"A Telemann Fantasy" by Walter Oster will be presented in conjunction with a film prepared by the dance workshop. "Bach Partita No. 1" will be presented by the jazz workshop along with several original compositions. Oster directs the jazz group.

Two Jailed, Third Sought As USC Killing Suspects

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Police arrested two men today in the slaying of a University of Southern California freshman freshman, knifed Monday outside a fraternity house. Officers said they are hunting a third.

Booked on suspicion of murder were George W. Jordan Jr., 26, described by police as a missionary, and Douglas Lorenzo Turnbeau, 30, a salesman. Officers said they lived together near the USC campus.

Bryan Clay, 18, of Honolulu was stabbed after he stepped outside the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house where he was a pledge. Witnesses told police he was accosted by three Negroes, one lunged at Clay, then they fled.

Clay staggered to the door of the fraternity, then collapsed. He died in a hospital of heart and lung wounds.

Officers said Jordan was arrested at County Jail last night where he was in the sheriff's custody on another charge they declined to specify. Turnbeau was arrested two hours later. Both are Negroes.

Police did not identify the third man sought.

Schools, Factories Feeling Flu Impact

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The spreading Hong Kong flu epidemic has forced the closing of some schools and colleges and raised absenteeism in business and industry.

It even prevented a New York City woman from being present when her husband was named a member of the new Cabinet.

The absent Cabinet wife was Mrs. Maurice Stans, whose husband was named secretary of commerce Wednesday night by President-elect Nixon.

Reached at her home yesterday and asked about the Washington events, Mrs. Stans said, "I didn't make it. I have the Hong Kong flu. I am one very sick cookie."

The new strain of flu has spread from Los Angeles—where officials say almost 300,000 adults and children are absent from work or school—to New York City where Adelphi University in suburban Garden City canceled undergraduate classes until Jan. 5, saying, "The Hong Kong flu has hit."

The Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point began Christmas vacation eight days early after about half the 728 midshipmen were stricken.

The National Communicable Disease Center said deaths from pneumonia and influenza have exceeded normal expectations and termed the flu outbreak an epidemic. The center said outbreaks of flu and respiratory diseases from 30 states have been reported, with Hong Kong flu confirmed in 14 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia.

Actress Tallulah Bankhead, 65, died yesterday of pneumonia which developed after she came down with the flu.

Here's a rundown on what effect the flu has had on some areas of the country:

California—Los Angeles county health officials say the epidemic is expected to reach a peak between Dec. 17 and Christmas. Gov. Ronald Reagan's voice is husky and he's coughing frequently. All members of the police department have been immunized. In San Diego, four judges, eight court clerks and five court reporters are out sick. Schools in Los Angeles reported absentee rates of 10 to 25 per cent, instead of the normal 5 to 6 per cent.

Michigan—Two Catholic schools in Detroit were closed because of flu and a spokesman for the public school system said 13 per cent of the students were absent yesterday. The normal absenteeism rate is 5 to 10 per cent. Chrysler Corp. reported "a significant increase in absenteeism," and a General Motors Corp. employee said, "You could tell something was wrong. The expressway traffic was too light this morning." Classes at public schools in suburban Livonia, Mich., were canceled after 150 students came down with the flu.

Illinois—Hospital administrators in Chicago said employee absentee rates were four times as high as normal and warned outpatient services at some hospitals might have to be curtailed.

Massachusetts—College infirmaries are reported filling up, although no schools or colleges are closed. Dr. Nicholas J. Fiumara, director of the state's division of communicable diseases, predicted 30 per cent of the people in the greater Boston area would get the flu when the epidemic reaches its peak—expected around the first of the year.

Washington, D.C.—The Hospital Council of the National Capitol area asked for voluntary restrictions on hospital visitors, warning that visitors can bring flu to hospitalized patients in weakened condition.

Virginia — Randolph-Macon College for women at Lynchburg was closed yesterday because of more than 100 cases of flu-type illness. Hollins College at Roanoke, Lynchburg College, Woodberry Forest preparatory school and two public schools closed earlier because of flu outbreaks.

Washington State—Fort Wright College in Spokane dismissed classes yesterday for Christmas vacation, which had been scheduled to begin next Tuesday.

Wisconsin—In Milwaukee, two private schools were closed after flu outbreaks and public school officials reported teacher absenteeism running 365 to 400 a day compared to the normal 75. City Health Commissioner Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel said three-fourths of Milwaukee's population would have Hong Kong flu by Jan. 1.

Montana — Flu cases rose by 1,134 in the past week with near epidemic status reported in several cities. Montana State University in Bozeman reported 800 flue cases in the past 10 days.

Probation Set On Tax Charge For Marinite

SAN FRANCISCO — Michael Sabena, 48-year-old Mill Valley painting contractor, was given a suspended one-year sentence and fined $10,000 today in U.S. District Court for failing to file an income tax return in 1964.

Judge George B. Harris said that he was "inclined to sentence" Sabena to jail for the maximum term of one year but that because of "psychiatric problems involved and in the holiday spirit" he was suspending the sentence.

He placed Sabena on five years probation and gave him the same period to pay the fine.

Sabena, who lives at 305 Miller Avenue, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to report an income of $9,666 in 1964, according to representatives of the Internal Revenue Service.

Santa To Arrive

Santa Claus will arrive in Rohnert Park at 7 p.m. today atop a city fire engine and greet youngsters at the shopping center mall. The band and chorus of Rancho Cotate High School will perform under the direction of J. J. Wright.

Tam Firemen To Aid Santa With Sweets

The Tamalpais Volunteer Fire Department agreed last night to provide candy canes for Santa Claus to distribute Dec. 21 and 22 to children in Tamalpais and Homestead valleys. The department will also provide a fire engine for Santa to ride in on his rounds.

The department also discussed its constitution and bylaws and distributed copies to each member for future discussion and possible amendments at a later meeting.

Injuries Minor

Dr. Jacques J. Couacaud of 8 Rose Court, Novato, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a minor nose and head cuts received when he ran his car into a ditch in front of 496 Olive Avenue at 7:30 p.m. yesterday, according to Novato police.

Jury Votes Guilty

Paud Irwin Callistro, 31, of San Francisco, was found guilty yesterday by a Marin Superior Court jury of stealing $1,200 from the Bon Air Hardware in Greenbrae July 12. He is to return to court Dec. 30.

THE BALLROOM at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base is decorated by the Officers Wives Club for the holiday season with gold trees of punchenelli ribbon and Spanish lamps tied with gold ribbon which blend beautifully with the Mediterranean style carpeting of gold and red and the natural wood paneling. Finishing the decorations and getting ready for the annual Officers Wives Club Christmas Ball to be held Saturday night, are Mrs. J. Duncan Ashe, seated; Mrs. Elmer Duncan, placing ribbon on a tree; Mrs. John Archdeacon, adjusting a ribbon and Mrs. John F. Taylor, chairman, arranging candles. Students returning to the area from college who are children of personnel assigned to Hamilton will also have a dance on Dec. 26.

POINSETTIAS IN a huge gold container and the chandeliers covered with feathery type tinsel of silver and white will be the first of the beautiful decorations to be seen by those attending functions at Hamilton during the holiday season. Mrs. John W. Andrews and Mrs. W. E. Bennett put the final touches on the arrangement. Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Ralph C. Weston, commander of the Canadian Forces at Hamilton, and Canadian officers and their wives will be hosts to the Fourth Air Force and the North American Air Defense Command officers and their wives this evening. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Marin Women

MRS. E. E. SLOOP and Mrs. N. P. McCommon place a hand-decorated skirt around the base of the 15-foot Monterey pine in the main lounge of the Officers Club. Many parties will be held during the holiday season at Hamilton Air Force Base. The first party to be held was Tuesday night when Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert Burns had a reception for civilian and military dignitaries and the diplomatic corps in the area. General Burns is commander of the Fourth Air Force.

EVEN HEIDI, the dog, wasn't left out when members of the Officers Wives Club decorated the club. She accompanied her owners, Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Ike Wintermute to the club, and Mrs. Albert Bobrowski, co-chairman of the decorations committee, felt that the white dog should have a necklace of pink tinsel.

Travelers Return Home For Holidays

By MOLLY MARIN

Home in time to spend the holidays in Belvedere are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies, after traveling throughout South America for over two months.

While they were in Santiago, Chile they stayed in the hotel where Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip were staying, arriving the same day as the royal party. They frequently saw the queen, whom Milly Davies described as "pretty, slight and small; and with a seemingly endless wardrobe." When she and the prince drove in a convertible she put a small gray lap robe over her knees for modesty."

During the royal visit Santiago was festively decorated with flags and flowers. Another high point of the trip was traveling 1,000 miles up the Amazon where they went into the dense jungle on a skiff directed by a native guide.

In Brazil they visited the Iguassu Falls, then crossed the river at the base of the falls by small boat into Argentina. The river rose 30 feet because of heavy rains. On the Argentinian side of the falls they boarded their plane on a dirt runway. A misadventure with a happy ending occurred in Lima, Peru, where Mrs. Davies purse was robbed while she was walking on the street a short distance from her hotel. By 10:30 that night the Lima police had recovered the purse with everything intact, even the small change.

Other ports of call were Puerto Rico, Trinidad, Brasilia, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Rio de Janeiro, the Inca ruins at Cusco, Peru, the Chilean Lake country and locations in Ecuador and Panama.

The Davies' younger son, Lt. James Davies, will be home for Christmas from Fort Belvoir, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies Jr., of Mill Valley and their daughter, Karen, will be at the Davies home in Belvedere for a family gathering on Christmas Eve.

THE SILVER anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Schneider of Belvedere was celebrated at champagne buffet at the family home Sunday.

The party, which was a complete surprise for Bernice and Russ, was arranged by their daughters, Mrs. Richard Cardoza (Donna Schneider) of San Francisco, Christine of Belvedere, and Mrs. Schneider's mother Mrs. Eugenia Mattos of Mill Valley. The Schneiders' son, Steve, is in the Navy, with duty in Japan.

Seventy-five family members and friends joined in the 25th anniversary celebration.

MRS. EUGENE BURNS (concert pianist Olga Burns) has returned home to Sausalito from a two-month tour of Turkey, the Middle East and Morocco just in time for the holidays.

Mrs. Simon Bolivar Buckner of Sausalito was in the same group as Mrs. Burns.

One of the highlights of their trip was visiting various archeological digs in Turkey. Among other interesting places they visited were Petra, Israel, Cyprus and Amman, the capital of Jordan.

MR. AND MRS. William Schwarzer have invited some 50 guests to a cocktail party Saturday evening honoring the three daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Porter R. Danford of Mill Valley.

Susan has just arrived home from an assignment with the Peace Corps in Niger, Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Passovoy (Carol Danford) are coming from Madras, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Backman (Debbie Danford) will come from Davis.

SPENDING THE holidays in Marin are Mr. and Mrs. David Gantz of San Jose, Costa Rica and their 7-month-old twins, Julie and Stephen.

The family is staying with Susan Gantz's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Beare of San Rafael, and it is the twins' first visit with their grandparents. After the holidays the Gantzes will go to Cincinnati to visit David's parents before returning to Costa Rica.

HOSTS AT A neighborhood party at 5 p.m. on Dec. 22 will be Mrs. and Mrs. George Sears of Sausalito.

DR. AND MRS. Richard Rider will be hosts Saturday at their home in Mill Valley at a combined birthday and farewell dinner for the Rev. D. Murray Hammond, rector of Mill Valley's Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

Reverend Hammond, his wife and children, Dave, Chris and P'ia, will be leaving on Jan. 20 to drive to Cambridge, Mass. On sabbatical leave until June, Reverend Hammond has a proctor fellowship at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge.

The Hammonds are regarding the cross country drive as an opportunity to see the United States as a family before the children are grown, and they will visit relatives en route.

THE HENRY I. Prestons of San Rafael celebrated the 21st birthday of their son Richard Saturday evening in San Francisco at Oreste's restaurant.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID Stewart of San Anselmo will host members of the Mannequin League at a cocktail party Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m.

The Norman Sanguinettis will co-host the annual Christmas party, which is attended by league members and their husbands.

MR. AND MRS. John Finn III of Mill Valley will host their traditional Christmas party tonight for members and husbands of the Millwood unit of Marin Foundation, Friends of Arequipa.

Tea Bag Hoax Leaves Housewife With Supply Of Unwanted Tags

DEAR HELEN:

Several months ago my sister asked if I would start saving the tags from any teabags we used. She said her nephew was collecting them at school, and when the labels amounted to some gigantic amount (like a million or so) they would turn them in and get a wheelchair for a charitable organization.

At any rate, I began collecting and enlisted the aid of friends. It now turns out that this is not going to be the school's project. I have a sizable amount of labels on hand. Do you know of any other organization which is collecting them? Or was somebody pulling the boy's leg? — R.M.R.

DEAR R:

This sounds a little like the great cigarette hoax of a few years back. "Save the cellophane opener strip," word went out, "And when you collect 10 pounds you can get a seeing eye dog for a blind person."

I doubt anyone ever reached 10 pounds, or ever heard where to send them. H.

DEAR HELEN:

I felt sorry for a young couple who had an apartment down the hall. The man lost his job and they were getting desperate. So when an opening came at my plant I told them about it. However, the job was for a woman, and the hours were the same as mine — swing shift.

Mrs. T. applied and got it. What more natural than she ride to work with me? Rose Ann and I began stopping for a drink at midnight and then Rose suggested another bar where we could dance. Finally little Rosy ended up in my bachelor apartment, while her husband slept.

She told me she didn't like him very well as he wouldn't try to get work.

Last night she announced she was going to get a divorce. I didn't catch on until she added, "So we can get married, darling."

That isn't what I had in mind. I was only trying to be kind to a couple of down-and-out kids, and this dame takes advantage.

I told Mrs. T. she had the wrong impression, and from now on she drives to work alone. She said I couldn't mean it and she'll wait "until I come to my senses." She slips notes under my door and waits in the hall until I get in at night. Last night she insisted on coming in to my apartment and said if I threw her out she would scream and get me in trouble with the management.

So how am I going to get out of this mess? — CONFIRMED BACHELOR

DEAR BACH:

Go apartment-hunting! And switch to a day shift.

And hereafter be "kind" only to elderly spinsters. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

We had a discussion about wedding pictures in newspapers. My roommate said only the bride's picture should appear. I think it's nice to have both the bride's and groom's picture printed. — WHICH?

DEAR WHICH:

I don't think there is an etiquette rule against a bride-and-groom picture, but sometimes newspaper space shortage rules it out. If you marry in June, you may get only a small "mugshot." But a January wedding, especially in a smaller town, may rate a two-column spread, complete with cake. — H.

Churchwomen Elect Mrs. James D. Fritz

A Novato resident for four years, Mrs. James D. Fritz has been elected president of the Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Francis of Assisi Church.

She has served as chairman of St. Francis Fair, and the club women plan to join the Holiday Show '68, the Senior Citizens Village Fair Bazaar in March and a wine tasting.

A member of the Apha Xi Delta national sorority, she also is employed part time as a registered nurse at Novato Manor Convalescent Hospital and is a 4-H leader.

Martha, or Marti as she is known, attended Denison University in Granville, Ohio, Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. and received her nurses training at Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago.

The new president and her husband, have four children: Donald, 19, a sophomore at the University of California at Davis; Laura, 17; Susan, 14; and David, 11 years old.

Knitting, sewing, gardening, cooking and skiing are among Marti's pastimes, and she most enjoys family activities.

Officers elected to serve with her are Mesdames Jack Nyulassie, vice president; Robert De Haven, secretary; and Grover Partee, treasurer.

Chairmen are Mesdames Eleanor Snare, worship; Richard Whitney, publicity, David Walker, ecumenical relations; and George Scherba, sunshine.

Sandra Mittell To Be Bride Of Peter I. Teller

Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Mittell of West Los Angeles announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra Kay Mittell to Peter Ivancovich Teller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick de Peyster Teller Jr. of Ross.

Peter is the brother of Mrs. Joseph P. Stone and Anne Christine and Frederic de Peyster Teller III and the grandson of Mrs. Balbo Ivancovich of San Anselmo. He is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and attends California Polytechnic College School of Architecture.

Sandra was graduated from high school in Pacific Palisades and from Cal Poly. She is the sister of Philip H., Pamela Lynne and Priscilla Emme Mittell. The future bride is employed by the Los Angeles City School District.

A June wedding is planned by the couple.

Miss Bursch Engaged To Jay Morris

Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Bursch of San Jose announce the engagement of their daughter Marianne Sue to Jay Stanley Morris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morris of San Anselmo.

Marianne is the sister of Stephen Bursch of Seattle, Wash., and Alan Bursch of San Jose. She is a graduate of Pioneer High School in San Jose and attends San Jose City College, where she is also employed in the admissions office.

Jay is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and is in his senior year at the University of California. Mrs. William Jamieson of Mill Valley is his sister.

The couple plan to wed in December of 1969.

Cabinet Wife's Friends Say, 'She Makes You Feel At Ease'

By PEGGY SIMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP) The wife of president-elect Nixon's secretary of state should be a national asset on the champagne and caviar circuit—she's a good listener, in a city famed for talk.

"She has a wonderful gift of making you feel at ease," friends say of Mrs. William P. Rogers.

It will be her second round as a cabinet wife. Her husband, a close friend of Nixon since World War II Naval training days, was attorney general from 1957 to 1960. Nixon persuaded him to give up a lucrative Washington-New York law practice to take the $35,000-a-year position.

"It's just hard for me not to go overboard in my enthusiasm visualizing Adele as the wife of our secretary of state," said Mrs. Arthur Flemming, wife of Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of health, education and welfare.

Ever since their four grown children left home, the Rogers have preferred to entertain at small buffet dinners rather than swing with the front-page society set.

"I think she'll make an excellent hostess in the diplomatic circles," said Mrs. Fred Seaton, whose husband was interior secretary under Eisenhower.

"She is an exceedingly intelligent woman—quiet but very gracious. She is the type who listens. She would not intrude but would see that everyone is taken care of," Mrs. Seaton said in a telephone talk from Hastings, Neb.

Mrs. Rogers got out of the hospital Wednesday after corrective surgery on an ankle which had not mended properly from a break a year ago when she slipped on the steps of the Supreme Court building.

The injury hampered her favorite sports of golf, tennis and walking.

Adele Rogers is a Cornell University law school graduate and had intended to practice law in a speciality of juvenial delinquency. Instead, she married Rogers in 1937.

Year's Bachelors Given Trophies By Alan King

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Six men who survived Leap Year and stayed single were honored for their bachelorhood Wednesday night with trophies presented by a man who's been married for almost a quarter of a century.

"Having been married for 22 years, I'd rather be accepting an award than presenting them," said comedian Alan King as he handed out silver bowls to the men named Bachelors of the Year by a men's toiletry company.

Actually, said King, "being married has been a marvelous thing." He said bachelors are often lonely and advised them, "You're better off getting married and cheating."

None of the six bachelors plans to stay single forever and most have a general idea of what they want in a wife.

Phil Linz, 29, of the New York Mets, wants a girl who's got "good eyesight (to compensate for his poor vision), is intelligent and is attractive, but not extra beautiful."

Singer Chad Mitchell, 32, said he just hasn't found the girl with whom he could have a meaningful relationship.

Comedian Milt Kamen, 44, admitted, "I feel guilty I've never been married—because it means I've never been divorced. I'm depriving some fine woman of alimony."

New York Giants halfback Ernie Koy, 26, said he was still a bachelor because of "the freedom that you've got to go where you want and do what you want."

Theatrical producer Mort Gottlieb, 47, joked, "I want to thank some of those ladies who helped me achieve this position."

Jim Lonborg, 26-year-old pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, said, "I think, after listening to Alan talk, I'd just as soon try marriage—for one night."

ON THE AGENDA

Dominican Garden School Plans Traditional Christmas Program

The Dominican Garden School will present its traditional Christmas program on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the Dominican campus. Parents and friends of the garden school children are invited to attend.

Choir boys will present six Christmas greeting scenes and Christmas angels will be features in scenes around the crib.

Choir boys are William Bertrand, Robert Bowler, David and John Capurro, David Cary, Kevin Kroncke, John Morello, John McIntosh, John Romano, Lyle Samaha, Garrett Scales Jr. and Dominic Taddeucci.

Little choir boys are Joseph Applebaum, Theodore Creighton, Jonathan Daniels, John Feldmeier, Douglas Grant, John Jansheski, Kenneth Schieser and Robert Woodward.

Christmas angels are Leslie Baldiocchi, Sharon Bryar, Angela Concotta, Virginia Gennaro, Leslie Kelly, Karen Kroncke, Kathleen Maggi, Leslie McGowan, Carol Pera, Sally Sanderson, Karen Souza, Lisa Vizkelety and Christine Wilson.

Attending angels are Suzanne Bertrand, Julie Bryar, Alison Burke, Elizabeth Dawson, Christina Fassio, Ginette Geoffrion, Margaret Gompertz, Andrea Heim, Kimberly Kulemin, Christine Marke, Jennifer Norman, Maureen Pasha, Julie Skvaril and Susan Todaro.

THE CHRISTMAS party for members and their families is being planned for the Tiburon Peninsula Club from 4 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Carol singing, refreshments and surprises for the children are planned. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dewey are chairmen.

THE ANNUAL Christmas party of Marin Adoptive Parents will be tomorrow from 2 to 4 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Each family attending at the fellowship hall in the lower level of the church is asked to bring a tray of cookies; each child should bring an ornament for the Christmas tree. Games are planned for older youngsters.

Marin Adoptive Parents is a volunteer organization of parents of adopted children and has invited interested persons to attend the party.

THE MARIN Branch of the American Association of University Women is giving an old-fashioned wassail party Sunday from 2-5 p.m. All members and their husbands are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Bergman's home at 135 Montecito Road, San Rafael, will be the scene of the festivities. Mrs. Joseph Turina is in charge of arrangements with the assistance of Mrs. Myron L. Hersko and Mrs. Elsa Kaye.

THE SEWING section of the Novato Hostess Club has been making "What-Not" boxes filled with candy, crayons, toys and other gifts that will be delivered to Hanna Boys' Center on Sunday.

ST. RITA'S Women's Guild will sponsor a communion breakfast in the parish hall on Sunday immediately following the 9:15 a.m. mass, for all women of the parish.

Celebrating the mass will be the Rev. John J. O'Connor, who heads the Marin Catholic Social Service and the Marin chapter of the War on Poverty. Father O'Connor will also be guest speaker at the breakfast. Mrs. L. P. DeMartini is chairman of the event, which will feature homemade coffeecake and pastries.

A DINNER with a Hawaiian holiday theme will be given by the Belveron Association at Tiburon Tommie's Restaurant on Sunday. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Guests are asked to wear casual clothes in keeping with the Hawaiian theme.

Donald Batten is chairman; Mesdames Joseph Ramblas, Charles Henson and William Quinan are reservations chairmen.

HIGHLIGHT OF Sunday's children's Christmas party the Sausalito Cruising Club Women's Auxiliary will stage for children of members will be the arrival of Santa Claus (Harry Kramer) by boat between 1:30 and 2 p.m.

About 50 children are expected to attend the party, for which Mrs. Paul Rice is chairman.

TWO HOLIDAY open houses will be given by the Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Frisch at the parsonage for member families of the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church in Tiburon. The parties will be given from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tonight and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Daughters of the Shepherd, church women's organization, are serving hot dogs to the handicapped at the Mill Valley Youth Center from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and are in charge of refreshments for the Sunday School Christmas Pageant, which will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 22.

A TRADITIONAL Christmas party, with carols and gift exchange, will be celebrated by El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution on Monday, at a noon luncheon at the Sleepy Hollow home of Mrs. L. C. Soilean.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Edward J. Ehmann, Helen Noel, James Small, Jean Smith and Walter Wyman.

MEMBERS OF the Woodacre Improvement Recreational Club have named Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dentkos of Woodacre as the club's Man and Woman of the Year.

According to outgoing president Rodney Thorsen, the Dentkos were honored for their outstanding contribution in handling all of the club's upkeep and rentals this past year and for actively participating in many of the club's activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Dentkos have been house chairmen for the past two years. They were awarded individual engraved plaques, and their names will be placed on a permanent plaque, which hangs in the clubhouse.

MRS. JAMES KRETCHMER of San Rafael has been elected president of the Loch Lomond Guild of Sunny Hills for the year. Other new officers for the guild are Mesdames William Miller, vice president; Donald Smith, treasurer; Donald Rossi, recording secretary; Benjamin Ostlind, corresponding secretary; and Ronald Horne, Christmas party chairman.

Women's Golf Club Elects New Captain

MRS. ERNEST KORN

An eight-year-member of the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club in Novato, Mrs. Ernest Korn of Greenbrae has been elected captain of the club. She has also served as secretary, treasurer and co-captain.

Mrs. Korn and her husband, a controller with Engs Motor Truck Company, have lived in Marin County for 16 years.

She was graduated from College of San Mateo and has participated in fund raising drives for the American Red Cross, the Heart Fund and the Greenbrae Chapter of Arequipa.

Art, reading, bridge and theater are among the interests of the new captain, and she particularly enjoys golf and informal dinner parties with good friends.

Projects for the club this year include an invitational for major tournaments, spring handicap and the captain's tourney.

Other officers are Mesdames Jack Clifford, co-captain; Frances Golden, tournament chairman; George Greenwood, assistant tournament chairman; Charles Royce, handicap chairman; Roger Williams, assistant handicap chairman; Rigby Wilkie, secretary; Lloyd Abrams, treasurer; Charles Johnson, publicity, and Miss Dicie Gates, captain of the business women.

Mrs. Cerrudo President Of Peacock Gap Golf Group

Members of the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Group have elected Mrs. John E. Cerrudo of San Rafael to serve as president for the coming year.

Betty Cerrudo has been a member of the group for two and a half years. Plans are underway for weekly tournaments, a women's invitational and monthly mixed tournaments.

The Cerrudos have two children: Ron, who is professional golfer, and 16-year-old Deborah.

The new president belongs to the Samuel Merritt Hospital Alumnae, Castlewood Country Club and an investment club. She was educated in Oakland schools and was graduated as a registered nurse from Samuel Merritt Hospital. Her family and golf are what she enjoys most.

Other officers of the women's golf group are Mesdames Richard Dekay, co-captain; Roy Dowd, secretary; Harold Stookey, corresponding secretary; Roland Hellman, treasurer; and Harold Baer, tournament chairman.

Franks For Luncheon

Hot dogs are a favorite midday meal for the younger set, but franks are handy for a ladies' luncheon, too. Open-face frank sandwiches in their many glamorous forms might be appropriate or a salad with sliced franks. Chopped franks combine well with a number of foods for tasty tea sandwiches, too.

Parents Announce Engagement Of Cynthia Truog To Kirk Wolter

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Nicholas F. Truog of Novato are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Lee to Kirk Marcus Wolter.

CYNTHIA TRUOG

Cynthia is the sister of Melinda and Melissa Troug of Novato. She was graduated from Dreux-Senoches in Eure Et Lois, France and is a junior majoring in nursing at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn.

Kirk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wolter of Arlington Heights, Ill. Kristine Tara Wolter is his sister. He was graduated from Arlington Heights High School and is a junior majoring in mathematics and economics at St. Olaf College.

Chinese Pea Pods

Just as at home at patio parties as at the most formal gatherings are Chinese green pea pods when they come to the table dressed with sliced water chestnuts or slivered blanched almonds, plenty of butter and and Parmesan cheese. They're as delectable as they are different from the usual run of the mill vegetables.

British Critics Laud Controversial Drama

LONDON (AP) — British critics today praised and defended Rolf Hochhuth's play "The Soldiers," which suggests that Sir Winston Churchill may have had a hand in the World War II death of a Polish general. The Canadian actor John Colicos repeated the triumph he scored in the New York production as Churchill.

The play had been banned for two years on the ground that it "grossly maligned" Churchill by implicating him in the plane crash death of Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski in 1943. It reached the London stage last night because of the recent relaxation in the censorship laws.

Arthur Thirkell of the Daily Mirror said the play "is a fascinating debate on the ethics of war."

"Is Churchill maligned? Not from my understanding of the play," he wrote.

Herbert Kretzmer of the Daily Express termed the play "enthralling," and Peter Lewis of the Daily Mail wrote that in Churchill, the author has "created one of the few real heroes of modern drama."

The first night audience greeted the play with thunderous applause. Lord Harlech, the former ambassador to Washington who was in the audience, commented: "Allegations that Sir Winston has been smeared are totally unfounded."

No member of the Churchill family attended, and Sir Winston's namesake grandson called the play "an infamous libe."

Scientists Discover Lost Grecian Colony In Italy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The director of the University of Pennsylvania museum has announced that he and an Italian archaeologist have rediscovered an ancient Greek city which disappeared almost 2,500 years ago.

Dr. Froelich G. Rainey said last night the city, Sybaris, is located in what is now Italy, and lies beneath 15 to 18 feet of earth, below sea level and the water table. He said it is in an area about six miles in circumference and about a mile and a quarter inland from the Gulf of Taranto shoreline.

The announcement, made jointly by Rainey and Prof. Giuseppe Foti, superintendent of antiquities of Calabria, Italy, apparently ends the century-old search by scholars of various nations for the ruins of the Greek colony.

Sybaris was conquered and destroyed by its Croton neighbors in 510 B.C. The Crontoniates reportedly diverted a river over the city and submerged it.

The archaeologists said Sybaris was the largest and richest Greek city of its time, although they declined to speculate on what buried treasures might lie beneath the soil and water table.

The search, which began in 1960, was carried out by the museum with the cooperation and supervision of the Italian department of antiquities.

Excavation was limited to test cuts because of flooding threats, which the archaeologists say will present future difficulty in the uncovering process.

The Italians, however, plan a test excavation next spring.

U.S. Criticizes U.N. Job Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States wants U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to put more Americans on the U.N. staff and stop hiring personnel from countries it says are getting more than their just share of jobs.

U.S. Delegate Raymond D. Nasher told the General Assembly's budget committee yesterday hundreds of Americans have unsuccessfully sought U.N. jobs. The United States continues to fall below its staff quota, he said, while other nations get more than they are entitled to.

He said 20 per cent of the 5,700 staff posts were filled by Americans in 1966, but now only 18.81 per cent of U.N. workers are Americans.

Shakespeare Play Auditions Slated

Auditions for vacancies in the acting company of the California Shakespeare Festival will be held Saturday at College of Marin, director Roger Gross reported.

He said he and associate director James Dunn, head of the speech and drama department at College of Marin, will see students by appointment only for the several vacancies for the 1969 season of Old Town Theater, Los Gatos.

Appointments may be made with Dunn at the college.

Film Showings Set

The film "Juliet of the Spirits," directed by Frederico Fellini, will be shown at Sonoma State College at 6:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday in Room 1003 of Stevenson Hall. The showing is sponsored by the lectures and concerts committee of the associated students.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River—Made in England. Jerry Lewis in a refreshingly straight comic role as an irresponsible wheeler-dealer.

More Than A Miracle — Boisterous fairy tale of far away and long ago. A Spanish prince and his love for a tempestous peasant girl.

Young Americans — Adventures, mishaps, conflicts and romances of a busload of talented teen-agers chosen in a state-wide competition. Production and color photography is excellent.

ADULTS AND TEENS

Guns of San Sebastion — An outlaw of 18th Century Mexico becomes a revered leader. Picturesque lusty western stars Anthony Quinn.

For Love of Ivy — A romantic comedy, shiny and unreal, exploit comic misconceptions on both sides of race question. Torrid bed scene and some language startlingly frank.

Minute to Pray, A Second to Die — Mediocre western about gunfighter trying to go straight. Brutality makes up most of the action.

MORDERLINE

Never Too Late — Intimate marriage relations held up to ridicule, a silly and tasteless attempt at comedy.

ADULTS ONLY

Barbarella — Adult comic strip goes so far beyond mere vulgarity in sex, nudity and perverted brutality that it is close to pornography.

Bedazzled — Sophisticated film based on the Faust legend.

A Flea in Her Ear — A good cast wasted on crude French sex farce.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas — This satire makes free-love and drugs seem the life of happiness.

To Bed or Not To Bed — Middle-aged Italian businessman enroute to Sweden hopes to conquer beautiful young girls as a vacation away from his wife.

Ulysses — Straight adaption of James Joyce's controversial novel.

South Dakota has 55,000 farms.

Udall Proposes New Mine Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal "flexibility of response" to set new coal mine safety standards with discovery of new hazards is included in safety legislation proposed by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Udall announced the proposed bill yesterday at a mine safety conference he called in the wake of the mine explosion that entombed 78 men in West Virginia last month.

The interior secretary would be empowered to set new safety regulations after an interim period on the basis of advanced technology or finding of new hazards.

The bill also would permit federal inspectors to order evacuation of mines in cases of "imminent danger" and permit investigation of mines solely for the purpose of developing health and safety standards.

Film Festival Prizes Awarded

Michael Stewart of Berkeley has taken top honors in the Sonoma State College 8mm film festival.

Stewart's film, entitled "Free Form," also won first prize at the St. Mary's College film festival this year. He was awarded $500 at ceremonies concluding the three-day showing Sunday.

Second place prize of $300 went to Robert Giorgio of Highlands, N.Y., and his film, "Fantasy." Third prize of $100 went for the film, "Cut."

NEW WAX GALLERY AT WAX MUSEUM AT FISHERMAN'S WHARF

When the Prophet Mohammed returned to Mecca in 630 A.D. and smashed the idols, the Islam faith emerged. This scene, shown above, is one of the tableaux of the new Hall of Religions at the Wax Museum at Fisherman's Wharf which has recently been added to the famed museum. According to the management, the Fisherman's Wharf museum is the largest wax museum in North America and features over 200 life size wax figures by Josephine Tussaud Company.

Games Show Need For Driver Education

SACRAMENTO (BW) — The violent games that children play on their bicycles emphasize the need for "pre-driver education" for traffic safety, a National Safety Council executive said here yesterday.

Thomas W. Planek, the safety council research director, cited results of an NSC bicycle study in his keynote address here to the Governor's Conference on Traffic Safety.

In the study, responses were obtained from more than 4,000 children in four widely separated parts of the country. "About 10 to 15 per cent of young male bicycle drivers," Planek said, are playing violent games like "demolition derby," "murder-bike," and "chicken."

"The relation of this behavior to their future motor vehicle operation," Planek said, "is not hard to envision."

The conference theme identified "the driver" as "traffic's undesigned factor." Planek's keynote address suggested that, while there have been a variety of programs and campaigns aimed at improving drivers, few of them have been well defined and precisely aimed at the prevention of accidents and the mitigation of resulting injuries.

"State administrators, safety educators and safety practitioners must take the lead," Planek told the conference, "in initiating research efforts by questioning the effectiveness of every contemplated driver-related program.

"The time for 'reviews of the literature' is past," Planek said. "Now is the time for responsible action guided by a commitment to the results of competent research."

Novato Council To Learn Ways To Beautify City

Ways to make Novato more beautiful will be studies by the city council at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato Community House.

The Novato Beautification Committee presented the council with its aims and goals at last Tuesday's meeting.

The committee urged undergrounding of utility lines; creation of more parks; an ordinance to force property owners of vacant lots to keep them free of weeds and trash; better utilization of Novato Creek's natural beauty; landscaping of Highway 101 and a street tree program.

Other suggestions of the committee were to encourage better subdivisions by working with the developers and planners; working with industry to keep signs in harmony with their environment; encouraging neatness in parking lots; beautification of commercial buildings and to discouraging the construction of unadorned cement commercial buildings.

The study report also suggested subcommittees for surveys and outlines of programs to meet the community needs. These would include organizations such as women's and service clubs.

The committee also asked for a feasibility study by the city to determine the "financial practicability of executing these goals.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Aviation Phrase Has Meaning For Operators Of Restaurants

The "point of no return" is a familiar expression in flying an airplane.

It also has its application to restaurants — but with a different significance. It is the time during which a restaurateur operates in the red before he starts to reap the rewards of his hard work. Depending on circumstances it may be six months, a year or even longer from the time he first opens before he gets out of it. Even then his tensions may be eased but his hard work is not.

By the time a restaurant has been successful in business as long as say, San Rafael Joe's, it's hard to remember there ever was a point of no return. Any place that requires a microphone to announce table readiness for each customer is doing well. That's also one of the signs of good food and service for your own dining satisfaction.

Often, people have to be sold on the idea of dining out. A successful restaurant draws its patrons from among those who might otherwise stay home and watch television. Food alone is not the answer, though it's important. In nine out of 10 families the food is good at home, too. The fare must be presented in such a way as to make outside dining attractive just to think of it — even to the extent of waiting for a table.

Joe's excels. It is family-operated by the Rubinis and the Farinas, who are related. They are a family that makes you feel welcome — witness how Mesdames Nancy Rubini and Teresa Farina handle the hostessing. And you have only to look in the kitchen, which is wide open, to observe Hector and Guido and their assistants in action, the cleanliness of the operation and the appetizing appearance of the food as it is prepared and served.

There is just one thing more about Joe's that's not quite so easy to define. I think it must be the people themselves who come here. Look them over — they are a pretty nice crowd, in case you were thinking of joining them.

SABELLA'S big annual Christmas show with Santa Claus and his live reindeer — always a favorite affair of Marin youngsters — will be held Monday night.

There will be two shows — one at 6 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m. Make reservations for one or the other as this event is well attended.

SANTA CLAUS has a busy schedule next week. He's also booked to appear at Franchini's Chateau next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 6 p.m., at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 22, and at 5 p.m. the Monday and Tuesday before Christmas. He'll be giving out candy canes to all the youngsters.

Franchini's will be closed Christmas day and the day following, but open on both New Year's Eve and New Year's day, with full menu service.

Highway widening on the 101 strip at Lucas Valley Road is disconcerting but actually it does not complicate the turnoff to Franchini's. Access is just as easy as ever, perhaps easier.

INFORMATION continues to come in on other holiday programs:

Taberna in San Rafael is now planning a New Year's party with a prime rib, champagne dinner at $25 per couple, with all the favors and music for dancing by George Campanelli and his orchestra. Make reservations.

At Taberna's breakfast show tonight and tomorrow night from 2 a.m. Jack Ford's Galaxy is still the featured entertainment attraction.

This place, by the way, is now accepting no-host cocktail parties during week nights; reservations should be made ahead.

FROM LIN FA GARDENS in the Northgate Shopping Center Ethel Barrie reports that she will be open both Christmas Eve and Christmas day. And undoubtedly there will be a New Year's Eve celebration here, but details on this are still to come.

AT LAST CHECK, Ramona's Mexican Restaurant in San Rafael was not sure of having its "posadas" celebration next week. Ramona Stallings appeared to be having difficulties in securing the right performers. If it is observed, it will be next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

JEAN'S KITCHEN on Poplar Avenue, Ross will close early on Christmas Eve and will also be closed Christmas day.

Otherwise this is a seven-days-a-week operation for breakfast, lunch, snacks and dinner — open continuously from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays.

Complete dinner price through the week is $1.95 except for these specials: Crab lasagne dinner Friday night at $2.25; spaghetti dinner on Saturdays at $1.35; family night on Tuesdays — filet or New York steak dinner at $2.95. Jean Dobson's soups and pies are homemade.

LE CHALET BASQUE, Santa Venetia, has an excellent menu for New Year's Eve, with a choice of four entrees. Tariff for dinner, music and dancing and favors is $20 per couple.

ONDINE in Sausalito has the distinction of having been written up in Guide Julliard, a French gastronomic publication devoted to best known restaurants throughout the world.

It's a nice write-up, on the food, the view, the chef and the people who go there. But, if you want a literal translation, my French just isn't up to it.

FRED CHERRY hosted the North Bay Wine and Food Society for its annual formal Christmas dinner at his Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo Wednesday night. Such dinners usually have been held at the French Club, Ondine, Peacock Gap, Caprice and similar dineries, so Fred should take this as a tribute to the high attainments of his restaurant.

The same special fare will be served New Year's Eve. It's not the regular menu and it's quite a gastronomic spread. Cost, I am told — across the board for food, wine and champagne at midnight — will be $19.69.

THERE IS ANOTHER restaurant anniversary party tomorrow night — making three this week. This one is by Jim and Jean McKee for completing six years on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, at McKee's. Congratulations.

Regular dinner service is off and there will be a buffet from 7 p.m. until the food or the merriment runs out. Chef Herb Holtzmann is preparing an appetizing array of hot and cold dishes.

There will be organ entertainment.

TALK ABOUT faithful customers — Rubini's, which celebrated its 10th anniversary Wednesday and Thursday night, recently presented a 10-year plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeigler of Fairfax in appreciation of their loyal patronage. They have dined at the restaurant every Friday night for the past decade without missing a single week.

IF SOUNDS of gaiety emanate from within the brick walls of La Petite Auberge next Tuesday when it should be closed, it will be the annual affair of that organization which somehow seems to get confused with the SPBSQSA (Society for the Preservation of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America).

However this group, known as the SPPES, does no harmonizing except perhaps on a chorus or two of "Happy Birthday to You" when one or more of its members happen to be celebrating on the day of the meeting. Its only known purpose is to live up to its full name — Society for the Preservation and Protection of Executive Secretaries — by having a good time.

One day a year and one day only, for the past five years, this collection of bosses and their secretaries has been gathering together for something more than an across-the-desk relationship in a two-hour lunch period of fun and hilarity.

New Trustees Named For Branson School

Two new members have been appointed to the board of trustees of Katharine Branson School, Ross, William R. Kimball Jr., board president, announced.

They are Mrs. Daniel L. Boyd of Upper Road, Ross, and John S. Broome of Oxnard, father of a 1968 graduate of the school, Ann Broome.

Hamilton Officer Ends Long Career

Col. Thomas N. Dickens of 99 Patterson Lane, Hamilton Air Force Base, has retired after more than 27 years of service.

He was chief of the maintenance engineering division of headquarters, Western Communication Region directorate of material. He plans to move to Rhode Island to take a job in communications.

America's first sawmill was established near York, Maine, in 1623.

Teens Organize To Revamp Ark

Tiburon Peninsula teen-agers meeting with the Belvedere and Tiburon parks and recreation commission laid plans last night for renovating the ark Mermaid given them for use as a teen center and chose officers to head the work.

David Slocum was named chairman of the teen-age group and Linda Hall was chosen secretary. School representatives named were Miss Hall for Katherine Branson School, Greg Jampolsky for Del Mar School, and Doug Best and Tom Murray for Redwood High School.

Three members of the Tiburon Fire Department volunteered to help prepare the ark, which was donated by David W. Allen of the Belvedere Land Co. and is to be towed into railroad property next to the old Tiburon ferry slip.

Slocum called a meeting of Peninsula teen-agers for Monday at Del Mar School to discuss steps needed to turn the ark into a coffee house and meeting center.

Boat Runs Aground In Bolinas Channel

A sailboat ran aground and capsized in Bolinas Channel at 4:45 p.m. yesterday while apparently trying to enter Bolinas Lagoon, the Bolinas Fire Department reported.

The sailboat was still aground this morning and the owner was not known. Fire Chief Jose A. Silva said the salvage attempt would probably be made at high tide today.

Reagan Plan For Judges Is Criticized

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Municipal Judge Earl Warren Jr., son of the U.S. chief justice, says Republivan Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed judicial selection plan "would be a gross error."

Young Warren, a Democrat, said the merit plan would force the State Bar Association into "playing politics."

The Republican chief executive has proposed that judicial appointments, all made by the governor, be made only from a select list approved by a screening committee. At present, the governor has a relatively free hand in appointing judges and Warren acknowledged judges normally are appointed "because of friendships."

"The California bar is the foremost bar in the entire world," Warren told a local federal bar association meeting yesterday. "The good thing about it is that it is basically devoid of politics.

"The proposed merit plan would set up special screening committees that would consist primarily of bar or former bar members.

"If we had a bad system, I might favor some sort of change. I'm very fearful of what might happen to the bar association."

Warren was named to the Sacramento municipal court by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, shortly before Brown left office.

Teen-Age Surfer Found Stunned

Thomas Barca, 19, of 88 South Knoll Road, Strawberry, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a possible head injury suffered while surfing yesterday at Bolinas.

The Bolinas Fire Department reported Barca and a group of friends were surfing off Brighton Avenue at 11:50 a.m. when the others found Barca floating unconscious free of his surfboard.

Firemen gave artificial respiration to revive him and took Barca to the hospital.

Stolen Car Burns

Sheriff's deputies and firemen in Marin City found a stolen car engulfed in flames on Keyes Court at 11:47 p.m. yesterday. The 1966 Cadillac, reported stolen from Dorothy Diamond of San Pablo, was a total loss.

U.S. Anticrime Drive Gets Quick Response

NEW YORK (AP) — About 10,000 letters have been received in response to an appeal by Citizens for Justice with Order, a new group seeking to involve millions of Americans in the war against crime.

H. Bruce Palmer, founder of the movement, said yesterday letters have been pouring in and that his phone has been ringing all week with inquiries or offers of help.

The drive to involve all Americans was kicked off last week in a television announcement by comedian Bob Hope.

Hope was not permitted to ask for contributions because of a network rule, Palmer said, adding: "But we're going to ask for money. I think we'll raise out initial goal of $25 million by next May."

Palmer announced the appointment of Samuel T. Ishmael, 36, as a full-time aide who will travel about the country helping individuals and groups with anticrime projects.

Ishmael, a former city attorney of Rawlins, Wyo., now lives in Phoenix, Ariz. As city attorney, he had asserted that Rawlins was headquarters for the Wyoming narcotics traffic. After a number of threats against himself and his family, the Ishmael home was blown up while the family was away on vacation.

Palmer's wife was murdered in their New Jersey home last year. A former tree surgeon was convicted of the crime and has been sentenced to death.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Charity Gifts Must Be Made By Dec. 31 To List For 1968

Wikel

If you want a deduction for your charitable contributions for 1968, you must make them before Dec. 31, 1968.

You can deduct gifts up to 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income, but not more than 20 per cent on gifts to private foundations.

Excess contributions during the year are not lost. Individuals can carry over any excess of "30 per cent gifts" for the next five years.

A corporation's limit is 5 per cent of its taxable income before the charitable deduction. Any excess can also be carried over for 5 years.

Contributions to any organization formed and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, educational, scientific or literary purposes, or organization for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals and federal, state and local governments are deductible.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

You cannot deduct donations to an individual or a foreign charity, with few exceptions.

See IRS Publication No. 78, "Cumulative List Revised to Dec. 31, 1966, Organizations described in Section 170 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954." This publication is available from the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington D.C. 20402, for $3.50.

Your local Internal Revenue Service office should have a copy available to look up a questionable organization.

You can deduct the fair market value of the gift. If you have stock that has increased in value, give that. Suppose you have stock which cost $5,000 and is now worth $10,000. You give the stock and you pay no tax on the $5,000 increase but you can deduct the full $10,000.

DEDUCT LOSS

If business or income-producing property has decreased in value, sell it and deduct your loss, do not give it away. If you give things like books, clothes, furniture, etc. to a charity, their value is deductible.

If you give depreciated business property like office furniture, fixtures, equipment, machinery, automobiles, buildings, etc., the charitable deduction may be reduced by the recapture of depreciation.

If you give property, you must attach a statement to your return showing what you gave, date, how it was valued, etc. Be sure to check the rules on reporting. See IRS Publication No. 561, "Valuation of Donated Property" obtainable at the District Director's office.

FUND DONATIONS

You probably never stopped to figure how much you spent on fund-raising and other services for the United Crusade, the church, Boy Scouts, civil defense, etc. You can't deduct the value of your time and services, but you can deduct your out-of-pocket expenses while performing those services, such as the gas and oil if you used your car, meals and lodging while away from home overnight rendering volunteer services or attending meetings, and the cost of distinctive uniforms and accessories which are not suitable for general wear.

AUTO EXPENSES

Figure your auto expenses the easy way by claiming 5 cents-a-mile deduction for out-of-pocket operating costs while using your car for charity.

You can also claim parking fees and bridge tolls but not parking tickets or traffic fines.

New York Financier Buys In Rohnert Park

A 90-acre parcel of Rohnert Park property in Sonoma County has been sold to a New York financier for commercial and industrial development.

The announcement was made by Paul Golis of Rohnert Park Realty, who handled the transaction. He said the land, which forms part of the tourist center planned for Rohnert Park, was purchased by H. L. Federman, a member of the New York and American Stock Exchanges for slightly under $500,000 from Wright and Oretsky, Rohnert Park contractors.

Golis said he is contributing an additional 16 acres of his own property to the project, which will become a joint venture development.

Planned on 32 acres is an automotive center, which will have a diagnostic center, garage, brake and wheel facilities and transmission, tire, auto body, upholstery service. There will also be a service station and a wholesale and retail automotive parts store. Another parcel has been set aside for new and used car sales.

Golis said the northerly 57 acres will be known as Federman Industrial Park and that he and Federman will either sell or build and lease manufacturing facilities. He said he is now negotiating with contractors to construct several buildings which will be made available for warehousing and to manufacturers for immediate occupancy.

Nixon's College Hit By Blaze

WHITTIER (AP) — A multi-alarm blaze heavily damaged Old Founder's Hall today at Whittier College from which President-elect Nixon was graduated in 1934. There were no reports of injuries.

Fire officials said the cause and damage estimates were not immediately determined.

The two-story classroom building formed the original core of the 67-year-old Quaker institution about 15 miles southeast of downtown Los Angeles.

Bank Hikes Dividend By 50 Pct.

A 75-cent dividend has been declared by directors of the Bank of Marin. The dividend is payable Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 18.

The dividend represents a 50 per cent increase over the bank's first dividend paid in January 1968.

W. P. Murray Jr., president, said the dividend increase was voted because of the upward trend in deposits, as well as a substantial increase in bank earnings this year.

The bank has now received approval from the State of California to open three branches: East San Rafael, (Medway Road), Northgate Industrial Park (Mitchell Drive), and Larkspur. All of these offices are planned to open during 1969.

In addition to the branch expansion, the bank has recently opened a trust department, offering complete fiduciary services which Murray said should contribute to the growth of the bank during the coming year.

Standing Appeal To Fill The Rear

LOUISVILLE (AP) — One driver on a Louisville bus has a standing appeal he makes during rush hours when all riders congregate at the front of the bus.

"All right, folks," he calls out. "Let's act like we're in church and fill up the rear."

Marin Building Permits Decline From October

Value of new construction in Marin last month fell 47.2 per cent below the October figure, the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau reported. The total also was 48.3 per cent below last November's figure.

New construction permits totaled $3,036,669 in November, with San Rafael at the top with a total of $794,412. San Rafael permits included 15 for residential units and 11 for commercial units.

Tiburon was second with a total of $332,150, including 10 residential units. Mill Valley followed with $314,725.

Permits issued in all areas of the county were for 64 residential units and 16 commercial buildings.

Schwabacher, Blair To Merge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Under merger plans announced Thursday, Blair & Co. of New York is to operate Schwabacker & Co., a San Francisco-based investment firm.

Schwabacker has 15 branches in five western states and Blair has 32 offices in 16 states, all east of the Mississippi River.

The firms announced they hoped to complete the merger by March 1 and that Blair would operate Schwabacher as its west coast division.

Terms of the merger were not made public, but all Schwabacher partners are to become stockholders of Blair.

Harry Gilbert Wins Runoff At College

Harry Gilbert, a sophomore from San Anselmo, was elected spring semester vice president of the Associated Students at College of Marin yesterday in a runoff election.

He defeated Michael Pradia, leader of the Black Students Union on the campus, by a vote of 231 to 143.

Other results, announced earlier, were the election of David Brown as president with 376 votes to 204 for Chris Musser and 160 for O'Herrow Marshall; Peggie Guthrie, 517, uncontested for secretary; James Lee, 525, uncontested for treasurer; Susan Arago, 508, uncontested for rallies and assemblies commission; and Kimo Campbell, 532, uncontested for public relations.

Karen Greig was elected song leader; Charles Maltzahn, yell leader, and Michael Conroy, College Center commissioner, but number of votes cast for the three was not available today.

The election saw 766 ballots cast from an eligible list of 5,061 students, a turnout of 15 per cent. Student officers said the turnout was about normal, although the fall semester election last May drew about 35 per cent of the full-time students. A group called the Students for Academic Freedom was successful in electing about half of its candidates then.

The runoff for vice president resulted when Gilbert failed to gain sufficient votes during the Tuesday and Wednesday balloting. He got 314 votes, with Pradia receiving 228 and a third candidate, Dan Lochmann, 151.

Woman Arrested As Shoplift Suspect

A 20-year-old Mill Valley woman was arrested yesterday on suspicion to taking a pair of brown slacks from Macy's, Fourth and Court streets, San Rafael police said.

Linda A. Novak of 100 Adams Avenue was released on $315 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Underwater Lots Sold In Sausalito

Sausalito Properties has sold 8.8 acres of its waterfront holdings to the Sausalito Yacht Harbor and the JHM Corp.

The four underwater blocks are adjacent to the yacht harbor between Humboldt and Railroad avenues.

The Sausalito Yacht Harbor is controlled by Madden and Lewis Co. and the JHM Corp. is a new organization in which J. Herbert Madden is a primary partner. The other partners have not been announced.

One of the four blocks will be filled for commercial development, if the proper permits can be obtained; two will be used for expansion of the yacht harbor and there are no plans for the fourth block as yet, Madden said yesterday.

A $135,000 deed of trust for two of the blocks was filed in the Marin County Recorder's office yesterday. Only a record of sale was filed for the other two lots.

Sale price for the property was not listed and the buyers requested that the documentary transfer tax stamps, which indicate the sale price, not be affixed to the deeds until they are mailed, a recorder's office representative said.

Two blocks purchased by the JHM corporation for which the deed of trust was filed have a fair market value list with the county assessor's office of $50,750. The block which is slated for fill is bounded by Johnson and Pine streets and Donahue and Humboldt avenues and is valued at $33,000. Directly outboard is the second block valued at $17,750.

The two other parcels, purchased by the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, are bounded by Johnson and Dolphin streets between Donahue and Railroad avenues and have a fair market value listing of $15,050 each.

In September, Sausalito Properties sold two underwater blocks located between Locust and Litho streets and Railroad and Humboldt avenues, to Zacks Inc. of Sausalito.

Sausalito Properties, headed by E. Elmore Hutchinson, Alexander M. Young and the late John Lord King, purchased the property in the early 1960s with plans to fill and develop it into a commercial residential area of waterfront hotels, motels, apartments and shops.

The city of Sausalito turned down the plans in 1964 and enacted a moratorium on bay fill within the city limits to prevent Sausalito Properties from filling the prime open water area.

In July, Hutchinson warned the city it had to enact some sort of plan for the central waterfront area or he would sell the property "in bits and pieces."

Youths Arrested In Sausalito Till Looting

Two youths were booked on suspicion of burglary after a till tap in the Village Fair yesterday, Sausalito police reported.

Reed Collins Backer, 18, of 33 Wellington Avenue, Ross, was booked at Marin County Jail and his 17-year-old companion was cited to Juvenile Hall.

Police said the pair entered the Kiosque, a beer garden, at 3 p.m. after the owner had stepped out, and Backer went behind the counter, opened the cash register and scooped out the money, handing some of it to the 17-year-old.

Two young men nearby saw the action and halted the pair as they left the Kiosque. Police said the two threw the money on the floor and one scuffled briefly before being subdued and held for police. Police did not identify the two men who stopped Backer and the juvenile.

Backer was held in lieu of $625 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

West Marin Density Bonus Draws Fire

Marin County Soil Conservation District directors last night unanimously adopted a resolution objecting to a proposed point system of determining building density in West Marin, reported recording secretary Matt H. Klemmer.

The density table approved Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission would give developers about .88 units of residential development per acre, with density bonuses for planned development and special plan features.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo, who drew up the density table, said it was aimed at discouraging tract home development and encouraging other uses, such as resort-commercial and clusters of multiple-unit residential development.

The soil district directors, however, said "the health, wealth and prosperity of the residents of West Marin will be greater with a 1.15 density without bonuses."

Their resolution urged the board of supervisors to reject the commission's recommendation, and adhere to a density of 1.15 units an acre. A density of .88 was termed "unacceptable" in their resolution.

Directors also voted to send a letter to Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, new president of San Francisco State College, commending him for keeping the college open.

Director Domingo Grossi Jr. was absent from the meeting, held in Point Reyes Station.

Jewelry, Cash Taken

Tommie A. Ternullo of 116 Blackfield Drive, Bel Aire, told sheriff's deputies yesterday that his home was burgled the day before by thieves who cut their way in with a glass cutter. Stolen were jewelry and cash with a total value of $1,230, officers said in their report today.

Republican Unit Backs Hayakawa

A resolution commending acting president S. I. Hayakawa for keeping open San Francisco State College was passed unanimously last night by directors of the Marin Republican Council.

The board, meeting in the County Courthouse, praised Dr. Hayakawa "for his firm, courageous and enlightened stand in upholding the rule of law.

"It is high time that the public recognize the difference between academic freedom and anarchy, student participation versus mob rule, and that our state colleges belong to the taxpayers of the state of California, not to a few militant dissident," their resolution stated.

Council president Henry J. Broderick of Tiburon also announced the appointment of John A. Lord of Tiburon and Donald L. Blinco of Sausalito as co-chairmen of the council's annual dinner dance, scheduled for Feb. 8.

Marinite Wins Poster Contest

Matt Wiitala, a fifth grade student at San Clemente School in Corte Madera, won first place in the intermediate division of the Western International Keep Green poster contest sponsored by the Western Forestry and Conservation Conference.

Judging was Dec. 3 in San Francisco.

Matt's poster was the only winner from Marin County and one of three from California. There were 12 winners in four divisions in all.

Matt is the son of Maj. and Mrs. Walter W. Wiitala of 10 Seamast Passage, Corte Madera.

Charge Dropped

Richard Lawrence Boom, 24, of Petaluma, was cleared of a charge of burglary in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney reported that the alleged victim cannot be found to testify.

Convocation Fizzles At College Of Marin

A College of Marin convocation to consider nonviolent choices to student unrest fizzled out yesterday after an earnest round of discussions.

The convocation was to have ended with a one-hour reunion of discussion. Groups — which met separately and totaled about 100 students and faculty — to summarize points made at the discussions and combine them for presentation at another convocation to be scheduled early in the spring semester.

Only a handful of people, including Diane Howell, communications instructor who was acting chairman, appeared for the conclusion session at Olney Hall, however, and no discussion was held. An impromptu peace rally in front of the Student Center apparently captured the attention of many of the students, instead.

Miss Howell said results of the group talks will nonetheless be compiled in the near future and utilized at the next convocation.

Yesterday's convocation on the 3,000-student campus, called by the college's Values Committee, dealt mainly with discussion of possible use of the Student Center by the community, the San Francisco State College struggle, Black Students Union demands and teacher evaluation, and planning at the college and the proposed north campus at Novato.

Student James Muniz said the center, which now gives priority to students, faculty and the administration, could be opened to community meetings, to organizations like the Switchboard of Marin — a referral and information service headquartered in San Rafael — and to people who just want some place at night to go and chat.

Sam Johnston, an instructor in social psychology and also a part-time student, said the center could ideally remain open 24 hours a day, with volunteer students and faculty acting as supervisors. He said students could attend to additional janitorial duties.

San Francisco State College students Michael Upton and Patricia Goldie told another group that the strike at that school has been successful. Miss Goldie said the issue has not been a question of the students saying they want to take over the institution and run it, but rather to force the administration to give student voice to the selection of what courses should be taught.

Reviewed at the BSU and teacher evaluation gathering were black demands recently approved by the administration to include hiring of more black counselors, and a proposal by student Guy Bachelis for students to fill out questionnaires evaluating classes and teachers, and teacher hiring practices.

Calvin Scott, 21, BSU member of Marin City, said black students should be heard in the hiring of teachers for Afro-American courses because they know what qualities they want in an instructor.

"I think the young black student should have the final say as to who is hired," he said. "I don't think black students would try to recruit a teacher whose credentials are not in order."

Michael Hansen, chairman of a college committee for north campus planning, described the difficulties in determining what educational philosophy the campus should have.

"We're not looking for a single philosophy, we know that's absurd," he said. Hansen added that the result will have to be the "melting pot" of several philosophies.

New Tomales High Ahead Of Schedule

The new Tomales High School should be completed on May 15, Olson and Baum, Santa Rosa contractors, reported last night to the high school district board, according to Secretary Louise Bordessa.

The $995,400 school is not due for occupancy until September.

Architect Richard Marshall reported some soil erosion at the site due to the rains, Mrs. Bordessa said.

The Tomales High School District Board also:

CONTRACT — Signed a $9,369 contract with Pargas of Santa Rosa to supply a liquid propane tank for the new high school.

BONDS — Authorized the sale of $42,000 in bonds with bids to be opened on Jan. 14.

STUDENT TEACHERS—Signed an agreement with Sonoma State College for student teachers for next year.

CREDIT CARDS — Authorized use of telephone and gasoline credit cards, on advice of Marin Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Jan. 9 at the high school.

Probation Granted

Thomas Donnelly, 38, of 481 Via Hermosa, Novato, was fined $200 and placed on six months of probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving Aug. 9 on Ignacio Boulevard, Novato.

Additional Vocational Study Urged

The vocational education program in Marin should be expanded, a group of educators agreed during an informal discussion last night with four members of the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Because of the flu, the nine-member commission could not muster a quorum at its meeting at the Civic Center. Chairman James Quiett, Richard Harding, Charles B. Weeks and the Rev. Francis Geddes were the only commissioners present.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis asked the Human Rights Commission to support financial autonomy for the county board of education. He reported he had applied for $93,000 in federal aid to train teachers to work with volunteers and help them become teachers' aides.

Philip W. Schneider, superintendent of the Sausalito School District, reported that his district has 11 teachers' aides ready to enter the New Careers program as soon as the county board of supervisors approves the program.

Picketing Resumes At Sonoma State

Picketing resumed today at Sonoma State College as students in sympathy with strike efforts at San Francisco State urged others to boycott classes.

Attendance appeared to be normal with most students avoiding contact with the two dozen pickets in front of Stevenson Hall, the main classroom building.

An estimated 60 students traveled in a motorcade from the Rohnert Park campus yesterday to take part in a 10 a.m. rally at strife-torn San Francisco State. Sonoma State strike leaders said no one in the local contingent was arrested or injured in the fracas with the San Francisco Police Tactical Squad that followed the rally.

No organized trip was planned today, but students traveling as individuals were reported on the San Francisco campus to show support for the movements of the Third World Liberation Front and Black Students Union.

The sympathy strikers picketed Monday at Sonoma State, but seemed to have little effect on the general campus population. Rain canceled a planned demonstration Tuesday and placards were exchanged for microphones Wednesday as striking students participated in a day-long convocation.

Nonstrikers joined the dissidents in discussion groups to condemn the actions of the California State College trustees and Chancellor Glenn Dumke. They charged due process had been violated in the firing of Black Panther leader George Murray and the appointment S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley as acting president.

"Talking to Santa Claus, Mommy?"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Dec. 13, the 348th day of 1968 with 18 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered and named by Dutch navigator Abel Tasman.

In 1918, American soldiers attached to the 3rd U.S. Army crossed the Rhine River at Coblenz, Germany.

In 1941, the Japanese demanded that Britain surrender Hong Kong. The British refused and the Japanese started a concentrated air attack on the crown colony.

In 1948, James Petrillo's 11 and one half month ban on phonograph records by members of his American Federation of Musicians ended.

A thought for the day: The late president Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "More than an end to war, we want an end to the beginnings of all war."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Never Close Mind To Bidding When Mapping Out Actual Play

A certain type of bridge player follows the football practice of using separate squads for different parts of the game. Our bridge player follows the bidding with one part of his mind but then shuts it off and uses a different part of his brain for the play of the cards. This works better in football than at the bridge table.

RUFF TRY

East took the top hearts and led a third heart for West to ruff. West then cashed the ace of diamonds and continued with a diamond to dummy's king. Since the defenders had already taken four tricks South needed the rest. He promptly led the nine of trumps from dummy and let it ride for a finesse.

West won with the king of spades, and South was down one. South claimed the rest of the tricks, and the defenders graciously canceled. They were quite satisfied to have a plus score of any kind, since South should have made his contract.

MISSING HIGH CARDS

When East showed up with the ace and king of hearts, South should have wondered what West held for his opening bid. South could see 20 high-card points in his own hand and the dummy, which left 20 points for the opponents. East had shown 7, and only 13 points were left for West's opening bid. Clearly, West was sure to hold all of the missing high cards for his opening bid.

DIDN'T THINK

In short, South should have known from the bidding that West held the king of spades. Since this meant that a spade finesse would not succeed South should have led out his ace of spades. There was a chance that the king was unguarded, and even a slim chance was better than none at all.

As it happened, the king of spades would have dropped, and South would have been a hero instead of a goat.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠—A Q J 10 6 5
♥—8 3 2
♦—6 3
♣—K 8

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

This is a borderline decision, and there is no crime in bidding one spade if you have a reliable and conservative partner. With most partners you should wait for a slightly better hand for your opening bid. For example, you would open this hand if the king of clubs were the ace or if the queen of spades were the king.

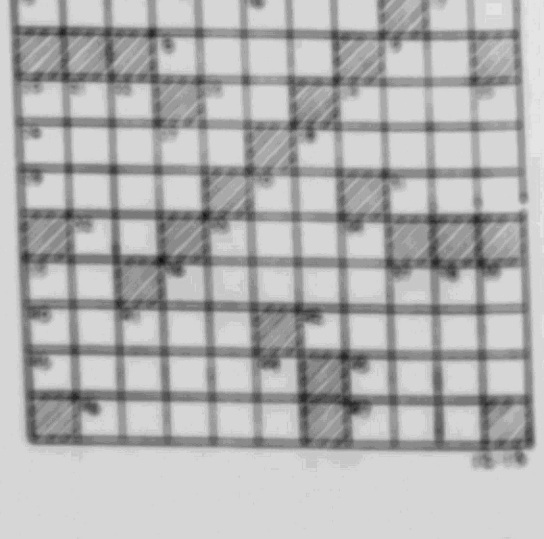
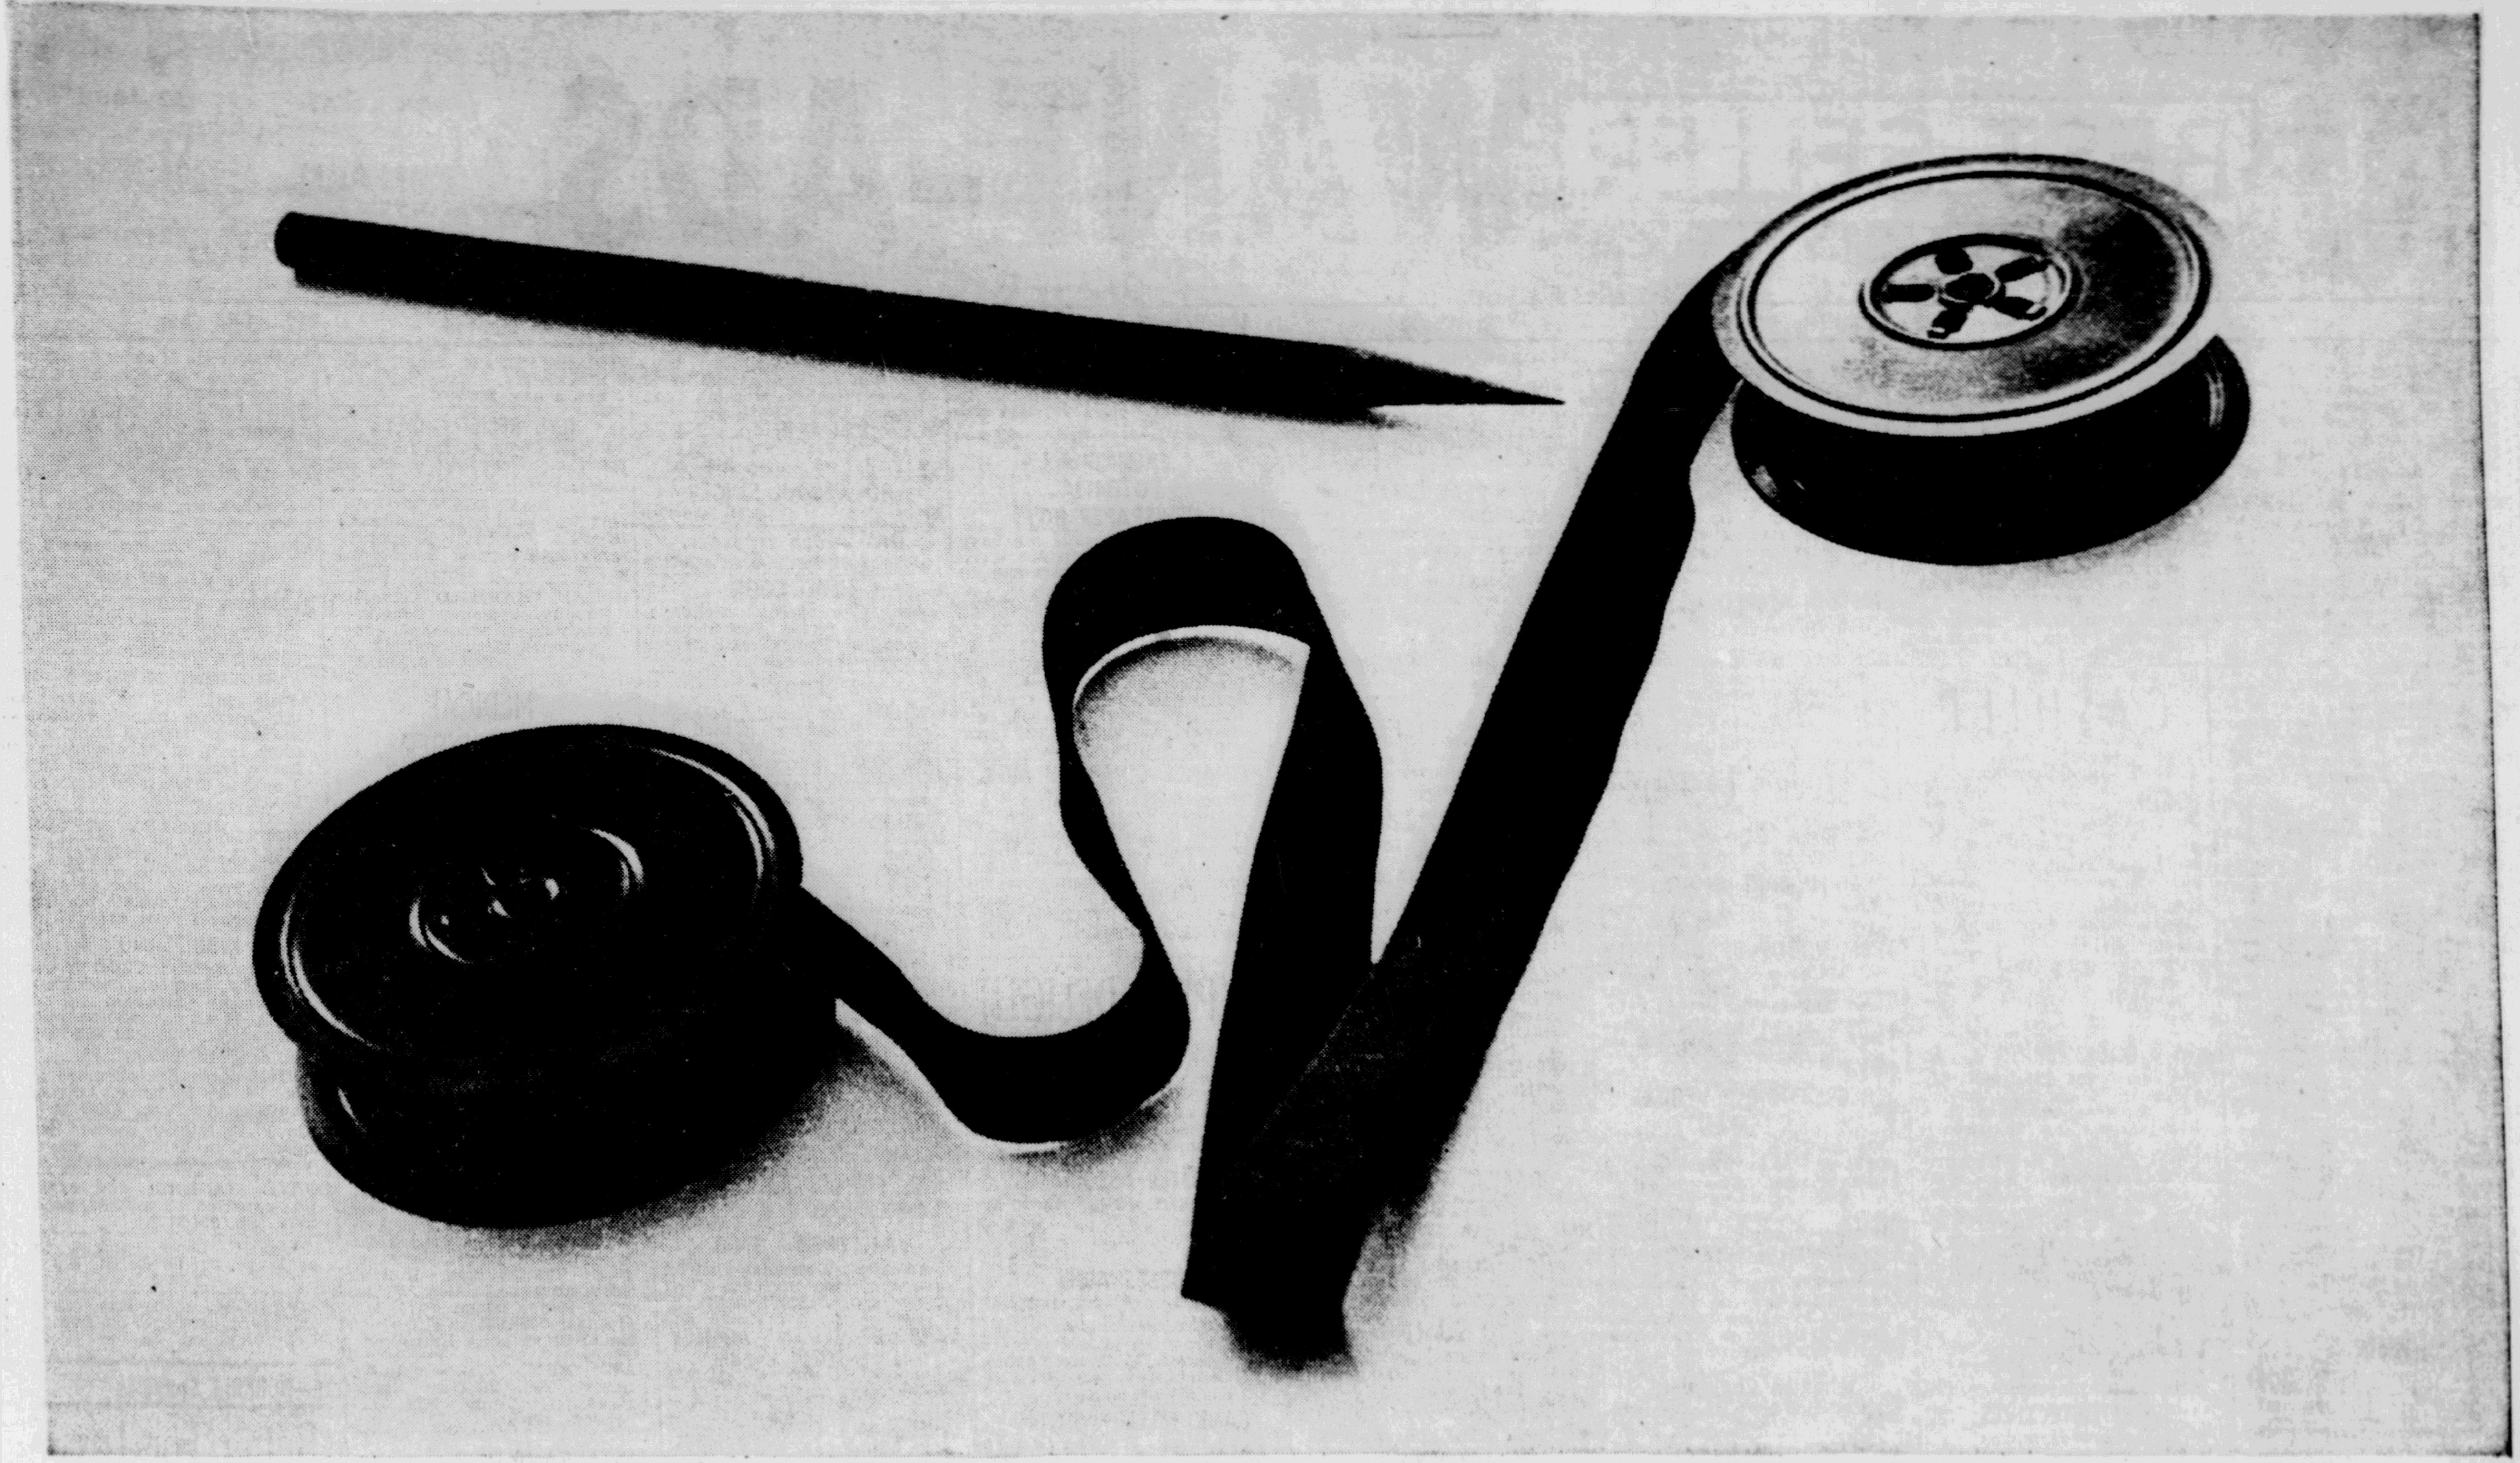
Yesterday's Answer





"Now, make me a newspaper by tonight"

Tall order . . . since a complete newspaper such as the Independent-Journal is at once the most complex yet lowest-priced product that can be made in one day.

Every day a new "model" . . . delivered by nightfall. To do this job against the clock—

- our 18 reporters comb the county, observing, interviewing, phoning, writing, getting the facts for you.
- thousands of AP and UPI newsmen check the world for you, put its pulse on the wire.
- teletypes chatter some 120,000 words to us, from as close as Mill Valley, as far away as Capetown.
- rolls of paper, each 850 lbs., move in from Canada and the Northwest.
- electronic impulses turn into photographs on a machine—the world in black and white, caught in action.
- the managing editor watches for the big stories, gauging the importance of each, overseeing the editorial "construction" of the paper, from content to design.
- pressmen feed the giant press with ink and paper—a taste of what's to come.
- "Circulation" readies for the job of distributing the paper, via 700 newspaperboys, to two out of three homes in the county.
- experts set type for news, for ads—enough in one day to fill a good-sized book.
- the retail advertising staff, 10 strong, contacts almost every business in the county . . . planning campaigns, offering merchants professional service in copywriting, layout and merchandising.
- the city editor "feels" for the news on a hundred fronts, hands out assignments, shaping the news force to the shape of events.
- engravers work their chemical magic, placing print and picture on metal.
- the women's editor and staff of 5 molds food and fashions, social doings, meetings, school events, into a women's world.
- syndicates send in both national and world-wide features—columns, comics, cartoons.
- specialists "make up" the paper, designing every page of news and ads.
- the art department creates illustrations, layouts, designs, cartoons.
- photographers race the news throughout the county, clicking the visual happenings of Marin today.
- ink for the press arrives not in bottles but tank trucks.
- color plates and color inks are being readied for ads, special editions, covers—all to brighten your reading eye.
- sports "jump" in the typewriters of the sports department and Willie Mays leaps up into a headline.
- "Classified" is setting up the county's daily market place, and the phone rings with "wanted" and "for sale."
- headlines are being written against deadlines—and the tight confines of space.
- vital statistics are being compiled; weather and stock reports are coming in.
- the mechancial superintendent moves the copy through a maze of linotypes, electronic typesetters and the precise hands of men who literally know type up-side down.
- the library is digging up background data for stories, filing photos, micro-filming each edition of the newspaper.
- legal ads get eagle-eyed checking for accuracy.
- orders are coming in from the nation's advertising agencies with mats for advertisements—everything from autos to ant spray.
- issues become the tissue of editorials—the reasoned interpretation of events.
- proofreaders scan every line of news and advertising trying to hold errors to a minimum against the pressure of time.
- letters to the editor are being read for possible publication.
- the dispatch office is moving ads into production—checking size, type, mats, insertion dates, art, photos—a hundred elements.
- our national representatives are meeting with ad agencies and advertisers in New York, Detroit, Chicago—a dozen cities—telling them about Marin County and its newspaper.
- special contributors' columns on fishing, baseball and many others are being processed.
- Marin Magazine is being dummied; stories developed for the Saturday edition—picturing life in Marin.
- the business office moves against a mountain of financial and administrative detail.
- stereotypers cast the weighty cylinders for the big press—the final imprint of the news on metal.
- last minute news comes through and the front page changes under the expert fingers of typographers and the eye of the editor.

Here's a local Special 4 Dr. station wagon that we sold new in '66 to local lady and just took back in trade on another new Buick.

This clean little all yellow-colored wagon hasn't a mark of wear anyplace & either inside or out. Used almost exclusively for local shopping. Fully equipped including power steering, automatic, radio, heater, V-8 plus all the other Buick luxury extras. Low mileage wagon that looks like at least a '68 model.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Thursday, December 19, 1968, at the hour of 11:00 a.m. at the Fourth Street entrance of the Marin County Courthouse, San Rafael, State of California, DOMENIC J. CANNIZZARO, as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, in lawful money of the United States of America, all payable at the time of sale, real property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point in the easterly line of Wilson Avenue, which point is the Southwesterly corner of lot 221, as shown upon that certain map entitled, "AMENDED MAP NO. 1 OF SUBDIVISION C OF THE NOVATO RANCH, MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA," filed for record [illegible] in Book [illegible] of Maps at page [illegible], Marin County Records; running thence from said point of beginning along the easterly line of said Wilson Avenue North [illegible] East 90 feet; thence leaving said last mentioned line, South 60° 45' East 200 feet; thence South 29° 15' West 90 feet to the Southerly line of said Lot 221; and thence along said Southerly line North 60° 45' West 200 feet to the point of beginning.

The sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession, or encumbrances to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in that certain Deed of Trust executed by LEO JAMES BENNETT, a married man, as his sole and separate property, and LOIS VERZUH, a married woman, as her sole and separate property, to CALIFORNIA LAND TITLE COMPANY, a California corporation, as Trustee, for the benefit and security of MARIAN W. DE LANEY, the named beneficiary, dated June 27, 1966, and recorded June 29, 1966, in Book 2061 at page 109 of Official Records of the County of Marin, State of California.

The undersigned Trustee was appointed and substituted as Trustee under the mentioned Deed of Trust by an instrument dated June 14, 1968, recorded on June 14, 1968, in Book 2218 at page 271 in the Official Records of Marin County and executed by CHARLES W. DE LANEY as special administrator of the Estate of MARIAN W. DE LANEY, pursuant to the provisions of said Deed of Trust.

Notice of Default and Election To Sell the described real property under the aforementioned Deed of Trust was recorded on June 21, 1968 in Book 2220 at page 65 of the Official Records of Marin County.

Said substitution of attorney and Notice of Default and Election to Sell, and the contents thereto, are specifically referred to hereby and incorporated herein by reference.

DATED: November 14, 1968.

JANUARY'S STARS

Venus Glows Even More Brightly

By SCIENCE SERVICE

The beginning of a new year is a time to review the past 12 months — and to look ahead at what is coming. Unlike human affairs, many events in the heavens can be predicted with confidence.

Year after year, even over several human lifetimes, the stars appear similarly in the same months. The planets, however, come at varying dates.

Venus is increasing in prominence. On Jan. 26, farthest east of the sun, it will set the longest time after sunset. But sunset itself will be later each evening. Thus, by the clock, Venus will set later and later until early March.

On March 3 it will be at greatest brilliance — about half again as bright as now. For a few weeks around April 8, when it will be nearly in front of the sun, it will not be visible. By early May, however, having passed to the west of the sun, it will rise and shine in the east before sunrise.

After reaching greatest brilliance again on May 14, it will swing far out beyond the sun and by December will be lost in its glare. In the spring of 1970 it will again be an evening star.

Jupiter moves through the sky more slowly. Rising now toward midnight, each succeeding month will bring it into view about two hours earlier. On March 21 it will be opposite the sun, rising at sunset and setting at sunrise. Thus it will be visible all night. By early summer it will set during the evening. On Oct. 9 it passes behind the sun. After that it will be a morning star, shining in the east before sunrise.

Saturn, now visible in the evening, will be gone by April 18, when it moves behind the sun. Then it, too, will become a morning star. On June 11 it will pass very close to Venus.

In early spring Mars will be visible in the evening and will remain so for the rest of the year. It will brighten until early June, when it comes closest to the earth — less then 45 million miles away. Then it will be about a sixth as bright as Venus is now. By year's end it will have faded to less than a fifteenth of its June brightness.

The best chance of seeing Mercury will come around May 5, when it will be low in the west at dusk.

The year will be a poor one for eclipses. Twice, on March 18 and Sept. 11, the moon will be in front of the sun, but neither eclipse will be total. On each occasion the moon will be far enough away that it will not completely hide the solar disk. These will be annular eclipses. That is, a ring of the sun's surface will appear around the dark moon.

For the March event this will be visible along a narrow path from the Indian Ocean extending into the Pacific northeast of Australia. In September, the path of visibility will traverse the Pacific Ocean, hundreds of miles off the coast of North America. Then it will go into South America and end in western Brazil.

A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible over North America, except for the Northeastern United States and eastern Canada.

With Venus steadily brightening as it draws away from the sun, it has become the most conspicuous object in the evening sky except for the moon. You'll see it in the west after sunset—well before any other star or planet.

The accompanying maps show the sky as it appears about 10 p.m., local standard time, Jan. 1. It will look about the same at 9 p.m. Jan. 15 and at 8 p.m. on Jan. 31. During the first half Venus will set before these times but its position on Jan. 31 is shown. Then it is in the constellation of Aquarius, the water carrier, whose stars are too faint to be depicted.

A little higher, in Pisces, the fishes, is another planet. This is Saturn, about an eightieth as bright as Venus. It does however, equal a star of the first magnitude..

In the south we find the brilliant constellations that make the winter evening sky so glorious. One is Orion, the warrior, with two first magnitude stars: Betelgeuse and Rigel. Between them are three fainter stars that form the warrior's belt.

A little lower, to the left, is the great dog, Canis Major, with Sirius, brightest star visible in the nighttime sky. But even this in only about one eighth as bright as Venus.

Farther left and higher stands Procyon, in Canis Minor, the lesser dog. Still higher you come to Gemini, the twins, with first magnitude Pollux and second magnitude Castor.

To the right of Orion shines reddish Aldebaran in Taurus, the bull. And nearby overhead (shown on the northern sky map) is Auriga, the charioteer. Capella is its brightest star.

A third planet will appear in the western evening sky about Jan. 13 but it will be rather difficult to find. This is Mercury, to the east of the sun. For a few days it will remain above the southwestern horizon for a short time after sunset.

By midnight, if you look toward the east, you'll see another very bright planet. This is Jupiter, in Virgo, the virgin. Mars, considerably fainter will appear about 2 a.m., in Libra, the scales.

On Jan. 3 the earth will be 91.4 million miles from the sun, closest for 1969. After that the distance will increase until July 5 when we'll be 94,510,000 miles away.

It may seem strange to have winter in the Northern Hemisphere when the sun is nearest and summer when it is farthest away. That's because the sun is so low at this time of year. In July it climbs much higher into the sky. Its rays are more concentrated as they fall on the ground almost vertically at noon.

Over $4 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny has raised $4,569,287 in the last 12 years for symphony orchestras — as a violin soloist, a spokesman said today. Benny's benefit performances brought in $21,234 last Saturday at Riverside; $210,000 at Oakland, on Monday, and $20,035 at Fresno, on Wednesday, the spokesman reported.

Suspects Freed On Recognizance

Two Fairfax men and a Santa Rosa man, arrested Tuesday by Fairfax police, were booked into Marin County Jail on $1,250 bail each on suspicion of possession of marijuana, but were subsequently released on their own recognizance Tuesday by Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported that Russell M. Guidi and Joseph K. Adams, both 20 and both of 123 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, and Brian King of Santa Rosa were released on $1,250 bail each.

While looking for two suspects in another case, police apprehended the three men after smelling marijuana outside an apartment at 123 Willow Avenue.

Nine More GIs Granted Asylum

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Sweden granted asylum today to nine American servicemen opposed to U.S. Vietnam war policy, raising to 149 the number of GIs in legal exile here.

The Alien's Commission said it granted asylum to the new nine on the usual "humanitarian grounds."

The nine GIs given refuge in this neutral country all told the commission they opposed the Vietnam War and feared they would be sent to fight there.

None of the GIs given asylum today was from the Far West.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Alcoholism Progresses To Death In Series Of Stages

VAN DELLEN

Some say that the alcoholic who admits to a drinking problem has taken the first step on the road to recovery. This is partially true, because many confirmed alcoholics have said this many times but are not convinced inwardly.

The real change in attitude occurs in attitude occurs when the drinker realizes that he is trapped in a web that is stronger than he is. By this time, he knows that the next drink may be his last.

Alcoholics generally pass through definite stages that vary only in duration. The pre-alcoholic period offers the clue that the condition may be a disease. Something in the internal physical or psychological environment predisposes one man toward hopeless addiction while 25 others drink socially with impunity. This lone indivudual extends himself into constant or regular relief drinking.

AT THIS STAGE, a problem drinker emerges. He consumes more alcohol to achieve the same degree of satisfaction and feeling of release. Blackouts develop. His evening behavior may not give him away, but the morning after he remembers nothing.

The next step is neaking and gulping drinks instead of sipping.

Solitary imbibing follows, mainly to save face. Loss of control occurs, and once he starts hitting the bottle, everything else becomes progressively unimportant. At this point he is unable to stop.

DAYTIME BOOZING becomes more common, and he graduates into a chronic alcoholic. Worries that the habit will interfere with his responsibilities take a complete turnabout. Now he fears that job and duty will interfere with drinking.

From here on he rationalizes pities himself, and attempts to escape where he will not be known. Constant drunkeness takes its toll in reduced physical stamina and mental stability.

He becomes a candidate for violent death, suicide, or death from natural causes because of his rundown condition.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

NUMBNESS AT 70

A. M. L. writes: For the last few months I have experienced a numbness and tingling sensation in the ends of my fingers and toes. I am at a loss to account for this, except I am past 70 and this must be poor circulation. I exercise daily but do not get too much relief. What can I do about this problem?

REPLY

May I suggest a complete physical examination? This may stem from poor circulation, but anemia and disorders of the nervous system may also play a role.

THE BOTTOMLESS PIT

A reader writes: Is a practically unlimited appetite considered a sign of disease?

REPLY

Not in teen-agers, lumberjacks, and football players. Hearty appetites usually are a sign of good health. But gorging one's self may lead to obesity or indigestion. Now and then a metabolic disease such as diabetes or an overactive thyroid is responsible.

TABULATING BURPS

A reader writes: I belch 20 times each day. Why do I do this?

REPLY

Do you stop to count? Among the causes are air swallowing, gulping the food, indigestion, or too much gas. Now and then the condition is a nervous habit which must be controlled by will power.

FOOD FOR NERVES

H. M. writes: What are the most essential foods one must eat to keep the nerves in tip-top condition?

REPLY

The normal balanced diet.

DEATH VIA ELECTROCUTION

H. Y. Y. writes: Last summer some persons were boating when the mast of the craft came into contact with an overhead power line. This resulted in one of the passengers being electrocuted. Is being electrocuted in this manner the same as being put to death in the electric chair?

REPLY

Death results in both instances, regardless of the source of power.

PERKING UP APPETITE

A reader writes: How can a poor appetite be perked up?

REPLY

First the cause must be eliminated. The desire for food is affected by a variety of ailments, including oral lesions Emotional and psychologica factors also play a role. Appetite also is affected by how attractively food is served, how it tastes, the environment, and the dinner companions.

Some people never work har enough to build up an appetite There are many tonics includin vitamin B, cocktails, and ana bolic agents. An oldie is iro quinine and strychnine.

TALKING WHILE EATING

A reader writes: If a perso ate and talked at the same tim would he choke to death?

REPLY

No, but persons who have go manners do not chatter aw with a mouth full of food. The have been reports of peop choking while talking and tr ing to swallow a large piece meat at the same time.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KGO (7), 7:30 p.m.—Country-western singing star Jimmy Dean hosts singer Michele Lee, the Checkmates Ltd., comic Myron Cohen, folk singer Bobbie Gentry and the comedy team of Elias and Shaw on "Operation Entertainment" before audience of 25,000 soldiers at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m.—"NET Playhouse" presents "A Crack in the Ice," a dramatization of a short story by 19th Century Russian writer Nikolai Leskov.

KPIX (5), 9 p.m.—"Advance to the Rear" is a comedy movie, starring Glenn Ford, Stella Stevens and Melvyn Douglas.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 10 p.m.—"Down to the Sea in Ships" is an NBC special and the first of this season's three "Project 20" programs. Burgess Meredith narrates the dramatic and historic story of man on deep waters, from the period of sailing ships rounding the Horn to the great super-ships and luxurious pleasure craft of today.

Theft Suspect Wounds Clerk

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A department store clerk who tried to collar a shoplifter was shot in the neck yesterday by the suspected thief who then fled through a crowd of Christmas shoppers.

Kermitt Smith, 23, was listed in good condition at a hospital where he was treated for a wound caused by a small caliber bullet which grazed his neck, narrowly missing a major artery.

Smith told police he saw a youth snatch a radio from a shelf and start to walk away with two companions. When the clerk approached the youth, he pulled a pistol and fired.

The youths escaped down an escalator before police could arrive on the scene in the third floor radio department at the downtown Emporium.

Car Master Key Mailings Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department issued regulations today on mailing of master keys for motor vehicles, carrying out a new law aimed at curbing car thefts.

The new regulations make it illegal to mail master keys or advertisements for them except to lock manufacturers, professional locksmiths, motor vehicle manufacturers or dealers and government agencies at the federal, state and local levels. Shipments must be marked that they comply with the law.

Those knowingly violating the law are subject to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than a year, or both.

No Grudge Held

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos yesterday appointed as Finance Undersecretary Roman Cruz Jr., the son of the late Judge Roman Cruz Sr., who in 1939 convicted Marcos of murder and sentenced him to 17 years in prison. Marcos appealed the sentence and won acquittal.

Big Wave Pulls Soldier To Sea

CARMEL (UPI) — A 21-year-old Army private was drowned yesterday when a huge wave swept him out to sea at Point Lobos, three miles south of Carmel.

Pfc. Kenneth Roy Stedman of South Lake Tahoe was walking on the beach with Airman Lonnie Fliffer, 22, McClelan Air Force Base, and Bradley W. Raymond, 22, Walnut Creek, when the wave engulfed them.

Stedman was washed out to sea and Fliffer was swept onto a rocky crevice where he was dragged to safety by Raymond.

Final King Article Cites U.S. As Unprepared In Racial Area

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in his last published work, said America is "tragically unprepared" to solve the problems of race relations and poverty.

The Negro leader shot down in Memphis, Tenn., in April said, however, he was optimistic that justice for all black people would come, but not "without radical changes in the structure of our society."

"The nation waited until the black man was explosive with fury before stirring itself even to partial concern," King wrote.

"Confronted now with the interrelated problems of war, inflation, urban decay, white backlash and a climate of violence, it is now forced to address itself to race relations and poverty, and it is tragically unprepared.

"What might once have been a series of separate problems now merge into a social crisis of almost stupefying complexity."

In a "Testament of Hope" published yesterday in the 15th holiday anniversary issue of Playboy Magazine, the Negro advocate of nonviolence civil disobedience indicted Presidents Kennedy and Johnson for their for their foreign and domestic policies; urged more political and economic power for the Negro, and said solutions to his people's problems "must be constructive and rational" and that rioting accomplishes nothing.

"I am not sad that black Americans are rebelling," he said. "This was not only inevitable but eminently desirable. Without this magnificent ferment among Negroes, the old evasions and procrastinations would have continued indefinitely. . .these are our bright years of emergence; though they are painful ones, they cannot be avoided."

King, castigated by militant blacks for moving too slow on racial issues, said, "no president has really done very much for the American Negro." He said Presidents Kennedy and Johnson received much undeserved credit for helping Negroes.

"This credit has accrued to Lyndon Johnson and John Kennedy only because it was during their administrations that Negroes began doing more for themselves.

"Kennedy didn't voluntarily submit a Civil Rights Bill, nor did Lyndon Johnson. In fact, both told us at one time that such legislation was impossible."

He criticized the Johnson administration's military build-up and the U.S. role in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic intervention. he charged the present leadership is "amazingly devoid of statesmanship; and when creative statesmanship wanes, irrational militarism increases.

"In this sense, President Kennedy was far more of a statesman than President Johnson. He was a man who was big enough to admit when he was wrong—as he did after the Bay of Pigs incident. But Lyndon Johnson seems to be unable to make this kind of statesmanlike gesture in connection with Vietnam."

In citing progress of the black man, King said "when doubts emerge, we can remember that only yesterday Negroes were not only grossly exploited but negated as human beings. They were invisible in their misery.

"But the sullen and silent slave of 110 years ago, an object of scorn at worst or of pity at best, is today's angry man. He is vibrantly on the move; he is forcing change, rather than waiting for it in pathetic futility.

"In less than two decades, he has roared out of slumber to change so many of his life's conditions that he may yet find the means to accelerate his march forward and overtake the racing locomotive of history."

Ulster Leader Gains Support

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The ruling Union party gave Prime Minister Terence O'Neill a vote of confidence last night for his efforts to moderate Northern Ireland's political and religious feuding.

O'Neill sought the endorsement from his Unionist party's members in the Ulster Parliament after his dismissal of Home Minister William Craig threatened to divide the party. But of 35 members attending the crisis meeting, 28 voted to support O'Neill, four abstained and Craig and one other walked out. The 35th man O'Neill, did not vote.

Craig, the minister in charge of the police, took a hard line toward demonstrations by members of the Roman Catholic minority charging that they were discriminated against in housing, employment and voting regulations.

Nixon Cabinet Sparks Broken Pledge Charge

BOSTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., has accused President-elect Richard M. Nixon of breaking a campaign pledge by appointing an all-Republican cabinet.

"Undoubtedly they are all good men," McCormack said in a statement yesterday. "But in view of Nixon's plea for bipartisan unity it is noticeable, and very significant, that there are no Democrats or Negroes among them."

New Recipe To Combat Airport Fog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A dash of salt, some detergent and a chemical used in fertilizer — that's the recipe aviation officials hope will keep fog from cooking up more trouble at International Airport.

Authorities said yesterday the ingredients are ready for use in an $80,000 experiment they hope will keep fog from continuing to sock in the airport. International has been closed several times this year when the mist cut visibility below federal safety standards.

The airport commission is expected to approve the experiment when its meets Wednesday. Then, says Department of Airports official Bert Lockwood, the next time fog threatens to shut down the airport, three small planes loaded with the ingredients will sprinkle the sky.

If successful, the ingredients will turn the fog into light drizzle.

Lockwood said the fog seeding experiment is similar to cloud seeding measures used to produce rain. Officials hope the sky over the airport can be cleared within 20 minutes after the sprinkling.

Lockwood said the seeding planes would be based at Van Nuys Airport because the Van Nuys facility is "close to LA International and it's the most fog free airport in the area."

The project will be operated under a three and one-half month contract with E. Bollay Associates, a Santa Barbara meteorlogical firm, said Lockwood. The airlines will pick up 90 per cent of the project's $80,000 cost.

Chile's constitution dates from 1925, when it established the presidential system.

City Fathers To Install New Goldenaire Slate

Officers of the San Rafael Goldenaires will be installed at a meeting at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets, San Rafael.

New officers are Carl Rosenquist, president; Mary England and Helen Reinhardt, vice presidents; Mary Courtney, recording secretary; Florence Whitely, corresponding secretary; Ernie Blagg, treasurer, and Roy Rhodes, Calvin Fields and Anita Munter, members at large.

Installing officers will be San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, Councilman Louis H. (Bud) Baar and Charles Tacchi, chairman of the parks and recreation commission which sponsors the Goldenaires.

The meeting is open to Marin adults over 50. Further information is available at the center office.

Raccoons usually choose a moist, forested home but are found on the plains of central Texas.

Only Pride At Stake When Rams Meet Colts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

How will the Los Angeles Rams react Sunday?

That's the only intriguing question left about a clash that was expected to be the best of the entire season.

It'll be Los Angeles vs. Baltimore Sunday—and it'll mean nothing. Except pride. Baltimore, now 12-1, can post the best record in the regular season in the National Football League since Green Bay went 13-1 in 1962.

Los Angeles can only spoil the record a bit.

The Rams—with a possible $25.000-a-man riding on the outcome—made an almost unbelieveable blunder last Sunday. They let the officials take a down away from them—and they didn't even notice it.

Sure, it was the officials fault but the thing that's still hard to believe is that the Rams never realized it.

George Allen is supposed to be one of the brightest, quickest coaches in pro football.

LOST CHANCE

He let the officials rob him of a down — and yet even when it was all over and it was brought to his attention, he wasn't sure.

He said, "it was possible but I'll have to take a look at the films." That look proved the Rams only got three downs after the holding penalty with 30 seconds left.

None of the other Ram players realized it either—particularly quarterback Roman Gabriel, who may have still been a bit shaken up from his first half injury. But why didn't any of the other players realize it?

That's why the fans will be watching to see how the Rams play Sunday. Will they bounce back from that worst of football mistakes—the "mental error"—and spill the Colts to salve their pride? Or did they leave their season in that final minute of play last week?

This is the week of the anti-climax in the NFL. Tomorrow Cleveland plays St. Louis in a nationally televised game but this'll be another game only for pride since Cleveland clinched the Century Division title last week.

TITLE AT STAKE

The only title undecided is in the Central Division between Minnesota and Chicago. The game that means something is Chicago vs. Green Bay. Since Minnesota is considered almost a cinch to win at Philadelphia, it's up to the Bears to knock off Green Bay to advance to the Western Conference title game.

If the Bears win, they'll be assured of at least a tie with Minnesota for first place and that means Chicago advances since the Bears beat the Vikings twice during the regular season. If Green Bay knocked off Chicago, the crown goes to Minnesota unless Philadelphia pulls an improbable upset.

In three games, both teams will be winding up the season. It'll be San Francisco at Atlanta, Detroit at Washington and Pittsburgh at New Orleans in those contests.

In the other game, Dallas warms up for its Eastern Conference title clash with Cleveland by going to New York. Dallas suffered one of its two losses at the hands of the Giants this season and they'll want to avenge that.

JIM GILMARTIN

Tringali Headed For USF Grid Job

SCOOP — A little bird keeps telling me that former College of Marin football ace Vince Tringali, now the highly successful coach of St. Ignatius High School, will be named head football coach at University of San Francisco any day now. Pat me on the back and call me "Scoop" when it happens.

TAKE A DEEP BREATH — Author Jim Benagh of New York City, writing a book called "Incredible Athletic Feats," has asked our help for a chapter on an event that took place March 15, 1959 in San Rafael.

That was when Robert Foster of Richmond, a member of the Marin Skindiving Club, set a world record by holding his breath under water for the incredible time of 13 minutes, 42.5 seconds.

Feature Of Boat Show

It was a feature of Marin Rod and Gun Club's Sports and Boats Show at Bermuda Palms Motel. It beats by 7.5 seconds the former breathholding record set by Dr. Robert Keast of San Rafael the previous summer.

The divers pumped pure oxygen into their lungs for approximately 30 minutes prior to their dives, but once under water they had no source of air.

Foster gave me this vivid description of his record performance: "Well, I just had to try to prove a point. Some of my friends didn't think I could do it and I wanted to show them that it could be done. Besides that, everyone wants to break another man's record on something he's interested in. Frankly, I kind of doubted that I could actually hold my breath anywhere near Dr. Keast's record. I figured I could do 11 or 12 minutes, but not over 13.

It Was Extremely Painful

"The Bermuda Palms pool water was a cool 50 degrees and at first it felt as though somebody was jumping on me with hob-nail boots. It was extremely painful for the first three minutes. My whole body felt cramped, as if I were tied up in a million little knots. Then the pain gradually left my fingers and hands and arms and I began to relax."

Dr. Keast, an anesthesiologist, and another underwater record holder, Al Giddings Jr. of Fairfax, kept a close watch on Foster, who was held underwater by a 75-pound weight.

Foster continues his story: "I stayed relaxed until I passed the nine minute mark. Then came more punishment. My diaphragm and chest began convulsing. I thought my lungs would collapse. The last few minutes were agonizing. Yet I knew I wasn't in any real danger; Dr. Keast watched my eyes and checked my pulse. If anything was wrong I'd have been dragged out pronto.

Record Still Stands

"Giddings bent over me and signalled I had passed the 13 minute mark and I didn't think I could take any more."

He took 42.5 seconds more and the record still stands to this day and is likely to remain unsurpassed. The crowd of an estimated 500 persons let out a mighty roar when Foster emerged from his watery confinement 10 feet below the surface. He wore a skindiving suit. He was 32 years old at the time, an electronics specialist at the Stanford Oil Co. refinery in Richmond, and practiced for his record dive by holding his breath for five-plus-minute intervals every chance he got.

I hope this information helps Mr. Benagh's book because it was truly an incredible fact.

Marin Prep Cagers Win, Tars Lose

Drake, Novato Triumph

The Marin County Athletic League salvaged pride and records in second-round play of the Drake Invitational Basketball Tournament yesterday, assuring itself one spot in tomorrow's finals.

Drake and Novato high schools both won yesterday after Redwood of Larkspur and Terra Linda had fallen by the wayside Wednesday.

The result is somewhat suicidal all the way around, with Drake playing Novato in one semifinal clash at 8:30 tonight, and Redwood meeting Terra Linda in consolation play at 4 p.m.

SEMIS

The other seim-final game finds Petaluma meeting Lowell (S.F.) at 7 p.m. while Napa and Marysville, victims of Drake and Novato, meet at 5:30 p.m.

Drake did not exactly snow Napa, an early-season 23-point victim of San Rafael. The Pirates squeezed by on a pair of late free throws and a hook shot by Fred Westcott to win 73-71.

Novato survived early-game muddling to conquer Marysville, 69-54.

PUNCH

Drake, now 1-1, found plenty of scoring punch but didn't have a thing on Napa's 5-10 guard Kirk Schultz, who blistered the nets all game long, hitting on 14 of 19 shots from outside and making all three of his free throw attempts for a fat 31 points.

The Pirates balanced things out with the quartet of Westcott Clark Jamison, Dave Alvarado and Jeff Meeker. Westcott wheeled for 19 points, Jamison and Alvarado had 16 each and Meeker added 10 points.

TRAILED

Drake trailed 71-69 in the seesaw affair when Meeker sank two free throws to tie it at 2:37 and Westcott won it on a hook shot with only 47 seconds remaining.

Novato stumbled like icemen in the first period, falling behind 10-1 and trailing 14-7 going into the second period. The Hornets then pulled to within 26-25 at the half and salted Marysville away in the second half, a 24-11 bombing in the final period nailing down the win.

BALANCE

The Hornets also showed balance with steadily improving Bob Ament leading the way with 18 points. Larry Ferguson knocked in 17 points, Steve McNally had 14 and Ed Hernberger, 12.

The win was Novato's fourth against one loss, with the defeat coming at tthe hands of Petaluma High early in the season.

Virginia Tech Against Mississippi In Liberty Bowl

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football's bowl season opens full blast tomorrow when atonement-minded Virginia Tech squares off against explosive Mississippi in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.—the first of more than a dozen major bowl games during the next four weeks.

Virginia Tech, 7-3, will be trying to avenge its 1966 Liberty Bowl loss to Miami, and possibly present Coach Jerry Claiborne a farewell gift. He's considered a top candidate for coaching vacancies at Kentucky and Baylor.

Mississippi rode the arms and legs of sensational sophomore quarterback Archie Manning to a 6-3-1 mark this season.

Piracy has been a big asset for the Gobblers this season—they've stolen the ball 44 times from rivals while losing it only 14 times.

Three Tech players were hit by the flu this week—including starting halfback Frank Beamer—but Claiborne said he thinks "they'll be all right." He plans to start junior Al Kincaid at quarterback.

Meanwhile, North Dakota State, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press' final small college poll, tackles Arkansas State in the Pecan Bowl at Arlington, Tex.—one of four NCAA college division championships to be decided tomorrow.

The others are Fresno State vs. Humboldt State in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento; Louisiana Tech vs. Akron in the Grantland Rice Bowl at Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Indiana University, Pr., vas Delaware in the indoor Boardwalk Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J. All four games will be televised regionally (ABC-TV.)

In addition, Troy State, Ala. meets Texas A&L for the NAIA small college championship at Montgomery, Ala.

Fresno is led by senior fullback Mike Flories, who gained 724 yards in 131 carries, and Little All-American linebacker Tom McCall, who averaged 18 tackles a game and intercepted seven passes during the season. Halfback John Burman, who scored 16 touchdowns and gained 1,233 yards, is Humboldt's top threat.

Napa J.C. Turns Back Marin In Tourney Opener

By KIMO CAMPBELL

Playing with all the finesse of a pack of dizzy polar bears, the College of Marin Tars opted out of their own basketball tournament last night in Kentfield, as they were upset by the diligent Napa Junior College Chiefs, 65-64. Napa thus moves into the winner's bracket tonight.

American River of Sacramento, Reedley, and Yuba J.C. also advanced into the second round of the third annual tourney. Yuba handled Santa Rosa J.C. easily, 75-51, while Reedley squeaked by Sierra College of Rocklin 73-68 and American River, the first COM Invitational champ in 1966, strolled by Solano College of Vallejo 84-62.

Marin will play Sierra in consolation action today at 5 p.m., after the 3 p.m. Santa Rosa-Solano match. Reedley plays Napa at 9, following American River versus Yuba at 7 o'clock.

INJURIES

The Tars, hampered by injuries to starters Andre Horn and Tom Seidenberg, nevertheless seemed more than equal to the task of beating Napa, running up a 10-0 lead before the Chiefs had a point on the board. Then the host team seemed to lose its coordination, shooting poorly, making bad passes, and being outhustled on the boards by a smaller but more alert foe. By halftime, Marin was down 39-27.

Pat Schafer and Art Goepp helped lead a second-half rally that brought the Tars within one point at 64-65 when Goepp put in a rebound shot with 48 seconds left. Marin got the ball back on a turnover, took a couple of shots, missed them, saw Schafer grab the rebound and be fouled under the basket — but the officials called it a jump ball. All right, still time. Schafer controls the tip with nine seconds left, Marin has a shot from the corner, two or three tips from under the net, misses on all of them.

320 POINTS

Schafer had 20 points and 20 rebounds to lead the Tars, while Bill Hoge, brought up from the Junior varsity, had 13 points and eight rebounds. Seidenberg played only briefly due to his broken nose, as a protective brace proved too loose. Horn recovered from muscle spasms in his back enough to play, but injured his foot in the third period.

Napa was led by Ken Clark, a clever 5-foot-8 guard, who passed and shot well, keeping his team moving, and Kerry Porterfield, a 6-5 rawboned center who led the scoring with 15 points.

Marin coach Cal Riemcke felt that "Napa deserves a lot of credit. They played very well, but we didn't play well at all. In fact we played very poorly. Our performance just had a bad smell. It'll be interesting to see if we can come back tomorrow."

Seals Have Big Night Against Red Wings

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — The Seals departed on a four-game road trip today after their sweetest triumph of the season — indeed of their career.

Skating and checking robustly, the Seals blanked the Detroit Red Wings 6-0 last night at the Coliseum Arena. It was their fifth win this year over a team from the established Eastern Division of the National Hockey League and the first shutout of a team from that division in the Seals' two years in the league.

"It was a very strong effort," Seals coach Fred Glover said modestly in the dressing room later. "We were skating and checking and when we're not doing this we have problems."

For Seals goalie Gary Smith, it was his second shutout of the season, having blanked Philadelphia a week ago.

Rookie Norm Ferguson led the Seals' offense with two goals, playing anew on a line with star center Ted Hampson and Gerry Ehman, who also scored a goal and successfully checked Gordie Howe. The other Seals goals were scored by Bill Hare, Hampson and Gary Jarrett.

The Seals threw 40 shots at Red Wing goalie Roger Crozier, while Smith blocked 25.

The Seals held their first stick night last night, distributing official hockey sticks to the first 1,000 juniors entering the arena, but still only drew 4,238 fans.

After a road trip taking them to Detroit, Chicago, Minnesota and Toronto, the Seals return to the Coliseum Arena next Friday night against the St. Louis Blues, who are leading the Western Division. The following night is another stick night, this time at the Cow Palace against the Philadelphia Flyers.

Mrs. Black Wins In 'Ace' Tourney

Mrs. Philip Black took the hole in one prize at the Marin Country Club Women's Golf Club's guest day tournament yesterday by getting to within seven feet, one inch on the 15th hole at the Novato course.

The results in the medal handicap competition:

Class A — Mesdames Thomas Major, 91-18-73; Robert [illegible], 92-15-77; Philip Black, 98-20-78; [illegible], 101-19-82; Herbert [illegible], 103-21-82.

Brodie Will Need New Pact After Sunday's Final Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The end of a historic financial pact is approaching as the San Francisco 49ers prepare for their final 1968 National Football League game against the Falcons in Atlanta Sunday.

The contest will mark the final game in John Brodie's three-year contract that made him one of the richest quarterbacks in pro football history.

Terms of the 1966 agreement reportedly put him close to the millionaire class.

Involved in the dickering was a Houston Oiler offer that allegedly was aimed at getting Brodie to skip to the rival American Football League at a time when the senior NFL and the junior circuit were engaging in player wars.

Pro football later called off the wrangling with a virtual merger that created a common player draft and appointment of Pete Rozell as overall overseer.

In an interview yesterday, Brodie said he hopes to remain the 49ers chief signal caller despite the team's so-so 1968 record — 6-6-1 and third in the Coastal Division.

"I think we're definitely making progress," he said. "This was a development year."

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

Her Kingdom For A Pin; Gal Barely Misses Award

By RALPH CHATOIAN

A pin, a pin. My kingdom for a pin.

That could have been the cry of Inez Bernardi when she missed winning an award for going 100 pins higher than her average by just that amount — one pin.

Rolling in the Sleepers League at Country Club Bowl, Inez put everything together and twirled a fancy 255 game, 99 pins better than her average. Roberta Hubbard of the same league must have been watching as she rolled a 231 line, 85 pins better than her average.

PICKIN' 'EM UP — Bill Nave II really knows how to roll a triplicate — three 193s when the 910 Travel League was rolling at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael, across county from his more familiar surroundings. . . . Orlando Conti went over the 700 plateau for the fourth time when he blasted a 701 in the 905 Classic at Country Club (games were 233-268-200). . . . Dick Jacoby picked up the 6-7 split in the Thursday Late Mixed at Nave Lanes. . . . Rosemarie Ackbarri missed a triplicate 130 series by only one pin in the Monday Washday League at Nave's. . . . Mike Tauscher (255) and Ron Baccei (251) did some big bowling in the 905 Classic. . . Split makers in the Classy Lassies at Nave Lanes were Mary Smiley, 6-7, and Monnette Bell, 1-5-10.

THIS AND THAT — Larry Asay was the star of the night in the Marin County Mixed Travel League at Greenbrae Lanes, putting together games of 234, 188 and 247 for a 678 series. . . . In the same travel league, Glen Groth was only two pins away from a 158 triplicate. . . . Jim Brown made good on the 6-7-10 leave in the TGIF League at Country Club Bowl. . . In the Novato Sportsmen Bowling League at Nave Lanes. George Plum picked up the 5-9-10 and Dwight Koyl the 4-7-10. while the Tankerley Realty four-man team rolled an 807 game. . . Clare Graham and Marcella Howard each picked up a 6-7-10 split in the Bowlerettes League at the San Rafael lanes . . . Andrea Ibanez was quite a substitute in the Wednesday Blue Chips at Country Club, rolling her first game over 200, a 214 . . . Joe Stocker Mixed Fours at Country Club, was high man in the San Quentin Mixed Fours at Country Colub, 247 game, while Hal Ramsey was three pins away from a 182 triplicate.

JUNIOR DOINGS — Among the best scorers at Country Club the past week were Roger Backstedt with a 521 set in the juniors, Ron Paul, 180-193 and Nancy McPherson, 199 in bantams, and Mike Piver, age 6, 115-107, and Jen Trowbridge, age 5, 111 in the pee wees. . . . High rollers at Nave Lanes were Wayne Blasingame whose two games totaled 251 in the Bantams, and Mike Smith, a 533 three-gamer in juniors. . . . The eighth annual Junior 10-game Classic Endurance tourney is scheduled for Dec. 18 through 31 at Castle Lanes in San Francisco.

Crosby 'Invites' Are In The Mail

MONTEREY (AP) — The Christmas mail holds a little extra something for a flock of the nation's leading amateur golfers — invitations to the Crosby Tournament.

The event which Bing Crosby hosts each spring has reached the advanced planning stage, tournament director Larry Crosby, the singer's brother, said yesterday.

Each year, some 8,000 amateur achievers try to get in the tournament, but only 168 are invited. All these bids have now been postmarked, he said.

FOOTBALL

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Howard Shoemaker, a member of the athletic staff since 1957, was named head coach at Gettysburg College, succeeding Gene Haas.

GAINESVILLE, Fla — Ray Graves, football coach and athletic director at the University of Florida, was hospitalized, suffering from a severe case of bronchitis.

BOWLING

CARACAS, Venezuela — Carmen Salvino of Chicago held a 75-pin lead over Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla., after the first two rounds of the International Bowling Tournament with a score for the first 15 matches of 3,714.

SKIING

VAL D'ISERE, France — Karl Schranz of Austria mastered a giant slalom field of 122 competitors from 16 nations and won the first men's World Cup race of the ski season.

Pigeons Fair Game Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Band-tailed pigeons become legally shootable in the southern and central portions of California but the Department of Fish and Game rates prospects no better than fair.

There seem to be enough birds, but they are scattered and hunters will work for their squab unless severe storms push the birds out of the mountains and foothills and down into the valleys.

The continent's only native wild pigeon, the band-tail is about three times the size of a dove and has a deliberate wingbeat which belies the fact his speed is comparable to the swiftest of ducks.

Because the breast feathers are heavily glazed, they can shed shot like a honker.

Last year an estimated 44,000 California hunters bagged about 260,000 wild pigeons, which is just about average for recent years.

Band-tails are widely distributed throughout the state with the counties of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Sonoma, Kern and San Diego considered best.

Tennessee Trackmen Win Indoor Meet

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee won the inaugural Liberty Bowl triangular indoor track meet last night, taking 10 of the 14 events for 82 points. Memphis State scored 43 and Arkansas 26.

Bob Beamon, the Olympic gold medalist in the long jump leaped 26-3 in an exhibition. Bob Seagren, the Olympic pole vault champion, cleared 17 feet in another exhibition.

Joe Cronin, Umps Group In Meeting

BOSTON (AP) — The historic first meeting between the American League president and the Umpires Association was like a "live-in" as threats of a congressional probe were issued in Washington.

A.L. President Joe Cronin, who jolted the umpiring world by firing veterans Al Salerno and Bill Valentine last September, and representatives of the Umpires Association met for 2½ hours behind closed doors yesterday at league headquarters.

Neither Cronin nor the association representatives had much to say after the meeting. However, they went out of their way to indicate a sweetness and light atmosphere prevailed.

About the same time, Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., chairman of a House labor subcommittee, said in Washigton that plans for early hearings on the firing of the two umpires expanded to include the labor problems of professional athletes generally.

"I have seen no evidence at American League officials are taking affirmative steps to give these two men a hearing or any other kind of reconsideration," said Thompson, who apparently was unaware of the Boston meeting.

Thompson, who said he was concerned because he is a baseball fan, hinted in a statement that he may not open his hearings if Cronin reinstates the umpires fired with a couple of weeks left in the season.

John Reynolds Jr. of Chicago, the Umpires Association attorney, and Cronin said in a joint statement that "the matter of Salerno-Valentine was discussed and further discussion will be held."

COOL-FIST DON

Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, displays a big fist which he hopes will demolish Nino Benvenuti of Italy in the world middleweight boxing championship bout at San Remo, Italy, tomorrow night. He may wind up fighting students who are protesting the bout as a capitalistic feast because of high ticket prices. (UPI Cable photo)

Toledo Quint Hopes To Bounce Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toledo Rockets, a disappointment last season, are out to redeem themselves in college basketball this campaign.

Bob Miller and Steve Mix combined for 53 points to lead the Rockets to a decisive 88-65 victory over 15th-ranked Western Kentucky in New York's Madison Square Garden last night.

"We have four seniors who were 23-1 as sophomores, but fell to 16-8 last year," said Bob Nichols, Toledo coach. "They're out to prove something this season.

"Everything went right for us, but we won't know how good we are until we play 10th-ranked St. Bonaventure Saturday night."

Miller scored 28 points and Mix 25 as the Mid-American Conference club overwhelmed the Hilltoppers from the Ohio Valley Conference. It was Western Kentucky's first defeat after five wins at home.

"They just drove the ball down our throat," commented Johnny Oldham, the Western Kentucky mentor.

Jim McDaniels, the Hilltoppers' 7-foot soph, tallied 16 points and fouled out midway of the second half. Jerome Perry was high with 24 points. Rutgers crushed St. Louis 91-67 behind Dick Stewart's 30 points in the first Garden game.

Ron Washington also scored 30 points in leading Wichita State to a surprise 93-88 home court victory over Iowa. Washington got the go-ahead basket with less than two minutes to play after John Johnson's layup had tied the score for the Hawkeyes at 87-87.

Colorado continued to impress with a 112-81 rout of Arizona State of Boulder.

In other games, Texas A&M whipped Louisiana Tech 102-83, Wake Forest overwhelmed Baldwin-Wallace 110-83, Colgate downed Lehigh 96-83, Tulsa beat Fullerton State 93-84, Montana State downed Seattle 82-74 and Providence turned back Rhode Island 86-76.

Southern Mississippi won the Hattiesburg, Miss., Invitational by beating East Tennessee 93-75 behind Johnny Vitrano's 31 points.

Smith Whips Aussie

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Stan Smith of Pasadena, a member of the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team, defeated second-seeded Bill Bowrey, a top Australian amateur, 8-6, 6-3, 6-3 in the men's singles semifinals of the Queensland Championships today.

Smith's victory for the United States was a blow to the Australian Davis Cup Challenge Round hopes in Adelaide Dec. 26-28. Bowrey is considered Australia's leading amateur in defense of the Cup.

Bowrey never appeared to have a chance against the sixth-seeded Smith after the first set. The Californian always was capable of providing a big serve whenever he was in trouble.

Harry Hopman, the Australian nonplaying captain, said that Bowrey's play has to improve a lot before the Challenge Round.

The Australian's game fell apart after the loss of the first set when he became overcautious.

The victory gave Smith an edge in the race to fill the U.S. second singles vacancy for the Davis Cup.

Arthur Ashe, the No. 1 U.S. singles choice, meets Australian Ray Ruffels in the other semifinal match tomorrow. Ashe is expected to win on current form and make the Queensland final Dec. 15 an All-American affair.

When Michigan beat Indiana 27-22 this fall each team gained 265 yards on the ground, 162 yards in the air and completed 14 passes.

Raiders Won't Repeat Mistake

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders said today that all-league defensive back Kent McCloughan will miss Sunday's important American Football League game with the San Diego Chargers despite medical advice that he could play.

McCloughan has missed the Raiders' last six games, but the club had been hoping he could play against the Chargers, a game it will probably have to win to maintain a Western Division tie with the Kansas City Chiefs.

"The mistake made last year in a similar situation with Tom Keating will not be repeated," a Raider spokesman said.

Last year, Keating, an all-league defensive tackle, injured his left ankle in the AFL championship game, but returned for the Sugar Bowl and the league's All-Star game although the Raiders wanted him to sit out the latter.

He severely reinjued his ankle in the All-Star contest and has missed the entire 1968 season.

McCloughan has been out with a knee injury, one in a long line of ailments that have knocked key Oakland players out of the lineup this year.

In addition to playing without Keating and McCloughan, the Raiders cut all-league running back Clem Daniels after a leg injury and were without all-AFL performer Wayne Hawkins, a guard who was also injured.

Linebacker Bill Laskey, running back Larry Todd and promising young linebackers Bill Fairband and Dave Ogas were injured.

Pete Rozelle Is Pro Grid's Greatest Asset

Pete Rozelle was an incredibly boyish looking young man of 33 when he became National Football League commissioner in January, 1960. Some NFL owners thought Rozelle would be a polite, pliabe puppet.

Now, nine years later Rozelle is as polite as ever. But nobody would dream of accusing him of having been a compliant commissioner during his seven year NFL reign. Nor would anyone attribute vacillating conduct to Rozelle since he became boss of all pro football two years ago.

Rozelle has been pro football's greatest asset since the forward pass. During the past decade he has made multi-millionaires out of club owners and wealthy men out of football players. At the same time he has dealt firmly with both owners and players. And this week officials, appointed out of his office, learned just how hard Rozelle can crack down on mistakes.

SEVERAL YEARS ago Rozelle slapped a stiff fine on George Halas when the grizzled owner of the Chicago Bears criticized officials in a game the Bears lost. Halas, charter member of the NFL, hasn't opened his mouth about officials since.

Rozelle proved to be a just but merciful judge in imposing punishment not long ago on players whose betting habits almost destroyed the pro football image Rozelle worked hard to create.

WHEN OFFICIALS erred in not permitting Los Angeles a fourth down near the end of a most important game last Sunday with Chicago, Rozelle suspended all six game officials.

This was not a judgment error. This was an arbitrary right-or-wrong application of the rules which permit four downs to a team trying to advance the ball ten yards or more in each sequence of plays.

"All six game officials are equally responsible for keeping track of the downs," said Rozelle.

ONE OF the officials was Burl Toler, a close friend of the commissioner from college days at University of San Francisco where Toler was a football star at the time Rozelle was USF's publicity man.

At one time or another both owners and players have been angry with Rozelle but nobody ever questioned his integrity or sense of justice.

Everyone connected with pro football has praised him for his most effective appearances before Congress in winning anti-trust immunity for the NFL-AFL.

AND EVERYONE associated with the game knows how he raised pro football's television contracts from peanut status to the multi-million dollar stratosphere.

Even players who feel Rozelle hasn't been doing enough for them lately were flabbergasted at Super Bowl financial purses he ordered for the victors ($15,000) and the losers ($7,500).

Marin Is Mecca For Tennis Stars

Marin County is rapidly becoming a stronghold of super-talented young tennis stars.

Marin youngsters are top-rated in four age groups and rated high in many others in the latest unofficial Northern California junior tennis rankings compiled by the Northern California Tennis Association.

Mike Machette of Belvedere is top-ranked in the boys age 18 division, ahead of highly-touted Rick Fisher of Palo Alto.

DOUBLES STARS

In doubles, Darby Auerbach of Belvedere and Sharon Walsh of San Rafael are top-rated in girls 16 while Bee Kilgore and Anne Lamott, both of Tiburon, are rated best in the girls 14 division.

Bob Knight of Tiburon and Ron Kern of Lafayette are top-ranked in the boys 16 doubles.

In boys 16 singles, Andy Moffat of Mill Valley is No. 6, Steve McDonald of Tiburon is No. 9, Bob Knight is No. 11 and Brice Bassett of Belvedere is No. 17. Bill Kinser of Tiburon is rated 24th in boys 14.

Dan Tierney of Tiburon has the No. 6 rating in boys 12.

Sharon Walsh is fourth-ranked in girls 16 and Darby Auerbach has the No. 10 rating. In girls 14, Anne Lamott of Tiburon is 7th, Bee Kilgore, 15th and Lissy Manheim of Tiburon is 17th. Cindy Douglas of Santa Rosa is 5th in girls 12, while Patricia Gomez of Tiburon is rated 10th and Jennifer Goberschock of Mill Valley is 15th.

Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae is fifth-ranked in girls 10.

Other doubles ratings find Brice Bassett and Tad Isaacs of Belvedere rated fourth in boys 16 and Bob Klyce of San Rafael and Ron Miller fifth in the same division. Dan Tierney is second-ranked in boys 12 doubles with Eric Lee of San Francisco.

Ann Lamott and Lissy Manheim are third-ranked in girls 14 doubles.

Cordero Still Leads Pineda

Angelo Cordero Jr. can't shake loose from Alvaro Pineda in their race for the 1968 national jockey championship.

The Puerto Rico-born Cordero has led his Mexican-born rival for the last couple of weeks, but hasn't been able to pull away.

Starting today's races at Tropical Park in Florida Cordero has 317 winners. Pineda, riding at Bay Meadows in California, is only four behind with 313.

Pineda gained by scoring a triple yesterday while Cordero booted home two.

Santa Clara Vs. Houston In Cage Tourney Opener

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Santa Clara bids for a spot in the Top Ten and a successful defense of its Cable Car Classic title tonight when it meets Houston in San Francisco's Civic Center.

The University of San Frabcisco meets Brigham Young in the other first-round game.

Houston is ranked 12th in the current Associated Press poll and Santa Clara is No. 16. Houston is 3-1, having lost by one point to Southern Cal. The Broncos are 3-0.

Top-ranked UCLA has the weekend off because of examinations but most of the West's other top teams are in action tonight and tomorrow.

Oklahoma State has games with Washington both nights as two of the winningest active college coaches collide: Hank Iba of Oklahoma State and Tex Winter of Washington.

The only other major-college action tonight involving Coast teams is a game between Washington State and Montana at Missoula.

Tomorrow, however, the activity steps up.

Stanford is at Air Force, St. Mary's journeys to Oregon State, Arizona State is at Southern California, Seattle plays at Utah, Pepperdine hosts UC-Riverside and Loyola entertains San Fernando Valley State.

Santa Clara sends its brother act of Bud and Ralph Odgen out against rugged Houston. Bud is averaging 20.3 points a game and Ralph is averaging 15.7. Dennis Awtrey has a 20-point average for the Broncos.

Houston has adjusted to the loss of All-American Elvin Hayes and is led by Olympian Ken Spain, who is averaging 20 points a game.

The Cougars' defeat by Southern Cal was their first in regular-season play in 39 games.

Novatans Win Soccer Match

Novato High School's soccer team remained unbeaten, nicking Drake of San Anselmo, 4-2, in a tight battle at Drake yesterday.

The Hornets broke off to a 2-0 lead and never looked back with center forward Urbano Boucsieguez scoring a pair of goals, one on a penalty kick.

Gonsalvo Portugal scored twice for Drake while Tim Conrad and Mike Stevens scored for Novato. The Hornets are 2-0 while Drake is 0-2 in Marin County Athletic League soccer play.

Klamath River Is Still Low, Clear For Steelhead Anglers

STEVENS

Howdy, folks:

Jim Roads, Klamath River Guide Service, reports on conditions in the Happy Camp area of the Klamath River: "The Klamath River still low and clear. Recent storms left snow on the higher elevations, but did no harm to the river. Fishing has been good, and getting better each day. My parties have been doing very well. Lemoin Vaughn of Modesto, landed an 11½ pound steelhead. Best results have been on Hot Shot plugs; Little Cleo and little Jewel best lures, also lots of steelhead have been taken on fresh roe and nightcrawlers.

"Weather is cold with light showers occasionally, so dress accordingly.

"Roads are all in good condition. For latest river shape, better call me before shoving off from the Bay Area."

Anyone having a yen to do battle with a steelhead had better check conditions of coastal streams.

THE RAINS may have opened the mouths of coastal streams but the silt being carried from tributary streams have undoubtedly dirtied most, if not all, coastal waters. A reader just returned from a business trip to Fort Bragg, reported: "I saw the dirty water — a deep yellow — coming down the Navarro just above the juncture of North Fork a short ways above Dimmick's Park. Inside of a few minutes the dirty waters emptied into the main stream."

THERE HAS been only one area where the dreaded disease of botulism has been spotted. This one outbreak is confined to about 300 acres of the Sutter National Wildlife Refuge, and the Department of Fish and Game says it will control the small area by opening the area to hunting, thereby, dispersing the birds. Approximately 1,000 birds have died and another 500 sick birds have been picked up on the area. It sounds bad — but is mild compared to last years' toll of ducks in this federal refuge when 56,000 ducks were killed.

There has been no known case of botulism being transferred to man, but hunters are cautioned to take only birds they have shot, and not to even pick up a dead duck.

THE PROSPECTS for a killing of ducks and geese can hardly help being brighter this weekend than for some time. Don Zunino of the Lincoln Bait and Tackle in San Rafael, a dedicated buff in shotgunning, rated waterfowl hunting so far in the season, as very slow.

If Dame Nature should do a switch — let the local fishing spots have the blue-bird weather and the gunners have the wet and dirty water — this report might be more optimistic.

PROSPECTS FOR a productive weekend fishing trip are not so blue. Lots of rather badly colored water in the bays, but sturgeon and striper and steelhead can be taken under much more adverse conditions.

Bantam Ben Hogan Fighting Painful Arm, Leg Ailments

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The answer will more than likely come on a bright, crisp day next spring.

It will be on a practice fairway at Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth. The man will no doubt be alone.

The swing will be machine-like. The ball will rifle true to its target. But the questions will be: Did the shoulder hurt? Will the left leg hold up under the pivot?

And if things aren't just right it will be at least another year before bantam Ben Hogan will make a token appearance in competitive golf.

Hogan, four-time winner of the U.S. Open, twice winner of the Masters, former PGA and British Open, twice winner of the Masters, former PGA and British Open titlist, hasn't played a competitive round of golf since 1966. And he won't again unless the conditions are perfect.

A PROUD MAN

The fact that Hogan is a proud man, of course, is legend.

He once objected strenuously to a reporter for keeping score while giving the king of Belgium a few lessons on a round at Colonial Country Club.

"We're not playing golf," Hogan snorted.

The reporter put his pencil away.

Hogan retired from competitive golf in 1955. But he enjoyed playing in an occasional tournament in Florida, or the Masters or at home at the Colonial. And even though the putting jitters affected his scores somewhat, he thrilled the tournament crowds with his shotmaking ability which seemed to lose neither its distance or accuracy.

But a combination of age—Hogan is 56 — and physical problems have cast doubt on whether he will ever play seriously again.

Hogan underwent surgery last month in New Orleans. The doctor cut away calcium and some tissue from his shoulder. Hogan will return in six weeks for a checkup.

His left kneecap is ailing. But Hogan said the doctor advised no surgery for it—just more time to heal.

"It works against the cartilage," Hogan said. "When I move to my left side it hurts. So I back up on my right foot and that's not very good if you're going to play golf."

Hogan has been busy with his business activities, including his golf club company.

But the competitive fire hasn't dimmed.

A reporter asked him wouldn't he miss playing in the Masters next year when spring rolled around. Wouldn't he want to give it another try?

He grinned and said "Yeah, I guess so."

There are those who remember the way Hogan fought back after a crippling automobile accident in 1949. First it was thought he wouldn't live. Then it was thought he would never play golf again. Hogan's answer was three more National Open championships.

He may never play in another tournament. But don't bet your favorite wedge on it.

ABA Suspends, Fines Official

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The American Basketball Association announced today that game official Pat Denoy has been fined and suspended for an indefinite period beginning immediately.

ABA Commissioner George Mikan said the suspension and fine followed rule interpretation errors in two league games. Mikan would not comment on the amount of the fine because of ABA policy.

The decisions by Denoy occurred in the Dallas-Los Angeles game at Los Angeles Dec. 8 and the Miami-Minnesota game Dec. 10 in Minnesota.

Denoy has been with the ABA two seasons.

Wrestling Tourney

Six Marin County Athletic League schools will be represented in a novice wrestling tournament at Novato High School tomorrow along with Montgomery High School of Santa Rosa. Competition begins at 9 a.m. and will run through 5 p.m.

Redwood Basketball Teams Thump Drake

Redwood High School's lower level basketball teams had a good couple of days as the Redwood junior varsity thumped Drake of San Anselmo's junior varsity, 48-44, yesterday and the Giant Class B team topped the Drake B squad 39-22 at Larkspur.

Bill Challander had 14 points for the winning jayvees while Tom Marker's 19 points paced the victorious Bees. Marker had 18 points in Wednesday's 48-34 conquest of the Terra Linda Bees.

HULA BOWL JAN. 4

Simpson, Keyes To Clash

HONOLULU (AP) — Nine first team 1968 All-Americans—paced by Southern California's fabulous O. J. Simpson and Leroy Keyes of Purdue—will appear in the 23rd annual Hula Bowl football game at Honolulu Stadium Jan. 4.

In all, 21 All-American grid stars are listed in the North-South roster including three members of The Associated Press' All-American backfield.

They are Simpson, Keyes and Chris Gilbert of Texas. The fourth member of the AP backfield, Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty, was scheduled to play, but will miss the game because of a knee injury.

Simpson and Gilbert will be on the South team, Keyes will head the North squad.

Two other first string All-American players will be on the North team with Keyes. They are center John Didion of Oregon State and back Al Worley of Washington.

Other first string All-American players on the South squad are left tackle Mike Montler of Colorado, right tackle Ed White of California, back Roger Wehrli of Missouri, and Ron Sellers, the split end from Florida State who will play at halfback in the Hula Bowl.

North coaches will be Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse and Larry Price of Hawaii. Coaching the South will be Dan Devine of Missouri, John McKay of USC and Dave Holmes of Hawaii.

Complete team rosters for the Hula Bowl game Jan. 4:

North offense

Warriors Hoping To End Loss Streak

BOSTON (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, hoping to snap a five-game losing streak without the aid of big Nate Thurmond, couldn't have found a more difficult team against which to do it.

The Warriors, 12-17 and fourth in the National Basketball Association's Western Division race, face the powerful Boston Celtics tonight in the second game of a six-game road trip. Boston, 20-7 is one game out of first in the East.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Chuck Hoeppner is the set designer for next weekend's traditional Christmas season performances of "The Nutcracker" by Marin Civic Ballet. But the fantasy Snow Forest and Sugar Plum Palace he is creating for that event is but one facet of his creativity. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine shows you another of his talents with a display of pen and ink sketches he did in exotic Hong Kong that will soon be part of a published book.

A group of Boy Scouts make up what is perhaps the most unusual of Marin County's many folk dancing units. The boys of the Talako Lodge Indian Dance Team from the honorary Order of the Arrow perform the ritualistic dances of the Sioux and other Plains tribe with respect and care as to authenticity. Your Independent-Journal supplement tomorrow will feature a story and pictures of this colorful group.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Speculation And Growth Should Not Be Confused

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. The following stocks were bought on the advice of a business associate: Diamond Shamrock, Diodes, Inc., South Carolina Electric & Gas, Sterling Precision and Vornado, Inc. Although I am in a position to hold over an extended period, I wonder if this is advisable. — F. F.

A. Holding speculative issues in hopes of eventual recovery can be expensive business. This capital would be more productive if invested in a growing situation.

Two issues in your portfolio neither pay dividends nor look like candidates for early recovery. Diodes Inc. and Sterling Precision have erratic records; the latter has shown sales growth — particularly from acquisitions — but higher interest charges have penalized earnings.

The remaining three issues have growth merit and should be held. The merger proposed with Pickands Mather will strengthen Diamond Shamrock's long-range potential. Vornado's earnings have suffered from costs of a computer installation and a new warehouse. But earnings recovery is looked for by the year-end. South Carolina Electric has estimated results for 1968 at $1.78 a share up from $1.70. Although no rate increase to offset the 10 per cent surtax has been requested by the company, it is a possibility.

Q. I bought Commonwealth Edison in 1955 and was pleased with its progress. For the last several years it hasn't paid any stock dividends and the shares haven't moved, except lower. Why aren't utilities growing? — E. P.

A. I would like to correct one impression — utilities have not stopped growing; in fact, Commonwealth has increased net income an average 9 per cent annually in the last five years. Market interest in the shares has evaporated and caused a downward drift in share price. When the group will regain some of its former popularity is difficult to say — a recession could certainly be an influencing factor in returning utilities to a more favored position.

Commonwealth and Central Illinois Light announced last spring that merger discussions were under way. Although the yield is moderate, a dividend increase in the next few quarters is probable and shares should be held.

Stocks Show Gain In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today, making a substantial gain in active trading.

Closing prices were shaved a bit below their best as preweekend profit taking held sway.

Nevertheless, it was a lively and exciting market, with many specially situated issues enlivening the list.

Blue chips perked up, some recovering recent sharp losses.

Prices near the close included:

Clevite, up 6½ at 91½; Rapid-American, up 3¾ at 48¼; Armour, up 1¾ at 60¾; INA Corp., up 2⅝ at 50¾; Cities Service, up 3⅞ at 82¾; Polaroid, off 4¾ at 118¾; AMK Corp. up 3¼ at 55; Williams Brothers, off 1¼ at 69⅜; and U.S. Smelting, off 4¼ at 62¼.

Merger situations enlivened the list, and blue chips made good recoveries as Wall Street responded to feelings of relief that the Federal Reserve Board had taken no further action on credit tightening, as some feared it would.

Atlas Corp., up a fraction, was far ahead of the rest of the lost on volume.

Rapid-American rose nearly 4 points after the company announced an offer for shares of Glen Alden, which remained untraded as exchange officials tried to match orders.

Armour rose about 1½, while General Host dipped more than a point. The moves followed news of formal action by General Host looking toward control of Armour through a tender offer.

Clevite jumped 7, and U.S. Smelting was off 3. Preliminary agreement to merge was announced.

Merger Talks Off

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Kimbrly-Clark Corp., of Neenah, Wis., and American Forest Products Corp. have announced they have terminated 10-day negotiations and studies of a possible acquisition of American Forest Products by Kimberly-Clark.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

State's Spending Index Up 5.5 Per Cent Over '67

California's economic activity as measured by total spending in the state advanced to $97.34 billion in November, only a slight increase over October, but up 5.5 per cent over a year ago.

According to figures of the Bank of California, personal and business spending is up, but government spending is down — both for the month and the year to date.

Personal income totaled $77.56 billion in November and has shown an advance of 6.1 per cent in a year's time. Wages and salaries, accounting for more than two-thirds of this, climbed 7.7 per cent in a year.

Bank of America predicts an abundant cash harvest for California farmers. Favorable weather and market prices, along with strong consumer demand, are said to point to record levels of production and cash receipts in 1968 and 1969.

Meanwhile a flurry of commercial mergers is taking place in the Bay Area, along with similar transactions in other parts of the country.

TRANSAMERICA CORP., San Francisco, has made its first entry into the educational services field through the acquisition of the Foreign Study League of Salt Lake City. The league operates overseas summer schools in modern foreign languages and liberal arts subjects for U. S. high school students.

DATA TECHNOLOGY CORP. of Mountain View is holding preliminary discussions to acquire California Peripherals of Northridge, Calif. — a small manufacturer of drums and discs used as memory elements in computers.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES, San Francisco, has opened discussion for the acquisition of West Coast Glass Distributors and its wholly-owned subsidiary, National Auto Glass Co., Inc., primarily engaged in installing automobile windshields. ABMI is a major janitorial contractor and manufactures chemical products.

Unemployment At Low Mark; Welfare High

The U. S. Labor Department reported this week that the unemployment rate in the United States is at the lowest point in 15 years — 3.3 per cent of the work force.

There are some strange contradictions here.

At the same time that unemployment is the lowest since 1953, there are more than eight million people on federal and state welfare rolls. This is nearly twice as many as were "on relief" 15 years ago.

THE FEDERAL government laid out $300 million for relief in 1940 — the year that the United States started edging toward a war economy preceding its entrance into World War II. In 1967, the federal share of relief costs was $4.2 billion — nearly 15 times that of 1940. It has been estimated that it will go to $6.7 billion by 1972.

It is generally agreed by those who study the employment picture that full employment — 100 per cent of the work force on the job — is an impossibility. Mere job mobility accounts for one per cent or more unemployment. When the "emergency relief" program was started by the federal government in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, the unemployment rate was near 30 per cent of the work force.

It would seem, then, that with only 3.3 per cent of the work force out of jobs, welfare costs would be at an almost irreducible minimum.

THE OPPOSITE appears to be the case. There is no longer any observable relationship between job availability and welfare rolls.

The explanation for this is, in part, that welfare costs now include many people who were not considered at all in initial relief programs of the '30s. They include those over 65 — who are not counted in the work force, and some five million who receive Aid to Needy Children funds. These make up the biggest bulk of those receiving some form of welfare funds.

The unemployed aside from these draw unemployment compensation, and go on and off the welfare rolls. Some of them stay "on welfare" because the jobs offered will put them in no better financial position than the relief funds they get while not working. For these, as has been often pointed out, welfare has become a way of life.

THERE IS ANOTHER seeming contradiction in the employment figures released by the Labor Department.

The unemployment rate for nonwhites, it reported, dropped to 6.5 per cent at the end of October, down markedly from 7.4 per cent a month earlier although still almost double the rate for the entire work force.

This is scarcely a crisis figure. Yet it comes at a time when there is loud agitation all across the nation about the plight of the Negro.

SOMEWHERE we have got all twisted up. We have come to regard welfare as something unrelated to whether jobs are available. We have made it a protection for fathers who wish to avoid the responsibilities of parenthood. We have made it an attraction for those who would rather do with a little less money than work for what they get. We have made it, in too many cases, an inducement to leave the job, or at least not to try to turn in an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

With the economy booming and 96.7 per cent of the work force employed, welfare should be no great burden. The people of such a nation should be self-supporting.

Thailand Fearful Of Sell-out At Vietnam Talks In Paris

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A country with as little faith as any in the outcome of Paris peace talks over Vietnam is Thailand.

The Thais, like many high echelon South Vietnamese, fear a U.S. sell-out in Vietnam and fear that if the Communists succeed in taking over Vietnam, their country will be next.

Meanwhile, Thailand's commitment in South Vietnam is total. Its army and navy forces fight in South Vietnam alongside the United States. U.S. fighter-bombers take off from Thai bases to attack North Vietnam transports along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos, and, before the bombing halt, against North Vietnam itself. Which is by way of pointing up the complexities facing U.S. negotiators in Paris, if or when the talks get going.

IN PARIS, the negotiators must consider not only Vietnam but Laos and Thailand as well. Eventually they must have a voice.

In the military viewpoint, Vietnam, Laos and Thailand always have been considered one war theater.

In Vietnam, the North Vietnamese openly support the Viet Cong but deny participation in the South by their own troops.

In Laos, it is the Pathet Lao, again with denial that some 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are in Laos in violation of Laotian neutrality.

And in Thailand, it is the Thailand Patriotic Front which is supported by North Vietnam, separated at one point from Thailand by only 55 miles.

GIVING POINT to Thailand fears, a recent report of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) listed five Southeast Asia nations suffering from increased Communist insurgency.

They are Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, Malaysia and Burma.

The Thais are firm believers in the domino theory and are convinced that within moments of a Communist takeover in Vietnam they would become the next target. Laos, they believe, would fall as a straw house in a windstorm.

Currently in Thailand, Communist insurgents are listed at about 5,000 activists, with many more thousands of supporters. Assassinations of informers run at about one a day.

The two main areas of subversion are the long-neglected northeast where the population is more Lao than Thai, and in the south on the border with Malaysia which finds support among Chinese and Moslem Thais.

The Thais are not perfect and have dragged their feet on needed reforms. But in Thailand in the last four years, the United States has built up nearly a $400 million stake in support of the effort in Vietnam and against Thai insurgency. The Thais fear it all could go up the flue in Paris.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Different Version On Constitution

We read with interest your Nov. 25 editorial concerning Proposition 1 and revision of California's constitution. To avoid errors in future editorials or articles on these subjects we submit the following informationn.

We know of no basis for your statement that the defeat of Proposition 1 in November will compel the Constitution Revision Commission to "back off and start over." The commission's responsibility is to furnish facts and recommendations to the Legislature concerning revision of the constitution. The commission discharged this responsibility with respect to the articles covered by Proposition 1 when it submitted its report on these articles in February of 1968. Subsequent enactment, modification and submission of those recommendations to the voters were entirely with the Legislature's prerogatives.

The commission is unanimously committed to completing the third and final phase of revision by preparing recommendations on the subjects it has not yet considered. This decision was made at the commission's Nov. 21 meeting in San Francisco and contradicts the implication in your editorial that the commission is now going to reconsider the recommendations in Proposition 1 or is "less than enthusiastic" about its responsibilities.

Several of your statements concerning the form of Proposition 1 also require correction. The decision to include recommended revisions of several articles in a single proposition was made by the Legislature. The Commission made no recommendation on this matter. . .

Your final suggestion concerning prior public notice of matters to be considered at each commission meeting reveals a lack of information concerning commission procedures. The commission maintains a mailing list for every article on which it is working. Any citizen or organization interested in an article is placed upon that mailing list upon request. . .

Board Commended For Discipline Act

Congratulations to the Tamalpais High School District Board of Education on their expulsion of a troublesome student, as reported in the I-J Nov. 21. It is refreshing these days to see school boards and officials take firm action. I hope this action will serve as a stimulace (sic) to other school officials and boards at all levels. If we can remove the few that attempt to interrupt the operation and purpose of our schools then those wishing to study and attend classes and learn, can get on with it, without distraction.

High-handed Action Regarding Horses

First, I would like to thank you for that excellent article in the Independent-Journal by Mr. Jack Craemer, "Let's bring back the horse." Next, I want to explain that I am a peaceful person who rarely complains, but I now feel that my family and I have been harrassed so much that it is high time I speak up.

We have just received another letter from the City of San Rafael dated Nov. 5, 1968, giving us 30 days to remove our horses. The first letter gave us exactly 10 days; at that time, we appeared at the city council meeting and it was agreed that, after moving our corral (which we did at considerable expense), we would receive a new permit and the health department would come out and inspect. That was last August. The inspection still has not been made. Our corral at that time, according to our neighbor, was "only 45 feet away." It now is well over 100 feet away from any neighbor. The usual requirement is 40 feet.

Our new letter claims that our corral is so muddy that urine couldn't possibly drain. I wonder how many corrals — and any other ground, for that matter — can keep from being muddy in the wintertime unless cemented, and that would be health hazard to the horses. I would also like to point out that there is no ordinance against horses in San Rafael. Legally, our horses can only be removed if they are proven a health hazard. . .

It seems highly unfair that we should have to hire a lawyer to fight the City of San Rafael, who pays its lawyer with our tax money, to answer a charge that is absolutely ridiculous.

America Becomes Land Of Wild Dogs

America has indeed come upon sad times. We have become a nation of cowering half-wits, of wild dogs facing each other across the fire, ready to tear each other to pieces. A beard and an epithet challenge authority with an impunity almost rare in all of history. Ridicule and placard, milling mouthy mobs and stinging pronuclamentoes have replaced the sanctity of accumulated and provem knowledge and religious enlightenment.

The Country Parson

"Mankind is like a huge body with many parts—and a pain in any part hurts all over."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A WEALTHY Grosse Pointe matron, used to having flunkeys jump when she gave a command, was distinctly displeased by the service she received when a sudden illness forced her to spend a fortnight in a large Detroit hospital. While convalescing, she decided to dictate some letters to her private secretary. "I'll push the buttons meant to summon my nurse and my floor doctor," she proposed grimly. "That should assure us of at least a full hour of undisturbed privacy!"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Outcome Of Talks In Paris Will Depend Most On Nixon

WASHINGTON — Don't look to Paris right now to see how the Vietnam peace talks are going. Their direction, in large part, will be decided elsewhere:

1—By the state of the fighting in South Vietnam, where the Viet Cong will be pressing the war to influence the peace.

2—By the state of public opinion in the United States, where the biggest decision of all will be made — whether Washington will go for a soft peace to end the war under any conditions or stand firm for a workable settlement.

3—By the state of mind and political courage of Richard Nixon, who as President will have to decide whether the consequences of giving in will be better or worse than the consequences of holding out against a peace that would lead to a Communist takeover.

THIS MEANS that for sometime the barometer of the peace talks will not be in Paris; it will be in Vietnam, in the United States and, to a very large extent, in the White House. These will be the places to watch to determine what to expect in Paris.

While there are elements of uncertainty in all three of these places, the outlook on balance is favorable to achieving an acceptable peace if the United States shows stamina and patience.

Nothing will move rapidly. Hanoi held out for a month against a neutral capital as the site to begin talks in the first place, then Hanoi took nearly six months to see whether it was going to have to accept some conditions on its part before we would end all bombing of the north. And it was six weeks later before Saigon sent its delegation to Paris. The motion is slow but there is motion.

NEVER OVERLOOK the fact that North Vietnam went to Paris in the first place not because it was winning the war but because it was losing it. Its avowed goal is to bring down the Saigon government so it can take over, and it wouldn't resort to the uncertain course of trying to do it at the conference table if it were succeeding in doing it on the battlefield.

Hanoi lost the Tet offensive and every subsequent offensive. The North Vietnamese know they need a major victory as a negotiating card in Paris and there is no reason to doubt they will seek it in the coming weeks.

But at this stage the military advantages are with the U. S. and South Vietnamese forces and rigorous fighting is to be expected. The stake in such fighting will not be winning a single battle or a series of battles; at stake will be the kind of peace which will come out of Paris.

THE GREATER peril to getting a workable settlement will be in the United States. If the anti-Vietnam critics, the violent protesters, the pacifists and others are so intent upon ending the war fast that they would just as soon throw away the peace with a settlement that invites the Viet Cong to win diplomatically what they couldn't win militarily, they may well be able to keep the nation so divided that they can do so.

But not necessarily. By their militancy — and at Chicago — the anti-Vienam demontsartors gained the image of being more powerfu and more numerous than they are in reality. Dominant opinion, as reflected in all the polls, is clearly for de-escalation, but it does not favor pulling out unilaterally. There already is de-escalation. And one of the main objectives o the peace talks is to brin about the mutual and supervised withdrawal of both Nort Vietnamese and America forces.

I DO NOT believe that th American people as a whol want to see the United State so impatient for a quick se tlement that the result woul be to squander the lives thousands of American soldie by accepting a peace whic thrusts South Vietnam into th hands of the enemy.

Nixon will have to decide. will have to determine wheth he will accept the politic risks at home by resisting t kind of peace which would re on quicksand.

LBJ Still Can Influence United States Tax Policy

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, while he now ranks as a "lame duck" in the White House, has some very important unfinished business on tap for the waning weeks of his administration.

Tax reform and national communications policy are among the issues still to be addressed by the outgoing President. He is expected to send Congress his recommendations on both of them.

The two subjects are among the most complicated in the complex spectrum of federal activities. In the end, however, they come down to such everyday questions as the annual tax bill and the cost of long-distance telephone calls.

UNDER OTHER circumstances, President Johnson's ideas on such questions might carry little weight at this point. The recommendations of another lame duck President might well be labeled file-and-forget. That is not the case this time, however.

Congress formally requested the President's recommendations on tax reform, and a well-defined telecommunications policy will be urgently needed next year when the United States meets with other nations to renew the five-year agreement under which our communications satellites were placed in orbit.

Moreover, President-elect Nixon's new Congress will be controlled by the Democrats, and President Johnson's proposals could be a rallying point for opposition to a part of Nixon's legislative program. If nothing else, the Johnson recommendations are assured a careful reading by Republicans and Democrats in the new Congress.

An all-but-unnoticed portion of last summer's tax surcharge law instructed the President to provide a comprehensive program of tax reform by the end of the year. The tax reform rider was added by a Republican — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, N.Y.

A PACKAGE of tax reform proposals has been prepared by Treasury experts, accord to government sources, a sent to the White House for President's consideration.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ALAN JONES

Christmas Is What Memory Says, And Never Mind The Specifics

Christmas in California, coastal California anyway always seems somehow skewed and wrong for immigrants from Back East.

Christmas, memory lovingly and falsely tells us, is the time when great snowdrifts descend overnight from the heavens and turn the countryside into a white wonderland twinkling away. Rainstorms and blankets of fog just aren't the same thing, though they're a sight eisier to drive through.

Christmas always reminds me of a giant picture that hung in the library in my home town. It was a dazzling white snowy landscape stretching flat to the Kansas horizon under a chill yellow sun. It lowered your temperature 20 degrees just looking at it, and it must have added $30 a month to the library heating bill.

Christmas wasn't really snowy there, at least not often. Most of the snow fell in January and February, and stayed until long after its romance—and whiteness—had worn off.

But memory invents traditions in the absence of real ones. The way to have a white Christmas probably is to dash up to the Sierras after the first good snowfall and take lots of pictures.

A GROUP was sitting around a Sausalito coffee shop the other day talking about Christmas, and it seemed strange in these homogenized days to learn that everyone had slightly different holiday traditions.

"We always used to go to our grandparents' house," one woman said. "We'd leave early Christmas morning and then open all the presents at their place. All we ever opened at home were the stockings."

"We used to open the stockings on Christmas Eve," said someone else. "There were lots of little presents inside and it kept us too busy to tease about opening the other presents."

"My wife's family opened all its presents Christmas eve," said another man. "That way they got to sleep in on Christmas morning without having the children wake them."

"My parents used to get stockings right along with the children," the first woman said. "They had more fun with them than we did."

IN OUR FAMILY we used to get up early and the children got their stockings first thing — oranges, whistles, things like that. That calmed us down enough for breakfast. Then we'd drive to relatives for the day or wait until the rest of the family arrived from all over town about 9 o'clock before we opened the presents.

One or two children were appointed to hand out presents. The really little ones always insisted on helping, and someone had to make sure they didn't break anything, and someone else had to see everyone was getting presents instead of one person having a big stack while the rest waited.

After the orgy of presents there were always thousands of lovely bright wrappings papering the floor, and the grandmothers couldn't rest easy until they had gathered everything up into one giant heap in the center of the room.

Then someone had to watch the grandmas to see they didn't start throwing wrappings in the fire, or someone was sure to lose a $5 bill or a set of handkerchiefs in the blaze.

AFTERWARD, it was obligatory that everyone stream out of doors for picture taking. My childhood is filled with pictures of five and 10 and 20 members of the family, wearing winter clothes and squinting into a fierce morning sun.

After the pictures, the women went for the kitchen to ready dinner (lunch was considered an affected term), and the men and boys sprawled around cracking walnuts, or went for short walks to see if the neighbors were still the same shiftless lot.

Then came dinner, which I recall was vast and varied between turkey and the traditional family dish, chicken and rice (a recipe picked up by a grandfather in the Philippines).

After that the rest of the day blurs into a melange of candy, toys, games in the attic, and a long sleepy ride home in gathering dark.

Trying to remember specifics, it doesn't seem there was ever any snow at Christmas. But try telling that to your memory.

Transactional Analysis Group Names Officers

George Gartzke of Novato has been elected president of Transactional Analysis in Marin for 1969.

Other new officers are Martin Hanzlik, Virginia Kinsella and Colleen Paquette, vice presidents; Peg Lippitt, secretary, and Phyllis Collins, treasurer.

Transactonal Analysis in Marin is an affiliate of the international association in Carmel. The organization was formed around the ideas of Dr. Eric Berne, psychiatrist and author of "Games People Play."

Headquarters in Marin is at the Young Men's Christian Association, 241 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael. There will also be a Mill Valley office at 11 Forrest Street.

Melvin Boyce, who has studied under and been associated with Dr. Berne since 1959, is director of Transactional Analysis in Marin.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Remember 3.5-Acre Pavilion, Then Add Up Fairgrounds Costs

Fusselman

Space last week didn't permit a full quote from the I-J story on the fair, in the issue of Nov. 25. Here it is:

"Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, reported today that the new Veterans' Memorial Auditorium at the fairgrounds is expected to be completed in September of 1969, but improvements of the surrounding area for a full scale fair are not likely to be completed by summer of 1970. A fair, reduced in scope, eliminating garden displays and concentrating on performing and visual arts in the auditorium and its exhibit area, is all that would be possible, he said.

"The administrator suggested a split fair operation in 1970, with a continuation of the garden fair at Ross and an opening of a performing art and visual fair at the new fairgrounds.

"Even with a split fair in 1970 the administrator estimated that $261,000 must be spent on landscaping and improvements around the auditoruim. If garden displays are to be set up at the fairgrounds, about $775,000 would be needed to get the site ready, Campanella estimated.

"The new fairgrounds site will not compare with the art and garden center as a garden setting for many years to come, he added."

THIS COST appears to be $1 million plus. Then, here is something that is not being mentioned:

When the plans for a fairground at the Civic Center were submitted to us, there was included an elaborate building for displays. It would cover about 3.5 acres, as I recall. That would be an area equal to the courthouse grounds plus the area where the old city hall stood, to and including the I-J property on B Street. It seems to me that something like $3.5 million was the tab for that.

The structure would be quite a fancy affair — lots of plastic pylons to support the roof, which was also of plastic.

So, you see this would mean about $4.5 million, which in my opinion is far too much public funds and assets to hand over to a private group of amateurs to play around with. And I might add, the opinion of many taxpayers, judging by the response to last week's column.

THE PARKS and recreation commission and its director are the logical ones to handle this, not Fair-Marin nor the administrator for his outfit is already covering too many bases for efficient operation.

And most certainly the supervisors should be deeply involved in this and should remain as the fair commission. That's the way this whole thing was built up over the years. And we weren't getting anything like $800 a month, let alone the $900 contemplated in two years. As a matter of fact we had far more constant involvement in far more problems than the abdicators of today.

Did you notice Behr's (Supervisor Peter H.) sudden righteousness in rejecting the recommendation at Tuesday's meeting?" Behr tore into the tower concept" . . . "I don't intend to go out of office approving a high rise at the Civic Center complex," says he. Quite a remarkable late bloomer, don't you think?

Session Reset

Study Finds California Officials Lagging Other States On Salaries

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The salaries of the state's top executives may be in for revamping upward, if the report of the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy in February is followed by the state Legislature.

Governor Ronald Reagan and the state Legislature directed that a study be made of the salaries of the top executives, such as the Highway Patrol commissioner, and the directors of the Department of Public Works, Department of Mental Hygiene, Department of Public Health and Department of Social Welfare.

Preliminary reports, by the state personnel board, indicate that California's salaries for the executives range to as much as 34 per cent below salaries paid in comparable departments in New York and other cities and states.

The board report declares this as "the most glaring inequity and inconsistency in the state salary structure" and suggests that salary lag is becoming increasingly significant.

In New York, the department heads average $34,556 annually while California's executives get only an average of $25,727.

Even compared with Los Angeles and San Francisco city posts, the state's top men lag behind in salaries. The state's director of the Department of Public Works gets $25,727 while the same post in Los Angeles County gets $32,820; Los Angeles city, $31,104; San Francisco $33,036; and New York the same director gets $35,500.

Systematic review and updating of executive salaries are called the "major deficiency" in the state's personnel program.

The report will be made to the Legislature on Feb. 1.

Burglars Use Glass Cutter To Enter Strawberry School

Eight burglaries, including a school break-in during which thieves used a glass cutter to gain entrance, were reported yesterday by the Marin County sheriff's office.

The school was Strawberry Point School at 117 East Strawberry Drive, which lost a tape deck, a tape recorder and three phonographs, deputies said.

Sheriff's investigators said the culprits used a glass cutter to break through a portion of a school window and thus gain entrance.

Other burglaries reported included:

Theft of a television, camera, watch and binoculars from the house of Mrs. Ralph Howard Hilton at 107 LaVerne Avenue, Homestead Valley, Tuesday. The thieves ransacked the house, she told deputies.

Theft of a portable radio and a television from Clifford B. Wren-Karvis's home at 354 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, the same day.

Theft of a $200 television set and a clock radio from the home of Robert C. Scheidemann at 109 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, Tuesday.

Theft of $200 cash from Doris E. Long's house at 60 Stuyvesant Drive, Sleepy Hollow, Monday.

Theft of two portable radios, worth $300, from the home of Arthur F. H. Jorgensen at 510 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, Monday.

Theft of lamps and bed spreads from two rooms at the Fountain Motel at 155 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, sometime Sunday.

SWAN REACHES PEACOCK GAP—FINALLY

Peacock Gap residents (left photo) lug the community's new male mute swan to the community lagoon after the bird completed its troubled journey today from England. The bird was delayed, diverted and quarantined by customs officials to the dismay of residents looking for a companion for the female on the lagoon. John Shiner, president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, leads the party (center, left) and desposits the swan in the lagoon (center) with Charles Dechent, another Peacock Gap resident. Jetliner Crashes In Shark Water

CARACAS (UPI) — Rescue boats operating among swarms of sharks off the coast of Venezuela radioed today there were no survivors in the crash of a Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 jet which hit the sea in a ball of flames last night with 51 persons aboard.

The plane had left Kennedy International Airport in New York at 5:10 p.m. (EST) yesterday and plunged into the sea as it was approaching Caracas' Maiquetia International Airport on a nonstop flight. The last word came from the pilot who radioed at 9:05 p.m. he would need no maintenance in Caracas.

The plane was reported to have exploded in flight and Venezuelan Navy rescue officials said "there are no signs of life" at the scene, 16 miles off the coast. They found emtpy rubber rafts and fragments of wreckage floating on the sea.

Crews of the rescue boats said they had found 13 bodies—seven women, five men and two children—and that some of the bodies had been molested by sharks.

They reported "swarms" of sharks at the scene of the crash.

In Washington the National Transportation Safety Board said first information indicated the crash was within Venezuelan jurisdiction and would be investigated by Venezuelan authorities. Otherwise a team of safety board investigators would take charge. Investigator Pat Grimes flew to Caracas today.

He will be assisted by advisers from the Federal Aviation Administration, Pan American, Boeing, Pratt and Whitney and the Air Line Pilots Association.

The control tower at Maiquetia said it lost contact with the Pan Am jet at 8:59 p.m. EST, minutes before it was due to land.

The jet was approaching at 1,000 feet when tragedy struck.

Pan American spokesmen in New York sad the plane, Flight 217, sent no message that it was in trouble.

Among the passengers, mostly Venezuelans, were Mrs. Antonetti, Luis Beltran Gonzalez, president of a Venezuelan advertising agency, and two Cuban citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Toscano of Fairlawn, N.J.

When news of the crash spread to the waiting room at Maiquetia, panic gripped those waiting for the flight to arrive. A doctor treated several persons who fainted at the report.

It was the first crash of a plane making an approach to Maiquetia airport and the first of a Pan American plane in Venezuela.

Both the airport and the port of La Guaira are on the coast some 20 miles from Caracas which is inland.

Transport Official, Zucker Argue Over Freeways Need

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The director of a $5 million study of all forms of transportation in the Bay Area yesterday told a legislative committee that freeways are going to remain the principal solution to transportation problems.

Richard Zettel, director of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, said population growth cannot be stopped, "and those people are going to demand transportation services, and private cars and freeways are going to provide most of those services."

Zettel's testimony before the Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee rebutted Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who had just told the committee that state gas tax funds should start going to improve public transportation.

Both Marin and San Francisco have agreed the "overriding goal" is to preserve their environment, said Zucker. "Longer commuting times, higher commuting costs, or use of other less convenient travel modes than the automobile can be tolerated if there is something left worth coming home to," he told the committee, which met here

TIMING, SECRECY CRITICIZED

Span Board Elects New Officers

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors today elected William Moskovitz of San Francisco as board president for 1969, despite objections that several new directors will be on the board next month.

Director Stephan C. Leonoudakis, noting new legislation will add four directors at the end of this month, said, "We'll have a far more representative body in January. The whole complexion of our board will change, as will some of our basic policies, and we'd be making a big mistake not to put this off until January."

Leonoudakis' motion to postpone the election, however, lost in a 9-4 vote. One of Marin's two directors, George H. Ludy of Inverness, among those to be replaced at the end of the month, voted against his motion. Marin's other director, Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere, was absent.

Lowell Edington of Napa County moved up from second vice president to first vice president, the position held during the past year by Moskovitz, and Daniel F. DelCarlo of San Francisco was elected second vice president.

The vote on the three came after a five-member nominating committee met briefly to recommend new officers.

The nominating committee, which included Ludy, at first decided to meet behind closed doors but opened the meeting after an Independent-Journal reporter broke into the meeting and objected that they were violating the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Leonoudakis asked if he could make other nominations, was told he could, but did not.

Leonoudakis voted against Moskovitz and Edington's election but for DelCarlo.

Moskovitz will replace John E. Nelson of Mendocino County.

Strife-Torn San Francisco State Closes Week Early For Holidays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Strike - troubled San Francisco State College will close for the Christmas holidays after today's classes, one week ahead of schedule, Acting President S.I. Hayakawa announced.

Dr. Hayakawa, who reopened the college Dec. 2, said the early shutdown for the holidays was due in part to the fact city schools were letting out after today. He said, "The safety and welfare of the young people who might be attracted to the campus is a grave concern to the administration and faculty of the college."

He said there also would be more time to implement the Black Studies Department for start in the spring semester in February, and that the spring class schedules were destroyed in a fire last night, so they must be redone.

To make up for the extra week, he said the present semester will end Jan. 31 instead of Jan. 24, and the spring semester will end June 11 instead of June 4.

The announcement followed a relatively quiet morning during which there was fighting on a picket line and police made four arrests.

Meanwhile, student strike leaders flatly denied today charges "outside agitators" were involved in the campus uproar at San Francisco State College.

The denial came in a news conference called by the Student Strike Support Committee to deplore police tactics on the campus — scene of sporadic violence in the past six weeks. The college's president has contended off-campus agitators participated in the strike. (See picture page 14 and Sonoma State College and College of Marin stories, page 25.)

"We say the real outside agitators are the police forces," said Alex Forman of the Students for a Democratic Society. Forman was joined by Charles Rasmussen, another SDS leader, and Howie Cohen of the Young Socialist Alliance.

"Our struggle has encouraged students at other state colleges, such as Long Beach State, San Diego State and Sonoma State, to fight the racist, reactionary policy of the board of trustees," Rasmussen said.

About 70 students from Sonoma State joined picket lines yesterday. Both Long Beach and San Diego State have had forums to discuss the San Francisco State crisis.

"We are calling for people from throughout the Bay Area, and students, to come to the campus Monday in a solidarity move," Forman said. "We expect large numbers from the high schools which will be closed for Christmas vacations."

The strike leaders also reaffirmed their support for "non-negotiable" demands issued by the Black Students Union. They said "the strike will go until" all demands are met.

Efforts by civic and labor leaders to mediate the crisis have been rejected by Gov. Ronald Reagan and state college trustees.

"I don't think there is any mediation needed," the governor said in Sacramento yesterday. "This is not just the hijinks of over-enthusiastic students. This is insurrection."

Classes resumed quietly this morning as officials found that a small overnight fire had destroyed schedules and room assignments for next semester.

The fire in the Administration Building, a main target of striking students, was of undetermined cause and did little damage.

Reagan endorsed the stand of Theodore Meriam, of Chico, chairman of the trustees, who said problems on the 18,000-student campus must be solved by the board without intrusion by outsiders.

A short time later, a spokesman for the trustees and Chancellor Glenn Dumke confirmed that Meriam's stand clearly indicated their position — and that of acting president S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State.

However the Academic Senate, which represents the school's 1,100 faculty members, formally asked Hayakawa to

LBJ Lauds Relations With Mexico

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson today cited U.S.-Mexican relations as an example of how nations should settle their differences as he triggered a dynamite-explosion finale to a century-old border dispute.

Johnson, in remarks prepared for delivery at the dedication of the Chamizal bridge connecting El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, credited former President John F. Kennedy and former Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos with the vision to settle the border problem peacefully.

Also participating in the ceremony was President Gustavo Ordaz of Mexico.

Youths, Girl Admit Thefts Countywide

Alert San Rafael Citizen Trips San Francisco Gang

Four San Francisco teen-agers were arrested yesterday allegedly burgling a San Rafael home and later told police they had committed a dozen burglaries in Marin the past month and stolen over 20 cars in San Francisco.

The youths, one of them a 15-year-old girl, were caught because a citizen heeded the public appeal made last week by Chief Charles J. Chiesa to report any suspicious persons seen loitering in residential areas, police said.

The four San Francisco youths who also included 15, 16 and 17-year-old boys, named six other youths from there as burglary and auto theft companions at one time or another.

The four, now being held in Marin County Juvenile Hall on burglary and auto theft charges, were caught while taking a gold pocket watch, a woman's ring, a man's Elk ring, and some change from the residence of John M. Brusati at 28 Tampa Drive, police said.

They also confessed to last Friday's burglary of the San Rafael residence of William A. Welch at 66 Coleman Drive, police said. Two rifles, a television set and a stereo phonograph were taken.

Police said a woman called them about 11:48 a.m. yesterday saying that a neighbor had told her the three youths were loiter-

Children Gaining Parents' Ear?

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Yale University chaplain, says middle class suburban Americans may at last be listening to their children.

That's because they are threatened with losing them, he said in a speech yesterday at Brown University.

The younger generation is divorcing itself from adults "who refuse to live up to their religious ideals or even take them seriously," Coffin said.

Four Teeners Accused In Thefts Spree

A band of suspected burglars from Redwood High School, including the 16-year-old son of Tiburon Mayor William R. Bremer, was uncovered yesterday because of a teacher's suspicion that one of her students was high on marijuana.

She sent the boy to the principal's office. Stolen money was found in his pocket and he admitted burgling one school and implicated three boys in burglaries at four other schools, according to Inspector Charles Prandi of the sheriff's juvenile division.

Prandi said the first boy, Steve C. Negoesco, 17, of 18 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, had $150 in his pockets and some of it was identified as loot from a safe burglary at San Clemente School in Corte Madera Wednesday night. He was high yesterday on synthetic marijuana, Prandi said.

Prandi said Negoesco broke into the school and pried open the safe, getting away with approximately $300.

The discovery of Negoesco's crime led officers to the solution of four other school burglaries in Belvedere, Strawberry and Corte Madera, Prandi said.

The suspects in those crimes, according to Prandi, are Mark R. Bremer, son of the Tiburon Mayor; William J. Bailey, 16, of 14 Mariner Court, and David E. Watson, 16, of 129 Mariner Court, both Corte Madera.

The boys allegedly admitted

IF THEY 'REPENT'

Cong's Paris Spokesman Offers Pardons To Saigon Leadership

By ARTHUR L. GAVSON

PARIS (AP) — Taking a page from her Saigon adversaries, the Viet Cong's chief peace delegate says it will embrace even President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky if they repent.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh said in an interview the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front is prepared to work with officials of the Saigon regime if they make amends for their "crimes against the South Vietnamese people."

Said the 41-year-old woman revolutionary:

"Those in the puppet army and puppet administration at any level who have committed crimes against the people but are now sincerely repentant will be pardoned. Those who redeem their crimes by meritorious deeds will be rewarded accordingly."

Asked if this applied to such leaders as Thieu, Ky and Premier Tran Van Huong, she added: "Anyone, regardless of his past, if he realizes the new situation and participates in the common struggle for national liberation will be received and welcomed."

Thieu, Ky and their associates have said repeatedly that any and all members of the Viet Cong and the NLF are welcome in their fold if they renounce the Communist cause and swear allegiance to the Saigon government.

In answer to another question, Mme. Binh asserted there can be no real peace in Vietnam until the Americans stop bombing and fighting in the South and show willingness to withdraw from the country.

NGUYEN THI BINH
Tells her view

"The essential thing is that the American government shows it is willing to stop its aggression and to withdraw its troops," she said. "The other issues will depend on that main question."

Asked to clarify whether agreement on the political future of South Vietnam must precede any cease-fire, she avoided a direct answer. But again she stressed that peace will be restored "as soon as the American government is willing to stop its aggression and withdraw its troops."

She also sidestepped most other questions relating to the posture the NLF will take when the expanded peace parley begins to roll.

The interview took place in the drawing room of the NLF delegation's rented villa in the suburb of Verrieres. A large gold-starred, blue-and-red NLF flag hung from the balcony outside, and French security police were on guard inside and outside the house.

Mme. Binh spoke softly but without hesitation in Vietnamese. A pretty Vietnamese girl acted as her interpreter, but was clear Mme. Binh knew enough English to follow the questioning. At times she used her hands to emphasize a point. Occasionally she chuckled when something amused her.

She was emphatic in rejecting the attempt by the United States and South Vietnam to give the conference a two-sided appearance, with the NLF sitting as part of Hanoi's delegation.

It is "essential for the Front" to sit with the "status of an independent and fully equal participant," she said, because the NLF is negotiating not as a supplicant but "in a victorious position."

She also appeared to rule out talks outside the conference between members of her delegation and Saigon's men.

"If the representative of the Saigon administration wants to give any viewpoint," she said in answer to a question, "let him do it in the four-party conference."

Mme. Binh declined to estimate how long it might take to achieve the reunion of North and South Vietnam.

"Reunification will be realized step by step through peaceful means," she said, adding that it will be reunion "on the principle of negotiation between the two zones without either side using pressure against the other and without foreign interference."

How about the future relationship between Vietnam and the United States?

"You're thinking about the beautiful future," she replied, her face lighting up. "We want friendly relations with all countries on the basis of equality and mutual respect. And we accept aid without any political conditions, and when we say that we include the United States."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Tree Lighted

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller Center Christmas tree was lit last night continuing a tradition begun 36 years ago by a crew of construction workers at the midtown Manhattan unit.

Elephant Ride

BANGKOK (AP) — President Johnson's daughter and her Marine major husband took a lurching ride atop a Thai elephant yesterday and judging from broad smiles liked the experience just fine.

Lynda Bird and Charles were flanked by ground-bound secret service men, a couple of whom showed a bit of apprehension as the wooden chair platform on the elephant's back swayed heavily from side to side. Robb at one time looked a bit dubious about the ride, but joined Lynda Bird in large smiles most of the way.

Mao's Thoughts

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — What are the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung for Christmas?

"Self-reliance and arduous struggle," according to the inscriptions on two Christmas toy cars police picked up yesterday in a raid on a local shop.

Other thoughts of Mao have been found printed on Christmas wrapping paper collected by the police this week.

"On the surface these toys and other imported articles look harmless," said Asst. Home Minister Hamzah Bin Abu Samah. "On closer scrutiny, one could see they were sent with a purpose — a subversive purpose."

Applauds Post

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace congratulated industrialist Winton M. Blount yesterday on his appointment as postmaster general in President-elect Richard M. Nixon's administration.

Wallace, a third-party candidate for president, telegraphed Blount: "Alabama is very proud of you and I am certain that you will be a credit to President Nixon's administration."

Blount, a Montgomery resident who heads one of the nation's largest construction firms, is a Republican who frequently has disagreed with the former governor on politics.

Transplant Issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, who performed two of the earliest heart transplant operations, says that any organs remaining in good shape after death should be saved for possible transplants.

"It is not right," Kantrowitz said yesterday, "to bury other good organs when a man dies. They should be considered part of the nation's natural resources and used for the living."

Kantrowitz, director of surgery at Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn, testified before the temporary Comission on Vital Organ Transplants.

State Supreme Court Justice J. Irwin Shapiro, commission chairman, said a chief aim is to establish safeguards so "the desire for a heart does not hasten a finding of death, when death has not occurred."

Protection Call

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says more police protection and harsher penalties for lawbreakers are needed in Harlem.

Vincent Baker, chairman of the NAACP's anticrime committee, said yesterday: "With people here being beaten, robbed and murdered, something should be done about crime right now."

"The attitude toward crime and criminals must change" in Harlem, Baker said, adding: "There are people known to cheer when some offender rushes from a store" with stolen merchandise.

Finally Listening?

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rev. William Sloane Coffin, Yale University chaplain, says middle class suburban Americans may at last be listening to their children.

That's because they are threatened with losing them, he said in a speech yesterday at Brown University.

The younger generation is divorcing itself from adults "who refuse to live up to their religious ideals or even take them seriously," Coffin said.

Dual Professorship Offer To Humphrey

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The University of Minnesota and Macalester College are expected to offer Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey a dual professorship and he is expected to accept.

There are strong indications the offer will be made at a meeting of the university Board of Regents today. Humphrey, a Minnesota graduate and former teacher at Macalester, will visit Minneapolis-St. Paul during the weekend.

The Minneapolis Tribune, in a copyright story from Washington, said that Humphrey also has signed a contract with Doubleday and Co., New York, to write one or more books on his career and political philosophy. The contract was said to call for a fee of more than $100,000.

Humphrey graduated from the university here in 1939 with a bachelor of arts degree and magna cum laude honors. Later he earned a pharmacy degree from the Denver College of Pharmacy and a masters degree from the University of Louisiana.

In 1943 and 1944 he taught political science at Macalester College in St. Paul before launching a political career as mayor of Minneapolis in 1945.

Officials of the university and Macalester declined to confirm the reports about the faculty post in advance of today's meeting.

Teaching at the two institutions will offer sharp contrast in size for Humphrey, who is expected to live on or near one of the campuses. The University of Minnesota, with more than 45,000 full-time students at Minneapolis-St. Paul and other branches, is one of the nation's largest. Macalester, with about 2,000 students, is a liberal arts college founded by a Minnesota pioneer Presbyterian minister and educator.

Humphrey, who has a home at Waverly, Minn., 40 miles west of Minneapolis, has not renounced his own political ambitions nor his leadership of the Democratic Party.

Many political observers expect him to remain in close touch with politics in his own state and work a healing touch in the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party here. The DFL has had two hectic internal struggles in as many years, the latest coming this year when Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy challenged the Johnson-Humphrey administration.

HIS OWN OLD FAITHFUL

Warren C. File, a Greenville, Ill., farmer has a problem—a salt water geyser on his farm that erupts every 15 minutes. The geyser was born as a result of a midwestern earthquake on Nov. 9. Under state law he cannot permit the salt water to flow into a nearby creek. He dug a basin to collect the water, but it is almost full. His next course is to have the well plugged at his own cost. Brazil's Congress Rebuffs Demand For Deputy's Trial

RIO DE JANEIROO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil's armed forces were put on alert today amid reports of widespread disagreement within the government and military about how to react to a defeat at the hands of the usually meek congress.

President Arthur da Costa e Silva conferred with civilian and military aides late into the night after the Chamber of Deputies rejected military demands that a dupty be put on trial for criticizing the military.

There were reports that the deputy, Marcio Moreira Alves, might be stripped of his political rights by the government.

The government, with more than a 2-1 majority in the Congress, had not anticipated serious opposition when, under pressure from the military, it asked that the deputy's immunity from prosecution be lifted.

The congress rejected the motion, 216 to 141.

Mary Hemingway Loses Round On Hotchner Book

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The widow of author Ernest Hemingway has failed in her attempt to block the sale of A. E. Hotchner's book, "Papa Hemingway," a biography based on conversations with the famed writer.

Mary Hemingway's suit to stop the sale on the grounds that publication of the book violated her copyright ownership was dismissed yesterday by the state court of appeals.

The state's highest tribunal said conversations can be reported—within limits—unless the speaker designates otherwise.

The book—described by Hotchner as a "factual and truthful story based on tape recordings and notes that were taken with the knowledge of Mr. Hemingway"—was published in 1966 by Random House.

Hotchner was a close friend of the author until Hemingway died in 1961 of a self-inflicted shotgun blast.

Mrs. Hemingway said the book invaded the privacy and violated the confidential relationship that existed between her husband and Hotchner.

The court, in an opinion written by Chief Judge Stanley Fuld, said that "Hemingway's words and conduct left no doubt of his willingness to permit Hotchner to draw freely on their conversation in writing about him and publishing such material."

But he added:

"The indispensable right of the press to report what people have done, or what has happened to them or on what they have said in public does not necessarily imply an unbounded freedom to publish whatever they may have said in private conversation, anymore than it implies a freedom to copy and publish what people may have put down in private writings."

44 Arrested In Vice Raids

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police swept through San Francisco's Tenderloin yesterday, arresting 44 persons. Six were listed as male prostitutes.

"This is the first time we have specifically included male prostitutes," said inspector Edward J. Nevin of the vice squad after the roundup.

There were 32 females arrested and six other men in addition to the male prostitutes, police said.

All were charged with loitering or soliciting in public places.

Civilian 'GI Bill' Proposal Hit By National Student Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal that the federal government provide direct financial aid to students has drawn opposition from an organization representing many of the nation's state universities and colleges.

In a report issued in New York yesterday, the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education proposed that the federal government increase its spending for education from its present annual level of $3.5 billion to $13 billion by 1976, partly to provide direct aid to students through a loan bank.

Officials of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges said the report was disappointing. Any increased federal spending for education should go directly to the schools, who could then pass the benefits on to the students, they said.

Russell I. Thackery, executive director of the association, which represents 100 public colleges and universities, said his group is sympathetic to the report's hope for providing aid to disadvantaged students.

But he said the Carnegie plan ignores the institutions themselves for the purpose of widening educational opportunities for all qualified students.

He said that increasing federal aid to the schools themselves would enable them to cut the costs for students.

"That would mean that a vast majority of qualified students could go to college without the bureaucracy which will be essential to administer any program of direct financial assistance to students," Thackery declared.

"If funds are channelled through individuals, there is a chance that many institutions which already are operating at substantial losses will be inclined to raise costs and charges more rapidly," Thackery said.

The reaction to the direct federal aid proposal, from other educators was uncertain.

Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California, a private school, said "I think there's merit in the idea . . . But whether or not this (financial) burden should be placed on the federal government, or state and local government, I don't know."

The president of another private school, Paul R. Anderson of Temple University, indicated he thought increased federal spending should be allocated between the colleges and the students, but with the students getting the larger share.

The opposition to the loan plan was supported by Wisconsin University President Fred Harvey Harring. "It's a good report," he said, "but a great many of us (university presidents) feel it should have included institutional grants."

Petaluma Gets New Cub Pack

The Cherry Valley School Parent-Teachers Association, Petaluma, has organized the newest Cub Scout pack in the Miwok district, according to David Rice, district scout executive.

Pack 106 will serve 20 boys in the Cherry Valley School area and will hold its first meeting on Dec. 27. Cubmaster William Gonigle will be assisted by Richard Condon and Dale Cheney. Den mothers are Mrs. Jerry Fowler, Mrs. Betty Oleson, Mrs. Patrick Flynn and Mrs. Marie Waldner. Mrs. Robert Roumas is assistant den mother.

Committeemen include Dr. David Amundsen, chairman; Edward Gary, Roy Tingley and Robert Merrill.

A ROBOT WITH VICES?

Sabor V, a robot capable of smoking, drinking, dancing the samba, firing weapons, playing cards, and answering questions in several languages, weighs 587 pounds and stands 7 feet, 5 inches tall. The mechanical monster was the sensational main attraction at a German technical show last year. Sabor V is predicted as a commonplace item for A.D. 2000—But it still requires a human operator to feed it instructions.

State's Angel Island Plan Held Too Costly

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state plan for development of Angel Island is too expensive and would wreck the natural beauty of the island, representatives of conservation groups told the state Park and Recreation Commission today.

Among the speakers at a hearing on the plan was Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, who said he represented five other conservation groups such as the Marin Audubon Society and the Sierra Club.

Gregg charged that commercial enterprises such as restaurants, motels and auditoriums mean overdevelopment. He said that 10,000 people on the island at one time and overnight camping facilities planned by the state was definitely an overuse.

He asked for preservation of natural beauties on the 820-acre island.

He was backed by Howard Allen, president of the Marin Audubon Society, who said that a marina on the island would be unnecessary.

Irwin Luckman, representing Save the San Francisco Bay Association, said having up to 10,000 people per day on the island would be "horrendous."

Pierre W. Joske, director of Marin parks and recreation, asked the state park commission to set a public hearing in Marin sometime early next year. He said the county commission had not taken an official stand on the development.

William Penn Mott Jr., state parks director, said many of the comments were valid and that he will take them into consideration. One decision already made is that Mount Livermore, the highest peak on the island, will not be used for a restaurant facility as originally planned but would be retained as an "inspirational overlook" with the only access being foot trails.

He said the marina project may have been misunderstood. He explained that a marina would be only for docking of visiting boats, not for weekly or monthly rentals.

The commission took the testimony under submission.

490 Passenger Airplane An Economic Miracle?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Behind the huge doors of an assembly plant built in a fir tree forest sits a hoped-for economic miracle—the 490-passenger Boeing 747.

The biggest and fastest commercial airliner ever built, the jumbo jet's backers claim it will start an aviation revolution that will range from fare cuts for the passengers to a profit bonanza for its builders.

The plane was rolled out of a hangar in Everett, Wash., Sept. 30, amid the crash of champagne bottles. But the toughest phase of the multi-million project lies just ahead. The 700,000-pound giant and its 4,500,000 parts must be screened in flight for the slightest flaw.

LINES OPTIMISTIC

From what they know about the plane now, the airlines are betting heavily on its success.

So far, Boeing has orders from 27 airlines for a total of 160 planes, each carrying a $20 million price tag. Boeing plans a production run of nearly 350 of the planes through 1975. If the plane lives up to its designer's hopes, that sales curve is expected to go up to 600, the plane's backers claim.

Along with the rise in sales goes a substantial benefit to the U.S. balance of payments problem. Commerce Secretary C. R. Smith was quick to point out that foreign airlines already have contracted to buy $1.5 billion worth of 747's.

What do the Airlines expect from the 625-mile-an-hour plane? Simply put, they want it to transport large masses of passengers at low operating cost.

COSTS LOWER

Boeing claims the plane will do just that. The direct operating cost per seat-mile—the cost of flying the 747 one mile divided by the number of seats available—will be about 30 to 35 per cent lower than the present Boeing 707 jetliner, a mainstay of many airlines. Boeing has promised this type of operation even though most airlines plan to carry about 365 passengers on the super jet, not the full 490 possible under an economy seating arrangement.

SOME CRITICS

Despite its predicted rosy future, the plane has its critics. They say the huge investment needed to buy the planes will prevent airlines from cutting fares in the near future.

They also claim that nation's airports are not ready for the 747. They predict mammoth congestion problems at terminals. Nor do they accept the idea that the plane's huge passenger carrying capacity will cut down the number of planes crowding the airways. They claim that at best the jumbo jets will be able only to hold the airway congestion at its present level because of the great rise in passenger travel predicted for the 1970's.

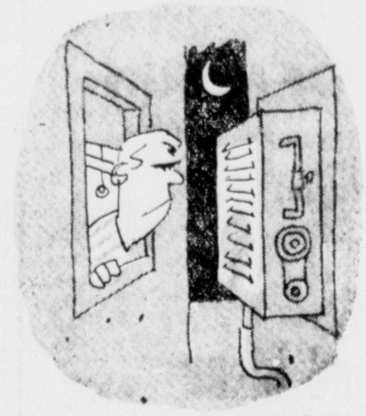
LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Keeping Cool Proves Costly



Harry was a real cat. He just could not stand the warm summer weather. And so he bought the biggest air-conditioner he could find for his new home.

His neighbor, Sam, liked Harry's house, but not after hearing the air conditioner going on and off all night long. During the day, the unit's noise just blended in with neighborhood background noise. But at night it bothered Sam's sleeping.

Sam asked Harry to get a small unit or turn the big one off after ten at night. Harry refused. Poor Sam and His wife had baggy eyes and frayed nerves. Their health suffered.

Sam sued, and won a judgment from Harry for $3,500 for damages to his health, and got the court to order Harry to turn off his unit from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. Or else.

Sam's sound engineers showed that Harry could have cut the noise of his unit without warming his house much. In fact, Harry had made unreasonable use of his home area and annoyed his neighbors. An owner has quite a lot of freedom to use and enjoy his land, but in doing so, he cannot unreasonably interfere with his neighbors' enjoyment of his.

In short, Harry created a "nuisance" which a court injunction can stop.

Such nuisances are public nuisances when they violate the zoning laws, health codes, or building restrictions. A person with more animals around than the health codes permit is causing a public nuisance. Under the state law, a fence needlessly higher than ten feet, built to annoy neighbors, in called a "spite fence." It is illegal.

A noisy or smoky plant might be all right in a commercial district but not in a residential. To be a nuisance, an act must be unreasonable for its own vicinity.

Bat Clout Victim Is Reported Fair

William G. Dinsmore, 35, of 135 Central Avenue, Corte Madera, was in fair condition in Marin General Hospital today with head injuries suffered when he was clouted early yesterday with a baseball bat.

Dinsmore, who suffered a cut scalp, told sheriff's deputies his wife beat him over the head with the club during an argument, according to the sheriff's report.

New Group To Check Rioting

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A new team of social scientists at the University of California has been set up to move as fast as policemen and newsmen to investigate riots as they happen.

The crisis research team is directed by Rodney Stark, a research sociologist, and funded by a grant from the Ford Foundation.

"Although many research efforts are being directed to the endemic crises over authority which afflict the nation, there has been a critical lack of close-up observation and study of such events as they occur," Stark says.

Construction Site Materials Stolen

The Cummings Construction Co. of Rohnert Park reported $270 in materials was taken from a construction site at G and Seventh streets, Petaluma, sometime Tuesday night.

Police said the haul included 300 two by fours. The wood was painted green on one end and stamped "Hollow Tree."

$175,000 Raised

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A candlelight dinner last night honoring Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco raised an estimated $175,000 for the Archbishop McGucken Community Center near Occidental, Sonoma County.

ing on her Coleman Drive property.

Responding to the call, Inspector Richard A. Douglas spotted two cars by the Brusati home and when he passed by, the girl, stationed in one car as a lookout, honked the horn three times. Douglas, advised that the car was stolen, then moved in.

Assistant Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori, who came on the scene, caught one boy on a hill by the Brusati home. Officer Henry W. Ingwersen arrested the other two on Robert Dollar Drive. The girl was apprehended in the car.

Police declined to identify the suspects because other youths were sought.

One of the burglars today was showing Marin County sheriff's deputies the homes they claimed to have burgled elsewhere in Marin.

in the State Building.

Zettel, however, argued that a growing population "is going to spread itself around. Whether Marin County likes it or not," and the lack of high density population areas will mean that freeways will serve this population better than public transit.

Zettel is a former member of the staff of Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, known as "the father of California freeways."

The BATS recommendations on transportation needs in the Bay Area are to be presented to the 1969 Legislature.

stealing approximately $4,000 in audio-visual equipment from the schools in a burglary glut Monday night. They used a glass cutter and pry bar, tools of the professional burglar, to break into the schools, Prandi said.

The loot, found in the bedrooms of the boys, included movie projectors, tape recorders, slide projectors, and phonographs, the inspector said.

The inspector said the boys, who have never been in trouble in the past, told him Bailey cased the four schools Sunday night, noting the routines of the night watchmen.

On Monday night they committed the burglaries, cutting through windows with the glass cutter, then reaching in to trip the latch. They had to stop after two schools and go back for a second car, they told Prandi. The first car was too noisy.

The schools they allegedly burgled were Granada and Marin Country Day Schools in Corte Madera, Belvedere School and Strawberry Point School.

The boys, all from Redwood High School, were to come to the sheriff's office for talks with Prandi today. The inspector said they would be cited to juvenile probation authorities.

Battle Of The Bands Slated In Mill Valley

OBITUARIES

Augustus Reyes Dies At 52

Augustus Reyes, 52, of 428 South McDowell Road, Petaluma, owner of the Roseland barbershop, Santa Rosa, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a short illness.

Born in El Modeno, Orange County, he moved to Escondido where he was graduated from the city schools. A veteran of World War II, Reyes served in the Coast Guard. After his discharge, he played professional baseball in the Arizona-Texas League for many years.

Reyes had lived in Petaluma for seven years and was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

He is survived by his wife, Ann; a son, Bruce Reyes with the Navy; a daughter: Barbara Reyes of Oceanside; his father, Leo Reyes Sr. of Escondido; six brothers, Alphonso Duron of Phoenix, Ariz., Leo Reyes Jr. of Sebastopol; Williams Reyes of Carrollton, Tex., Gilbert and Joseph Reyes of Escondido, and Gustavo Reyes of Redondo Beach, also three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Andrews, San Diego; Mrs. Sally Granados, Costa Mesa, and Mrs. Alice Wilson of Escondido.

Funeral will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Recitation of the rosary will be at 8 p.m. Sunday at the McCleod Mortuary, Escondido. Burial will be at Oak Hill Cemetery, Escondido.

appear before it today to explain precisely what that position is.

Hayakawa, a member of the English department since 1954, has not attended meetings of the Academic Senate since he was appointed acting president Nov. 26 and reopened the embattled campus under a "get-tough" policy with police support.

His policy continued yesterday as 14 persons were taken into custody, bringing to nearly 100 the number of arrests since the school reopened Dec. 2. But there was little of the violence which marked the first week of his regime, when members of a 600-man police force clashed repeatedly with militant demonstrators.

The rejections by Reagan and the trustees came on an offer by the San Francisco Labor Council to join with a committee of civic leaders in an effort to seek a solution to the problems on campus.

They stemmed from a strike called by the Black Students Union to support a series of demands, including the reinstatement of Black Panther English instructor George Murray, who was suspended for urging that guns be carried on campus.

Additional demands were made later by another minority group, the Third World Liberation Front.

Several leaders of the BSU and the TWLF were taken into custody Wednesday on warrants issued for their activities last week.

Among those arrested Thursday were Gene Marchi and John Levin of Students for a Democratic Society, engineering professor Art Heers, and George Gorner, the strikers' guitar-playing troubadour.

The arrests were made as striking students and about 80 members of the American Federation of Teachers picketed the campus. The AFT, which represents about 250 faculty members, has threatened to strike Monday unless school officials enter into the off-campus mediation efforts.

JOHN DENNIS

Private funeral was held Wednesday for John Harry Dennis, 92, of Daly City, father of George C. Dennis of Novato and one-time sports figure in the Bay Area.

Dennis, a resident of the San Francisco Peninsula since 1898, died Monday at a convalescent home in Daly City after a long illness.

Dennis was lightweight boxing champion at the Olympic Club in San Francisco at the turn of the century and later was superintendent of the old Coursing Park in Colma. He was superintendent of Tanforan race track in the 1930s.

Surviving are three other sons, Edward J. and John H. Jr. of Daly City and Robert M. Dennis of Valley Ford, Sonoma County.

Funeral was at Crosby-N. Grey and Co. in Burlingame, and entombment at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

MARGARET LAVIN

Margaret Lavin, 98, of 19 Howard Street, Petaluma, died early today at a Petaluma convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Born in San Francisco, she had lived in Petaluma for more than 60 years. Miss Lavin had been employed as a housekeeper for many area families. She was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Petaluma.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

OLIVER DeWITTY

Funeral for Oliver Benjamin DeWitty, 57, of Marin City, will be at 10 a.m. Monday at Russell and Gooch funeral chapel, Mill Valley.

DeWitty, of 419 Drake Avenue, died Tuesday at a Temple, Tex., hospital after a long illness. He was an employee at the Navy net depot until forced to retire by illness. He was an Army veteran of World War II.

A native of Austin, Tex., DeWitty had lived in California 25 years and in Marin City 22 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mary E. DeWitty of Marin City; three sisters and two brothers in Austin, Julia Russell, Eliza Ake, Bettie Woods, Mose A. DeWitty and Booker T. DeWitty, and a third brother, Elijah H. DeWitty of Los Angeles.

Friends may call at Russell and Gooch after noon Sunday. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. The family prefers contributions to the tuberculosis association or the heart fund.

NOW THREE MILES LONG

The underway trans-bay tube of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District has reached a length of three miles with the lowering yesterday of the tube's 47th section onto the floor of the San Francisco Bay. Only 10 more sections remain to be submerged and connected before the east-west bay segments (dotted line) of the tube are linked together sometime next April. Already the longest underwater transit tunnel in the world, the tube will be the key link in BART's 75-mile rail rapid transit network. (UPI Telephoto)

Committee Studies Hub Sixth Grade

San Anselmo School District's citizens advisory committee is considering study toward converting the district's two intermediate schools to accommodate sixth graders.

The schools, Red Hill and Hidden Valley, now serve seventh and eighth graders.

At its organizational meeting Wednesday, the committee felt it should look into the philosophy of having schools for sixth through eighth grade students before making building financing recommendations, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The idea will be presented to the school district board Tuesday, and the board will decide whether committee study should proceed in that direction, Parodi noted.

If not, the committee will study building needs under the present system, which has K-6 in primary schools and seven to eight in intermediate schools.

About 30 persons attended the committee session, Parodi reported. There was no chairman elected, and no date set for the next meeting, but it will probably be in "two or three weeks," he said.

The committee study follows June 4 defeat of the district's $510,000 bond issue, which would have provided funds for a six-classroom unit at Red Hill School, a multiuse room at Hidden Valley and site work at Sleepy Hollow School.

To be studied are the possibility of calling for another bond proposal or obtaining a bank loan which could be financed by a tax rate increase, Parodi said.

Lights Contest In Mariner Cove

The Mariner Cove Improvement Association will have its ninth annual Christmas lighting contest the evening of Dec. 23, reported William J. Ridyard, president.

There will be three prizes of 125 each, he said, one for best religious, one for most effective use of lights and one for originality.

Lt. Lee Larson of the Corte Madera Fire Department discussed the future of fire protection in Corte Madera at an association meeting Wednesday night, Ridyard said.

Raymond Naan and John W. Nichols were named co-chairmen of the association's annual April dinner meeting.

SANTA'S SUPERGIFTS

Tired Of The Usual $4 Christmas Tie?

CHICAGO (AP) — As most Christmas shoppers agonize over $4 ties and $5.98 blouses, a few are considering $3,000 miniature silver pagodas and $500 tablecloths.

Those two items might show up on a well-heeled super-Santa's shopping list this year.

The foot-high silver pagoda, suggested for use as a centerpiece, has greenery in the center.

The rabbit fur tablecloth is round and reaches to the floor.

A stroll through some chic shops and a look at catalogues also uncovered the following:

A jewel-of-the-month plan which, for $273,950 gets the recipient a piece of jewelry "every month like clockwork" for one year.

A $25,000 aquarium containing, instead of pebbles, cultured pearls. A few fish also are thrown in. — A sterling silver shovel, man-sized and capable of lifting a load of dirt costs $1,200.

Zebra skin luggage goes for $2,300. The catalogue calms any conservation-minded buyer with the note: "The American government commissions hunters to thin out over-populated herds of zebras, for preservation of species."

A $1,000 mink throw to toss over one's legs while watching television or snuggle toes in at a football game.

Livlier gifts: A $3,000 Bengal tiger cub, $3,500 baby whale or a $4,400 baby elephant.

A pair of porcelain thrushes priced at $3,500. Should that be too dear, there's a crested fly catcher for $1,650.

A $900 chess set which prompted a sales clerk to remark: "It doesn't even come with a table; just a board."

A $600 beer stein bearing the German motto: "It takes a real man to drink this." For a lesser sum, a $125 martini pitcher.

A $500 Danish pipe.

For junior, the usual bicycle arrangement of handlebars and front wheel pulls a bronze, leather-covered, cinderella-sized carriage which seats three passengers. Price: $795.

$10,000 To Aid Windmill Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The federal government is putting up $10,000 to back a plan by a group of schoolboys for restoring windmills in Golden Gate Park.

Ed McDevitt, Recreation and Park Department acting general manager, said yesterday the government was putting up the money for a study.

Restoration of the windmills which once watered the park is expected to cost $150,000 and has been turned down repeatedly by the Board of Supervisors.

A plea for restoration was made last month by students at the Stuart Hall School for Boys.

Liberty City Rocked Again By Violence

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A brief but violent outburst of missile-throwing erupted in Miami's Liberty City area late last night ending a period of relative calm in a community racked by three nights of racial rioting during the National Republican Convention last August.

Dade County officers rushed to the predominantly Negro area after receiving reports that a car driven by two white men was being stoned, and were met by thrown rocks, bottles and other missiles, authorities reported.

MINOR INJURIES

Two officers received minor injuries and six youths were arrested before the disturbance was calmed.

Area residents, complaining that officers used excessive force and unnecessary measures to halt the outbreak, met through the early morning hours with top-ranking members of the county police force.

A group that included Robert Simms of the City-County Community Relations Board had demanded to see Sheriff E. Wilson Purdy and County Manager Porter Homer. A spokesman for the city said Purdy and Homer probably would not talk to the delegation until later today.

Neighborhood residents accused the deputies of entering homes without warrants, threatening innocent bystanders and unnecessarily breaking property while dispersing a crowd gathered near Northwest 26th Avenue and 65th Street.

NO COMMENTS

There were no immediate comments from the sheriff's office on the accusations.

The sheriff's office said the trouble began after a car occupied by David Anderson, 18, and Robert Williams, 19, both of Hialeah, was struck by two rocks and part of a brick.

Two deputies, Edward Lausche and Henry Weatherspoon, were the first officers sent into the area. Both reported they were struck by boards, bottles and a hammer while attempting to arrest one youngster allegedly involved in the rock-throwing.

Women Shake Up Commons

LONDON (AP) — Young women in nurses' uniforms shattered the serenity of the House of Commons today by shouting protests about working conditions in British hospitals.

The House was debating a bill to curb exports of British ponies when one woman jumped to her feet at the back of the public gallery and shouted: "I want to talk on behalf of the nurses. The nurses want some support."

Surprised legislators watched from their green leather benches as guards forcibly removed a half-doezn women from the chambers. Some women linked arms in their seats and had to be dragged out.

EXHIBITED — Artist Ada Garfinkel of 936 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, has been represented in "Drawings U.S.A., 1968," a biennial national competition. The exhibit will be shown at the St. Paul Art Center, Minn., through Jan. 15.

Mother, Infant Doing Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy and her newborn daughter remain in good condition, Georgetown Medical Center reported today.

A spokesman said Mrs. Kennedy, widow of the slain senator from New York, spent a restful night after giving birth by Caesarean section yesterday morning.

The baby, still to be named, has been moved to the regular nursery from an incubator, the hospital said.

Machine Gun Pair Arrested

WATSONVILLE (AP) — Two men from nearby Aptos have been arrested on a charge of possessing a machine gun — a converted French weapon of World War I vintage.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang, in announcing their arrests yesterday, said they had negotiated with state undercover agents for the sale of the gun.

Held in the Santz Cruz County jail in lieu of $6,500 bonds were Jerald W. Franks, 40, a welder, and his son-in-law, David H. Thorne, 34, a salesman.

Chang said that in the house where they were arrested agents found 15 rifles, 19 hand guns, 500 rounds of ammunition and 14 large knives.

Five Arrested In Drug Raid

UKIAH (AP) — An undercover investigation at Ukiah High School led to the arrest of five persons on narcotics charges, Police Chief Donn Saulsbury said yesterday.

Charges of sale and conspiracy to sell marijuana were filed against Ernest R. Cassells and Donald R. Moore, both 19 and from Ukiah, Miss Tony Long, 19, of Redwood Valley, and a 17-year-old juvenile whose name was not disclosed.

Charged with suspicion of possessing marijuana was Dennis King, 18, of Ukiah.

Ross Set To Rescind Home Occupation Law

A majority of the Ross Town Council last night indicated it will rescind a controversial ordinance which allows home offices for doctors, dentists and musicians.

The ordinance, passed in 1962, was questioned last month by council members and town residents when the council reluctantly approved the first use permit under the measure, despite heated protests by neighbors.

The use permit went to Dr. Robert H. Herrick to open an office at his home at 37 Southwood Avenue. It is to be reviewed after one year.

"I've never been sympathetic to home occupations," said Councilman Roy Farrington Jones last night. Another councilman, Dr. W. James Dawson, agreed, adding, "We're a residential town, and home occupations should be eliminated."

Councilman Natalie G. Lewis said she had received many telephone calls from citizens since the November meeting, "and none of them like the ordinance."

Mayor Frederick S. Allen also agreed most home occupations probably should be eliminated, and appointed Mrs. Lewis and Jones to study ordinances of other cities to see how a stricter ordinance could be drawn for Ross.

Amendment of the zoning ordinance, however, would not eliminate any existing home occupations, Allen said. Some home occupations still would be permitted, he added.

Public hearings probably will be held in February on the amendments, the mayor said.

Only Councilman Jack Carney questioned the need for changing the ordinance. "Most of us do some business at home, and I just don't see where it has become a problem," he said.

The Ross Town Council Also:

BURNING HOURS — Declined to change trash burning hours from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. to 7 a.m. to noon to conform with a proposed uniform countywide regulation. Councilmen objected the change would restrict homeowners who burn leaves that otherwise would have to be cleared from street gutters at city expense.

FIREMEN — Adopted a resolution setting 65 as the retirement age for volunteer firemen.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Appointed Carney and Allen as the town's representatives on the City-County Planning Council, and Jones as an alternate representative.

REAPPOINT — Conformed Allen's reappointment of F. William Mosden to a two-year term on the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board.

VARIANCE — Granted a variance to Grace G. Barry to reconstruct a garage, which was destroyed by fire, on a foundation only 18 inches from a property sideline on Shady Lane.

Hub's Chamber Nominates Slate

Jeremiah V. Sullivan, manager of the Wells Fargo Bank in San Anselmo, was nominated yesterday for president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce. He lives at 7 Lodge Lane, San Rafael.

Outgoing president is William Franchini. The nominating committee also named Ralph Manella for vice president and DeWitt Mason for treasurer.

The election will be at 12:15 p.m. Jan. 2, at a location to be announced. The next chamber meeting is at 12:15 p.m. Thursday at the Pepperwood restaurant, Red Hill Shopping Center.

No Leashes On 'Civilized' Dogs Of Ross

Dogs in the Town of Ross don't need a leash law because they are more civilized than dogs in the rest of Marin, the Town Council agreed last night.

"I don't see any reason at all for change," said Councilman Roy Farrington Jones as the council dropped consideration of a countywide animal control ordinance. The ordinance, to be effective July 1, 1969, in Marin cities which adopt it, also increases license fees and fines.

The tone of the council's response was set by a man in the audience who said, "We have more civilized dogs than Novato."

Councilman Natalie G. Lewis conceded that "there are quite a few people who are complaining, and I can sympathize with them," but she also agreed there was no need for a leash law, "though I know we (the Lewis family) have the worst darn offender in the county."

The council voted unanimously to table the matter.

Clinic Removal Spurs Protest In Marin City

Marin City Council members were miffed last night after hearing reports that a family planning clinic was pulled out of the community without notice to residents.

The council agreed to request the Marin County Public Health Department to restore the service which was offered Tuesday nights at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Don Shilling, pastor, said the equipment was removed about two or three weeks ago without notice to him.

Council member Collie Gaines said she heard a report that the clinic was moved because there had been incidents of crime, adding "they asked for protection from the sheriff's office and were refused."

Public health officials could not be reached for comment today.

Council members agreed to ask the Marin City Community Services District, to investigate the reported lack of protection by the sheriff's office.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., council chairman, said it was up to the community to demand respect for persons and property and not tolerate criminal acts. "We can't have a policeman on every corner," he said.

The council also heard complaints from residents about speeding cars and youths loitering and gambling at the commercial area, and suggested the complaints also be presented to the CSD.

Probation Set In Bat Stabbing

Neils Hyrum Hansen, 46, of Petaluma, who stabbed two men during a San Anselmo tavern scuffle March 10, was sentenced to state prison in Marin Superior Court yesterday, but the sentence was suspended.

Judge Harold J. Haley instead placed the ex-convict on five years of probation and ordered him to serve a year in jail and quit drinking as conditions of that probation.

Hansen pleaded guilty to two charges of assault with a deadly weapon for stabbing John Capley, 30, and Eugene Paine, 43, both of San Anselmo, after an argument over a $1.75 taxi bill.

The windiest spot on earth is Adelie Land at the South Pole, where the average wind velocity is 50 miles per hour.

Newspapers Ask Approval For Joint Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court approval of joint operations between newspapers to preserve their editorial competition has been urged by newspaper publishers in 16 cities.

"A joint operating plant is the only feasible way," the publishers said in a brief filed yesterday, "to preserve competition in cities which cannot support two completely separate newspapers."

The court has agreed to hear next year an appeal from the Arizona Star and Tucson Daily Citizen over a federal court ruling that some aspects of their joint operation violate antitrust laws.

Antitrust laws are aimed against creation of monopolies but the publishers argued their application to joint newspaper operations ironically would bring new newspaper monopolies.

Kenyatta Warning

NAIROBI (UPI)—President Jomo Kenyatta issued a new warning yesterday against what he called "foreign meddlers and subversives" and against drunkenness which he said was the "No. 1 enemy" spoiling the nation.

Local Housing Study Urged In Marin City

The Marin City Council agreed last night that the newly formed local group, Development Corop. of Marin City, should consider assuming ownership of a proposed housing development.

The idea of local ownership came before the council after Richard M. Adams, representing the private California Development Corp., told of plans to develop a low to moderate cost apartment project on the south side of Donahue Street in the Buckelew Street area.

California Development Corp. is under contract to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency to develop the housing, Adams explained.

Present plans are for a 77 to 84-unit apartment project similar to the existing Oak Knolls apartments in Marin City. However, they would require higher rent than Oak Knolls, Adams said.

Adams asked if the council or any organization in Marin City would be interested in owning and operating the project.

Councilman Ronald Foster said the Development Corp. of Marin City would be the appropriate group to consider taking ownership. Council members agreed that corporation directors should take it under study.

Adams conceded that federal funding for the project might not be available, but there might be federal funds for other housing projects in the area.

Ulysses J. Montgomery of San Francisco, planning consultant to the local development corporation, was asked what benefit local ownership would bring to the community.

"The main benefit is that the community will have done something," he replied. "It's yours, you created it and there's a sense of satisfaction in helping the community to grow."

The first step is to study the idea in depth, "find out the best way and whether it should be done now or at all," Montgomery said.

Daniel Hayden Sr., a council member and corporation director, reviewed the corporation's proposal for development of a commercial building or buildings on between Highway 101 and Donahue Street, to the rear of the existing gasoline service station.

Initial plans are for a building to house the present businesses in Marin City and possibly some other service businesses and ultimately have a two to two-and-a-half acre shopping area, he said.

He estimated that the initial project would cost from $200,000 to $250,000, including utilities, paving, landscaping and land costs, and said the corporation is hoping for funds from the Small Business Administration.

He emphasized that the corporation will be locally owned and controlled and said directors are studying a way to have every Marin City resident have a share of ownership in the commercial center.

The council lacked a quorum so no official action was taken. The Dec. 26 session was canceled and the next session set for Jan. 9 at 8 p.m. at Manzanita Center.

Absent were Barbara Douglas, Susie Edwards, Horace K. White, Helen Washington, Ephorn Freeman Jr. and Perison Knighten. Margaret Beauchamp had to leave early because she was ill.

Hooded Gunman Takes $20,000 In Jewels, Furs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gunmen made off with an estimated $20,000 in jewelry and furs list night after invading the St. Francis Wood home of Harold Dobbs, former supervisor who owns a chain of drive-in restaurants.

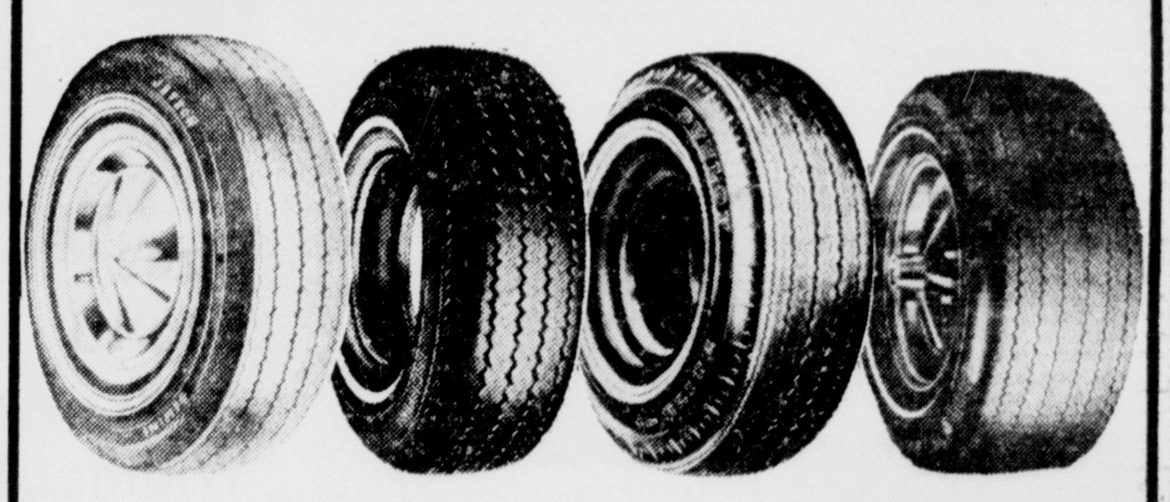
While Dobbs and his wife, Annette, were at a friend's house playing gin rummy, the pair of hooded men forced their way past their son, Rusty, 16, into the Dobbs' 16-room mansion.

They tied Rusty and his sister, Cathy, 14, with wire and then ransacked the home, taking jewelry from Mrs. Dobb's cabinet, a mink stole and a mink jacket.

Mrs. Dobbs, who returned home before her husband, was also tied up by the gunmen, one of whom wore a loose black scraf into which eye holes had been cut and the other a red scarf.

After ripping out all five telephones in the Dobbs house, the pair fled. The captives freed themselves, drove to a neighbor's and called police.

TIRES? AT CHRISTMAS?



I know what most people think! But have you ever thought of this? Tires are something you have to buy anyway — so perhaps as a joint family gift you could buy a little better tire than you normally would consider. This would give you much better tire wear and much safer service while you are getting the extra wear. Cain's handles several sensational quality lines and I'll put them in bold print:

MICHELIN X • PERELLI • DUNLOP • GOODYEAR • JETZON

Within these lines are some of the best rated tires ever. I'm not going to waste a lot of space listing prices, but it is a well known fact that Cain's always quotes the lowest prices possible. AND I will really deal now, because we aren't all that busy. Because people always say TIRES? AT CHRISTMAS?

U.S., Hanoi In Dialogue Over Seating

PARIS (UPI)—American and North Vietnamese negotiators met today in secret to discuss a new allied compromise proposal for getting the expanded Vietnam conference under way.

Cyrus Vance, deputy chief of the American delegation, met with his Hanoi counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, shortly after 3 p.m., 7 a.m. (PST). Site of the conference was not disclosed.

Procedural disputes over the seating of the four delegations have delayed start of the talks.

Hanoi was reported demanding a square table with a side each for the North Vietnamese, the Viet Cong, the United States and Saigon.

The new plan was reported to include two semicircular tables to avoid giving recognition of the Viet Cong as would be implied by putting its delegation at a square table.

Both the United States and the South Vietnamese government refuse to recognize the Viet Cong as a separate body.

As the meeting got under way, Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the sharp-tongued representation of the National Liberation Front, the political branch of the Viet Cong, accused Washington and Saigon of "deliberately sabotaging the conference" by intensifying their "war of aggression."

"They do not want to end their aggression in South Vietnam," Mme. Binh told a luncheon of diplomatic correspondents. "The do not wish to bring peace to Vietnam."

Her statement coincided with reports in Saigon the Communists were massing for possible new attacks on Saigon and other cities.

Lau attended the luncheon but hurried away for his meeting with Vance, Hanoi sources said. The Americans do not confirm such meetings until after they are over.

The North Vietnam delegation said it had been invited by American diplomats to study the U.S.-South Vietnamese plan later today.

U.S. Bombers Pound Enemy Around Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers made their heaviest attacks in two months during the past 48 hours, striking at enemy troops north of Saigon amid strong indications today that the Communist command is preparing a new offensive there.

More than 100 of the big high-altitude bombers dropped 3,000 tons of explosives from noon Wednesday to noon today. A U.S. spokesman said it was the heaviest B52 effort since mid-October.

Reports from field commanders said there are strong indications that the North Vietnamese are preparing thrusts into key areas leading toward Saigon. But no significant ground fight was reported anywhere today.

In the latest B52 missions last night and today waves of the eight-jet Stratofortresses blasted base camps, bunkers, supply depots and infiltration corridors, and maneuvering troops.

Aerial observers reported one strike set off 11 secondary explosions, indicating direct hits on ammunition stores.

The raids were in an umbrella pattern stretching from jungle infiltration routes 75 miles northwest of Saigon to within 27 miles northeast of the capital.

U.S. intelligence sources say 15,000 to 25,000 North Vietnamese troops, and perhaps even 30,000 are deployed along a 100-mile stretch of the Cambodian border in the arc.

U.S. analysts in Washington reported yesterday that there are strong indications Red troops, north of Saigon, are preparing for a new winter offensive. Also another 20,000 to 25,000 North Vietnamese have been moving in from Laos with Hue, the old imperial capital at the northern end of Souht Vietnam as their goal.

Meanwhile, Vietnamese police and military staffs in Saigon remained on 100 per cent alert after intelligence reports indicated the enemy may step up terrorism and attempt suicide squad attacks on allied installations to commemorate an anniversary.

The Communists celebrate Dec. 19, the anniversary of the first Viet Minh attack in 1946 on the French in Hanoi.

Six Vietnamese civilians were reported wounded today when a grenade exploded in front of a house under construction in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon. Authorities said it had not been determined whether the blast was the work of Viet Cong terrorists. They said the house was being built in an alleyway and there reportedly had been a neighborhood dispute about locating it there.

Military spokesmen reported nine enemy shellings overnight, the most serious at Sa Dee, a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta 67 miles southwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters said enemy gunners fired eight rounds into Sa Dee, killing seven soldiers and wounding 14 soldiers and eight civilians.

Semester Fee Of $2.50 Urged For Damage Costs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A student newspaper at San Francisco State College today proposed a new fee of $2.50 a semester to pay for damages caused by student demonstrators.

The Phoenix, a weekly published by journalism students, called for creation of a "student self-help" fund in an effort to improve the image of the college among the state's voters.

The editorial said any unspent money would be turned over at the end of the year to financially troubled programs like black studies and special admissions. A $2.50 fee would bring in about $90,000 a year.

Firemen Elect New Officers

The Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association last night elected Albert Badour president for 1969.

Edward W. Allison was chosen as vice president; Edward S. Lewis, secretary; Guy Rockey 111, treasurer, and Donald L Lenhurr, sergeant-at-arms.

Directors chosen were Lewis Robert S. Harder, Harlan Carpenter, Fred Roemer and Henry Pierroz.

The association also scheduled its Christmas party for volunteers, their children and grandchildren at 7 p.m. Thursday at the fire station.

56th Transplant Case Dies; Texas Eyes Law

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One heart recipient died yesterday, another suffered a stroke and a Texas state representative announced the state legislature would consider the nation's first law setting rules for organ transplants.

Milton Wackstein, 54, of Flushing, N.Y., the most recent transplant recipient of Dr. Denton A. Cooley, died yesterday at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in Houston when his body rejected the borrowed heart, doctors said.

A hospital spokesman said Wackstein, an industrial engineer, began to show signs of rejection Wednesday and desperate measures to reverse the rejection with greater dosages of antirejection drugs failed.

In Stanford, retired airline pilot Darrell Hammarly, 56, the world's only surviving double transplant patient, suffered a stroke. However, a spokesman at Stanford medical center said he was doing "satisfactory" late yesterday.

Hammarley, of San Jose, received a second transplant Nov. 21 about six hours after the first operation. Dr. Norman E. Shumway performed the surgery.

Wackstein's death left 41 heart transplant survivors in the world. Fifty-six recipients have died.

The announcement the Texas legislature would consider the landmark bill setting organ transplant rules came in Dallas.

"Other states are looking to Texas before they introduce similar legislation," said Rep. Fred Orr, a Dallas Democrat who wrote the bill.

Orr said he believed Cooley and Dr. Michael DeBakey, transplant surgeon at Methodist Hospital in Houston and pioneer in development of heart assist devices, would favor the bill's introduction.

Reagan Will Name Finch Successor Before Jan. 6

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he will name the man who will succeed Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch before the Legislature convenes Jan. 6.

But the Governor declined to discuss the names on the list of persons he is pondering.

Finch was appointed by President-elect Richard Nixon as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the new Republican administration.

Reagan said he had "purposely held off narrowing the list down" until Nixon made official his appointment of Finch, which had been an open secret.

Finch said he will not resign until after Jan. 6 and intends to preside at the opening of the 1969 state Senate. But Reagan said he would designate a successor before the Legislature opens to insure a smooth transition in the office.

The governor's announcement that he would appoint a successor before Jan. 6 was the first indication of a timetable to select the person.

Science Museum Part Of Proposal For Empty Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —A museum of science and technology and a musical workshop were suggested yesterday to the city's recreation and park commission for the Palace of Fine Arts, a $7 million structure without a purpose.

Commissioners referred to committee the proposals for a museum by Dr. Frank Oppenheimer and for a workshop by Charles Cooper.

Dr. Oppenheimer, a University of Colorado professor on leave, is backed by a group of San Francisco, including Walter S. Johnson, retired businessman who donated $2.3 million to help rebuild the palace. The rest of the $7 million came from the city and the state.

The palace was built of wood and lathe for the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition and its rebuilding in concrete was completed in 1967.

Drake Foundation Sets Reno Outing

Reservations are being taken for the Sir Francis Drake High School Scholarship Foundation's second annual Reno tour in March, according to Mike Convis, president.

The trip is planned for March 8 and 9, with proceeds to be used to help finance scholarships awarded by the foundation.

This June, Convis said, a graduating senior from Drake will be awarded a new scholarship, which will be given by the parents of Marilyn Meyers, a Drake student who died in Paris last summer.

TALK OR ELSE

A South Vietnamese interrogator, apparently in an angry mood, grabs a Viet Cong guerrilla's hair and threatens to hit him with a rifle following the enemy's capture this week. The guerrilla was flushed from an underwater hiding place in the Mocay district of the Kien Hoa province, 60 miles southwest of Saigon. He had been with a small band of guerrillas that fired at American helicopters bringing in Vietnamese troops. (AP Wirephoto)

Education Division Revamping Advances

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A plan to drastically revamp the state Department of Education has been unanimously accepted by the state Board of Education.

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, called the plan a "long-needed move" which would give the state "the most thoroughly modernized, streamlined state department of education in the world."

Although he voted for the plan, board member Dorman Commons warned the board that the new blueprint for reorganization does only "part of the job" of making the department more efficient.

He said the proposed plan achieves only partly what was envisioned seven years ago when reorganization was first considered.

The plan must still be approved by the Legislature.

The reorganization plan, approved yesterday, would create new divisions within the department and authorizes an assistant superintendent for Southern California and a new deputy superintendent and departmental controller.

The board's action ended months of bickering among members, who have met in Los Angeles and San Francisco on the reorganization plan.

Earlier this year, the board was prepared to accept a $250,000 private survey report submitted by Arthur D. Little, Inc., as a blueprint for reorganization.

New board appointees, placed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, sent the Little report and other plans to a board committee for recommendations. The committee made its recommendations yesterday.

Santa Venetia Crash Injures Teen Driver

David L. Wagoner, 16, of 10 La Brea Way, Apt. 27, San Rafael, was treated for a broken left arm yesterday afternoon after his car spun and overturned on North San Pedro Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Wagoner pulled out of the Santa Venetia School parking lot under high acceleration, lost control, and the car spun into the ditch in front of the Rodef Sholom synagogue.

Meeting Reset

The Village Square Association of Corte Madera, scheduled to meet yesterday, will instead meet at 8 a.m. Thursday at the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce office, 500 Tamalpais Drive.

Unruh To Bypass Speaker's Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh said yesterday he will not seek re-election to that post in view of the 41-39 majority the Republicans now hold in the Assembly.

Unruh discredited rumors that he had enough votes to deny speakership to the majority leader, Robert Monagan, R-San Joaquin.

"I have no plans to run for speaker," Unruh said following a caucus of 24 Democratic assemblymen in Los Angeles to plan strategy for the next session of the Legislature.

Assemblymen who took part in the session declined to discuss its nature. Another caucus will be held in Sacramento Jan. 5.

Assemblyman John Quinby, D-San Bernardino, said he wants Assemblyman Robert Badham, R-Orange, to challenge Charles Conrad, R-Los Angeles, for the post of speaker pro tem. Conrad was the choice of the recent GOP caucus. Quimby said he is soliciting support for Badham among Democrats and is "encouraged with the results."

Greenbrae Sets Contest For Yule

The Greenbrae Property Owners Association's annual Christmas home decoration contest will be held Thursday, reported Richard R. Dresel, president.

There will be eight cash prizes awarded with a top prize of $50.

At an association board meeting Wednesday, undergrounding of utilities in Greenbrae was discussed, Dresel reported. It was decided to request the utility companies to make a sample study of a block to determine approximate undergrounding costs to individual home owners, he reported.

Must Answer Charge

Edwin Michael Richmond, 20, and Steven Riall Moore, 21, both of Lagunitas, were held to answer in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of selling marijuana to a state narcotics agent. They were ordered to appear Dec. 23 in Superior Court to answer the charge.

CAMPUS STRUGGLE CONTINUES

A demonstrator tangles with a policeman during the continuing turmoil on the San Francisco State College campus. There were several brushes between dissident students and police yesterday and a total of 16 arrests. (See story on page 1.)

Two Jailed, Third Sought As USC Killing Suspects

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Police arrested two men today in the slaying of a University of Southern California freshman freshman, knifed Monday outside a fraternity house. Officers said they are hunting a third.

Booked on suspicion of murder were George W. Jordan Jr., 26, described by police as a missionary, and Douglas Lorenzo Turnbeau, 30, a salesman. Officers said they lived together near the USC campus.

Bryan Clay, 18, of Honolulu was stabbed after he stepped outside the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house where he was a pledge. Witnesses told police he was accosted by three Negroes, one lunged at Clay, then they fled.

Clay staggered to the door of the fraternity, then collapsed. He died in a hospital of heart and lung wounds.

Officers said Jordan was arrested at County Jail last night where he was in the sheriff's custody on another charge they declined to specify. Turnbeau was arrested two hours later. Both are Negroes.

Police did not identify the third man sought.

Miss Bankhead's Last Rites Set

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — Private funeral services will be held for actress Tallulah Bankhead at noon tomorrow at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

St. Paul's is a small country church eight miles south of this town on Maryland's Eastern Shore. Miss Bankhead had visited in this area; her sister Eugenia had a farm here.

Miss Bankhead died yesterday in New York of pneumonia.

Memorial services are to be held Monday at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church in New York City, at 3 p.m. EST.

Nixon, Business Chiefs Confer On Efforts To Help Urban Poor

NEW YORK (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon met with a top-level group of urban affairs experts today to discuss efforts by private businesses to help the urban poor.

The president-elect met for an hour and a half with the steering committee of the Urban Coalition, including David Rockefeller, who is chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank; Whitney Young Jr., Urban League; Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City; John W. Gardner, former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary and chairman of the Urban Coalition; Andrew Heiskell chairman of the board of Time, Inc., and co-chairmen of the coalition; I.W. Abel, steelworkers union president; Arthur Flemming, president of Macalester College; Arthur Naftalin, mayor of Minneapolis, and Bayard Rustin, civil rights advocate.

The group met briefly with newsmen following their session and said they found Nixon keenly interested in their organization and objectives.

The Urban Coalition, born out of the 1967 riots, seeks to funnel private business activities into ghetto areas, to help solve social and economic problems. It also is very active in pushing legislation to relieve the plight of the city poor.

Nixon met with the group shortly before a luncheon session with his personal envoy, former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who returned Wednesday from a six-nation tour in the troubled Middle East. Also sitting in on the meeting was Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser, William P. Rogers, who will be Secretary of State, and columnist Walter Lippman.

Gardner said his group discussed with Nixon areas in which effective action to eliminate troubles in the ghetto could be pursued. He said they talked specifically about housing, and that Nixon showed a great interest in the coalition which "has a very live grassroots network" of 39 separate coalitions.

He shied away from giving an opinion on whether Nixon would move quickly enough and put enough emphasis on city problems. He said the president-elect's "black capitalism" plan for spurring economic growth in Negro areas had not yet been discussed by the coalition, and he had no opinion on it.

Nixon was slated to meet in the afternoon with Sen. Henry M. Jackson a powerful Democrat who was reportedly his first choice for Defense Secretary. A Nixon spokesman said they would discuss defense matters.

Laird Pays Call On Ike To Discuss Defense Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin Laird visited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and arranged his first business meeting today with Clark Clifford, the man he will succeed at the Pentagon.

Two other members of the Nixon cabinet also started work on the transition of government by conferring with the present officers.

Herbert G. Klein, director of communications for the incoming Nixon administration, said Laird wanted to "confer on (Eisenhower's) views on coordinating the Defense Department."

Robert Finch, named to be new welfare secretary, had a luncheon session set with Secretary Wilbur G. Cohen at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, while George P. Schultz also planned lunch with the man he will succeed, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz at the Labor Department.

Klein said the other nine Nixon cabinet appointees had left Washinrton to attend to private affairs before starting transition discussions with the present cabinet officers and other Johnson administration officials.

Klein made public an exchange of letters between Clifford and Congressman Laird which he described as typical of those taking place during the transition period.

Clifford has set up an office in his own suite for Laird's use and offered to supply Laird, "in whatever detail you wish, reports on the current situation and on future prospects as we see them."

Similar offices have been set up at HEW for Finch, Klein said.

He said the Nixon cabinet designees would be commuting between Washington and New York City where they would consult with Nixon's staff on filling various posts in the new government.

Asked about his role as overall communications director for the new administration, Klein said he would assist the new secretaries in selecting information personnel but "the final decision will be made by the secretary."

Suspect Accused Of Fatal Arson

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—An 18-year-old youth was arrested today and charged with arson and six counts of homicide in a hotel fire which claimed six lives earlier this week, police said.

He was David Allen Raush, who was held without bail pending a preliminary hearing Dec. 26.

Police said four other persons were being sought for allegedly setting the general alarm blaze which caused an estimated $200,000 damage to the Midtown Hotel.

Sonoma State Slates Dance, Jazz Workshop

The Sonoma State College dance workshop will present a program in conjunction with the college jazz workshop at 8:30 p.m. Dec. 19, 20 and 21 at Ives Hall.

Both part of the Center for Performing Arts, the groups will perform individually and together.

Under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Dunwoody, the dance group will perform "Seven Studies on Themes by Paul Klee," with music by Gunther Schuller. Paintings will be projected on stage as a dance backdrop.

"A Telemann Fantasy" by Walter Oster will be presented in conjunction with a film prepared by the dance workshop. "Bach Partita No. 1" will be presented by the jazz workshop along with several original compositions. Oster directs the jazz group.

Schools, Factories Feeling Flu Impact

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The spreading Hong Kong flu epidemic has forced the closing of some schools and colleges and raised absenteeism in business and industry.

It even prevented a New York City woman from being present when her husband was named a member of the new Cabinet.

The absent Cabinet wife was Mrs. Maurice Stans, whose husband was named secretary of commerce Wednesday night by President-elect Nixon.

Reached at her home yesterday and asked about the Washington events, Mrs. Stans said, "I didn't make it. I have the Hong Kong flu. I am one very sick cookie."

The new strain of flu has spread from Los Angeles—where officials say almost 300,000 adults and children are absent from work or school—to New York City where Adelphi University in suburban Garden City canceled undergraduate classes until Jan. 5, saying, "The Hong Kong flu has hit."

The Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point began Christmas vacation eight days early after about half the 728 midshipmen were stricken.

The National Communicable Disease Center said deaths from pneumonia and influenza have exceeded normal expectations and termed the flu outbreak an epidemic. The center said outbreaks of flu and respiratory diseases from 30 states have been reported, with Hong Kong flu confirmed in 14 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia.

Actress Tallulah Bankhead, 65, died yesterday of pneumonia which developed after she came down with the flu.

Here's a rundown on what effect the flu has had on some areas of the country:

California—Los Angeles county health officials say the epidemic is expected to reach a peak between Dec. 17 and Christmas. Gov. Ronald Reagan's voice is husky and he's coughing frequently. All members of the police department have been immunized. In San Diego, four judges, eight court clerks and five court reporters are out sick. Schools in Los Angeles reported absentee rates of 10 to 25 per cent, instead of the normal 5 to 6 per cent.

Michigan—Two Catholic schools in Detroit were closed because of flu and a spokesman for the public school system said 13 per cent of the students were absent yesterday. The normal absenteeism rate is 5 to 10 per cent. Chrysler Corp. reported "a significant increase in absenteeism," and a General Motors Corp. employee said, "You could tell something was wrong. The expressway traffic was too light this morning." Classes at public schools in suburban Livonia, Mich., were canceled after 150 students came down with the flu.

Illinois—Hospital administrators in Chicago said employee absentee rates were four times as high as normal and warned outpatient services at some hospitals might have to be curtailed.

Massachusetts—College infirmaries are reported filling up, although no schools or colleges are closed. Dr. Nicholas J. Fiumara, director of the state's division of communicable diseases, predicted 30 per cent of the people in the greater Boston area would get the flu when the epidemic reaches its peak—expected around the first of the year.

Washington, D.C.—The Hospital Council of the National Capitol area asked for voluntary restrictions on hospital visitors, warning that visitors can bring flu to hospitalized patients in weakened condition.

Virginia — Randolph-Macon College for women at Lynchburg was closed yesterday because of more than 100 cases of flu-type illness. Hollins College at Roanoke, Lynchburg College, Woodberry Forest preparatory school and two public schools closed earlier because of flu outbreaks.

Washington State—Fort Wright College in Spokane dismissed classes yesterday for Christmas vacation, which had been scheduled to begin next Tuesday.

Wisconsin—In Milwaukee, two private schools were closed after flu outbreaks and public school officials reported teacher absenteeism running 365 to 400 a day compared to the normal 75. City Health Commissioner Dr. E. R. Krumbiegel said three-fourths of Milwaukee's population would have Hong Kong flu by Jan. 1.

Montana — Flu cases rose by 1,134 in the past week with near epidemic status reported in several cities. Montana State University in Bozeman reported 800 flue cases in the past 10 days.

Probation Set On Tax Charge For Marinite

SAN FRANCISCO — Michael Sabena, 48-year-old Mill Valley painting contractor, was given a suspended one-year sentence and fined $10,000 today in U.S. District Court for failing to file an income tax return in 1964.

Judge George B. Harris said that he was "inclined to sentence" Sabena to jail for the maximum term of one year but that because of "psychiatric problems involved and in the holiday spirit" he was suspending the sentence.

He placed Sabena on five years probation and gave him the same period to pay the fine.

Sabena, who lives at 305 Miller Avenue, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to report an income of $9,666 in 1964, according to representatives of the Internal Revenue Service.

Santa To Arrive

Santa Claus will arrive in Rohnert Park at 7 p.m. today atop a city fire engine and greet youngsters at the shopping center mall. The band and chorus of Rancho Cotate High School will perform under the direction of J. J. Wright.

Tam Firemen To Aid Santa With Sweets

The Tamalpais Volunteer Fire Department agreed last night to provide candy canes for Santa Claus to distribute Dec. 21 and 22 to children in Tamalpais and Homestead valleys. The department will also provide a fire engine for Santa to ride in on his rounds.

The department also discussed its constitution and bylaws and distributed copies to each member for future discussion and possible amendments at a later meeting.

Injuries Minor

Dr. Jacques J. Couacaud of 8 Rose Court, Novato, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a minor nose and head cuts received when he ran his car into a ditch in front of 496 Olive Avenue at 7:30 p.m. yesterday, according to Novato police.

Jury Votes Guilty

Paud Irwin Callistro, 31, of San Francisco, was found guilty yesterday by a Marin Superior Court jury of stealing $1,200 from the Bon Air Hardware in Greenbrae July 12. He is to return to court Dec. 30.

THE BALLROOM at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base is decorated by the Officers Wives Club for the holiday season with gold trees of punchenelli ribbon and Spanish lamps tied with gold ribbon which blend beautifully with the Mediterranean style carpeting of gold and red and the natural wood paneling. Finishing the decorations and getting ready for the annual Officers Wives Club Christmas Ball to be held Saturday night, are Mrs. J. Duncan Ashe, seated; Mrs. Elmer Duncan, placing ribbon on a tree; Mrs. John Archdeacon, adjusting a ribbon and Mrs. John F. Taylor, chairman, arranging candles. Students returning to the area from college who are children of personnel assigned to Hamilton will also have a dance on Dec. 26.

POINSETTIAS IN a huge gold container and the chandeliers covered with feathery type tinsel of silver and white will be the first of the beautiful decorations to be seen by those attending functions at Hamilton during the holiday season. Mrs. John W. Andrews and Mrs. W. E. Bennett put the final touches on the arrangement. Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Ralph C. Weston, commander of the Canadian Forces at Hamilton, and Canadian officers and their wives will be hosts to the Fourth Air Force and the North American Air Defense Command officers and their wives this evening. Marin Women

MRS. E. E. SLOOP and Mrs. N. P. McCommon place a hand-decorated skirt around the base of the 15-foot Monterey pine in the main lounge of the Officers Club. Many parties will be held during the holiday season at Hamilton Air Force Base. The first party to be held was Tuesday night when Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert Burns had a reception for civilian and military dignitaries and the diplomatic corps in the area. General Burns is commander of the Fourth Air Force.

EVEN HEIDI, the dog, wasn't left out when members of the Officers Wives Club decorated the club. She accompanied her owners, Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Ike Wintermute to the club, and Mrs. Albert Bobrowski, co-chairman of the decorations committee, felt that the white dog should have a necklace of pink tinsel.

Stephen Albert To Wed Barbara Ann Prosser

BARBARA PROSSER

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Prosser of San Rafael announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Stephen Byard Albert of Novato.

Barbara Ann is a graduate of Terra Linda High School, attended College of Marin and is a student at the University of California at Davis. Lynn Prosser is her sister; Mrs. Emma Johnson of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Prosser of San Leandro are her grandparents.

Stephen is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard H. Albert of Terra Linda and the brother of Bruce and Richard Albert. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and is a student at California College of Arts and Crafts at Berkeley.

Travelers Return Home For Holidays

By MOLLY MARIN

Home in time to spend the holidays in Belvedere are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies, after traveling throughout South America for over two months.

While they were in Santiago, Chile they stayed in the hotel where Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip were staying, arriving the same day as the royal party. They frequently saw the queen, whom Milly Davies described as "pretty, slight and small; and with a seemingly endless wardrobe." When she and the prince drove in a convertible she put a small gray lap robe over her knees for modesty."

During the royal visit Santiago was festively decorated with flags and flowers. Another high point of the trip was traveling 1,000 miles up the Amazon where they went into the dense jungle on a skiff directed by a native guide.

In Brazil they visited the Iguassu Falls, then crossed the river at the base of the falls by small boat into Argentina. The river rose 30 feet because of heavy rains. On the Argentinian side of the falls they boarded their plane on a dirt runway. A misadventure with a happy ending occurred in Lima, Peru, where Mrs. Davies purse was robbed while she was walking on the street a short distance from her hotel. By 10:30 that night the Lima police had recovered the purse with everything intact, even the small change.

Other ports of call were Puerto Rico, Trinidad, Brasilia, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Rio de Janeiro, the Inca ruins at Cuzco, Peru, the Chilean Lake country and locations in Ecuador and Panama.

The Davies' younger son, Lt. James Davies, will be home for Christmas from Fort Belvoir, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies Jr., of Mill Valley and their daughter, Karen, will be at the Davies home in Belvedere for a family gathering on Christmas Eve.

THE SILVER anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Schneider of Belvedere was celebrated at champagne buffet at the family home Sunday.

The party, which was a complete surprise for Bernice and Russ, was arranged by their daughters, Mrs. Richard Cardoza (Donna Schneider) of San Francisco, Christine of Belvedere, and Mrs. Schneider's mother Mrs. Eugenia Mattos of Mill Valley. The Schneiders' son, Steve, is in the Navy, with duty in Japan.

Seventy-five family members and friends joined in the 25th anniversary celebration.

MRS. EUGENE BURNS (concert pianist Olga Burns) has returned home to Sausalito from a two-month tour of Turkey, the Middle East and Morocco just in time for the holidays.

Mrs. Simon Bolivar Buckner of Sausalito was in the same group as Mrs. Burns.

One of the highlights of their trip was visiting various archeological digs in Turkey. Among other interesting places they visited were Petra, Israel, Cyprus and Amman, the capital of Jordan.

MR. AND MRS. William Schwarzer have invited some 50 guests to a cocktail party Saturday evening honoring the three daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Porter R. Danford of Mill Valley.

Susan has just arrived home from an assignment with the Peace Corps in Niger, Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Passovoy (Carol Danford) are coming from Madras, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Backman (Debbie Danford) will come from Davis.

SPENDING THE holidays in Marin are Mr. and Mrs. David Gantz of San Jose, Costa Rica and their 7-month-old twins, Julie and Stephen.

The family is staying with Susan Gantz's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Beare of San Rafael, and it is the twins' first visit with their grandparents. After the holidays the Gantzes will go to Cincinnati to visit David's parents before returning to Costa Rica.

HOSTS AT A neighborhood party at 5 p.m. on Dec. 22 will be Mrs. and Mrs. George Sears of Sausalito.

DR. AND MRS. Richard Rider will be hosts Saturday at their home in Mill Valley at a combined birthday and farewell dinner for the Rev. D. Murray Hammond, rector of Mill Valley's Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

Reverend Hammond, his wife and children, Dave, Chris and P'sa, will be leaving on Jan. 20 to drive to Cambridge, Mass. On sabbatical leave until June, Reverend Hammond has a proctor fellowship at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge.

The Hammonds are regarding the cross country drive as an opportunity to see the United States as a family before the children are grown, and they will visit relatives en route.

THE HENRY I. Prestons of San Rafael celebrated the 21st birthday of their son Richard Saturday evening in San Francisco at Oreste's restaurant.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID Stewart of San Anselmo will host members of the Mannequin League at a cocktail party Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m.

The Norman Sanguinettis will co-host the annual Christmas party, which is attended by league members and their husbands.

MR. AND MRS. John Finn III of Mill Valley will host their traditional Christmas party tonight for members and husbands of the Millwood unit of Marin Foundation, Friends of Arequipa.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Tea Bag Hoax Leaves Housewife With Supply Of Unwanted Tags

DEAR HELEN:

Several months ago my sister asked if I would start saving the tags from any teabags we used. She said her nephew was collecting them at school, and when the labels amounted to some gigantic amount (like a million or so) they would turn them in and get a wheelchair for a charitable organization.

At any rate, I began collecting and enlisted the aid of friends. It now turns out that this is not going to be the school's project. I have a sizable amount of labels on hand. Do you know of any other organization which is collecting them? Or was somebody pulling the boy's leg? — R.M.R.

DEAR R:

This sounds a little like the great cigarette hoax of a few years back. "Save the cellophane opener strip," word went out, "And when you collect 10 pounds you can get a seeing eye dog for a blind person."

I doubt anyone ever reached 10 pounds, or ever heard where to send them. H.

DEAR HELEN:

I felt sorry for a young couple who had an apartment down the hall. The man lost his job and they were getting desperate. So when an opening came at my plant I told them about it. However, the job was for a woman, and the hours were the same as mine — swing shift.

Mrs. T. applied and got it. What more natural than she ride to work with me? Rose Ann and I began stopping for a drink at midnight and then Rose suggested another bar where we could dance. Finally little Rosy ended up in my bachelor apartment, while her husband slept.

She told me she didn't like him very well as he wouldn't try to get work.

Last night she announced she was going to get a divorce. I didn't catch on until she added, "So we can get married, darling."

That isn't what I had in mind. I was only trying to be kind to a couple of down-and-out kids, and this dame takes advantage.

I told Mrs. T. she had the wrong impression, and from now on she drives to work alone. She said I couldn't mean it and she'll wait "until I come to my senses." She slips notes under my door and waits in the hall until I get in at night. Last night she insisted on coming in to my apartment and said if I threw her out she would scream and get me in trouble with the management.

So how am I going to get out of this mess? — CONFIRMED BACHELOR

DEAR BACH:

Go apartment-hunting! And switch to a day shift.

And hereafter be "kind" only to elderly spinsters. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

We had a discussion about wedding pictures in newspapers. My roommate said only the bride's picture should appear. I think it's nice to have both the bride's and groom's picture printed. — WHICH?

DEAR WHICH:

I don't think there is an etiquette rule against a bride-and-groom picture, but sometimes newspaper space shortage rules it out. If you marry in June, you may get only a small "mugshot." But a January wedding, especially in a smaller town, may rate a two-column spread, complete with cake. — H.

Churchwomen Elect Mrs. James D. Fritz

A Novato resident for four years, Mrs. James D. Fritz has been elected president of the Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Francis of Assisi Church.

She has served as chairman of St. Francis Fair, and the club women plan to join the Holiday Show '68, the Senior Citizens Village Fair Bazaar in March and a wine tasting.

A member of the Apha Xi Delta national sorority, she also is employed part time as a registered nurse at Novato Manor Convalescent Hospital and is a 4-H leader.

Martha, or Marti as she is known, attended Denison University in Granville, Ohio, Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. and received her nurses training at Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago.

The new president and her husband, have four children: Donald, 19, a sophomore at the University of California at Davis; Laura, 17; Susan, 14; and David, 11 years old.

Knitting, sewing, gardening, cooking and skiing are among Marti's pastimes, and she most enjoys family activities.

Officers elected to serve with her are Mesdames Jack Nyulassie, vice president; Robert De Haven, secretary; and Grover Partee, treasurer.

Chairmen are Mesdames Eleanor Snare, worship; Richard Whitney, publicity, David Walker, ecumenical relations; and George Scherba, sunshine.

Sandra Mittell To Be Bride Of Peter I. Teller

Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Mittell of West Los Angeles announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra Kay Mittell to Peter Ivancovich Teller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick de Peyster Teller Jr. of Ross.

Peter is the brother of Mrs. Joseph P. Stone and Anne Christine and Frederic de Peyster Teller III and the grandson of Mrs. Balbo Ivancovich of San Anselmo. He is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and attends California Polytechnic College School of Architecture.

Sandra was graduated from high school in Pacific Palisades and from Cal Poly. She is the sister of Philip H., Pamela Lynne and Priscilla Emme Mittell. The future bride is employed by the Los Angeles City School District.

A June wedding is planned by the couple.

Fun Gifts

Gifts that sparkle and dance with fun, festivity and fabulous fashion are decking the showcases in jewelry stores. There are dangly earrings that flash with color and go crazy in new shapes, immense rings to circle every finger of a hand and snake bracelets to curl up the arm or leg.

Cabinet Wife's Friends Say, 'She Makes You Feel At Ease'

By PEGGY SIMPSON

WASHINGTON (AP) The wife of president-elect Nixon's secretary of state should be a national asset on the champagne and caviar circuit—she's a good listener, in a city famed for talk.

"She has a wonderful gift of making you feel at ease," friends say of Mrs. William P. Rogers.

It will be her second round as a cabinet wife. Her husband, a close friend of Nixon since World War II Naval training days, was attorney general from 1957 to 1960. Nixon persuaded him to give up a lucrative Washington-New York law practice to take the $35,000-a-year position.

"It's just hard for me not to go overboard in my enthusiasm visualizing Adele as the wife of our secretary of state," said Mrs. Arthur Flemming, wife of Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of health, education and welfare.

Ever since their four grown children left home, the Rogers have preferred to entertain at small buffet dinners rather than swing with the front-page society set.

"I think she'll make an excellent hostess in the diplomatic circles," said Mrs. Fred Seaton, whose husband was interior secretary under Eisenhower.

"She is an exceedingly intelligent woman—quiet but very gracious. She is the type who listens. She would not intrude but would see that everyone is taken care of," Mrs. Seaton said in a telephone talk from Hastings, Neb.

Mrs. Rogers got out of the hospital Wednesday after corrective surgery on an ankle which had not mended properly from a break a year ago when she slipped on the steps of the Supreme Court building.

The injury hampered her favorite sports of golf, tennis and walking.

Adele Rogers is a Cornell University law school graduate and had intended to practice law in a speciality of juvenial delinquency. Instead, she married Rogers in 1937.

Year's Bachelors Given Trophies By Alan King

By LOUISE COOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Six men who survived Leap Year and stayed single were honored for their bachelorhood Wednesday night with trophies presented by a man who's been married for almost a quarter of a century.

"Having been married for 22 years, I'd rather be accepting an award than presenting them," said comedian Alan King as he handed out silver bowls to the men named Bachelors of the Year by a men's toiletry company.

Actually, said King, "being married has been a marvelous thing." He said bachelors are often lonely and advised them, "You're better off getting married and cheating."

None of the six bachelors plans to stay single forever and most have a general idea of what they want in a wife.

Phil Linz, 29, of the New York Mets, wants a girl who's got "good eyesight (to compensate for his poor vision), is intelligent and is attractive, but not extra beautiful."

Singer Chad Mitchell, 32, said he just hasn't found the girl with whom he could have a meaningful relationship.

Comedian Milt Kamen, 44, admitted, "I feel guilty I've never been married—because it means I've never been divorced. I'm depriving some fine woman of alimony."

New York Giants halfback Ernie Koy, 26, said he was still a bachelor because of "the freedom that you've got to go where you want and do what you want."

Theatrical producer Mort Gottlieb, 47, joked, "I want to thank some of those ladies who helped me achieve this position."

Jim Lonborg, 26-year-old pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, said, "I think, after listening to Alan talk, I'd just as soon try marriage—for one night."

ON THE AGENDA

Dominican Garden School Plans Traditional Christmas Program

The Dominican Garden School will present its traditional Christmas program on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the Dominican campus. Parents and friends of the garden school children are invited to attend.

Choir boys will present six Christmas greeting scenes and Christmas angels will be features in scenes around the crib.

Choir boys are William Bertrand, Robert Bowler, David and John Capurro, David Cary, Kevin Kroncke, John Morello, John McIntosh, John Romano, Lyle Samaha, Garrett Scales Jr. and Dominic Taddeucci.

Little choir boys are Joseph Applebaum, Theodore Creighton, Jonathan Daniels, John Feldmeier, Douglas Grant, John Jansheski, Kenneth Schieser and Robert Woodward.

Christmas angels are Leslie Baldiocchi, Sharon Bryar, Angela Concotta, Virginia Gennaro, Leslie Kelly, Karen Kroncke, Kathleen Maggi, Leslie McGowan, Carol Pera, Sally Sanderson, Karen Souza, Lisa Vizkelety and Christine Wilson.

Attending angels are Suzanne Bertrand, Julie Bryar, Alison Burke, Elizabeth Dawson, Christina Fassio, Ginette Geoffrion, Margaret Gompertz, Andrea Heim, Kimberly Kulemin, Christine Marke, Jennifer Norman, Maureen Pasha, Julie Skvaril and Susan Todaro.

THE CHRISTMAS party for members and their families is being planned for the Tiburon Peninsula Club from 4 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Carol singing, refreshments and surprises for the children are planned. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dewey are chairmen.

THE ANNUAL Christmas party of Marin Adoptive Parents will be tomorrow from 2 to 4 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Each family attending at the fellowship hall in the lower level of the church is asked to bring a tray of cookies; each child should bring an ornament for the Christmas tree. Games are planned for older youngsters.

Marin Adoptive Parents is a volunteer organization of parents of adopted children and has invited interested persons to attend the party.

THE MARIN Branch of the American Association of University Women is giving an old-fashioned wassail party Sunday from 2-5 p.m. All members and their husbands are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Bergman's home at 135 Montecito Road, San Rafael, will be the scene of the festivities. Mrs. Joseph Turina is in charge of arrangements with the assistance of Mrs. Myron L. Hersko and Mrs. Elsa Kaye.

THE SEWING section of the Novato Hostess Club has been making "What-Not" boxes filled with candy, crayons, toys and other gifts that will be delivered to Hanna Boys' Center on Sunday.

ST. RITA'S Women's Guild will sponsor a communion breakfast in the parish hall on Sunday immediately following the 9:15 a.m. mass, for all women of the parish.

Celebrating the mass will be the Rev. John J. O'Connor, who heads the Marin Catholic Social Service and the Marin chapter of the War on Poverty. Father O'Connor will also be guest speaker at the breakfast. Mrs. L. P. DeMartini is chairman of the event, which will feature homemade coffeecake and pastries.

A DINNER with a Hawaiian holiday theme will be given by the Belveron Association at Tiburon Tommie's Restaurant on Sunday. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Guests are asked to wear casual clothes in keeping with the Hawaiian theme.

Donald Batten is chairman; Mesdames Joseph Ramblas, Charles Henson and William Quinan are reservations chairmen.

HIGHLIGHT OF Sunday's children's Christmas party the Sausalito Cruising Club Women's Auxiliary will stage for children of members will be the arrival of Santa Claus (Harry Kramer) by boat between 1:30 and 2 p.m.

About 50 children are expected to attend the party, for which Mrs. Paul Rice is chairman.

TWO HOLIDAY open houses will be given by the Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Frisch at the parsonage for member families of the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church in Tiburon. The parties will be given from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tonight and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Daughters of the Shepherd, church women's organization, are serving hot dogs to the handicapped at the Mill Valley Youth Center from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and are in charge of refreshments for the Sunday School Christmas Pageant, which will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 22.

A TRADITIONAL Christmas party, with carols and gift exchange, will be celebrated by El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution on Monday, at a noon luncheon at the Sleepy Hollow home of Mrs. L. C. Soilean.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Edward J. Ehmann, Helen Noel, James Small, Jean Smith and Walter Wyman.

MEMBERS OF the Woodacre Improvement Recreational Club have named Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dentkos of Woodacre as the club's Man and Woman of the Year.

According to outgoing president Rodney Thorsen, the Dentkos were honored for their outstanding contribution in handling all of the club's upkeep and rentals this past year and for actively participating in many of the club's activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Dentkos have been house chairmen for the past two years. They were awarded individual engraved plaques, and their names will be placed on a permanent plaque, which hangs in the clubhouse.

MRS. JAMES KRETCHMER of San Rafael has been elected president of the Loch Lomond Guild of Sunny Hills for the year. Other new officers for the guild are Mesdames William Miller, vice president; Donald Smith, treasurer; Donald Rossi, recording secretary; Benjamin Ostlind, corresponding secretary; and Ronald Horne, Christmas party chairman.

Women's Golf Club Elects New Captain

MRS. ERNEST KORN

An eight-year-member of the Indian Valley Women's Golf Club in Novato, Mrs. Ernest Korn of Greenbrae has been elected captain of the club. She has also served as secretary, treasurer and co-captain.

Mrs. Korn and her husband, a controller with Engs Motor Truck Company, have lived in Marin County for 16 years.

She was graduated from College of San Mateo and has participated in fund raising drives for the American Red Cross, the Heart Fund and the Greenbrae Chapter of Arequipa.

Art, reading, bridge and theater are among the interests of the new captain, and she particularly enjoys golf and informal dinner parties with good friends.

Projects for the club this year include an invitational for major tournaments, spring handicap and the captain's tourney.

Other officers are Mesdames Jack Clifford, co-captain; Frances Golden, tournament chairman; George Greenwood, assistant tournament chairman; Charles Royce, handicap chairman; Roger Williams, assistant handicap chairman; Rigby Wilkie, secretary; Lloyd Abrams, treasurer; Charles Johnson, publicity, and Miss Dicie Gates, captain of the business women.

Mrs. Cerrudo President Of Peacock Gap Golf Group

Members of the Peacock Gap Women's Golf Group have elected Mrs. John E. Cerrudo of San Rafael to serve as president for the coming year.

Betty Cerrudo has been a member of the group for two and a half years. Plans are underway for weekly tournaments, a women's invitational and monthly mixed tournaments.

The Cerrudos have two children: Ron, who is professional golfer, and 16-year-old Deborah.

The new president belongs to the Samuel Merritt Hospital Alumnae, Castlewood Country Club and an investment club. She was educated in Oakland schools and was graduated as a registered nurse from Samuel Merritt Hospital. Her family and golf are what she enjoys most.

Other officers of the women's golf group are Mesdames Richard Dekay, co-captain; Roy Dowd, secretary; Harold Stookey, corresponding secretary; Roland Hellman, treasurer; and Harold Baer, tournament chairman.

Franks For Luncheon

Hot dogs are a favorite midday meal for the younger set, but franks are handy for a ladies' luncheon, too. Open-face frank sandwiches in their many glamorous forms might be appropriate or a salad with sliced franks. Chopped franks combine well with a number of foods for tasty tea sandwiches, too.

Parents Announce Engagement Of Cynthia Truog To Kirk Wolter

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Nicholas F. Truog of Novato are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Lee to Kirk Marcus Wolter.

Cynthia is the sister of Melinda and Melissa Troug of Novato. She was graduated from Dreux-Senoches in Eure Et Lois, France and is a junior majoring in nursing at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn.

Kirk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wolter of Arlington Heights, Ill. Kristine Tara Wolter is his sister. He was graduated from Arlington Heights High School and is a junior majoring in mathematics and economics at St. Olaf College.

Chinese Pea Pods

Just as at home at patio parties as at the most formal gatherings are Chinese green pea pods when they come to the table dressed with sliced water chestnuts or slivered blanched almonds, plenty of butter and and Parmesan cheese. They're as delectable as they are different from the usual run of the mill vegetables.

British Critics Laud Controversial Drama

LONDON (AP) — British critics today praised and defended Rolf Hochhuth's play "The Soldiers," which suggests that Sir Winston Churchill may have had a hand in the World War II death of a Polish general. The Canadian actor John Colicos repeated the triumph he scored in the New York production as Churchill.

The play had been banned for two years on the ground that it "grossly maligned" Churchill by implicating him in the plane crash death of Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski in 1943. It reached the London stage last night because of the recent relaxation in the censorship laws.

Arthur Thirkell of the Daily Mirror said the play "is a fascinating debate on the ethics of war."

"Is Churchill maligned? Not from my understanding of the play," he wrote.

Herbert Kretzmer of the Daily Express termed the play "enthralling," and Peter Lewis of the Daily Mail wrote that in Churchill, the author has "created one of the few real heroes of modern drama."

The first night audience greeted the play with thunderous applause. Lord Harlech, the former ambassador to Washington who was in the audience, commented: "Allegations that Sir Winston has been smeared are totally unfounded."

No member of the Churchill family attended, and Sir Winston's namesake grandson called the play "an infamous libe."

Scientists Discover Lost Grecian Colony In Italy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The director of the University of Pennsylvania museum has announced that he and an Italian archaeologist have rediscovered an ancient Greek city which disappeared almost 2.500 years ago.

Dr. Froelich G. Rainey said last night the city, Sybaris, is located in what is now Italy, and lies beneath 15 to 18 feet of earth, below sea level and the water table. He said it is in an area about six miles in circumference and about a mile and a quarter inland from the Gulf of Taranto shoreline.

The announcement, made jointly by Rainey and Prof. Giuseppe Foti, superintendent of antiquities of Calabria, Italy, apparently ends the century-old search by scholars of various nations for the ruins of the Greek colony.

Sybaris was conquered and destroyed by its Croton neighbors in 510 B.C. The Crontoniates reportedly diverted a river over the city and submerged it.

The archaeologists said Sybaris was the largest and richest Greek city of its time, although they declined to speculate on what buried treasures might lie beneath the soil and water table.

The search, which began in 1960, was carried out by the museum with the cooperation and supervision of the Italian department of antiquities.

Excavation was limited to test cuts because of flooding threats, which the archaeologists say will present future difficulty in the uncovering process.

The Italians, however, plan a test excavation next spring.

U.S. Criticizes U.N. Job Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States wants U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to put more Americans on the U.N. staff and stop hiring personnel from countries it says are getting more than their just share of jobs.

U.S. Delegate Raymond D. Nasher told the General Assembly's budget committee yesterday hundreds of Americans have unsuccessfully sought U.N. jobs. The United States continues to fall below its staff quota, he said, while other nations get more than they are entitled to.

He said 20 per cent of the 5.700 staff posts were filled by Americans in 1966, but now only 18.81 per cent of U.N. workers are Americans.

Shakespeare Play Auditions Slated

Auditions for vacancies in the acting company of the California Shakespeare Festival will be held Saturday at College of Marin, director Roger Gross reported.

He said he and associate director James Dunn, head of the speech and drama department at College of Marin, will see students by appointment only for the several vacancies for the 1969 season of Old Town Theater, Los Gatos.

Appointments may be made with Dunn at the college.

Film Showings Set

The film "Juliet of the Spirits," directed by Frederico Fellini, will be shown at Sonoma State College at 6:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday in Room 1003 of Stevenson Hall. The showing is sponsored by the lectures and concerts committee of the associated students.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River—Made in England. Jerry Lewis in a refreshingly straight comic role as an irresponsible wheeler-dealer.

More Than A Miracle — Boisterous fairy tale of far away and long ago. A Spanish prince and his love for a tempestous peasant girl.

Young Americans — Adventures, mishaps, conflicts and romances of a busload of talented teen-agers chosen in a state-wide competition. Production and color photography is excellent.

ADULTS AND TEENS

Guns of San Sebastion — An outlaw of 18th Century Mexico becomes a revered leader. Picturesque lusty western stars Anthony Quinn.

For Love of Ivy — A romantic comedy, shiny and unreal, exploit comic misconceptions on both sides of race question. Torrid bed scene and some language startlingly frank.

Minute to Pray, A Second to Die — Mediocre western about gunfighter trying to go straight. Brutality makes up most of the action.

MORDERLINE

Never Too Late — Intimate marriage relations held up to ridicule, a silly and tasteless attempt at comedy.

ADULTS ONLY

Barbarella — Adult comic strip goes so far beyond mere vulgarity in sex, nudity and perverted brutality that it is close to pornography.

Bedazzled — Sophisticated film based on the Faust legend.

A Flea in Her Ear — A good cast wasted on crude French sex farce.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas — This satire makes free-love and drugs seem the life of happiness.

To Bed or Not To Bed — Middle-aged Italian businessman enroute to Sweden hopes to conquer beautiful young girls as a vacation away from his wife.

Ulysses — Straight adaption of James Joyce's controversial novel.

South Dakota has 55,000 farms.

Udall Proposes New Mine Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal "flexibility of response" to set new coal mine safety standards with discovery of new hazards is included in safety legislation proposed by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Udall announced the proposed bill yesterday at a mine safety conference he called in the wake of the mine explosion that entombed 78 men in West Virginia last month.

The interior secretary would be empowered to set new safety regulations after an interim period on the basis of advanced technology or finding of new hazards.

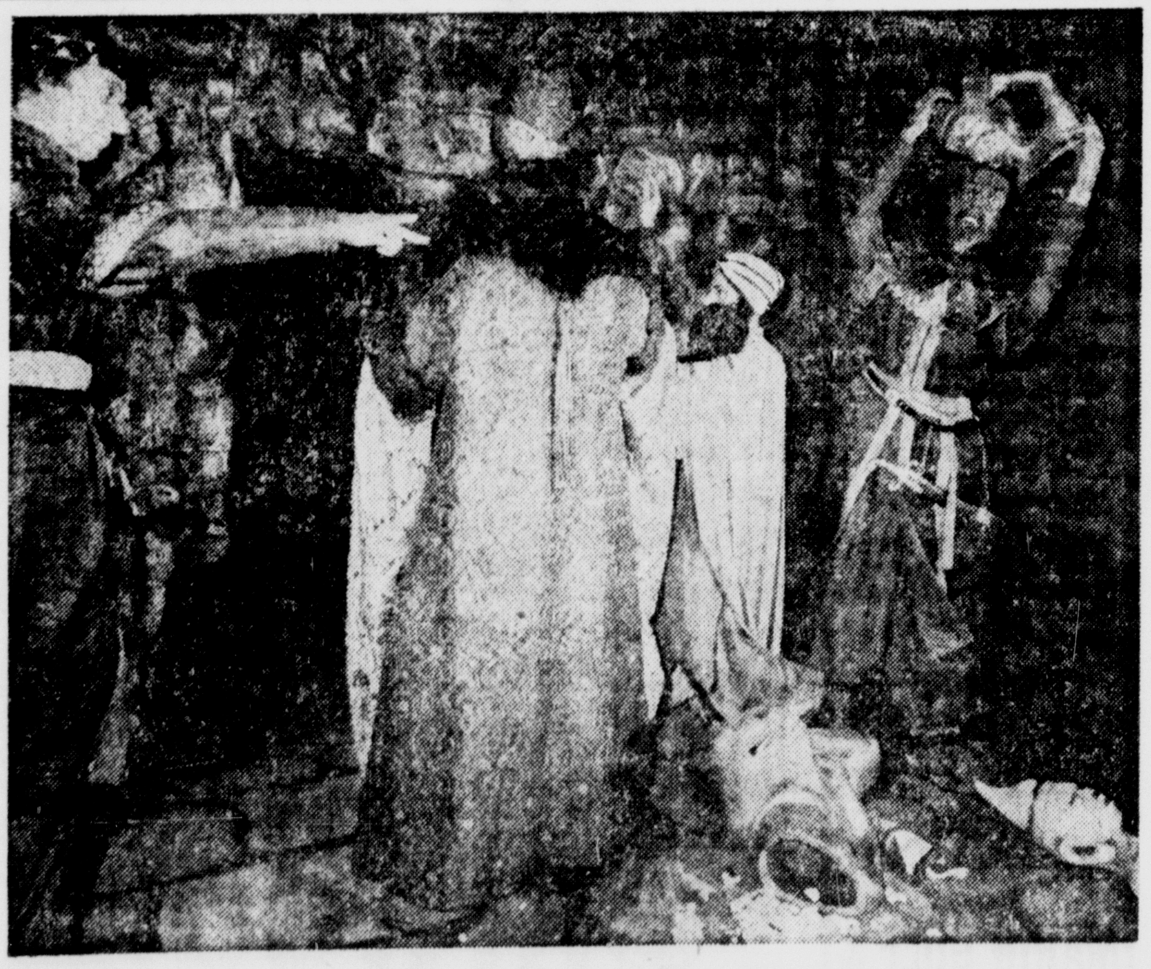
The bill also would permit federal inspectors to order evacuation of mines in cases of "imminent danger" and permit investigation of mines solely for the purpose of developing health and safety standards.

Film Festival Prizes Awarded

Michael Stewart of Berkeley has taken top honors in the Sonoma State College 8mm film festival.

Stewart's film, entitled "Free Form," also won first prize at the St. Mary's College film festival this year. He was awarded $500 at ceremonies concluding the three-day showing Sunday.

Second place prize of $300 went to Robert Giorgio of Highlands, N.Y., and his film, "Fantasy." Third prize of $100 went for the film, "Cut."



NEW WAX GALLERY AT WAX MUSEUM AT FISHERMAN'S WHARF

When the Prophet Mohammed returned to Mecca in 630 A.D. and smashed the idols, the Islam faith emerged. This scene, shown above, is one of the tableaux of the new Hall of Religions at the Wax Museum at Fisherman's Wharf which has recently been added to the famed museum. According to the management, the Fisherman's Wharf museum is the largest wax museum in North America and features over 200 life size wax figures by Josephine Tussaud Company.

Games Show Need For Driver Education

SACRAMENTO (BW) — The violent games that children play on their bicycles emphasize the need for "pre-driver education" for traffic safety, a National Safety Council executive said here yesterday.

Thomas W. Planek, the safety council research director, cited results of an NSC bicycle study in his keynote address here to the Governor's Conference on Traffic Safety.

In the study, responses were obtained from more than 4,000 children in four widely separated parts of the country. "About 10 to 15 per cent of young male bicycle drivers," Planek said, are playing violent games like "demolition derby," "murder-bike," and "chicken."

"The relation of this behavior to their future motor vehicle operation," Planek said, "is not hard to envision."

The conference theme identified "the driver" as "traffic's undesigned factor." Planek's keynote address suggested that, while there have been a variety of programs and campaigns aimed at improving drivers, few of them have been well defined and precisely aimed at the prevention of accidents and the mitigation of resulting injuries.

"State administrators, safety educators and safety practitioners must take the lead," Planek told the conference, "in initiating research efforts by questioning the effectiveness of every contemplated driver-related program.

"The time for 'reviews of the literature' is past," Planek said. "Now is the time for responsible action guided by a commitment to the results of competent research."

Novato Council To Learn Ways To Beautify City

Ways to make Novato more beautiful will be studies by the city council at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato Community House.

The Novato Beautification Committee presented the council with its aims and goals at last Tuesday's meeting.

The committee urged undergrounding of utility lines; creation of more parks; an ordinance to force property owners of vacant lots to keep them free of weeds and trash; better utilization of Novato Creek's natural beauty; landscaping of Highway 101 and a street tree program.

Other suggestions of the committee were to encourage better subdivisions by working with the developers and planners; working with industry to keep signs in harmony with their environment; encouraging neatness in parking lots; beautification of commercial buildings and to discouraging the construction of unadorned cement commercial buildings.

The study report also suggested subcommittees for surveys and outlines of programs to meet the community needs. These would include organizations such as women's and service clubs.

The committee also asked for a feasibility study by the city to determine the "financial practicability of executing these goals.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Aviation Phrase Has Meaning For Operators Of Restaurants

The "point of no return" is a familiar expression in flying an airplane.

It also has its application to restaurants — but with a different significance. It is the time during which a restaurateur operates in the red before he starts to reap the rewards of his hard work. Depending on circumstances it may be six months, a year or even longer from the time he first opens before he gets out of it. Even then his tensions may be eased but his hard work is not.

By the time a restaurant has been successful in business as long as say, San Rafael Joe's, it's hard to remember there ever was a point of no return. Any place that requires a microphone to announce table readiness for each customer is doing well. That's also one of the signs of good food and service for your own dining satisfaction.

Often, people have to be sold on the idea of dining out. A successful restaurant draws its patrons from among those who might otherwise stay home and watch television. Food alone is not the answer, though it's important. In nine out of 10 families the food is good at home, too. The fare must be presented in such a way as to make outside dining attractive just to think of it — even to the extent of waiting for a table.

Joe's excels. It is family-operated by the Rubinis and the Farinas, who are related. They are a family that makes you feel welcome — witness how Mesdames Nancy Rubini and Teresa Farina handle the hostessing. And you have only to look in the kitchen, which is wide open, to observe Hector and Guido and their assistants in action, the cleanliness of the operation and the appetizing appearance of the food as it is prepared and served.

There is just one thing more about Joe's that's not quite so easy to define. I think it must be the people themselves who come here. Look them over — they are a pretty nice crowd, in case you were thinking of joining them.

SABELLA'S big annual Christmas show with Santa Claus and his live reindeer — always a favorite affair of Marin youngsters — will be held Monday night.

There will be two shows — one at 6 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m. Make reservations for one or the other as this event is well attended.

SANTA CLAUS has a busy schedule next week. He's also booked to appear at Franchini's Chateau next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 6 p.m., at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 22, and at 5 p.m. the Monday and Tuesday before Christmas. He'll be giving out candy canes to all the youngsters.

Franchini's will be closed Christmas day and the day following, but open on both New Year's Eve and New Year's day, with full menu service.

Highway widening on the 101 strip at Lucas Valley Road is disconcerting but actually it does not complicate the turnoff to Franchini's. Access is just as easy as ever, perhaps easier.

INFORMATION continues to come in on other holiday programs:

Taberna in San Rafael is now planning a New Year's party with a prime rib, champagne dinner at $25 per couple, with all the favors and music for dancing by George Campanelli and his orchestra. Make reservations.

At Taberna's breakfast show tonight and tomorrow night from 2 a.m. Jack Ford's Galaxy is still the featured entertainment attraction.

This place, by the way, is now accepting no-host cocktail parties during week nights; reservations should be made ahead.

FROM LIN FA GARDENS in the Northgate Shopping Center Ethel Barrie reports that she will be open both Christmas Eve and Christmas day. And undoubtedly there will be a New Year's Eve celebration here, but details on this are still to come.

AT LAST CHECK, Ramona's Mexican Restaurant in San Rafael was not sure of having its "posadas" celebration next week. Ramona Stallings appeared to be having difficulties in securing the right performers. If it is observed, it will be next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

JEAN'S KITCHEN on Poplar Avenue, Ross will close early on Christmas Eve and will also be closed Christmas day.

Otherwise this is a seven-days-a-week operation for breakfast, lunch, snacks and dinner — open continuously from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays.

Complete dinner price through the week is $1.95 except for these specials: Crab lasagne dinner Friday night at $2.25; spaghetti dinner on Saturdays at $1.35; family night on Tuesdays — filet or New York steak dinner at $2.95. Jean Dobson's soups and pies are homemade.

LE CHALET BASQUE, Santa Venetia, has an excellent menu for New Year's Eve, with a choice of four entrees. Tariff for dinner, music and dancing and favors is $20 per couple.

ONDINE in Sausalito has the distinction of having been written up in Guide Julliard, a French gastronomic publication devoted to best known restaurants throughout the world.

It's a nice write-up, on the food, the view, the chef and the people who go there. But, if you want a literal translation, my French just isn't up to it.

FRED CHERRY hosted the North Bay Wine and Food Society for its annual formal Christmas dinner at his Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo Wednesday night. Such dinners usually have been held at the French Club, Ondine, Peacock Gap, Caprice and similar dineries, so Fred should take this as a tribute to the high attainments of his restaurant.

The same special fare will be served New Year's Eve. It's not the regular menu and it's quite a gastronomic spread. Cost, I am told — across the board for food, wine and champagne at midnight — will be $19.69.

THERE IS ANOTHER restaurant anniversary party tomorrow night — making three this week. This one is by Jim and Jean McKee for completing six years on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, at McKee's. Congratulations.

Regular dinner service is off and there will be a buffet from 7 p.m. until the food or the merriment runs out. Chef Herb Holtzmann is preparing an appetizing array of hot and cold dishes.

There will be organ entertainment.

TALK ABOUT faithful customers — Rubini's, which celebrated its 10th anniversary Wednesday and Thursday night, recently presented a 10-year plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeigler of Fairfax in appreciation of their loyal patronage. They have dined at the restaurant every Friday night for the past decade without missing a single week.

IF SOUNDS of gaiety emanate from within the brick walls of La Petite Auberge next Tuesday when it should be closed, it will be the annual affair of that organization which somehow seems to get confused with the SPBSQSA (Society for the Preservation of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America).

However this group, known as the SPPES, does no harmonizing except perhaps on a chorus or two of "Happy Birthday to You" when one or more of its members happen to be celebrating on the day of the meeting. Its only known purpose is to live up to its full name — Society for the Preservation and Protection of Executive Secretaries — by having a good time.

One day a year and one day only, for the past five years, this collection of bosses and their secretaries has been gathering together for something more than an across-the-desk relationship in a two-hour lunch period of fun and hilarity.

New Trustees Named For Branson School

Two new members have been appointed to the board of trustees of Katharine Branson School, Ross, William R. Kimball Jr., board president, announced.

They are Mrs. Daniel L. Boyd of Upper Road, Ross, and John S. Broome of Oxnard, father of a 1968 graduate of the school, Ann Broome.

Hamilton Officer Ends Long Career

Col. Thomas N. Dickens of 99 Patterson Lane, Hamilton Air Force Base, has retired after more than 27 years of service.

He was chief of the maintenance engineering division of headquarters, Western Communication Region directorate of material. He plans to move to Rhode Island to take a job in communications.

America's first sawmill was established near York, Maine, in 1623.

WHITE HOUSE SEASON'S GREETINGS

President and Mrs. Johnson's 1968 Christmas card, mailed this week to some 1,500 heads of state and others, depicts the White House as seen in winter from the south lawn (upper). Special friends and leading officials also will get as a memento of the final days of LBJ's administration, a watercolor of the lawn as seen in springtime from the White House's south portico (lower). Teens Organize To Revamp Ark

Tiburon Peninsula teen-agers meeting with the Belvedere and Tiburon parks and recreation commission laid plans last night for renovating the ark Mermaid given them for use as a teen center and chose officers to head the work.

David Slocum was named chairman of the teen-age group and Linda Hall was chosen secretary. School representatives named were Miss Hall for Katherine Branson School, Greg Jampolsky for Del Mar School, and Doug Best and Tom Murray for Redwood High School.

Three members of the Tiburon Fire Department volunteered to help prepare the ark, which was donated by David W. Allen of the Belvedere Land Co. and is to be towed into railroad property next to the old Tiburon ferry slip.

Slocum called a meeting of Peninsula teen-agers for Monday at Del Mar School to discuss steps needed to turn the ark into a coffee house and meeting center.

Boat Runs Aground In Bolinas Channel

A sailboat ran aground and capsized in Bolinas Channel at 4:45 p.m. yesterday while apparently trying to enter Bolinas Lagoon, the Bolinas Fire Department reported.

The sailboat was still aground this morning and the owner was not known. Fire Chief Jose A. Silva said the salvage attempt would probably be made at high tide today.

Reagan Plan For Judges Is Criticized

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Municipal Judge Earl Warren Jr., son of the U.S. chief justice, says Republivan Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed judicial selection plan "would be a gross error."

Young Warren, a Democrat, said the merit plan would force the State Bar Association into "playing politics."

The Republican chief executive has proposed that judicial appointments, all made by the governor, be made only from a select list approved by a screening committee. At present, the governor has a relatively free hand in appointing judges and Warren acknowledged judges normally are appointed "because of friendships."

"The California bar is the foremost bar in the entire world," Warren told a local federal bar association meeting yesterday. "The good thing about it is that it is basically devoid of politics.

"The proposed merit plan would set up special screening committees that would consist primarily of bar or former bar members.

"If we had a bad system, I might favor some sort of change. I'm very fearful of what might happen to the bar association."

Warren was named to the Sacramento municipal court by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, shortly before Brown left office.

Teen-Age Surfer Found Stunned

Thomas Barca, 19, of 88 South Knoll Road, Strawberry, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a possible head injury suffered while surfing yesterday at Bolinas.

The Bolinas Fire Department reported Barca and a group of friends were surfing off Brighton Avenue at 11:50 a.m. when the others found Barca floating unconscious free of his surfboard.

Firemen gave artificial respiration to revive him and took Barca to the hospital.

Stolen Car Burns

Sheriff's deputies and firemen in Marin City found a stolen car engulfed in flames on Keyes Court at 11:47 p.m. yesterday. The 1966 Cadillac, reported stolen from Dorothy Diamond of San Pablo, was a total loss.

U.S. Anticrime Drive Gets Quick Response

NEW YORK (AP) — About 10,000 letters have been received in response to an appeal by Citizens for Justice with Order, a new group seeking to involve millions of Americans in the war against crime.

H. Bruce Palmer, founder of the movement, said yesterday letters have been pouring in and that his phone has been ringing all week with inquiries or offers of help.

The drive to involve all Americans was kicked off last week in a television announcement by comedian Bob Hope.

Hope was not permitted to ask for contributions because of a network rule, Palmer said, adding: "But we're going to ask for money. I think we'll raise out initial goal of $25 million by next May."

Palmer announced the appointment of Samuel T. Ishmael, 36, as a full-time aide who will travel about the country helping individuals and groups with anticrime projects.

Ishmael, a former city attorney of Rawlins, Wyo., now lives in Phoenix, Ariz. As city attorney, he had asserted that Rawlins was headquarters for the Wyoming narcotics traffic. After a number of threats against himself and his family, the Ishmael home was blown up while the family was away on vacation.

Palmer's wife was murdered in their New Jersey home last year. A former tree surgeon was convicted of the crime and has been sentenced to death.

Home Is Looted

A burglar Wednesday night stole 80 records, a sleeping bag, three coats and a billy club from the residence of Mark Stevens, 59 Lovell Avenue. Stevens told Mill Valley police last night.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Charity Gifts Must Be Made By Dec. 31 To List For 1968

Wikel

If you want a deduction for your charitable contributions for 1968, you must make them before Dec. 31, 1968.

You can deduct gifts up to 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income, but not more than 20 per cent on gifts to private foundations.

Excess contributions during the year are not lost. Individuals can carry over any excess of "30 per cent gifts" for the next five years.

A corporation's limit is 5 per cent of its taxable income before the charitable deduction. Any excess can also be carried over for 5 years.

Contributions to any organization formed and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, educational, scientific or literary purposes, or organization for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals and federal, state and local governments are deductible.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

You cannot deduct donations to an individual or a foreign charity, with few exceptions.

See IRS Publication No. 78, "Cumulative List Revised to Dec. 31, 1966, Organizations described in Section 170 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954." This publication is available from the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington D.C. 20402, for $3.50.

Your local Internal Revenue Service office should have a copy available to look up a questionable organization.

You can deduct the fair market value of the gift. If you have stock that has increased in value, give that. Suppose you have stock which cost $5,000 and is now worth $10,000. You give the stock and you pay no tax on the $5,000 increase but you can deduct the full $10,000.

DEDUCT LOSS

If business or income-producing property has decreased in value, sell it and deduct your loss, do not give it away. If you give things like books, clothes, furniture, etc. to a charity, their value is deductible.

If you give depreciated business property like office furniture, fixtures, equipment, machinery, automobiles, buildings, etc., the charitable deduction may be reduced by the recapture of depreciation.

If you give property, you must attach a statement to your return showing what you gave, date, how it was valued, etc. Be sure to check the rules on reporting. See IRS Publication No. 561, "Valuation of Donated Property" obtainable at the District Director's office.

FUND DONATIONS

You probably never stopped to figure how much you spent on fund-raising and other services for the United Crusade, the church, Boy Scouts, civil defense, etc. You can't deduct the value of your time and services, but you can deduct your out-of-pocket expenses while performing those services, such as the gas and oil if you used your car, meals and lodging while away from home overnight rendering volunteer services or attending meetings, and the cost of distinctive uniforms and accessories which are not suitable for general wear.

AUTO EXPENSES

Figure your auto expenses the easy way by claiming 5 cents-a-mile deduction for out-of-pocket operating costs while using your car for charity.

You can also claim parking fees and bridge tolls but not parking tickets or traffic fines.

Billionth Crossing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The one billionth vehicle crossed the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge yesterday, and it was a free ride for Ben H. Cutler Jr., and his family.

New York Financier Buys In Rohnert Park

A 90-acre parcel of Rohnert Park property in Sonoma County has been sold to a New York financier for commercial and industrial development.

The announcement was made by Paul Golis of Rohnert Park Realty, who handled the transaction. He said the land, which forms part of the tourist center planned for Rohnert Park, was purchased by H. L. Federman, a member of the New York and American Stock Exchanges for slightly under $500,000 from Wright and Oretsky, Rohnert Park contractors.

Golis said he is contributing an additional 16 acres of his own property to the project, which will become a joint venture development.

Planned on 32 acres is an automotive center, which will have a diagnostic center, garage, brake and wheel facilities and transmission, tire, auto body, upholstery service. There will also be a service station and a wholesale and retail automotive parts store. Another parcel has been set aside for new and used car sales.

Golis said the northerly 57 acres will be known as Federman Industrial Park and that he and Federman will either sell or build and lease manufacturing facilities. He said he is now negotiating with contractors to construct several buildings which will be made available for warehousing and to manufacturers for immediate occupancy.

Nixon's College Hit By Blaze

WHITTIER (AP) — A multi-alarm blaze heavily damaged Old Founder's Hall today at Whittier College from which President-elect Nixon was graduated in 1934. There were no reports of injuries.

Fire officials said the cause and damage estimates were not immediately determined.

The two-story classroom building formed the original core of the 67-year-old Quaker institution about 15 miles southeast of downtown Los Angeles.

Bank Hikes Dividend By 50 Pct.

A 75-cent dividend has been declared by directors of the Bank of Marin. The dividend is payable Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 18.

The dividend represents a 50 per cent increase over the bank's first dividend paid in January 1968.

W. P. Murray Jr., president, said the dividend increase was voted because of the upward trend in deposits, as well as a substantial increase in bank earnings this year.

The bank has now received approval from the State of California to open three branches: East San Rafael, (Medway Road), Northgate Industrial Park (Mitchell Drive), and Larkspur. All of these offices are planned to open during 1969.

In addition to the branch expansion, the bank has recently opened a trust department, offering complete fiduciary services which Murray said should contribute to the growth of the bank during the coming year.

Standing Appeal To Fill The Rear

LOUISVILLE (AP) — One driver on a Louisville bus has a standing appeal he makes during rush hours when all riders congregate at the front of the bus.

"All right, folks," he calls out. "Let's act like we're in church and fill up the rear."

Marin Building Permits Decline From October

Value of new construction in Marin last month fell 47.2 per cent below the October figure, the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau reported. The total also was 48.3 per cent below last November's figure.

New construction permits totaled $3,036,669 in November, with San Rafael at the top with a total of $794,412. San Rafael permits included 15 for residential units and 11 for commercial units.

Tiburon was second with a total of $332,150, including 10 residential units. Mill Valley followed with $314,725.

Permits issued in all areas of the county were for 64 residential units and 16 commercial buildings.

Schwabacher, Blair To Merge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Under merger plans announced Thursday, Blair & Co. of New York is to operate Schwabacker & Co., a San Francisco-based investment firm.

Schwabacker has 15 branches in five western states and Blair has 32 offices in 16 states, all east of the Mississippi River.

The firms announced they hoped to complete the merger by March 1 and that Blair would operate Schwabacher as its west coast division.

Terms of the merger were not made public, but all Schwabacher partners are to become stockholders of Blair.

Republican Unit Backs Hayakawa

A resolution commending acting president S. I. Hayakawa for keeping open San Francisco State College was passed unanimously last night by directors of the Marin Republican Council.

The board, meeting in the County Courthouse, praised Dr. Hayakawa "for his firm, courageous and enlightened stand in upholding the rule of law.

"It is high time that the public recognize the difference between academic freedom and anarchy, student participation versus mob rule, and that our state colleges belong to the taxpayers of the state of California, not to a few militant dissident," their resolution stated.

Council president Henry J. Broderick of Tiburon also announced the appointment of John A. Lord of Tiburon and Donald L. Blinco of Sausalito as co-chairmen of the council's annual dinner dance, scheduled for Feb. 8.

Marinite Wins Poster Contest

Matt Wiitala, a fifth grade student at San Clemente School in Corte Madera, won first place in the intermediate division of the Western International Keep Green poster contest sponsored by the Western Forestry and Conservation Conference.

Judging was Dec. 3 in San Francisco.

Matt's poster was the only winner from Marin County and one of three from California. There were 12 winners in four divisions in all.

Matt is the son of Maj. and Mrs. Walter W. Wiitala of 10 Seamast Passage, Corte Madera.

Charge Dropped

Richard Lawrence Boom, 24, of Petaluma, was cleared of a charge of burglary in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney reported that the alleged victim cannot be found to testify.

Convocation Fizzles At College Of Marin

A College of Marin convocation to consider nonviolent choices to student unrest fizzled out yesterday after an earnest round of discussions.

The convocation was to have ended with a one-hour reunion of discussion. Groups — which met separately and totaled about 100 students and faculty — to summarize points made at the discussions and combine them for presentation at another convocation to be scheduled early in the spring semester.

Only a handful of people, including Diane Howell, communications instructor who was acting chairman, appeared for the conclusion session at Olney Hall, however, and no discussion was held. An impromptu peace rally in front of the Student Center apparently captured the attention of many of the students, instead.

Miss Howell said results of the group talks will nonetheless be compiled in the near future and utilized at the next convocation.

Yesterday's convocation on the 3,000-student campus, called by the college's Values Committee, dealt mainly with discussion of possible use of the Student Center by the community, the San Francisco State College struggle, Black Students Union demands and teacher evaluation, and planning at the college and the proposed north campus at Novato.

Student James Muniz said the center, which now gives priority to students, faculty and the administration, could be opened to community meetings, to organizations like the Switchboard of Marin — a referral and information service headquartered in San Rafael — and to people who just want some place at night to go and chat.

Sam Johnston, an instructor in social psychology and also a part-time student, said the center could ideally remain open 24 hours a day, with volunteer students and faculty acting as supervisors. He said students could attend to additional janitorial duties.

San Francisco State College students Michael Upton and Patricia Goldie told another group that the strike at that school has been successful. Miss Goldie said the issue has not been a question of the students saying they want to take over the institution and run it, but rather to force the administration to give student voice to the selection of what courses should be taught.

Reviewed at the BSU and teacher evaluation gathering were black demands recently approved by the administration to include hiring of more black counselors, and a proposal by student Guy Bachelis for students to fill out questionnaires evaluating classes and teachers, and teacher hiring practices.

Calvin Scott, 21, BSU member of Marin City, said black students should be heard in the hiring of teachers for Afro-American courses because they know what qualities they want in an instructor.

"I think the young black student should have the final say as to who is hired," he said. "I don't think black students would try to recruit a teacher whose credentials are not in order."

Michael Hansen, chairman of a college committee for north campus planning, described the difficulties in determining what educational philosophy the campus should have.

"We're not looking for a single philosophy, we know that's absurd," he said. Hansen added that the result will have to be the "melting pot" of several philosophies.

Additional Vocational Study Urged

The vocational education program in Marin should be expanded, a group of educators agreed during an informal discussion last night with four members of the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Because of the flu, the nonemember commission could not muster a quorum at its meeting at the Civic Center. Chairman James Quiett, Richard Harding, Charles B. Weeks and the Rev. Francis Geddes were the only commissioners present.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis asked the Human Rights Commission to support financial autonomy for the county board of education. He reported he had applied for $93,000 in federal aid to train teachers to work with volunteers and help them become teachers' aides.

Philip W. Schneider, superintendent of the Sausalito School District, reported that his district has 11 teachers' aides ready to enter the New Careers program as soon as the county board of supervisors approves the program.

Picketing Resumes At Sonoma State

Picketing resumed today at Sonoma State College as students in sympathy with strike efforts at San Francisco State urged others to boycott classes.

Attendance appeared to be normal with most students avoiding contact with the two dozen pickets in front of Stevenson Hall, the main classroom building.

An estimated 60 students traveled in a motorcade from the Rohnert Park campus yesterday to take part in a 10 a.m. rally at strife-torn San Francisco State. Sonoma State strike leaders said no one in the local contingent was arrested or injured in the fracas with the San Francisco Police Tactical Squad that followed the rally.

No organized trip was planned today, but students traveling as individuals were reported on the San Francisco campus to show support for the movements of the Third World Liberation Front and Black Students Union.

The sympathy strikers picketed Monday at Sonoma State, but seemed to have little effect on the general campus population. Rain canceled a planned demonstration Tuesday and placards were exchanged for microphones Wednesday as striking students participated in a day-long convocation.

Nonstrikers joined the dissidents in discussion groups to condemn the actions of the California State College trustees and Chancellor Glenn Dumke. They charged due process had been violated in the firing of Black Panther leader George Murray and the appointment S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley as acting president.

New Tomales High Ahead Of Schedule

The new Tomales High School should be completed on May 15, Olson and Baum, Santa Rosa contractors, reported last night to the high school district board, according to Secretary Louise Bordessa.

The $995,400 school is not due for occupancy until September.

Architect Richard Marshall reported some soil erosion at the site due to the rains, Mrs. Bordessa said.

The Tomales High School District Board also:

CONTRACT — Signed a $9,369 contract with Pargas of Santa Rosa to supply a liquid propane tank for the new high school.

BONDS — Authorized the sale of $42,000 in bonds with bids to be opened on Jan. 14.

STUDENT TEACHERS—Signed an agreement with Sonoma State College for student teachers for next year.

CREDIT CARDS — Authorized use of telephone and gasoline credit cards, on advice of Marin Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Jan. 9 at the high school.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The one billionth vehicle crossed the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge yesterday, and it was a free ride for Ben H. Cutler Jr., and his family.

Harry Gilbert Wins Runoff At College

Harry Gilbert, a sophomore from San Anselmo, was elected spring semester vice president of the Associated Students at College of Marin yesterday in a runoff election.

He defeated Michael Pradia, leader of the Black Students Union on the campus, by a vote of 231 to 143.

Other results, announced earlier, were the election of David Brown as president with 376 votes to 204 for Chris Musser and 160 for O'Herrow Marshall; Peggie Guthrie, 517, uncontested for secretary; James Lee, 525, uncontested for treasurer; Susan Arago, 508, uncontested for rallies and assemblies commission; and Kimo Campbell, 532, uncontested for public relations.

Karen Greig was elected song leader; Charles Maltzahn, yell leader, and Michael Conroy, College Center commissioner, but number of votes cast for the three was not available today.

The election saw 766 ballots cast from an eligible list of 5,061 students, a turnout of 15 per cent. Student officers said the turnout was about normal, although the fall semester election last May drew about 35 per cent of the full-time students. A group called the Students for Academic Freedom was successful in electing about half of its candidates then.

The runoff for vice president resulted when Gilbert failed to gain sufficient votes during the Tuesday and Wednesday balloting. He got 314 votes, with Pradia receiving 228 and a third candidate, Dan Lochmann, 151.

Woman Arrested As Shoplift Suspect

A 20-year-old Mill Valley woman was arrested yesterday on suspicion to taking a pair of brown slacks from Macy's, Fourth and Court streets, San Rafael police said.

Linda A. Novak of 100 Adams Avenue was released on $315 bail and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Underwater Lots Sold In Sausalito

Sausalito Properties has sold 8.8 acres of its waterfront holdings to the Sausalito Yacht Harbor and the JHM Corp.

The four underwater blocks are adjacent to the yacht harbor between Humboldt and Railroad avenues.

The Sausalito Yacht Harbor is controlled by Madden and Lewis Co. and the JHM Corp. is a new organization in which J. Herbert Madden is a primary partner. The other partners have not been announced.

One of the four blocks will be filled for commercial development, if the proper permits can be obtained; two will be used for expansion of the yacht harbor and there are no plans for the fourth block as yet, Madden said yesterday.

A $135,000 deed of trust for two of the blocks was filed in the Marin County Recorder's office yesterday. Only a record of sale was filed for the other two lots.

Sale price for the property was not listed and the buyers requested that the documentary transfer tax stamps, which indicate the sale price, not be affixed to the deeds until they are mailed, a recorder's office representative said.

Two blocks purchased by the JHM corporation for which the deed of trust was filed have a fair market value list with the county assessor's office of $50,750. The block which is slated for fill is bounded by Johnson and Pine streets and Donahue and Humboldt avenues and is valued at $33,000. Directly outboard is the second block valued at $17,750.

The two other parcels, purchased by the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, are bounded by Johnson and Dolphin streets between Donahue and Railroad avenues and have a fair market value listing of $15,050 each.

In September, Sausalito Properties sold two underwater blocks located between Locust and Litho streets and Railroad and Humboldt avenues, to Zacks Inc. of Sausalito.

Sausalito Properties, headed by E. Elmore Hutchinson, Alexander M. Young and the late John Lord King, purchased the property in the early 1960s with plans to fill and develop it into a commercial residential area of waterfront hotels, motels, apartments and shops.

The city of Sausalito turned down the plans in 1964 and enacted a moratorium on bay fill within the city limits to prevent Sausalito Properties from filling the prime open water area.

In July, Hutchinson warned the city it had to enact some sort of plan for the central waterfront area or he would sell the property "in bits and pieces."

Youths Arrested In Sausalito Till Looting

Two youths were booked on suspicion of burglary after a till tap in the Village Fair yesterday, Sausalito police reported.

Reed Collins Backer, 18, of 33 Wellington Avenue, Ross, was booked at Marin County Jail and his 17-year-old companion was cited to Juvenile Hall.

Police said the pair entered the Kiosque, a beer garden, at 3 p.m. after the owner had stepped out, and Backer went behind the counter, opened the cash register and scooped out the money, handing some of it to the 17-year-old.

Two young men nearby saw the action and halted the pair as they left the Kiosque. Police said the two threw the money on the floor and one scuffled briefly before being subdued and held for police. Police did not identify the two men who stopped Backer and the juvenile.

Backer was held in lieu of $625 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

West Marin Density Bonus Draws Fire

Marin County Soil Conservation District directors last night unanimously adopted a resolution objecting to a proposed point system of determining building density in West Marin, reported recording secretary Matt H. Klemmer.

The density table approved Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission would give developers about .88 units of residential development per acre, with density bonuses for planned development and special plan features.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo, who drew up the density table, said it was aimed at discouraging tract home development and encouraging other uses, such as resort-commercial and clusters of multiple-unit residential development.

The soil district directors, however, said "the health, wealth and prosperity of the residents of West Marin will be greater with a 1.15 density without bonuses."

Their resolution urged the board of supervisors to reject the commission's recommendation, and adhere to a density of 1.15 units an acre. A density of .88 was termed "unacceptable" in their resolution.

Directors also voted to send a letter to Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, new president of San Francisco State College, commending him for keeping the college open.

Director Domingo Grossi Jr. was absent from the meeting, held in Point Reyes Station.

Jewelry, Cash Taken

Tommie A. Ternullo of 116 Blackfield Drive, Bel Aire, told sheriff's deputies yesterday that his home was burgled the day before by thieves who cut their way in with a glass cutter. Stolen were jewelry and cash with a total value of $1,230, officers said in their report today.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Dec. 13, the 348th day of 1968 with 18 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered and named by Dutch navigator Abel Tasman.

In 1918, American soldiers attached to the 3rd U.S. Army crossed the Rhine River at Coblenz, Germany.

In 1941, the Japanese demanded that Britain surrender Hong Kong. The British refused and the Japanese started a concentrated air attack on the crown colony.

In 1948, James Petrillo's 11 and one half month ban on phonograph records by members of his American Federation of Musicians ended.

A thought for the day: The late president Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "More than an end to war, we want an end to the beginnings of all war."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Never Close Mind To Bidding When Mapping Out Actual Play

A certain type of bridge player follows the football practice of using separate squads for different parts of the game. Our bridge player follows the bidding with one part of his mind but then shuts it off and uses a different part of his brain for the play of the cards. This works better in football than at the bridge table.

RUFF TRY

East took the top hearts and led a third heart for West to ruff. West then cashed the ace of diamonds and continued with a diamond to dummy's king. Since the defenders had already taken four tricks South needed the rest. He promptly led the nine of trumps from dummy and let it ride for a finesse.

West won with the king of spades, and South was down one. South claimed the rest of the tricks, and the defenders graciously canceled. They were quite satisfied to have a plus score of any kind, since South should have made his contract.

MISSING HIGH CARDS

When East showed up with the ace and king of hearts, South should have wondered what West held for his opening bid. South could see 20 high-card points in his own hand and the dummy, which left 20 points for the opponents. East had shown 7, and only 13 points were left for West's opening bid. Clearly, West was sure to hold all of the missing high cards for his opening bid.

DIDN'T THINK

In short, South should have known from the bidding that West held the king of spades. Since this meant that a spade finesse would not succeed South should have led out his ace of spades. There was a chance that the king was unguarded, and even a slim chance was better than none at all.

As it happened, the king of spades would have dropped, and South would have been a hero instead of a goat.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠—A Q J 10 6 5
♥—8 3 2

♣—K 8

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

This is a borderline decision, and there is no crime in bidding one spade if you have a reliable and conservative partner. With most partners you should wait for a slightly better hand for your opening bid. For example, you would open this hand if the king of clubs were the ace or if the queen of spades were the king.

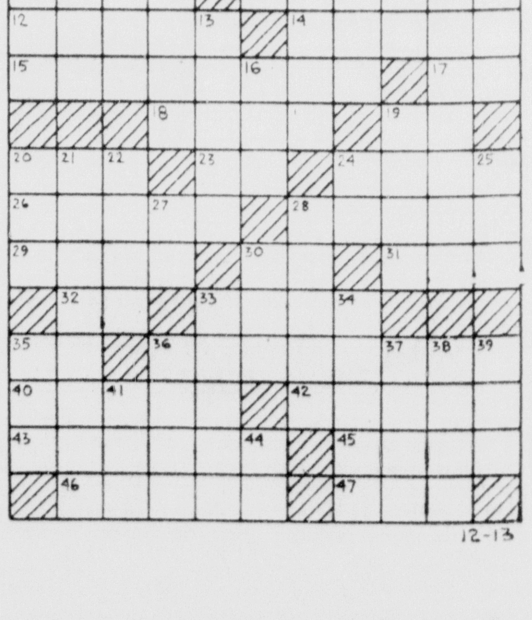
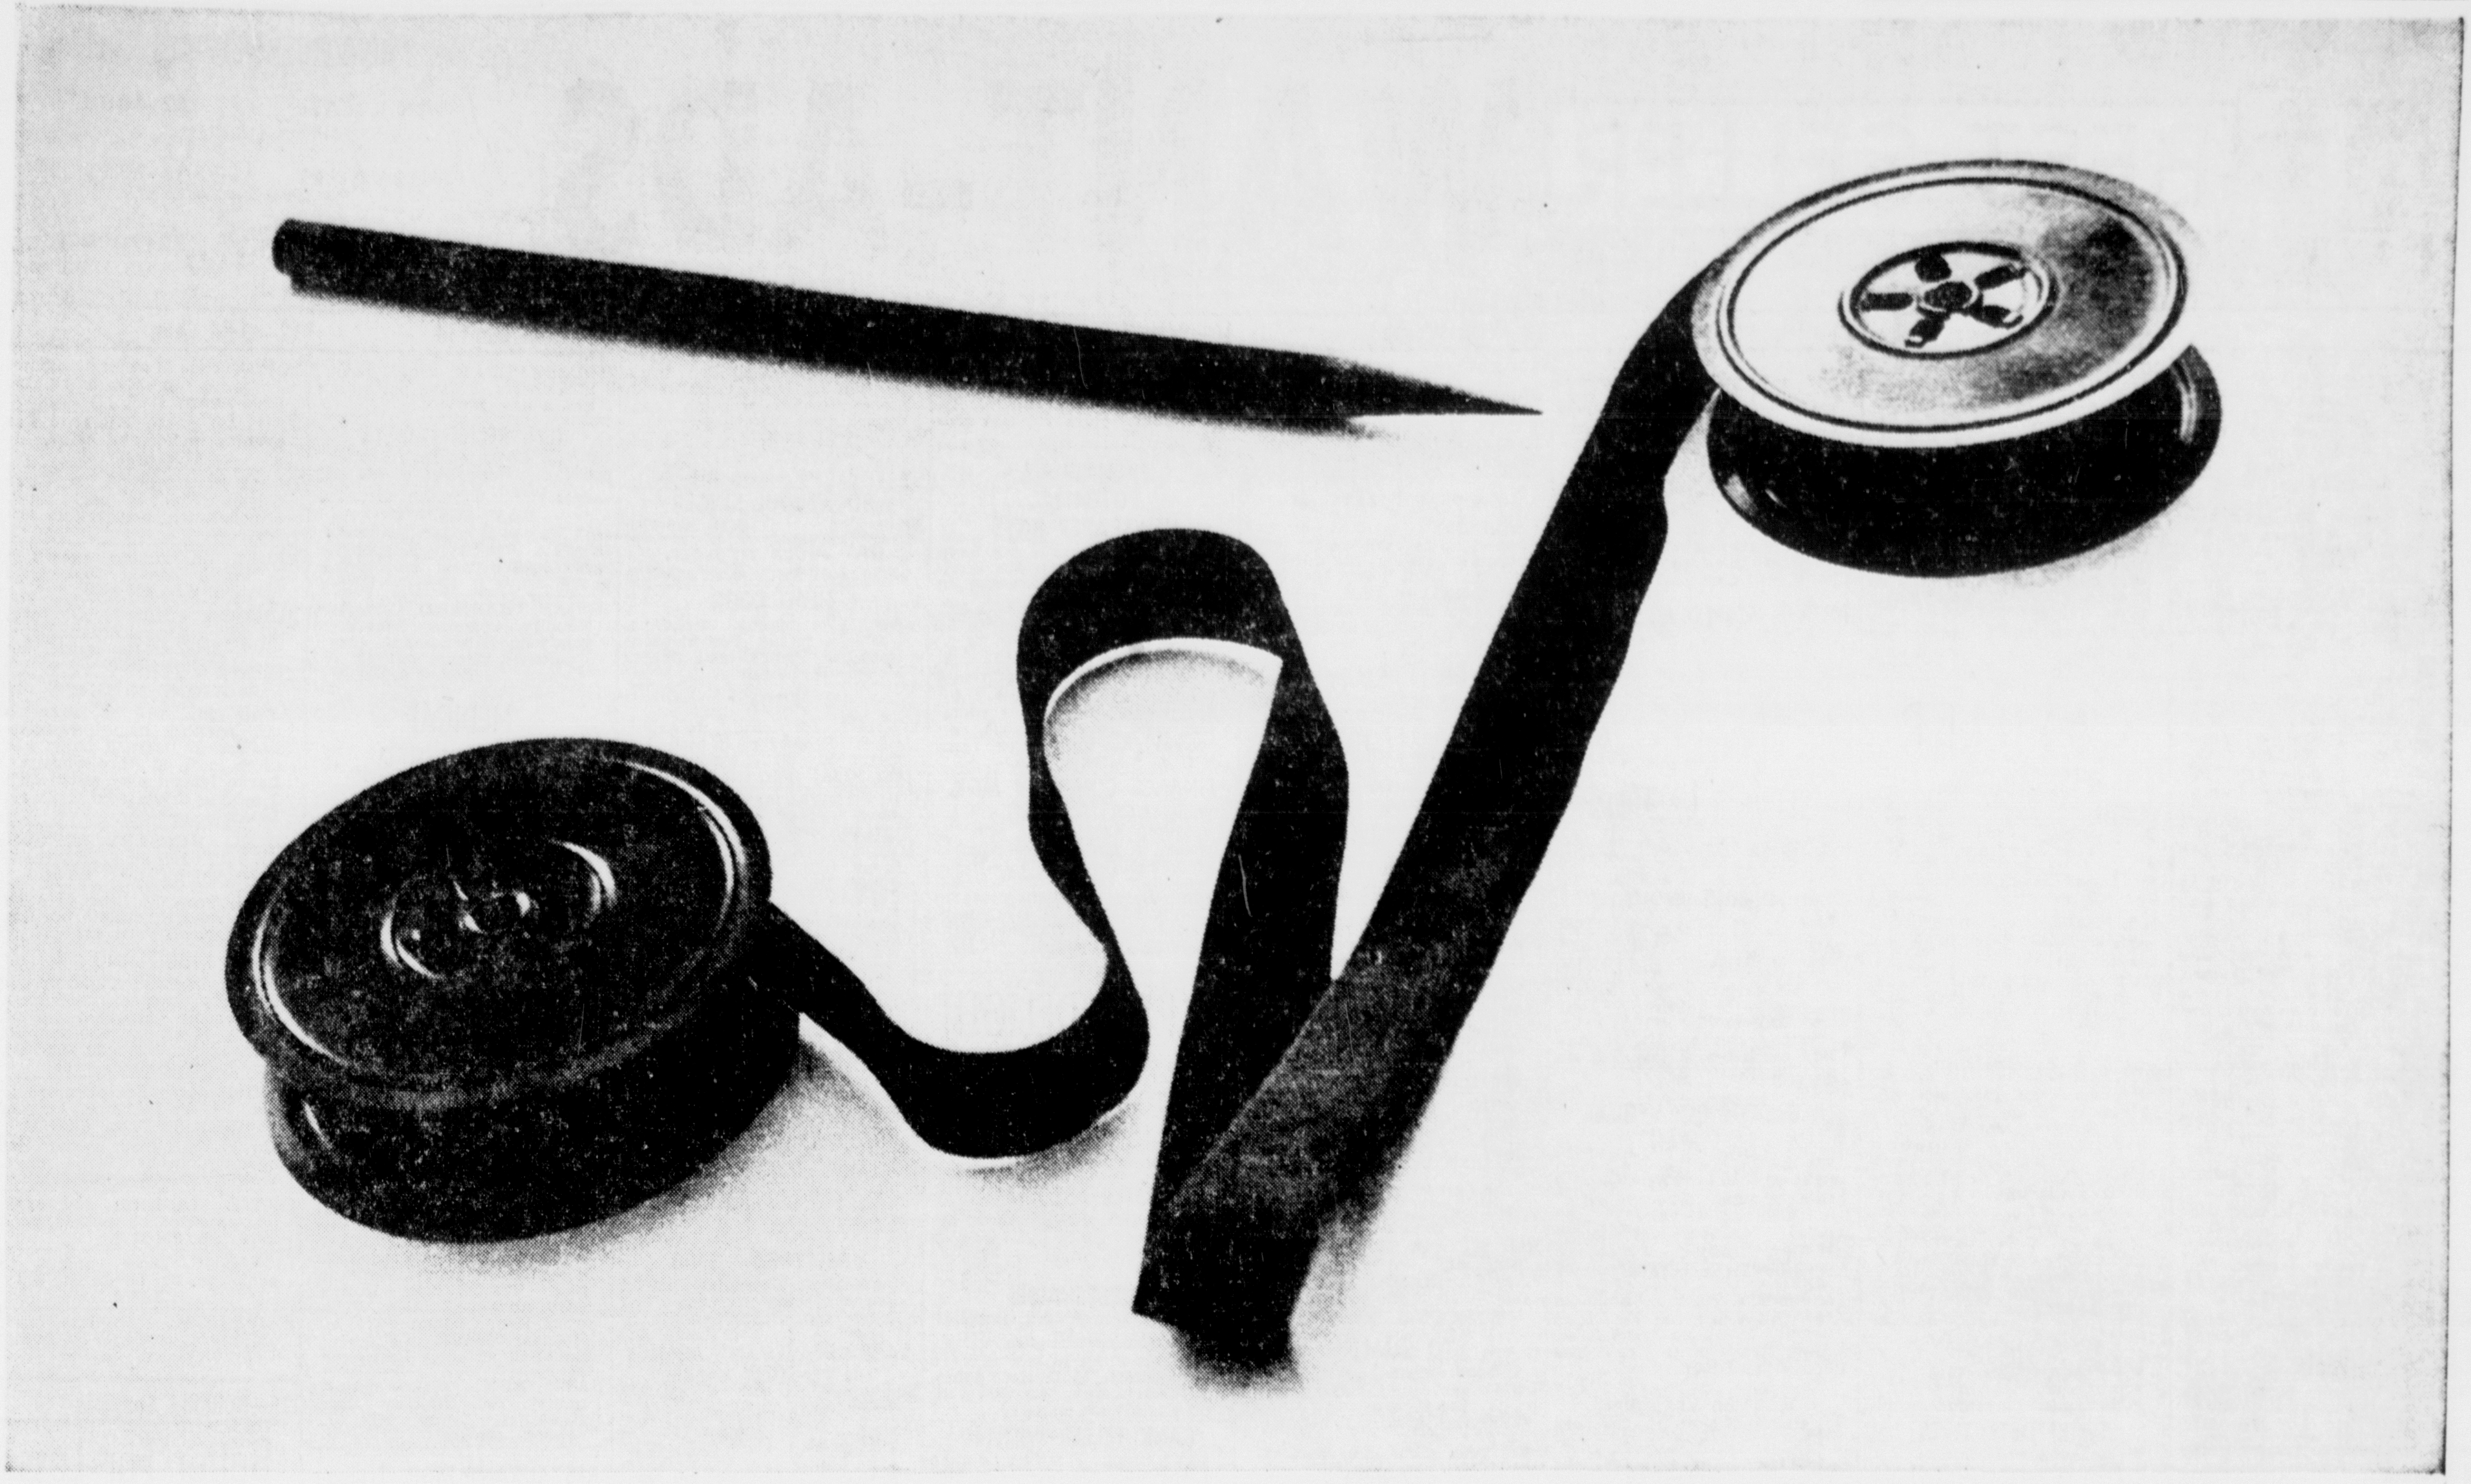
Yesterday's Answer





"Now, make me a newspaper by tonight"

Tall order . . . since a complete newspaper such as the Independent-Journal is at once the most complex yet lowest-priced product that can be made in one day.

Every day a new "model" . . . delivered by nightfall. To do this job against the clock—

- our 18 reporters comb the county, observing, interviewing, phoning, writing, getting the facts for you.
- thousands of AP and UPI newsmen check the world for you, put its pulse on the wire.
- teletypes chatter some 120,000 words to us, from as close as Mill Valley, as far away as Capetown.
- rolls of paper, each 850 lbs., move in from Canada and the Northwest.
- electronic impulses turn into photographs on a machine—the world in black and white, caught in action.
- the managing editor watches for the big stories, gauging the importance of each, overseeing the editorial "construction" of the paper, from content to design.
- pressmen feed the giant press with ink and paper—a taste of what's to come.
- "Circulation" readies for the job of distributing the paper, via 700 newspaperboys, to two out of three homes in the county.
- experts set type for news, for ads—enough in one day to fill a good-sized book.
- the retail advertising staff, 10 strong, contacts almost every business in the county . . . planning campaigns, offering merchants professional service in copywriting, layout and merchandising.
- the city editor "feels" for the news on a hundred fronts, hands out assignments, shaping the news force to the shape of events.
- engravers work their chemical magic, placing print and picture on metal.
- the women's editor and staff of 5 molds food and fashions, social doings, meetings, school events, into a women's world.
- syndicates send in both national and world-wide features—columns, comics, cartoons.
- specialists "make up" the paper, designing every page of news and ads.
- the art department creates illustrations, layouts, designs, cartoons.
- photographers race the news throughout the county, clicking the visual happenings of Marin today.
- ink for the press arrives not in bottles but tank trucks.
- color plates and color inks are being readied for ads, special editions, covers—all to brighten your reading eye.
- sports "jump" in the typewriters of the sports department and Willie Mays leaps up into a headline.
- "Classified" is setting up the county's daily market place, and the phone rings with "wanted" and "for sale."
- headlines are being written against deadlines—and the tight confines of space.
- vital statistics are being compiled; weather and stock reports are coming in.
- the mechancial superintendent moves the copy through a maze of linotypes, electronic typesetters and the precise hands of men who literally know type up-side down.
- the library is digging up background data for stories, filing photos, micro-filming each edition of the newspaper.
- legal ads get eagle-eyed checking for accuracy.
- orders are coming in from the nation's advertising agencies with mats for advertisements—everything from autos to ant spray.
- issues become the tissue of editorials—the reasoned interpretation of events.
- proofreaders scan every line of news and advertising trying to hold errors to a minimum against the pressure of time.
- letters to the editor are being read for possible publication.
- the dispatch office is moving ads into production—checking size, type, mats, insertion dates, art, photos—a hundred elements.
- our national representatives are meeting with ad agencies and advertisers in New York, Detroit, Chicago—a dozen cities—telling them about Marin County and its newspaper.
- special contributors' columns on fishing, baseball and many others are being processed.
- Marin Magazine is being dummied; stories developed for the Saturday edition—picturing life in Marin.
- the business office moves against a mountain of financial and administrative detail.
- stereotypers cast the weighty cylinders for the big press—the final imprint of the news on metal.
- last minute news comes through and the front page changes under the expert fingers of typographers and the eye of the editor.

Station Wagon
$1895

Here's a local Special 4 Dr. station wagon that we sold new in '66 to local lady and just took back in trade on another new Buick.

This clean little all yellow-colored wagon hasn't a mark of wear anyplace & either inside or out. Used almost exclusively for local shopping. Fully equipped including power steering, automatic, radio, heater, V-8 plus all the other Buick luxury extras. Low mileage wagon that looks like at least a '68 model.

JANUARY'S STARS

Venus Glows Even More Brightly

By SCIENCE SERVICE

The beginning of a new year is a time to review the past 12 months — and to look ahead at what is coming. Unlike human affairs, many events in the heavens can be predicted with confidence.

Year after year, even over several human lifetimes, the stars appear similarly in the same months. The planets, however, come at varying dates.

Venus is increasing in prominence. On Jan. 26, farthest east of the sun, it will set the longest time after sunset. But sunset itself will be later each evening. Thus, by the clock, Venus will set later and later until early March.

On March 3 it will be at greatest brilliance — about half again as bright as now. For a few weeks around April 8, when it will be nearly in front of the sun, it will not be visible. By early May, however, having passed to the west of the sun, it will rise and shine in the east before sunrise.

After reaching greatest brilliance again on May 14, it will swing far out beyond the sun and by December will be lost in its glare. In the spring of 1970 it will again be an evening star.

Jupiter moves through the sky more slowly. Rising now toward midnight, each succeeding month will bring it into view about two hours earlier. On March 21 it will be opposite the sun, rising at sunset and setting at sunrise. Thus it will be visible all night. By early summer it will set during the evening. On Oct. 9 it passes behind the sun. After that it will be a morning star, shining in the east before sunrise.

Saturn, now visible in the evening, will be gone by April 18, when it moves behind the sun. Then it, too, will become a morning star. On June 11 it will pass very close to Venus.

In early spring Mars will be visible in the evening and will remain so for the rest of the year. It will brighten until early June, when it comes closest to the earth — less then 45 million miles away. Then it will be about a sixth as bright as Venus is now. By year's end it will have faded to less than a fifteenth of its June brightness.

The best chance of seeing Mercury will come around May 5, when it will be low in the west at dusk.

The year will be a poor one for eclipses. Twice, on March 18 and Sept. 11, the moon will be in front of the sun, but neither eclipse will be total. On each occasion the moon will be far enough away that it will not completely hide the solar disk. These will be annular eclipses. That is, a ring of the sun's surface will appear around the dark moon.

For the March event this will be visible along a narrow path from the Indian Ocean extending into the Pacific northeast of Australia. In September, the path of visibility will traverse the Pacific Ocean, hundreds of miles off the coast of North America. Then it will go into South America and end in western Brazil.

A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible over North America, except for the Northeastern United States and eastern Canada.

With Venus steadily brightening as it draws away from the sun, it has become the most conspicuous object in the evening sky except for the moon. You'll see it in the west after sunset—well before any other star or planet.

The accompanying maps show the sky as it appears about 10 p.m., local standard time, Jan. 1. It will look about the same at 9 p.m. Jan. 15 and at 8 p.m. on Jan. 31. During the first half Venus will set before these times but its position on Jan. 31 is shown. Then it is in the constellation of Aquarius, the water carrier, whose stars are too faint to be depicted.

A little higher, in Pisces, the fishes, is another planet. This is Saturn, about an eightieth as bright as Venus. It does however, equal a star of the first magnitude.

In the south we find the brilliant constellations that make the winter evening sky so glorious. One is Orion, the warrior, with two first magnitude stars: Betelgeuse and Rigel. Between them are three fainter stars that form the warrior's belt.

A little lower, to the left, is the great dog, Canis Major, with Sirius, brightest star visible in the nighttime sky. But even this in only about one eighth as bright as Venus.

Farther left and higher stands Procyon, in Canis Minor, the lesser dog. Still higher you come to Gemini, the twins, with first magnitude Pollux and second magnitude Castor.

To the right of Orion shines reddish Aldebaran in Taurus, the bull. And nearby overhead (shown on the northern sky map) is Auriga, the charioteer. Capella is its brightest star.

A third planet will appear in the western evening sky about Jan. 13 but it will be rather difficult to find. This is Mercury, to the east of the sun. For a few days it will remain above the southwestern horizon for a short time after sunset.

By midnight, if you look toward the east, you'll see another very bright planet. This is Jupiter, in Virgo, the virgin. Mars, considerably fainter will appear about 2 a.m., in Libra, the scales.

On Jan. 3 the earth will be 91.4 million miles from the sun, closest for 1969. After that the distance will increase until July 5 when we'll be 94,510,000 miles away.

It may seem strange to have winter in the Northern Hemisphere when the sun is nearest and summer when it is farthest away. That's because the sun is so low at this time of year. In July it climbs much higher into the sky. Its rays are more concentrated as they fall on the ground almost vertically at noon.

Over $4 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny has raised $4,569,287 in the last 12 years for symphony orchestras — as a violin soloist, a spokesman said today. Benny's benefit performances brought in $21,234 last Saturday at Riverside; $210,000 at Oakland, on Monday, and $20,035 at Fresno, on Wednesday, the spokesman reported.

Suspects Freed On Recognizance

Two Fairfax men and a Santa Rosa man, arrested Tuesday by Fairfax police, were booked into Marin County Jail on $1,250 bail each on suspicion of possession of marijuana, but were subsequently released on their own recognizance Tuesday by Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported that Russell M. Guidi and Joseph K. Adams, both 20 and both of 123 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, and Brian King of Santa Rosa were released on $1,250 bail each.

While looking for two suspects in another case, police apprehended the three men after smelling marijuana outside an apartment at 123 Willow Avenue.

Nine More GIs Granted Asylum

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Sweden granted asylum today to nine American servicemen opposed to U.S. Vietnam war policy, raising to 149 the number of GIs in legal exile here.

The Alien's Commission said it granted asylum to the new nine on the usual "humanitarian grounds."

The nine GIs given refuge in this neutral country all told the commission they opposed the Vietnam War and feared they would be sent to fight there.

None of the GIs given asylum today was from the Far West.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Alcoholism Progresses To Death In Series Of Stages

VAN DELLEN

Some say that the alcoholic who admits to a drinking problem has taken the first step on the road to recovery. This is partially true, because many confirmed alcoholics have said this many times but are not convinced inwardly.

The real change in attitude occurs in attitude occurs when the drinker realizes that he is trapped in a web that is stronger than he is. By this time, he knows that the next drink may be his last.

Alcoholics generally pass through definite stages that vary only in duration. The pre-alcoholic period offers the clue that the condition may be a disease. Something in the internal physical or psychological environment predisposes one man toward hopeless addiction while 25 others drink socially with impunity. This lone indivudual extends himself into constant or regular relief drinking.

AT THIS STAGE, a problem drinker emerges. He consumes more alcohol to achieve the same degree of satisfaction and feeling of release. Blackouts develop. His evening behavior may not give him away, but the morning after he remembers nothing.

The next step is neaking and gulping drinks instead of sipping.

Solitary imbibing follows, mainly to save face. Loss of control occurs, and once he starts hitting the bottle, everything else becomes progressively unimportant. At this point he is unable to stop.

DAYTIME BOOZING becomes more common, and he graduates into a chronic alcoholic. Worries that the habit will interfere with his responsibilities take a complete turnabout. Now he fears that job and duty will interfere with drinking.

From here on he rationalizes pities himself, and attempts to escape where he will not be known. Constant drunkeness takes its toll in reduced physical stamina and mental stability.

He becomes a candidate for violent death, suicide, or death from natural causes because of his rundown condition.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

NUMBNESS AT 70

A. M. L. writes: For the last few months I have experienced a numbness and tingling sensation in the ends of my fingers and toes. I am at a loss to account for this, except I am past 70 and this must be poor ciruclation. I exercise daily but do not get too much relief. What can I do about this problem?

REPLY

May I suggest a complete physical examination? This may stem from poor circulation, but anemia and disorders of the nervous system may also play a role.

THE BOTTOMLESS PIT

A reader writes: Is a practically unlimited appetite considered a sign of disease?

REPLY

Not in teen-agers, lumberjacks, and football players. Hearty appetites usually are a sign of good health. But gorging one's self may lead to obesity or indigestion. Now and then a metabolic disease such as diabetes or an overactive thyroid is responsible.

TABULATING BURPS

A reader writes: I belch 20 times each day. Why do I do this?

REPLY

Do you stop to count? Among the causes are air swallowing, gulping the food, indigestion, or too much gas. Now and then the condition is a nervous habit which must be controlled by will power.

FOOD FOR NERVES

H. M. writes: What are the most essential foods one must eat to keep the nerves in tip-top condition?

REPLY

The normal balanced diet.

DEATH VIA ELECTROCUTION

H. Y. Y. writes: Last summer some persons were boating when the mast of the craft came into contact with an overhead power line. This resulted in one of the passengers being electrocuted. Is being electrocuted in this manner the same as being put to death in the electric chair?

REPLY

Death results in both instances, regardless of the source of power.

PERKING UP APPETITE

A reader writes: How can a poor appetite be perked up?

REPLY

First the cause must be eliminated. The desire for food is affected by a variety of ailments, including oral lesions. Emotional and psychological factors also play a role. Appetite also is affected by how attractively food is served, how it tastes, the environment, and the dinner companions.

Some people never work hard enough to build up an appetite. There are many tonics including vitamin B, cocktails, and anabolic agents. An oldie is iron quinine and strychnine.

TALKING WHILE EATING

A reader writes: If a person ate and talked at the same time, would he choke to death?

REPLY

No, but persons who have good manners do not chatter away with a mouth full of food. There have been reports of people choking while talking and trying to swallow a large piece of meat at the same time.

Theft Suspect Wounds Clerk

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A department store clerk who tried to collar a shoplifter was shot in the neck yesterday by the suspected thief who then fled through a crowd of Christmas shoppers.

Kermitt Smith, 23, was listed in good condition at a hospital where he was treated for a wound caused by a small caliber bullet which grazed his neck, narrowly missing a major artery.

Smith told police he saw a youth snatch a radio from a shelf and start to walk away with two companions. When the clerk approached the youth, he pulled a pistol and fired.

The youths escaped down an escalator before police could arrive on the scene in the third floor radio department at the downtown Emporium.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KGO (7), 7:30 p.m.—Country-western singing star Jimmy Dean hosts singer Michele Lee, the Checkmates Ltd., comic Myron Cohen, folk singer Bobbie Gentry and the comedy team of Elias and Shaw on "Operation Entertainment" before audience of 25,000 soldiers at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m.—"NET Playhouse" presents "A Crack in the Ice," a dramatization of a short story by 19th Century Russian writer Nikolai Leskov.

KPIX (5), 9 p.m.—"Advance to the Rear" is a comedy movie, starring Glenn Ford, Stella Stevens and Melvyn Douglas.

Burgess Meredith narrates the dramatic and historic story of man on deep waters, from the period of sailing ships rounding the Horn to the great super-ships and luxurious pleasure craft of today.

Car Master Key Mailings Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department issued regulations today on mailing of master keys for motor vehicles, carrying out a new law aimed at curbing car thefts.

The new regulations make it illegal to mail master keys or advertisements for them except to lock manufacturers, professional locksmiths, motor vehicle manufacturers or dealers and government agencies at the federal, state and local levels. Shipments must be marked that they comply with the law.

Those knowingly violating the law are subject to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than a year, or both.

No Grudge Held

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos yesterday appointed as Finance Undersecretary Roman Cruz Jr., the son of the late Judge Roman Cruz Sr., who in 1939 convicted Marcos of murder and sentenced him to 17 years in prison. Marcos appealed the sentence and won acquittal.

Big Wave Pulls Soldier To Sea

CARMEL (UPI) — A 21-year-old Army private was drowned yesterday when a huge wave swept him out to sea at Point Lobos, three miles south of Carmel.

Pfc. Kenneth Roy Stedman of South Lake Tahoe was walking on the beach with Airman Lonnie Fliffer, 22, McClelan Air Force Base, and Bradley W. Raymond, 22, Walnut Creek, when the wave engulfed them.

Stedman was washed out to sea and Fliffer was swept onto a rocky crevice where he was dragged to safety by Raymond.

Final King Article Cites U.S. As Unprepared In Racial Area

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., in his last published work, said America is "tragically unprepared" to solve the problems of race relations and poverty.

The Negro leader shot down in Memphis, Tenn., in April said, however, he was optimistic that justice for all black people would come, but not "without radical changes in the structure of our society."

"The nation waited until the black man was explosive with fury before stirring itself even to partial concern," King wrote.

"Confronted now with the interrelated problems of war, inflation, urban decay, white backlash and a climate of violence, it is now forced to address itself to race relations and poverty, and it is tragically unprepared.

"What might once have been a series of separate problems now merge into a social crisis of almost stupefying complexity."

In a "Testament of Hope" published yesterday in the 15th holiday anniversary issue of Playboy Magazine, the Negro advocate of nonviolence civil disobedience indicted Presidents Kennedy and Johnson for their for their foreign and domestic policies; urged more political and economic power for the Negro, and said solutions to his people's problems "must be constructive and rational" and that rioting accomplishes nothing.

"I am not sad that black Americans are rebelling," he said. "This was not only inevitable but eminently desirable. Without this magnificent ferment among Negroes, the old evasions and procrastinations would have continued indefinitely. . .these are our bright years of emergence; though they are painful ones, they cannot be avoided."

King, castigated by militant blacks for moving too slow on racial issues, said, "no president has really done very much for the American Negro." He said Presidents Kennedy and Johnson received much undeserved credit for helping Negroes.

"This credit has accrued to Lyndon Johnson and John Kennedy only because it was during their administrations that Negroes began doing more for themselves.

"Kennedy didn't voluntarily submit a Civil Rights Bill, nor did Lyndon Johnson. In fact, both told us at one time that such legislation was impossible."

He criticized the Johnson administration's military build-up and the U.S. role in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic intervention. he charged the present leadership is "amazingly devoid of statesmanship; and when creative statesmanship wanes, irrational militarism increases.

"In this sense, President Kennedy was far more of a statesman than President Johnson. He was a man who was big enough to admit when he was wrong—as he did after the Bay of Pigs incident. But Lyndon Johnson seems to be unable to make this kind of statesmanlike gesture in connection with Vietnam."

In citing progress of the black man, King said "when doubts emerge, we can remember that only yesterday Negroes were not only grossly exploited but negated as human beings. They were invisible in their misery.

"But the sullen and silent slave of 110 years ago, an object of scorn at worst or of pity at best, is today's angry man. He is vibrantly on the move; he is forcing change, rather than waiting for it in pathetic futility.

"In less than two decades, he has roared out of slumber to change so many of his life's conditions that he may yet find the means to accelerate his march forward and overtake the racing locomotive of history."

Ulster Leader Gains Support

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The ruling Union party gave Prime Minister Terence O'Neill a vote of confidence last night for his efforts to moderate Northern Ireland's political and religious feuding.

O'Neill sought the endorsement from his Unionist party's members in the Ulster Parliament after his dismissal of Home Minister William Craig threatened to divide the party. But of 35 members attending the crisis meeting, 28 voted to support O'Neill, four abstained and Craig and one other walked out. The 35th man O'Neill, did not vote.

Craig, the minister in charge of the police, took a hard line toward demonstrations by members of the Roman Catholic minority charging that they were discriminated against in housing, employment and voting regulations.

Nixon Cabinet Sparks Broken Pledge Charge

BOSTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., has accused President-elect Richard M. Nixon of breaking a campaign pledge by appointing an all-Republican cabinet.

"Undoubtedly they are all good men," McCormack said in a statement yesterday. "But in view of Nixon's plea for bipartisan unity it is noticeable, and very significant, that there are no Democrats or Negroes among them."

New Recipe To Combat Airport Fog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A dash of salt, some detergent and a chemical used in fertilizer — that's the recipe aviation officials hope will keep fog from cooking up more trouble at International Airport.

Authorities said yesterday the ingredients are ready for use in an $80,000 experiment they hope will keep fog from continuing to sock in the airport. International has been closed several times this year when the mist cut visibility below federal safety standards.

The airport commission is expected to approve the experiment when its meets Wednesday. Then, says Department of Airports official Bert Lockwood, the next time fog threatens to shut down the airport, three small planes loaded with the ingredients will sprinkle the sky.

If successful, the ingredients will turn the fog into light drizzle.

Lockwood said the fog seeding experiment is similar to cloud seeding measures used to produce rain. Officials hope the sky over the airport can be cleared within 20 minutes after the sprinkling.

Lockwood said the seeding planes would be based at Van Nuys Airport because the Van Nuys facility is "close to LA International and it's the most fog free airport in the area."

The project will be operated under a three and one-half month contract with E. Bollay Associates, a Santa Barbara meteoriogical firm, said Lockwood. The airlines will pick up 90 per cent of the project's $80,000 cost.

Chile's constitution dates from 1925, when it established the presidential system.

City Fathers To Install New Goldenaire Slate

Officers of the San Rafael Goldenaires will be installed at a meeting at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets, San Rafael.

New officers are Carl Rosenquist, president; Mary England and Helen Reinhardt, vice presidents; Mary Courtney, recording secretary; Florence Whitely, corresponding secretary; Ernie Blagg, treasurer, and Roy Rhodes, Calvin Fields and Anita Munter, members at large.

Installing officers will be San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, Councilman Louis H. (Bud) Baar and Charles Tacchi, chairman of the parks and recreation commission which sponsors the Goldenaires.

The meeting is open to Marin adults over 50. Further information is available at the center office.

Raccoons usually choose a moist, forested home but are found on the plains of central Texas.

Only Pride At Stake When Rams Meet Colts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

How will the Los Angeles Rams react Sunday?

That's the only intriguing question left about a clash that was expected to be the best of the entire season.

It'll be Los Angeles vs. Baltimore Sunday—and it'll mean nothing. Except pride. Baltimore, now 12-1, can post the best record in the regular season in the National Football League since Green Bay went 13-1 in 1962.

Los Angeles can only spoil the record a bit.

The Rams—with a possible $25,000-a-man riding on the outcome—made an almost unbelieveable blunder last Sunday. They let the officials take a down away from them—and they didn't even notice it.

Sure, it was the officials fault but the thing that's still hard to believe is that the Rams never realized it.

George Allen is supposed to be one of the brightest, quickest coaches in pro football

LOST CHANCE

He let the officials rob him of a down -- and yet even when it was all over and it was brought to his attention, he wasn't sure.

He said, "it was possible but I'll have to take a look at the films." That look proved the Rams only got three downs after the holding penalty with 30 seconds left.

None of the other Ram players realized it either—particularly quarterback Roman Gabriel, who may have still been a bit shaken up from his first half injury. But why didn't any of the other players realize it?

That's why the fans will be watching to see how the Rams play Sunday. Will they bounce back from that worst of football mistakes—the "mental error"—and spill the Colts to salve their pride? Or did they leave their season in that final minute of play last week?

This is the week of the anti-climax in the NFL. Tomorrow Cleveland plays St. Louis in a nationally televised game but this'll be another game only for pride since Cleveland clinched the Century Division title last week.

TITLE AT STAKE

The only title undecided is in the Central Division between Minnesota and Chicago. The game that means something is Chicago vs. Green Bay. Since Minnesota is considered almost a cinch to win at Philadelphia, it's up to the Bears to knock off Green Bay to advance to the Western Conference title game.

If the Bears win, they'll be assured of at least a tie with Minnesota for first place and that means Chicago advances since the Bears beat the Vikings twice during the regular season. If Green Bay knocked off Chicago, the crown goes to Minnesota unless Philadelphia pulls an improbable upset.

In three games, both teams will be winding up the season. It'll be San Francisco at Atlanta, Detroit at Washington and Pittsburgh at New Orleans in those contests.

In the other game, Dallas warms up for its Eastern Conference title clash with Cleveland by going to New York. Dallas suffered one of its two losses at the hands of the Giants this season and they'll want to avenge that.

JIM GILMARTIN

Tringali Headed For USF Grid Job

SCOOP — A little bird keeps telling me that former College of Marin football ace Vince Tringali, now the highly successful coach of St. Ignatius High School, will be named head football coach at University of San Francisco any day now. Pat me on the back and call me "Scoop" when it happens.

TAKE A DEEP BREATH — Author Jim Benagh of New York City, writing a book called "Incredible Athletic Feats," has asked our help for a chapter on an event that took place March 15, 1959 in San Rafael.

That was when Robert Foster of Richmond, a member of the Marin Skindiving Club, set a world record by holding his breath under water for the incredible time of 13 minutes, 42.5 seconds.

Feature Of Boat Show

It was a feature of Marin Rod and Gun Club's Sports and Boats Show at Bermuda Palms Motel. It beats by 7.5 seconds the former breathholding record set by Dr. Robert Keast of San Rafael the previous summer.

The divers pumped pure oxygen into their lungs for approximately 30 minutes prior to their dives, but once under water they had no source of air.

Foster gave me this vivid description of his record performance: "Well, I just had to try to prove a point. Some of my friends didn't think I could do it and I wanted to show them that it could be done. Besides that, everyone wants to break another man's record on something he's interested in. Frankly, I kind of doubted that I could actually hold my breath anywhere near Dr. Keast's record. I figured I could do 11 or 12 minutes, but not over 13.

It Was Extremely Painful

"The Bermuda Palms pool water was a cool 50 degrees and at first it felt as though somebody was jumping on me with hob-nail boots. It was extremely painful for the first three minutes. My whole body felt cramped, as if I were tied up in a million little knots. Then the pain gradually left my fingers and hands and arms and I began to relax."

Dr. Keast, an anesthesiologist, and another underwater record holder, Al Giddings Jr. of Fairfax, kept a close watch on Foster, who was held underwater by a 75-pound weight.

Foster continues his story: "I stayed relaxed until I passed the nine minute mark. Then came more punishment. My diaphragm and chest began convulsing. I thought my lungs would collapse. The last few minutes were agonizing. Yet I knew I wasn't in any real danger; Dr. Keast watched my eyes and checked my pulse. If anything was wrong I'd have been dragged out pronto.

Record Still Stands

"Giddings bent over me and signalled I had passed the 13 minute mark and I didn't think I could take any more."

He took 42.5 seconds more and the record still stands to this day and is likely to remain unsurpassed. The crowd of an estimated 500 persons let out a mighty roar when Foster emerged from his watery confinement 10 feet below the surface. He wore a skindiving suit. He was 32 years old at the time, an electronics specialist at the Stanford Oil Co. refinery in Richmond, and practiced for his record dive by holding his breath for five-plus-minute intervals every chance he got.

I hope this information helps Mr. Benagh's book because it was truly an incredible fact.

Seals Have Big Night Against Red Wings

By DAVID DIETZ

OAKLAND — The Seals departed on a four-game road trip today after their sweetest triumph of the season — indeed of their career.

Skating and checking robustly, the Seals blanked the Detroit Red Wings 6-0 last night at the Coliseum Arena. It was their fifth win this year over a team from the established Eastern Division of the National Hockey League and the first shutout of a team from that division in the Seals' two years in the league.

"It was a very strong effort," Seals coach Fred Glover said modestly in the dressing room later. "We were skating and checking and when we're not doing this we have problems."

For Seals goalie Gary Smith, it was his second shutout of the season, having blanked Philadelphia a week ago.

Rookie Norm Ferguson led the Seals' offense with two goals, playing anew on a line with star center Ted Hampson and Gerry Ehman, who also scored a goal and successfully checked Gordie Howe. The other Seals goals were scored by Bill Hure, Hampson and Gary Jarrett.

The Seals threw 40 shots at Red Wing goalie Roger Crozier, while Smith blocked 25.

The Seals held their first stick night last night, distributing official hockey sticks to the first 1,000 juniors entering the arena, but still only drew 4,238 fans.

After a road trip taking them to Detroit, Chicago, Minnesota and Toronto, the Seals return to the Coliseum Arena next Friday night against the St. Louis Blues, who are leading the Western Division. The following night is another stick night, this time at the Cow Palace against the Philadelphia Flyers.

Marin Prep Cagers Win, Tars Lose

Drake, Novato Triumph

The Marin County Athletic League salvaged pride and records in second-round play of the Drake Invitational Basketball Tournament yesterday, assuring itself one spot in tomorrow's finals.

Drake and Novato high schools both won yesterday after Redwood of Larkspur and Terra Linda had fallen by the wayside Wednesday.

The result is somewhat suicidal all the way around, with Drake playing Novato in one semifinal clash at 8:30 tonight, and Redwood meeting Terra Linda in consolation play at 4 p.m.

SEMIS

The other seim-final game finds Petaluma meeting Lowell (S.F.) at 7 p.m. while Napa and Marysville, victims of Drake and Novato, meet at 5:30 p.m.

Drake did not exactly snow Napa, an early-season 23-point victim of San Rafael. The Pirates squeezed by on a pair of late free throws and a hook shot by Fred Westcott to win 73-71.

Novato survived early-game muddling to conquer Marysville, 69-54.

PUNCH

Drake, now 1-1, found plenty of scoring punch but didn't have a thing on Napa's 5-10 guard Kirk Schultz, who blistered the nets all game long, hitting on 14 of 19 shots from outside and making all three of his free throw attempts for a fat 31 points.

The Pirates balanced things out with the quartet of Westcott Clark Jamison, Dave Alvarado and Jeff Meeker. Westcott wheeled for 19 points, Jamison and Alvarado had 16 each and Meeker added 10 points.

TRAILED

Drake trailed 71-69 in the seesaw affair when Meeker sank two free throws to tie it at 2:37 and Westcott won it on a hook shot with only 47 seconds remaining.

Novato stumbled like icemen in the first period, falling behind 10-1 and trailing 14-7 going into the second period. The Hornets then pulled to within 26-25 at the half and salted Marysville away in the second half, a 24-11 bombing in the final period nailing down the win.

BALANCE

The Hornets also showed balance with steadily improving Bob Ament leading the way with 18 points. Larry Ferguson knocked in 17 points, Steve McNally had 14 and Ed Herrnberger, 12.

The win was Novato's fourth against one loss, with the defeat coming at tthe hands of Petaluma High early in the season.

Virginia Tech Against Mississippi In Liberty Bowl

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football's bowl season opens full blast tomorrow when atonement-minded Virginia Tech squares off against explosive Mississippi in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.—the first of more than a dozen major bowl games during the next four weeks.

Virginia Tech, 7-3, will be trying to avenge its 1966 Liberty Bowl loss to Miami, and possibly present Coach Jerry Claiborne a farewell gift. He's considered a top candidate for coaching vacancies at Kentucky and Baylor.

Mississippi rode the arms and legs of sensational sophomore quarterback Archie Manning to a 6-3-1 mark this season.

Piracy has been a big asset for the Gobblers this season—they've stolen the ball 44 times from rivals while losing it only 14 times.

Three Tech players were hit by the flu this week—including starting halfback Frank Beamer—but Claiborne said he thinks "they'll be all right." He plans to start junior Al Kincaid at quarterback.

Meanwhile, North Dakota State, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press' final small college poll, tackles Arkansas State in the Pecan Bowl at Arlington, Tex.—one of four NCAA college division championships to be decided tomorrow.

The others are Fresno State vs. Humboldt State in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento; Louisiana Tech vs. Akron in the Grantland Rice Bowl at Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Indiana University, Pr., vas Delaware in the indoor Boardwalk Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J. All four games will be televised regionally (ABC-TV.)

In addition, Troy State, Ala. meets Texas A&L for the NAIA small college championship at Montgomery, Ala.

Fresno is led by senior fullback Mike Flories, who gained 724 yards in 131 carries, and Little All-American linebacker Tom McCall, who averaged 18 tackles a game and intercepted seven passes during the season. Halfback John Burman, who scored 16 touchdowns and gained 1,233 yards, is Humboldt's top threat.

Brodie Will Need New Pact After Sunday's Final Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The end of a historic financial pact is approaching as the San Francisco 49ers prepare for their final 1968 National Football League game against the Falcons in Atlanta Sunday.

The contest will mark the final game in John Brodie's three-year contract that made him one of the richest quarterbacks in pro football history.

Terms of the 1966 agreement reportedly put him close to the millionaire class.

Involved in the dickering was a Houston Oiler offer that allegedly was aimed at getting Brodie to skip to the rival American Football League at a time when the senior NFL and the junior circuit were engaging in player wars.

Pro football later called off the wrangling with a virtual merger that created a common player draft and appointment of Pete Rozell as overall overseer.

In an interview yesterday, Brodie said he hopes to remain the 49ers chief signal caller despite the team's so-so 1968 record — 6-6-1 and third in the Coastal Division.

"I think we're definitely making progress," he said. "This was a development year."

Napa J.C. Turns Back Marin In Tourney Opener

By KIMO CAMPBELL

Playing with all the finesse of a pack of dizzy polar bears, the College of Marin Tars opted out of their own basketball tournament last night in Kentfield, as they were upset by the diligent Napa Junior College Chiefs, 65-64. Napa thus moves into the winner's bracket tonight.

American River of Sacramento, Reedley, and Yuba J.C. also advanced into the second round of the third annual tourney. Yuba handled Santa Rosa J.C. easily, 75-51, while Reedley squeaked by Sierra College of Rocklin 73-68 and American River, the first COM Invitational champ in 1966, strolled by Solano College of Vallejo 84-62.

Marin will play Sierra in consolation action today at 5 p.m., after the 3 p.m. Santa Rosa-Solano match. Reedley plays Napa at 9, following American River versus Yuba at 7 o'clock.

INJURIES

The Tars, hampered by injuries to starters Andre Horn and Tom Seidenberg, nevertheless seemed more than equal to the task of beating Napa, running up a 10-0 lead before the Chiefs had a point on the board. Then the host team seemed to lose its coordination, shooting poorly, making bad passes, and being outhustled on the boards by a smaller but more alert foe. By halftime, Marin was down 39-27.

Pat Schafer and Art Goepp helped lead a second-half rally that brought the Tars within one point at 64-65 when Goepp put in a rebound shot with 48 seconds left. Marin got the ball back on a turnover, took a couple of shots, missed them, saw Schafer grab the rebound and be fouled under the basket — but the officials called it a jump ball. All right, still time. Schafer controls the tip with nine seconds left, Marin has a shot from the corner, two or three tips from under the net, misses on all of them.

320 POINTS

Schafer had 20 points and 20 rebounds to lead the Tars, while Bill Hoge, brought up from the Junior varsity, had 13 points and eight rebounds. Seidenberg played only briefly due to his broken nose, as a protective brace proved too loose. Horn recovered from muscle spasms in his back enough to play, but injured his foot in the third period.

Napa was led by Ken Clark, a clever 5-foot-8 guard, who passed and shot well, keeping his team moving, and Kerry Porterfield, a 6-5 rawboned center who led the scoring with 15 points.

Marin coach Cal Riemcke felt that "Napa deserves a lot of credit. They played very well, but we didn't play well at all. In fact we played very poorly. Our performance just had a bad smell. It'll be interesting to see if we can come back tomorrow."

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

Her Kingdom For A Pin; Gal Barely Misses Award

By RALPH CHATOIAN

A pin, a pin. My kingdom for a pin.

That could have been the cry of Inez Bernardi when she missed winning an award for going 100 pins higher than her average by just that amount — one pin.

Rolling in the Sleepers League at Country Club Bowl, Inez put everything together and twirled a fancy 255 game, 99 pins better than her average. Roberta Hubbard of the same league must have been watching as she rolled a 231 line, 85 pins better than her average.

PICKIN' 'EM UP — Bill Nave II really knows how to roll a triplicate — three 193s when the 910 Travel League was rolling at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael, across county from his more familiar surroundings. . . . Orlando Conti went over the 700 plateau for the fourth time when he blasted a 701 in the 905 Classic at Country Club (games were 233-268-200). . . . Dick Jacoby picked up the 6-7 split in the Thursday Late Mixed at Nave Lanes. . . . Rosemarie Aekbarri missed a triplicate 130 series by only one pin in the Monday Washday League at Nave's. . . . Mike Tauscher (255) and Ron Baccei (251) did some big bowling in the 905 Classic. . .

Split makers in the Classy Lassies at Nave Lanes were Mary Smiley, 6-7, and Monnette Bell, 1-5-10.

THIS AND THAT — Larry Asay was the star of the night in the Marin County Mixed Travel League at Greenbrae Lanes, putting together games of 234, 188 and 247 for a 678 series. . . . In the same travel league, Glen Groth was only two pins away from a 158 triplicate. . . . Jim Brown made good on the 6-7-10 leave in the TGIF League at Country Club Bowl. . . . In the Novato Sportsmen Bowling League at Nave Lanes. George Plum picked up the 5-9-10 and Dwight Koyl the 4-7-10, while the Tankerley Realty four-man team rolled an 807 game. . . . Clare Graham and Marcella Howard each picked up a 6-7-10 split in the Bowlerettes League at the San Rafael lanes . . . Andrea Ibanez was quite a substitute in the Wednesday Blue Chips at Country Club, rolling her first game over 200, a 214 . . . Joe Stocker Mixed Fours at Country Club, was high man in the San Quentin Mixed Fours at Country Colub, 247 game, while Hal Ramsey was three pins away from a 182 triplicate.

JUNIOR DOINGS — Among the best scorers at Country Club the past week were Roger Backstedt with a 521 set in the juniors, Ron Paul, 180-193 and Nancy McPherson, 199 in bantams, and Mike Piver, age 6, 115-107, and Jen Trowbridge, age 5, 111 in the pee wees. . . . High rollers at Nave Lanes were Wayne Blasingame whose two games totaled 251 in the Bantams, and Mike Smith, a 533 three-gamer in juniors. . . . The eighth annual Junior 10-game Classic Endurance tourney is scheduled for Dec. 18 through 31 at Castle Lanes in San Francisco.

Crosby 'Invites' Are In The Mail

MONTEREY (AP) — The Christmas mail holds a little extra something for a flock of the nation's leading amateur golfers — invitations to the Crosby Tournament.

The event which Bing Crosby hosts each spring has reached the advanced planning stage, tournament director Larry Crosby, the singer's brother, said yesterday.

Each year, some 8,000 amateur achievers try to get in the tournament, but only 168 are invited. All these bids have now been postmarked, he said.

FOOTBALL

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Howard Shoemaker, a member of the athletic staff since 1957, was named head coach at Gettysburg College, succeeding Gene Haas.

GAINESVILLE, Fla — Ray Graves, football coach and athletic director at the University of Florida, was hospitalized, suffering from a severe case of bronchitis.

BOWLING

CARACAS, Venezuela — Carmen Salvino of Chicago held a 75-pin lead over Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla., after the first two rounds of the International Bowling Tournament with a score for the first 15 matches of 3,714.

SKIING

VAL D'ISERE, France — Karl Schranz of Austria mastered a giant slalom field of 122 competitors from 16 nations and won the first men's World Cup race of the ski season.

Tennessee Trackmen Win Indoor Meet

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee won the inaugural Liberty Bowl triangular indoor track meet last night, taking 10 of the 14 events for 82 points. Memphis State scored 43 and Arkansas 26.

Bob Beamon, the Olympic gold medalist in the long jump leaped 26-3 in an exhibition. Bob Seagren, the Olympic pole vault champion, cleared 17 feet in another exhibition.

Pigeons Fair Game Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Band-tailed pigeons become legally shootable in the southern and central portions of California but the Department of Fish and Game rates prospects no better than fair.

There seem to be enough birds, but they are scattered and hunters will work for their squab unless severe storms push the birds out of the mountains and foothills and down into the valleys.

The continent's only native wild pigeon, the band-tail is about three times the size of a dove and has a deliberate wingbeat which belies the fact his speed is comparable to the swiftest of ducks.

Because the breast feathers are heavily glazed, they can shed shot like a honker.

Last year an estimated 44,000 California hunters bagged about 260,000 wild pigeons, which is just about average for recent years.

Band-tails are widely distributed throughout the state with the counties of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Sonoma, Kern and San Diego considered best.

Joe Cronin, Umps Group In Meeting

BOSTON (AP) — The historic first meeting between the American League president and the Umpires Association was like a "live-in" as threats of a congressional probe were issued in Washington.

A.L. President Joe Cronin, who jolted the umpiring world by firing veterans Al Salerno and Bill Valentine last September, and representatives of the Umpires Association met for 2½ hours behind closed doors yesterday at league headquarters.

Neither Cronin nor the association representatives had much to say after the meeting. However, they went out of their way to indicate a sweetness and light atmosphere prevailed.

About the same time, Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., chairman of a House labor subcommittee, said in Washigton that plans for early hearings on the firing of the two umpires expanded to include the labor problems of professional athletes generally.

"I have seen no evidence at American League officials are taking affirmative steps to give these two men a hearing or any other kind of reconsideration," said Thompson, who apparently was unaware of the Boston meeting.

Thompson, who said he was concerned because he is a baseball fan, hinted in a statement that he may not open his hearings if Cronin reinstates the umpires fired with a couple of weeks left in the season.

John Reynolds Jr. of Chicago, the Umpires Association attorney, and Cronin said in a joint statement that "the matter of Salerno-Valentine was discussed and further discussion will be held."

Toledo Quint Hopes To Bounce Back

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toledo Rockets, a disappointment last season, are out to redeem themselves in college basketball this campaign.

Bob Miller and Steve Mix combined for 53 points to lead the Rockets to a decisive 88-65 victory over 15th-ranked Western Kentucky in New York's Madison Square Garden last night.

"We have four seniors who were 23-1 as sophomores, but fell to 16-8 last year," said Bob Nichols, Toledo coach. "They're out to prove something this season.

"Everything went right for us, but we won't know how good we are until we play 10th-ranked St. Bonaventure Saturday night."

Miller scored 28 points and Mix 25 as the Mid-American Conference club overwhelmed the Hilltoppers from the Ohio Valley Conference. It was Western Kentucky's first defeat after five wins at home.

"They just drove the ball down our throat," commented Johnny Oldham, the Western Kentucky mentor.

Jim McDaniels, the Hilltoppers' 7-foot soph, tallied 16 points and fouled out midway of the second half. Jerome Perry was high with 24 points. Rutgers crushed St. Louis 91-67 behind Dick Stewart's 30 points in the first Garden game.

Ron Washington also scored 30 points in leading Wichita State to a surprise 93-88 home court victory over Iowa. Washington got the go-ahead basket with less than two minutes to play after John Johnson's layup had tied the score for the Hawkeyes at 87-87.

Colorado continued to impress with a 112-81 rout of Arizona State of Boulder.

In other games, Texas A&M whipped Louisiana Tech 102-83, Wake Forest overwhelmed Baldwin-Wallace 110-83, Colgate downed Lehigh 96-83, Tulsa beat Fullerton State 93-84, Montana State downed Seattle 82-74 and Providence turned back Rhode Island 86-76.

Southern Mississippi won the Hattiesburg, Miss., Invitational by beating East Tennessee 93-75 behind Johnny Vitrano's 31 points.

Smith Whips Aussie

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Stan Smith of Pasadena, a member of the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team, defeated second-seeded Bill Bowrey, a top Australian amateur, 8-6, 6-3, 6-3 in the men's singles semifinals of the Queensland Championships today.

Smith's victory for the United States was a blow to the Australian Davis Cup Challenge Round hopes in Adelaide Dec. 26-28. Bowrey is considered Australia's leading amateur in defense of the Cup.

Bowrey never appeared to have a chance against the sixth-seeded Smith after the first set. The Californian always was capable of providing a big serve whenever he was in trouble.

Harry Hopman, the Australian nonplaying captain, said that Bowrey's play has to improve a lot before the Challenge Round.

The Australian's game fell apart after the loss of the first set when he became overcautious.

The victory gave Smith an edge in the race to fill the U.S. second singles vacancy for the Davis Cup.

Arthur Ashe, the No. 1 U.S. singles choice, meets Australian Ray Ruffels in the other semifinal match tomorrow. Ashe is expected to win on current form and make the Queensland final Dec. 15 an All-American affair.

When Michigan beat Indiana 27-22 this fall each team gained 265 yards on the ground, 162 yards in the air and completed 14 passes.

Raiders Won't Repeat Mistake

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders said today that all-league defensive back Kent McCloughan will miss Sunday's important American Football League game with the San Diego Chargers despite medical advice that he could play.

McCloughan has missed the Raiders' last six games, but the club had been hoping he could play against the Chargers, a game it will probably have to win to maintain a Western Division tie with the Kansas City Chiefs.

"The mistake made last year in a similar situation with Tom Keating will not be repeated," a Raider spokesman said.

Last year, Keating, an all-league defensive tackle, injured his left ankle in the AFL championship game, but returned for the Sugar Bowl and the league's All-Star game although the Raiders wanted him to sit out the latter.

He severely reinjued his ankle in the All-Star contest and has missed the entire 1968 season.

McCloughan has been out with a knee injury, one in a long line of ailments that have knocked key Oakland players out of the lineup this year.

In addition to playing without Keating and McCloughan, the Raiders cut all-league running back Clem Daniels after a leg injury and were without all-AFL performer Wayne Hawkins, a guard who was also injured.

Linebacker Bill Laskey, running back Larry Todd and promising young linebackers Bill Fairband and Dave Ogas were injured.

Pete Rozelle Is Pro Grid's Greatest Asset

Pete Rozelle was an incredibly boyish looking young man of 33 when he became National Football League commissioner in January, 1960. Some NFL owners thought Rozelle would be a polite, pliabe puppet.

Now, nine years later Rozelle is as polite as ever. But nobody would dream of accusing him of having been a compliant commissioner during his seven year NFL reign. Nor would anyone attribute vacillating conduct to Rozelle since he became boss of all pro football two years ago.

Rozelle has been pro football's greatest asset since the forward pass. During the past decade he has made multi-millionaires out of club owners and wealthy men out of football players. At the same time he has dealt firmly with both owners and players. And this week officials, appointed out of his office, learned just how hard Rozelle can crack down on mistakes.

SEVERAL YEARS ago Rozelle slapped a stiff fine on George Halas when the grizzled owner of the Chicago Bears criticized officials in a game the Bears lost. Halas, charter member of the NFL, hasn't opened his mouth about officials since.

Rozelle proved to be a just but merciful judge in imposing punishment not long ago on players whose betting habits almost destroyed the pro football image Rozelle worked hard to create.

WHEN OFFICIALS erred in not permitting Los Angeles a fourth down near the end of a most important game last Sunday with Chicago, Rozelle suspended all six game officials.

This was not a judgment error. This was an arbitrary right-or-wrong application of the rules which permit four downs to a team trying to advance the ball ten yards or more in each sequence of plays.

"All six game officials are equally responsible for keeping track of the downs," said Rozelle.

ONE OF the officials was Burl Toler, a close friend of the commissioner from college days at University of San Francisco where Toler was a football star at the time Rozelle was USF's publicity man.

At one time or another both owners and players have been angry with Rozelle but nobody ever questioned his integrity or sense of justice.

Everyone connected with pro football has praised him for his most effective appearances before Congress in winning anti-trust immunity for the NFL-AFL.

AND EVERYONE associated with the game knows how he raised pro football's television contracts from peanut status to the multi-million dollar stratosphere.

Even players who feel Rozelle hasn't been doing enough for them lately were flabbergasted at Super Bowl financial purses he ordered for the victors ($15,000) and the losers ($7,500).

Santa Clara Vs. Houston In Cage Tourney Opener

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Santa Clara bids for a spot in the Top Ten and a successful defense of its Cable Car Classic title tonight when it meets Houston in San Francisco's Civic Center.

The University of San Frabcisco meets Brigham Young in the other first-round game.

Houston is ranked 12th in the current Associated Press poll and Santa Clara is No. 16. Houston is 3-1, having lost by one point to Southern Cal. The Broncos are 3-0.

Top-ranked UCLA has the weekend off because of examinations but most of the West's other top teams are in action tonight and tomorrow.

Oklahoma State has games with Washington both nights as two of the winningest active college coaches collide: Hank Iba of Oklahoma State and Tex Winter of Washington.

The only other major-college action tonight involving Coast teams is a game between Washington State and Montana at Missoula.

Tomorrow, however, the activity steps up.

Stanford is at Air Force, St. Mary's journeys to Oregon State, Arizona State is at Southern California, Seattle plays at Utah, Pepperdine hosts UC-Riverside and Loyola entertains San Fernando Valley State.

Santa Clara sends its brother act of Bud and Ralph Odgen out against rugged Houston. Bud is averaging 20.3 points a game and Ralph is averaging 15.7. Dennis Awtrey has a 20-point average for the Broncos.

Houston has adjusted to the loss of All-American Elvin Hayes and is led by Olympian Ken Spain, who is averaging 20 points a game.

The Cougars' defeat by Southern Cal was their first in regular-season play in 39 games.

Novatans Win Soccer Match

Novato High School's soccer team remained unbeaten, nicking Drake of San Anselmo, 4-2, in a tight battle at Drake yesterday.

The Hornets broke off to a 2-0 lead and never looked back with center forward Urbano Boucsieguez scoring a pair of goals, one on a penalty kick.

Gonsalvo Portugal scored twice for Drake while Tim Conrad and Mike Stevens scored for Novato. The Hornets are 2-0 while Drake is 0-2 in Marin County Athletic League soccer play.

Marin Is Mecca For Tennis Stars

Marin County is rapidly becoming a stronghold of super-talented young tennis stars.

Marin youngsters are top-rated in four age groups and rated high in many others in the latest unofficial Northern California junior tennis rankings compiled by the Northern California Tennis Association.

Mike Machette of Belvedere is top-ranked in the boys age 18 division, ahead of highly-touted Rick Fisher of Palo Alto.

DOUBLES STARS

In doubles, Darby Auerbach of Belvedere and Sharon Walsh of San Rafael are top-rated in girls 16 while Bee Kilgore and Anne Lamott, both of Tiburon, are rated best in the girls 14 division.

Bob Knight of Tiburon and Ron Kern of Lafayette are top-ranked in the boys 16 doubles.

In boys 16 singles, Andy Moffat of Mill Valley is No. 6, Steve McDonald of Tiburon is No. 9, Bob Knight is No. 11 and Brice Bassett of Belvedere is No. 17. Bill Kinser of Tiburon is rated 24th in boys 14.

Dan Tierney of Tiburon has the No. 6 rating in boys 12.

Sharon Walsh is fourth-ranked in girls 16 and Darby Auerbach has the No. 10 rating. In girls 14, Anne Lamott of Tiburon is 7th, Bee Kilgore, 15th and Lissy Manheim of Tiburon is 17th. Cindy Douglas of Santa Rosa is 5th in girls 12, while Patricia Gomez of Tiburon is rated 10th and Jennifer Goberschock of Mill Valley is 15th.

Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae is fifth-ranked in girls 10.

Other doubles ratings find Brice Bassett and Tad Isaacs of Belvedere rated fourth in boys 16 and Bob Klyce of San Rafael and Ron Miller fifth in the same division. Dan Tierney is second-ranked in boys 12 doubles with Eric Lee of San Francisco.

Ann Lamott and Lissy Manheim are third-ranked in girls 14 doubles.

Cordero Still Leads Pineda

Angelo Cordero Jr. can't shake loose from Alvaro Pineda in their race for the 1968 national jockey championship.

The Puerto Rico-born Cordero has led his Mexican-born rival for the last couple of weeks, but hasn't been able to pull away.

Starting today's races at Tropical Park in Florida Cordero has 317 winners. Pineda, riding at Bay Meadows in California, is only four behind with 313.

Pineda gained by scoring a triple yesterday while Cordero booted home two.

Klamath River Is Still Low, Clear For Steelhead Anglers

STEVENS

Howdy, folks:

Jim Roads, Klamath River Guide Service, reports on conditions in the Happy Camp area of the Klamath River: "The Klamath River still low and clear. Recent storms left snow on the higher elevations, but did no harm to the river. Fishing has been good, and getting better each day. My parties have been doing very well. Lemoin Vaughn of Modesto, landed an 11½ pound steelhead. Best results have been on Hot Shot plugs; Little Cleo and little Jewel best lures, also lots of steelhead have been taken on fresh roe and nightcrawlers.

"Weather is cold with light showers occasionally, so dress accordingly.

"Roads are all in good condition. For latest river shape, better call me before shoving off from the Bay Area."

Anyone having a yen to do battle with a steelhead had better check conditions of coastal streams.

THE RAINS may have opened the mouths of coastal streams but the silt being carried from tributary streams have undoubtedly dirtied most, if not all, coastal waters. A reader just returned from a business trip to Fort Bragg, reported: "I saw the dirty water — a deep yellow — coming down the Navarro just above the juncture of North Fork a short ways above Dimmick's Park. Inside of a few minutes the dirty waters emptied into the main stream."

THERE HAS been only one area where the dreaded disease of botulism has been spotted. This one outbreak is confined to about 300 acres of the Sutter National Wildlife Refuge, and the Department of Fish and Game says it will control the small area by opening the area to hunting, thereby, dispersing the birds. Approximately 1,000 birds have died and another 500 sick birds have been picked up on the area. It sounds bad — but is mild compared to last years' toll of ducks in this federal refuge when 56,000 ducks were killed.

There has been no known case of botulism being transferred to man, but hunters are cautioned to take only birds they have shot, and not to even pick up a dead duck.

THE PROSPECTS for a killing of ducks and geese can hardly help being brighter this weekend than for some time. Don Zunino of the Lincoln Bait and Tackle in San Rafael, a dedicated buff in shotgunning, rated waterfowl hunting so far in the season, as very slow.

If Dame Nature should do a switch — let the local fishing spots have the blue-bird weather and the gunners have the wet and dirty water — this report might be more optimistic.

PROSPECTS FOR a productive weekend fishing trip are not so blue. Lots of rather badly colored water in the bays, but sturgeon and striper and steelhead can be taken under much more adverse conditions.

HULA BOWL JAN. 4

Simpson, Keyes To Clash

HONOLULU (AP) — Nine first team 1968 All-Americans—paced by Southern California's fabulous O. J. Simpson and Leroy Keyes of Purdue—will appear in the 23rd annual Hula Bowl football game at Honolulu Stadium Jan. 4.

In all, 21 All-American grid stars are listed in the North-South roster including three members of The Associated Press' All-American backfield.

They are Simpson, Keyes and Chris Gilbert of Texas. The fourth member of the AP backfield, Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty, was scheduled to play, but will miss the game because of a knee injury.

Simpson and Gilbert will be on the South team, Keyes will head the North squad.

Two other first string All-American players will be on the North team with Keyes. They are center John Didion of Oregon State and back Al Worley of Washington.

Other first string All-American players on the South squad are left tackle Mike Montler of Colorado, right tackle Ed White of California, back Roger Wehrli of Missouri, and Ron Sellers, the split end from Florida State who will play at halfback in the Hula Bowl.

North coaches will be Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse and Larry Price of Hawaii. Coaching the South will be Dan Devine of Missouri, John McKay of USC and Dave Holmes of Hawaii.

Complete team rosters for the Hula Bowl game Jan. 4:

North offense

Warriors Hoping To End Loss Streak

BOSTON (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, hoping to snap a five-game losing streak without the aid of big Nate Thurmond, couldn't have found a more difficult team against which to do it.

The Warriors, 12-17 and fourth in the National Basketball Association's Western Division race, face the powerful Boston Celtics tonight in the second game of a six-game road trip. Boston, 20-7 is one game out of first in the East.

Bantam Ben Hogan Fighting Painful Arm, Leg Ailments

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The answer will more than likely come on a bright, crisp day next spring.

It will be on a practice fairway at Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth. The man will no doubt be alone.

The swing will be machine-like. The ball will rifle true to its target. But the questions will be: Did the shoulder hurt? Will the left leg hold up under the pivot?

And if things aren't just right it will be at least another year before bantam Ben Hogan will make a token appearance in competitive golf.

Hogan, four-time winner of the U.S. Open, twice winner of the Masters, former PGA and British Open, twice winner of the Masters, former PGA and British Open titlist, hasn't played a competitive round of golf since 1966. And he won't again unless the conditions are perfect.

A PROUD MAN

The fact that Hogan is a proud man, of course, is legend.

He once objected strenuously to a reporter for keeping score while giving the king of Belgium a few lessons on a round at Colonial Country Club.

"We're not playing golf," Hogan snorted.

The reporter put his pencil away.

Hogan retired from competitive golf in 1955. But he enjoyed playing in an occasional tournament in Florida, or the Masters or at home at the Colonial. And even though the putting jitters affected his scores somewhat, he thrilled the tournament crowds with his shotmaking ability which seemed to lose neither its distance or accuracy.

But a combination of age—Hogan is 56 — and physical problems have cast doubt on whether he will ever play seriously again.

Hogan underwent surgery last month in New Orleans. The doctor cut away calcium and some tissue from his shoulder. Hogan will return in six weeks for a checkup.

His left kneecap is ailing. But Hogan said the doctor advised no surgery for it—just more time to heal.

"It works against the cartilage," Hogan said. "When I move to my left side it hurts. So I back up on my right foot and that's not very good if you're going to play golf."

Hogan has been busy with his business activities, including his golf club company.

But the competitive fire hasn't dimmed.

A reporter asked him wouldn't he miss playing in the Masters next year when spring rolled around. Wouldn't he want to give it another try?

He grinned and said "Yeah, I guess so."

There are those who remember the way Hogan fought back after a crippling automobile accident in 1949. First it was thought he wouldn't live. Then it was thought he would never play golf again. Hogan's answer was three more National Open championships.

He may never play in another tournament. But don't bet your favorite wedge on it.

ABA Suspends, Fines Official

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The American Basketball Association announced today that game official Pat Denoy has been fined and suspended for an indefinite period beginning immediately.

ABA Commissioner George Mikan said the suspension and fine followed rule interpretation errors in two league games. Mikan would not comment on the amount of the fine because of ABA policy.

The decisions by Denoy occurred in the Dallas-Los Angeles game at Los Angeles Dec. 8 and the Miami-Minnesota game Dec. 10 in Minnesota.

Denoy has been with the ABA two seasons.

Wrestling Tourney

Six Marin County Athletic League schools will be represented in a novice wrestling tournament at Novato High School tomorrow along with Montgomery High School of Santa Rosa. Competition begins at 9 a.m. and will run through 5 p.m.

Redwood Basketball Teams Thump Drake

Redwood High School's lower level basketball teams had a good couple of days as the Redwood junior varsity thumped Drake of San Anselmo's junior varsity, 48-44, yesterday and the Giant Class B team topped the Drake B squad 39-22 at Larkspur.

Bill Challander had 14 points for the winning jayvees while Tom Marker's 19 points paced the victorious Bees. Marker had 18 points in Wednesday's 48-34 conquest of the Terra Linda Bees.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Chuck Hoeppner is the set designer for next weekend's traditional Christmas season performances of "The Nutcracker" by Marin Civic Ballet. But the fantasy Snow Forest and Sugar Plum Palace he is creating for that event is but one facet of his creativity. Tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine shows you another of his talents with a display of pen and ink sketches he did in exotic Hong Kong that will soon be part of a published book.

A group of Boy Scouts make up what is perhaps the most unusual of Marin County's many folk dancing units. The boys of the Talako Lodge Indian Dance Team from the honorary Order of the Arrow perform the ritualistic dances of the Sioux and other Plains tribe with respect and care as to authenticity. Your Independent-Journal supplement tomorrow will feature a story and pictures of this colorful group.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Speculation And Growth Should Not Be Confused

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. The following stocks were bought on the advice of a business associate: Diamond Shamrock, Diodes, Inc., South Carolina Electric & Gas, Sterling Precision and Vornado, Inc. Although I am in a position to hold over an extended period, I wonder if this is advisable. — F. F.

A. Holding speculative issues in hopes of eventual recovery can be expensive business. This capital would be more productive if invested in a growing situation.

Two issues in your portfolio neither pay dividends nor look like candidates for early recovery. Diodes Inc. and Sterling Precision have erratic records; the latter has shown sales growth — particularly from acquisitions — but higher interest charges have penalized earnings.

The remaining three issues have growth merit and should be held. The merger proposed with Pickands Mather will strengthen Diamond Shamrock's long-range potential. Vornado's earnings have suffered from costs of a computer installation and a new warehouse. But earnings recovery is looked for by the year-end. South Carolina Electric has estimated results for 1968 at $1.78 a share up from $1.70. Although no rate increase to offset the 10 per cent surtax has been requested by the company, it is a possibility.

Q. I bought Commonwealth Edison in 1955 and was pleased with its progress. For the last several years it hasn't paid any stock dividends and the shares haven't moved, except lower. Why aren't utilities growing? — E. P.

A. I would like to correct one impression — utilities have not stopped growing; in fact, Commonwealth has increased net income an average 9 per cent annually in the last five years. Market interest in the shares has evaporated and caused a downward drift in share price. When the group will regain some of its former popularity is difficult to say — a recession could certainly be an influencing factor in returning utilities to a more favored position.

Commonwealth and Central Illinois Light announced last spring that merger discussions were under way. Although the yield is moderate, a dividend increase in the next few quarters is probable and shares should be held.

Stocks Show Gain In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today, making a substantial gain in active trading.

Closing prices were shaved a bit below their best as preweekend profit taking held sway.

Nevertheless, it was a lively and exciting market, with many specially situated issues enlivening the list.

Blue chips perked up, some recovering recent sharp losses.

Prices near the close included:

Clevite, up 6½ at 91½; Rapid-American, up 3¾ at 48¼; Armour, up 1¾ at 60¾; INA Corp., up 2⅝ at 50¾; Cities Service, up 3⅞ at 82¾; Polaroid, off 4¾ at 118¾; AMK Corp. up 3¼ at 55; Williams Brothers, off 1¼ at 69⅜; and U.S. Smelting, off 4¼ at 62¼.

Merger situations enlivened the list, and blue chips made good recoveries as Wall Street responded to feelings of relief that the Federal Reserve Board had taken no further action on credit tightening, as some feared it would.

Atlas Corp., up a fraction, was far ahead of the rest of the lost on volume.

Rapid-American rose nearly 4 points after the company announced an offer for shares of Glen Alden, which remained untraded as exchange officials tried to match orders.

Armour rose about 1½, while General Host dipped more than a point. The moves followed news of formal action by General Host looking toward control of Armour through a tender offer.

Clevite jumped 7, and U.S. Smelting was off 3. Preliminary agreement to merge was announced.

Merger Talks Off

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Kimbrly-Clark Corp., of Neenah, Wis., and American Forest Products Corp. have announced they have terminated 10-day negotiations and studies of a possible acquisition of American Forest Products by Kimberly-Clark.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

State's Spending Index Up 5.5 Per Cent Over '67

California's economic activity as measured by total spending in the state advanced to $97.34 billion in November, only a slight increase over October, but up 5.5 per cent over a year ago.

According to figures of the Bank of California, personal and business spending is up, but government spending is down — both for the month and the year to date.

Personal income totaled $77.56 billion in November and has shown an advance of 6.1 per cent in a year's time. Wages and salaries, accounting for more than two-thirds of this, climbed 7.7 per cent in a year.

Bank of America predicts an abundant cash harvest for California farmers. Favorable weather and market prices, along with strong consumer demand, are said to point to record levels of production and cash receipts in 1968 and 1969.

Meanwhile a flurry of commercial mergers is taking place in the Bay Area, along with similar transactions in other parts of the country.

TRANSAMERICA CORP., San Francisco, has made its first entry into the educational services field through the acquisition of the Foreign Study League of Salt Lake City. The league operates overseas summer schools in modern foreign languages and liberal arts subjects for U. S. high school students.

DATA TECHNOLOGY CORP. of Mountain View is holding preliminary discussions to acquire California Peripherals of Northridge, Calif. — a small manufacturer of drums and discs used as memory elements in computers.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES, San Francisco, has opened discussion for the acquisition of West Coast Glass Distributors and its wholly-owned subsidiary, National Auto Glass Co., Inc., primarily engaged in installing automobile windshields. ABMI is a major janitorial contractor and manufactures chemical products.

Somebody will probably gamble with your life

He thinks that if he takes chances on the highway, that's his business. The trouble is, the minute he loses control, somebody else's life is in jeopardy.
Yours, perhaps.
What can you do about it? Be forewarned.
Expect trouble. Assume that any car on the road could do something stupid, any minute. Then if something happens, you won't be completely taken by surprise.
Otherwise, when someone else begins to gamble with your life, the odds are against you. Your independent insurance agent suggests: drive defensively.

Unemployment At Low Mark; Welfare High

The U. S. Labor Department reported this week that the unemployment rate in the United States is at the lowest point in 15 years — 3.3 per cent of the work force.

There are some strange contradictions here.

At the same time that unemployment is the lowest since 1953, there are more than eight million people on federal and state welfare rolls. This is nearly twice as many as were "on relief" 15 years ago.

THE FEDERAL government laid out $300 million for relief in 1940 — the year that the United States started edging toward a war economy preceding its entrance into World War II. In 1967, the federal share of relief costs was $4.2 billion — nearly 15 times that of 1940. It has been estimated that it will go to $6.7 billion by 1972.

It is generally agreed by those who study the employment picture that full employment — 100 per cent of the work force on the job — is an impossibility. Mere job mobility accounts for one per cent or more unemployment. When the "emergency relief" program was started by the federal government in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, the unemployment rate was near 30 per cent of the work force.

It would seem, then, that with only 3.3 per cent of the work force out of jobs, welfare costs would be at an almost irreducible minimum.

THE OPPOSITE appears to be the case. There is no longer any observable relationship between job availability and welfare rolls.

The explanation for this is, in part, that welfare costs now include many people who were not considered at all in initial relief programs of the '30s. They include those over 65 — who are not counted in the work force, and some five million who receive Aid to Needy Children funds. These make up the biggest bulk of those receiving some form of welfare funds.

The unemployed aside from these draw unemployment compensation, and go on and off the welfare rolls. Some of them stay "on welfare" because the jobs offered will put them in no better financial position than the relief funds they get while not working. For these, as has been often pointed out, welfare has become a way of life.

THERE IS ANOTHER seeming contradiction in the employment figures released by the Labor Department.

The unemployment rate for nonwhites, it reported, dropped to 6.5 per cent at the end of October, down markedly from 7.4 per cent a month earlier although still almost double the rate for the entire work force.

This is scarcely a crisis figure. Yet it comes at a time when there is loud agitation all across the nation about the plight of the Negro.

SOMEWHERE we have got all twisted up. We have come to regard welfare as something unrelated to whether jobs are available. We have made it a protection for fathers who wish to avoid the responsibilities of parenthood. We have made it an attraction for those who would rather do with a little less money than work for what they get. We have made it, in too many cases, an inducement to leave the job, or at least not to try to turn in an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

With the economy booming and 96.7 per cent of the work force employed, welfare should be no great burden. The people of such a nation should be self-supporting.

Thailand Fearful Of Sell-out At Vietnam Talks In Paris

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A country with as little faith as any in the outcome of Paris peace talks over Vietnam is Thailand.

The Thais, like many high echelon South Vietnamese, fear a U.S. sell-out in Vietnam and fear that if the Communists succeed in taking over Vietnam, their country will be next.

Meanwhile, Thailand's commitment in South Vietnam is total. Its army and navy forces fight in South Vietnam alongside the United States. U.S. fighter-bombers take off from Thai bases to attack North Vietnam transports along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos, and, before the bombing halt, against North Vietnam itself. Which is by way of pointing up the complexities facing U.S. negotiators in Paris, if or when the talks get going.

IN PARIS, the negotiators must consider not only Vietnam but Laos and Thailand as well. Eventually they must have a voice.

In the military viewpoint, Vietnam, Laos and Thailand always have been considered one war theater.

In Vietnam, the North Vietnamese openly support the Viet Cong but deny participation in the South by their own troops.

In Laos, it is the Pathet Lao, again with denial that some 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are in Laos in violation of Laotian neutrality.

And in Thailand, it is the Thailand Patriotic Front which is supported by North Vietnam, separated at one point from Thailand by only 55 miles.

GIVING POINT to Thailand fears, a recent report of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) listed five Southeast Asia nations suffering from increased Communist insurgency.

They are Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, Malaysia and Burma.

The Thais are firm believers in the domino theory and are convinced that within moments of a Communist takeover in Vietnam they would become the next target. Laos, they believe, would fall as a straw house in a windstorm.

Currently in Thailand, Communist insurgents are listed at about 5,000 activists, with many more thousands of supporters. Assassinations of informers run at about one a day.

The two main areas of subversion are the long-neglected northeast where the population is more Lao than Thai, and in the south on the border with Malaysia which finds support among Chinese and Moslem Thais.

The Thais are not perfect and have dragged their feet on needed reforms. But in Thailand in the last four years, the United States has built up nearly a $400 million stake in support of the effort in Vietnam and against Thai insurgency. The Thais fear it all could go up the flue in Paris.

Letters to "What Our Readers Say" are welcomed. Only letters with signatures and addresses will be considered. Please keep them under 200 words. We reserve the right to cut letters.

Different Version On Constitution

We read with interest your Nov. 25 editorial concerning Proposition 1 and revision of California's constitution. To avoid errors in future editorials or articles on these subjects we submit the following informationn.

We know of no basis for your statement that the defeat of Proposition 1 in November will compel the Constitution Revision Commission to "back off and start over." The commission's responsibility is to furnish facts and recommendations to the Legislature concerning revision of the constitution. The commission discharged this responsibility with respect to the articles covered by Proposition 1 when it submitted its report on these articles in February of 1968. Subsequent enactment, modification and submission of those recommendations to the voters were entirely with the Legislature's prerogatives.

The commission is unanimously committed to completing the third and final phase of revision by preparing recommendations on the subjects it has not yet considered. This decision was made at the commission's Nov. 21 meeting in San Francisco and contradicts the implication in your editorial that the commission is now going to reconsider the recommendations in Proposition 1 or is "less than enthusiastic'' about its responsibilities.

Several of your statements concerning the form of Proposition 1 also require correction. The decision to include recommended revisions of several articles in a single proposition was made by the Legislature. The Commission made no recommendation on this matter. . .

Your final suggestion concerning prior public notice of matters to be considered at each commission meeting reveals a lack of information concerning commission procedures. The commission maintains a mailing list for every article on which it is working. Any citizen or organization interested in an article is placed upon that mailing list upon request. . .

Board Commended For Discipline Act

Congratulations to the Tamalpais High School District Board of Education on their expulsion of a troublesome student, as reported in the I-J Nov. 21. It is refreshing these days to see school boards and officials take firm action. I hope this action will serve as a stimulace (sic) to other school officials and boards at all levels. If we can remove the few that attempt to interrupt the operation and purpose of our schools then those wishing to study and attend classes and learn, can get on with it, without distraction.

High-handed Action Regarding Horses

First, I would like to thank you for that excellent article in the Independent-Journal by Mr. Jack Craemer, "Let's bring back the horse." Next, I want to explain that I am a peaceful person who rarely complains, but I now feel that my family and I have been harrassed so much that it is high time I speak up.

We have just received another letter from the City of San Rafael dated Nov. 5, 1968, giving us 30 days to remove our horses. The first letter gave us exactly 10 days; at that time, we appeared at the city council meeting and it was agreed that, after moving our corral (which we did at considerable expense), we would receive a new permit and the health department would come out and inspect. That was last August. The inspection still has not been made. Our corral at that time, according to our neighbor, was "only 45 feet away." It now is well over 100 feet away from any neighbor. The usual requirement is 40 feet.

Our new letter claims that our corral is so muddy that urine couldn't possibly drain. I wonder how many corrals — and any other ground, for that matter — can keep from being muddy in the wintertime unless cemented, and that would be health hazard to the horses. I would also like to point out that there is no ordinance against horses in San Rafael. Legally, our horses can only be removed if they are proven a health hazard. . .

It seems highly unfair that we should have to hire a lawyer to fight the City of San Rafael, who pays its lawyer with our tax money, to answer a charge that is absolutely ridiculous.

America Becomes Land Of Wild Dogs

America has indeed come upon sad times. We have become a nation of cowering half-wits, of wild dogs facing each other across the fire, ready to tear each other to pieces. A beard and an epithet challenge authority with an impunity almost rare in all of history. Ridicule and placard, milling mouthy mobs and stinging pronuciamentoes have replaced the sanctity of accumulated and provem knowledge and religious enlightenment.

TRY AND STOP ME

A WEALTHY Grosse Pointe matron, used to having flunkeys jump when she gave a command, was distinctly displeased by the service she received when a sudden illness forced her to spend a fortnight in a large Detroit hospital. While convalescing, she decided to dictate some letters to her private secretary. "I'll push the buttons meant to summon my nurse and my floor doctor," she proposed grimly. "That should assure us of at least a full hour of undisturbed privacy!"

Outcome Of Talks In Paris Will Depend Most On Nixon

WASHINGTON — Don't look to Paris right now to see how the Vietnam peace talks are going. Their direction, in large part, will be decided elsewhere:

1—By the state of the fighting in South Vietnam, where the Viet Cong will be pressing the war to influence the peace.

2—By the state of public opinion in the United States, where the biggest decision of all will be made — whether Washington will go for a soft peace to end the war under any conditions or stand firm for a workable settlement.

3—By the state of mind and political courage of Richard Nixon, who as President will have to decide whether the consequences of giving in will be better or worse than the consequences of holding out against a peace that would lead to a Communist takeover.

THIS MEANS that for sometime the barometer of the peace talks will not be in Paris; it will be in Vietnam, in the United States and, to a very large extent, in the White House. These will be the places to watch to determine what to expect in Paris.

While there are elements of uncertainty in all three of these places, the outlook on balance is favorable to achieving an acceptable peace if the United States shows stamina and patience.

Nothing will move rapidly. Hanoi held out for a month against a neutral capital as the site to begin talks in the first place, then Hanoi took nearly six months to see whether it was going to have to accept some conditions on its part before we would end all bombing of the north. And it was six weeks later before Saigon sent its delegation to Paris. The motion is slow but there is motion.

NEVER OVERLOOK the fact that North Vietnam went to Paris in the first place not because it was winning the war but because it was losing it. Its avowed goal is to bring down the Saigon government so it can take over, and it wouldn't resort to the uncertain course of trying to do it at the conference table if it were succeeding in doing it on the battlefield.

Hanoi lost the Tet offensive and every subsequent offensive. The North Vietnamese know they need a major victory as a negotiating card in Paris and there is no reason to doubt they will seek it in the coming weeks.

But at this stage the military advantages are with the U. S. and South Vietnamese forces and rigorous fighting is to be expected. The stake in such fighting will not be winning a single battle or a series of battles: at stake will be the kind of peace which will come out of Paris.

THE GREATER peril to getting a workable settlement will be in the United States. If the anti-Vietnam critics, the violent protesters, the pacifists and others are so intent upon ending the war fast that they would just as soon throw away the peace with a settlement that invites the Viet Cong to win diplomatically what they couldn't win militarily, they may well be able to keep the nation so divided that they can do so.

But not necessarily. By their militancy — and at Chicago — the anti-Vienam demontsartors gained the image of being more powerful and more numerous than they are in reality. Dominant opinion, as reflected in all the polls, is clearly for de-escalation, but it does not favor pulling out unilaterally. There already is de-escalation. And one of the main objectives of the peace talks is to bring about the mutual and supervised withdrawal of both North Vietnamese and American forces.

I DO NOT believe that the American people as a whole want to see the United States so impatient for a quick settlement that the result would be to squander the lives of thousands of American soldiers by accepting a peace which thrusts South Vietnam into the hands of the enemy.

Nixon will have to decide. He will have to determine whether he will accept the political risks at home by resisting the kind of peace which would rest on quicksand.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ Still Can Influence United States Tax Policy

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, while he now ranks as a "lame duck" in the White House, has some very important unfinished business on tap for the waning weeks of his administration.

Tax reform and national communications policy are among the issues still to be addressed by the outgoing President. He is expected to send Congress his recommendations on both of them.

The two subjects are among the most complicated in the complex spectrum of federal activities. In the end, however, they come down to such everyday questions as the annual tax bill and the cost of long-distance telephone calls.

UNDER OTHER circumstances, President Johnson's ideas on such questions might carry little weight at this point. The recommendations of another lame duck President might well be labeled file-and-forget. That is not the case this time, however.

Congress formally requested the President's recommendations on tax reform, and a well-defined telecommunications policy will be urgently needed next year when the United States meets with other natios to renew the five-year agreement under which our communications satellites were placed in orbit.

Moreover, President-elect Nixon's new Congress will be controlled by the Democrats, and President Johnson's proposals could be a rallying point for opposition to a part of Nixon's legislative program. If nothing else, the Johnson recommendations are assured a careful reading by Republicans and Democrats in the new Congress.

An all-but-unnoticed portion of last summer's tax surcharge law instructed the President to provide a comprehensive program of tax reform by the end of the year. The tax reform rider was added by a Republican — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, N.Y.

A PACKAGE of tax reform proposals has been prepared by Treasury experts, according to government sources, and sent to the White House for the President's consideration.

One proposal would reportedly carry out the concept of a "minimum income tax" favored by some experts and embraced by this year's Democratic platform. Such a proposal would require some federal income tax contribution from all wealthy corporations and individuals, no matter how many legal tax shelters are available to them.

It would mean, for example, that an oil company could not pyramid drilling allowances, depletion allowances, capital gains provisions, and the like so as to escape all income tax, as is occasionally possible under present tax laws.

Other proposals, included in the package as sent to the White House:

Revision of estate and gift taxes.

A crackdown on charitable foundations and trusts which have long been criticized by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

A TOP-LEVEL presidential task force has been studying telecommunications policy for more than a year. The panel is headed by Eugene V. Rostow, undersecretary of state for political affairs.

The group's final report was due at the White House weeks ago. Special interests are involved here too, however, and the task force has been reported under heavy pressure for revisions before the report goes to the President.

The task force is said to recommend, for example, that certain communications companies, providing limited service in the U.S., be permitted to invade the domain of the telephone company, AT&T.

Perhaps the most controversial recommendation is in the field of global communications. The task force is said to recommend that a single corporation own all U.S. international transmission facilities — cable and satellite.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ALAN JONES

Christmas Is What Memory Says, And Never Mind The Specifics

Christmas in California, coastal California anyway, always seems somehow skewed and wrong for immigrants from Back East.

Christmas, memory lovingly and falsely tells us, is the time when great snowdrifts descend overnight from the heavens and turn the countryside into a white wonderland twinkling away. Rainstorms and blankets of fog just aren't the same thing, though they're a sight eisier to drive through.

Christmas always reminds me of a giant picture that hung in the library in my home town. It was a dazzling white snowy landscape stretching flat to the Kansas horizon under a chill yellow sun. It lowered your temperature 20 degrees just looking at it, and it must have added $30 a month to the library heating bill.

Christmas wasn't really snowy there, at least not often. Most of the snow fell in January and February, and stayed until long after its romance—and whiteness—had worn off.

But memory invents traditions in the absence of real ones. The way to have a white Christmas probably is to dash up to the Sierras after the first good snowfall and take lots of pictures.

A GROUP was sitting around a Sausalito coffee shop the other day talking about Christmas, and it seemed strange in these homogenized days to learn that everyone had slightly different holiday traditions.

"We always used to go to our grandparents' house," one woman said. "We'd leave early Christmas morning and then open all the presents at their place. All we ever opened at home were the stockings."

"We used to open the stockings on Christmas Eve," said someone else. "There were lots of little presents inside and it kept us too busy to tease about opening the other presents."

"My wife's family opened all its presents Christmas eve," said another man. "That way they got to sleep in on Christmas morning without having the children wake them."

"My parents used to get stockings right along with the children," the first woman said. "They had more fun with them than we did."

IN OUR FAMILY we used to get up early and the children got their stockings first thing — oranges, whistles, things like that. That calmed us down enough for breakfast. Then we'd drive to relatives for the day or wait until the rest of the family arrived from all over town about 9 o'clock before we opened the presents.

One or two children were appointed to hand out presents. The really little ones always insisted on helping, and someone had to make sure they didn't break anything, and someone else had to see everyone was getting presents instead of one person having a big stack while the rest waited.

After the orgy of presents there were always thousands of lovely bright wrappings papering the floor, and the grandmothers couldn't rest easy until they had gathered everything up into one giant heap in the center of the room.

Then someone had to watch the grandmas to see they didn't start throwing wrappings in the fire, or someone was sure to lose a $5 bill or a set of handkerchiefs in the blaze.

AFTERWARD, it was obligatory that everyone stream out of doors for picture taking. My childhood is filled with pictures of five and 10 and 20 members of the family, wearing winter clothes and squinting into a fierce morning sun.

After the pictures, the women went for the kitchen to ready dinner (lunch was considered an affected term), and the men and boys sprawled around cracking walnuts, or went for short walks to see if the neighbors were still the same shiftless lot.

Then came dinner, which I recall was vast and varied between turkey and the traditional family dish, chicken and rice (a recipe picked up by a grandfather in the Philippines).

After that the rest of the day blurs into a melange of candy, toys, games in the attic, and a long sleepy ride home in gathering dark.

Trying to remember specifics, it doesn't seem there was ever any snow at Christmas. But try telling that to your memory.

Transactional Analysis Group Names Officers

George Gartzke of Novato has been elected president of Transactional Analysis in Marin for 1969.

Other new officers are Martin Hanzlik, Virginia Kinsella and Colleen Paquette, vice presidents; Peg Lippitt, secretary, and Phyllis Collins, treasurer.

Transactonal Analysis in Marin is an affiliate of the international association in Carmel. The organization was formed around the ideas of Dr. Eric Berne, psychiatrist and author of "Games People Play."

Headquarters in Marin is at the Young Men's Christian Association, 241 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael. There will also be a Mill Valley office at 11 Forrest Street.

Melvin Boyce, who has studied under and been associated with Dr. Berne since 1959, is director of Transactional Analysis in Marin.

Education Session

A discussion on educational trends, with Dr. Aubrey Hahn, San Francisco educational consultant, as guest speaker, will be held at a meeting of the Ross School District board at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Ross School. The meeting has been changed from the regular time, the third Monday, to insure a quorum.

Well, I can only hire you if you've got a working permit and if you have some kind of experience. Do you?
I'm afraid not, Sir, thanks anyway.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Remember 3.5-Acre Pavilion, Then Add Up Fairgrounds Costs

Fusselman

Space last week didn't permit a full quote from the I-J story on the fair, in the issue of Nov. 25. Here it is:

"Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, reported today that the new Veterans' Memorial Auditorium at the fairgrounds is expected to be completed in September of 1969, but improvements of the surrounding area for a full scale fair are not likely to be completed by summer of 1970. A fair, reduced in scope, eliminating garden displays and concentrating on performing and visual arts in the auditorium and its exhibit area, is all that would be possible, he said.

"The administrator suggested a split fair operation in 1970, with a continuation of the garden fair at Ross and an opening of a performing art and visual fair at the new fairgrounds.

"Even with a split fair in 1970 the administrator estimated that $261,000 must be spent on landscaping and improvements around the auditoruim. If garden displays are to be set up at the fairgrounds, about $775,000 would be needed to get the site ready, Campanella estimated.

"The new fairgrounds site will not compare with the art and garden center as a garden setting for many years to come, he added."

THIS COST appears to be $1 million plus. Then, here is something that is not being mentioned:

When the plans for a fairground at the Civic Center were submitted to us, there was included an elaborate building for displays. It would cover about 3.5 acres, as I recall. That would be an area equal to the courthouse grounds plus the area where the old city hall stood, to and including the I-J property on B Street. It seems to me that something like $3.5 million was the tab for that.

The structure would be quite a fancy affair — lots of plastic pylons to support the roof, which was also of plastic.

So, you see this would mean about $4.5 million, which in my opinion is far too much public funds and assets to hand over to a private group of amateurs to play around with. And I might add, the opinion of many taxpayers, judging by the response to last week's column.

THE PARKS and recreation commission and its director are the logical ones to handle this, not Fair-Marin nor the administrator for his outfit is already covering too many bases for efficient operation.

And most certainly the supervisors should be deeply involved in this and should remain as the fair commission. That's the way this whole thing was built up over the years. And we weren't getting anything like $800 a month, let alone the $900 contemplated in two years. As a matter of fact we had far more constant involvement in far more problems than the abdicators of today.

Did you notice Behr's (Supervisor Peter H.) sudden righteousness in rejecting the recommendation at Tuesday's meeting?" Behr tore into the tower concept" . . . "I don't intend to go out of office approving a high rise at the Civic Center complex," says he. Quite a remarkable late bloomer, don't you think?

Study Finds California Officials Lagging Other States On Salaries

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The salaries of the state's top executives may be in for revamping upward, if the report of the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy in February is followed by the state Legislature.

Governor Ronald Reagan and the state Legislature directed that a study be made of the salaries of the top executives, such as the Highway Patrol commissioner, and the directors of the Department of Public Works, Department of Mental Hygiene, Department of Public Health and Department of Social Welfare.

Preliminary reports, by the state personnel board, indicate that California's salaries for the executives range to as much as 34 per cent below salaries paid in comparable departments in New York and other cities and states.

The board report declares this as "the most glaring inequity and inconsistency in the state salary structure" and suggests that salary lag is becoming increasingly significant.

In New York, the department heads average $34,556 annually while California's executives get only an average of $25,727.

Even compared with Los Angeles and San Francisco city posts, the state's top men lag behind in salaries. The state's director of the Department of Public Works gets $25,727 while the same post in Los Angeles County gets $32,820; Los Angeles city, $31,104; San Francisco $33,036; and New York the same director gets $35,500.

Systematic review and updating of executive salaries are called the "major deficiency" in the state's personnel program.

The report will be made to the Legislature on Feb. 1.

Burglars Use Glass Cutter To Enter Strawberry School

Eight burglaries, including a school break-in during which thieves used a glass cutter to gain entrance, were reported yesterday by the Marin County sheriff's office.

The school was Strawberry Point School at 117 East Strawberry Drive, which lost a tape deck, a tape recorder and three phonographs, deputies said.

Sheriff's investigators said the culprits used a glass cutter to break through a portion of a school window and thus gain entrance.

Other burglaries reported included:

Theft of a television, camera, watch and binoculars from the house of Mrs. Ralph Howard Hilton at 107 LaVerne Avenue, Homestead Valley, Tuesday. The thieves ransacked the house, she told deputies.

Theft of a portable radio and a television from Clifford B. Wren-Karvis's home at 354 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, the same day.

Theft of a $200 television set and a clock radio from the home of Robert C. Scheidemann at 109 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, Tuesday.

Theft of $200 cash from Doris E. Long's house at 60 Stuyvesant Drive, Sleepy Hollow, Monday.

Theft of two portable radios, worth $300, from the home of Arthur F. H. Jorgensen at 510 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow, Monday.

Theft of lamps and bed spreads from two rooms at the Fountain Motel at 155 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, sometime Sunday.
